Hamilton A. Gain Place Cup Final

Accies Too Superior For Aberdeen, Who Drop 2-1 Scotish Cup Decision.

RANGERS-HEARTS 1-1.

Arsenal Retains English Division Lead by Defeating Aston Villa 3-1.

CELTIC PARK, Glasgow, March 30 (CP Cable).—Hamilton Academicals made sure of a place in the final for the Scottish Football Cup by defeating Aberdeen 2-1 on the grounds of Celtic in a semi-final game to-day. The Accies proved superior, particularly in the first half, when they scored two goals and Aberdeen's efforts after the interval were unsuccessful.

Hearts-Rangers Tie 1-1.

HAMPDEN PARK, Glasgow, Mar. 30 (C.P. Cable).—After a terrific tussle before a crowd of 100,000, Hearts and Glasgow Rangers, the Cup-holders, drew 1-1 in the semi-final for the Scottish Soccer Cup today. Playing a remarkably strong game against redoubtable opponents, Hearts came back in the second half to make a replay necessary after Rangers had crossed over with a one-goal lead.

Hard Struggle For Lead.

LONDON, March 30 (C.P. Cable).—Arsenal and Sunderland are still fighting hard for English football honors. The Gunners to-day maintained a strong position at the top of the First Division standing by defeating Aston Villa 3-1 at Villa Park. Sunderland overcame Leeds United 3-0 at Roker Park, consolidating its place as runner-up, three points behind the leaders.

Manchester City and Sheffield Wednesday in third and fourth places respectively, lost valuable points, the City being beaten 3-0 at Huddersfield, while the Wednesday fell before Preston North-End 2-1.

Four Games in Scottish.

GLASGOW, March 30 (C.P. Cable).—Semi-final games for the Scottish Soccer Cup interfered considerably with First Division League encounters to-day. Only four games were played, with interest centred on the doings of Ayr United and St. Mirren, tail-end teams.

St. Mirren slipped back into the cellar when beaten 3-0 at Motherwell, being replaced in 19th position by Ayr, who defeated Dundee 3-2.

Dunfermline did well, overcoming Partick Thistle 3-1, but Queen of South failed at home to Kilmarnock, losing 1-0.

Leaders in the Second Division both won their games, Third Lanark

Sweep Prizes Still Liable To Seizure

OTTAWA, March 30. —(C.P.) — Canadian winners of money in sweepstakes on yesterday's Grand National or any other event are still subject to prosecution and seizure of their takings under the Dominion law allowing institution of suits against them by informers.

A change in the law last session of Parliament, however, deprived the informer of any share in the seizure. The whole amount goes to the Crown, making it unlikely any private individual would act as an informer unless he felt personal animosity towards the winner or wished for patriotic reasons to see the government collect additional revenue.

There is the possibility in the law the Crown itself may act as informer.

DINNER BIG SUCCESS.

Nearly 600 People Are in Attendance—Accommodation Too Limited.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, March 30.—Liberals from the four corners of Northumberland County, from a wide area of Central Ontario, and parliamentary leaders of the party from British Columbia to Nova Scotia united in paying a splendid tribute of admiration, affection and loyalty to William A. Fraser, M.P. for the local riding since 1930, at a dinner given in his honor last night in St. Peter's parish hall.

Every place at the long tables that filled the spacious gymnasium was occupied by men and women of the county to whom "Bill" Fraser has been a dynamic and happy warrior in the Federal arena for the last eight years; additional tables in an adjoining room were all taken, and the gallery was crowded for the after-dinner program, attendance features of the assembly that lent reality to the statement of the chairman, Archie Cochrane, K.C., of Cobourg, that twice the limited four hundred and fifty tickets could have been disposed of if the accommodation had been available.

Nearly six hundred persons greeted Mr. Fraser with an ovation of cheering and prolonged applause as he arose to receive from Harold N. Carr, M.L.A., Campbellford, a gold watch as the gift of his many friends throughout the constituency who have borne with him the burden of political campaigns and delighted in the victories won under his aggressive leadership.

The dinner was a sparkling success in the smoothness and despatch of its arrangements and details, the glowing, full-hearted sentiment of esteem that was palpably forcussed upon the guest of the memorable occasion; and in the humor and generally the unpartizan spirit of the compact and unextended speeches.

UNSKILLED MEN MORE IN DEMAND PAST FEW WEEKS

Definite Shortage in Farm Workers Announced by Local Bureau.

MORE PAY CHEQUES.

Industries Have Been Taking on Unskilled Workmen.

Confirming, as far as Peterborough is concerned, the optimism of the report from Ottawa that 25,000 men were given employment in Canada during the past month, a noteworthy movement in employment here was reported by the Employment Services Bureau today. The demand for workers is one of the most encouraging of any period since 1931, it was revealed.

The Bureau has placed many skilled workers during recent weeks in response to local industrial orders and needs in other fields. Although the number of unskilled

ITALIAN PLANS MEET REFUSAL FROM ETHIOPIA

UP TO LEAGUE.

Italy Clings to Hopes For Conciliation—British Somaliland Leaves Cancelled.

ROME, March 30.—(AP)—A government spokesman said today conciliation would be the next step in the Italo-Ethiopian controversy following the refusal of the Ethiopian government to accept the Italian proposal for personal negotiations between the Italian minister at Addis Ababa and the Ethiopian foreign minister.

The spokesman said the two governments will appoint a commission of conciliation to study points of difference and recommend a solution.

Up to League

The Ethiopian charge d'affairs here, however, said the matter was now up to the League of Nations.

Earlier the Government Press Bureau had officially confirmed reports Ethiopia had rejected proposals from Italy to "put all the cards on the table" and settle negotiations directly.

Rumors war had been declared, however, were characterized by a government spokesman as "silly and stupid". He said the Italian government still firmly believed in direct negotiations as the best method of arriving at a solution.

Officers Leaves Cancelled

ADEN, Arabia, March 30—(AP)—All leave was cancelled today for British Somaliland officials because of the uncertainty of the Italo-Ethiopian situation.

Information reaching here from an unusually reliable source stated thousands of cases of arms and ammunition destined for Ethiopia had been held up at Djibouti, French Somaliland, awaiting permits to proceed.

Djibouti, across the Gulf of Aden from here, is the seaport terminal for the railway leading into Ethiopia.

T. P. Lancaster Ill, Returns To His Home

HAVELOCK, March 30 (Examiner Correspondence) — Completely exhausted by his work at Queen's Park, T. P. Lancaster, M.P., returned to his home here yesterday quite ill. Dr. J. Holdcroft attended Mr. Lancaster twice at his home this morning and planned to make another visit to his bedside this afternoon. Mr. Lancaster's illness is due to over-work following his recent serious operation, it was learned.

NEW LIVESTOCK YARDS FAVORED FOR THE FARMER

Mass Buying Report Suggests Plan to Create Competitive Market.

IMPROVE PRICES.

OTTAWA, Mar. 30. (CP).—New livestock yards to provide farmers in all parts of Canada with competitive markets were said to be recommended in the mass buying report completed yesterday. Investigation into livestock marketing was one of the most important features of the probe which lasted almost 14 months.

Point is Debated

Considerable controversy developed during the hearing over the proposal that packers be forced to buy through competitive markets instead of from truckers who purchased live stock from farmers and delivered direct to the abattoirs. It was contended on behalf of live stock yards that the direct buying resulted in producers getting less than they were entitled to because the packers with these supplies available were able to hold off the competitive markets and force down prices.

Suggestion is made that where there is only one abattoir, as in Hull, Que., Peterborough, London, St. Catharines, Galt and other points, live stock yards be provided in connection with these plants. In other points, such as Hamilton and Kitchener where there are two packing plants, one yard would be provided to serve the two.

These stockyards would not have all the facilities of the Union Stockyards in Toronto, but they would provide competitive markets, and any butcher or other purchaser might go into them and bid against packers.

Direct Sale Optional

A farmer, however, could still sell to a packer direct if he wished. The cammission decided it would not be feasible to crush out the practice of direct selling, but that in each point where there was an abattoir, there would be provision for competitive selling. What is regarded as even more important is that these comparatively small yards would be subject to the same Government inspection, and prices paid would be made public the same as in the big yards.

CHIEF NEWHALL WANTS NEW CAR

Need of New Car For Department is Urged By Chief Newhall.

COMMISSION MEETS.

Whether or not the $25,000 apportioned by the City Council to the Police Commission for the operation of the police department this year will make possible the purchase of a new car, said to be badly needed by the force, is a question that will probably be settled by the Commission at an early date.

With Mayor Denne absent through illness, the Commission met yesterday and discussed with Chief Newhall the need of a new car.

Chief Newhall said that the department's Ford car was now practically useless and that repairs to it would be most costly. He maintained that a second car was required by the department in order that the constables might properly police the suburbs of the city at night.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., chairman of the Commission, agreed that the department needed a new car. Judge Smoke said that the purchase of another car was wholly a question of finances. He doubted whether the estimates would allow the expenditure necessary for the car.

It was agreed to postpone decision for or against the car purchase until it is possible for Mayor Denne to attend a meeting of the Commission, called especially to deal with this question.

Chief Newhall reported that expenditures in the police department for the first two months of this year totalled $3,837.51.

The Commission granted the request of the Peterborough Humane Society for permission to hold a tag day on April 20.

DRIVERS ESCAPE RESPONSIBILITY FOR PASSENGERS

McQuesten Bill is Introduced Before House to Cover Accident Actions.

SAFETY GLASS CALLED FOR.

TORONTO, Mar. 30—Owners and drivers of motor cars will no longer be responsible for the safety of "gratuitous" passengers should an accident take place, under a bill to amend the Highway Traffic Act introduced yesterday in the Ontario Legislature by Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways.

It is understood that the amendment is the answer of the department to insurance companies' plans to double the passenger liability insurance rates in the Toronto area on April 1. It is anticipated that a further rate revision is possible if this clause of the bill is adopted.

Another major change in the act is that after July, 1936, all motor vehicles must be equipped with "safety glass."

Wider Police Powers

Wider powers will be given to police officers to inspect motor vehicles as to their condition, and it is proposed to force motor-vehicle operators to carry flares in case of night emergencies. The bill also provides that bicycles shall have a white strip painted on the rear mudguard.

All persons in the garage business will be obliged to report all cars in their care which appear to have been in an accident, and all open-air parking lots are to be licensed in the same manner as garages.

An amendment to the Highways Improvement Act empowers the department to tag all revenues under the act for the highways improvement fund, and the measure also validates the proposal to take the burden of Provincial highway costs from counties.

Kidnapper Must Die Supreme Court Rules

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 30 (A.P.)—Walter H. McGee, first kidnapper to be sentenced to death in the United States, must pay with his life for the ransom abduction nearly two years ago of Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager of Kansas City, the Missouri Supreme Court decreed to-day.

The court set the execution for May 10 in the Jackson County Jail at Kansas City. Hanging is the method of execution in Missouri.

FRED TEMPLE FOUND GUILTY MURDER COUNT

Guilty is Only Conclusion if Witnesses Believed, Says Judge in His Charge.

NO DEFENCE OFFERED.

Defence Tries to Show No Common Intent By Father, Son in Officer's Murder.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., March 30.—(CP)—Fred Temple, alias Mactemple, today was convicted of the murder of Constable Colin McGregor and sentenced to be hanged June 27, the same date his father, Frank Temple, will die for the same crime.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., March 30.—(CP)—"If you believe the evidence of the witnesses, you must come to the inevitable conclusion the accused is guilty as charged," Mr. Justice Henderson said at the conclusion today of his charge to the jury at the trial of Fred Temple, charged with the murder of Constable Colin Clair McGregor last May 7.

The jury retired to consider its verdict at 12 o'clock after listening to the three addresses by Crown Prosecutor J. B. Davidson, K.C., counsel for the defence, Fred R. Barnum of Aylmer, and His Lordship.

Right To Final Address

Mr. Davidson said while he considered Mr. Justice Henderson was quite right in ruling against Mr. Barnum's contention in offering no defence, he had the right to the last address to the jury. As representative of the crown he could say that: "It is not the wish of the prosecution to take advantage of the accused in any way, or even any seeming advantage." The crown would give the defence the right to the last speech to the jury.

"That is a graceful answer," His Lordship replied.

Mr. Davidson amplified the meaning of the law by speaking of a bank

HIJACKING GANG FAILS IN RAID

Attempt to Board Two Transports During Night Near Grimsby.

BELIEVED AFTER WINE.

HAMILTON, March 30 (CP)—An attempt to hijack two transport truck loads on Number 20 Highway occurred early yesterday morning it was reported to police at Grimsby last night.

Steve Toth and George North of St. Catharines were driving two Winter transports up the mountain grade at Stoney Creek when they saw a northbound car coming down the grade, with headlights flashing on and off as though signalling them to stop.

When the lights of the car went out completely, Toth became suspicious and did not stop, although his truck was moving slowly because of the grade. Four well-dressed men leaped out of the automobile and attempted to board the transport, but the speed of the vehicle was sufficient to foil their efforts.

When they failed with the first transport, they swarmed upon the second one, but were unable to get into the driver's cabin and bring the vehicle to a halt.

They slashed the tarpaulin covering the load and cut away the ropes.

The men discovered the nature of the load and leaped from the truck being picked up by the waiting car.

The drivers explained to police, on some occasions their trucks had been used to transport wine from the peninsula wineries, but on this occasion they were both loaded with beaverboard.

WAR WOULD HALT PROGRAMME DECLARES ETHIOPIAN EMPEROR

Requires Peace to Complete Plan for Social and Religious Reforms.

RECEIVES FOREIGNERS

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

ADDIS ABEBA (Airmail), March 30.—Haile Selasse I., "king of kings, conquering lion of Judah, elect of God, emperor of Ethiopia," received me in his private office in the imperial palace of Addis Abeba this morning and bade me welcome to his domains while expressing the wish that I would tell "to as many as would hear" that he had "no war-like thoughts, no enmity in his heart for any race, people or individuals and least of all for His Majesty King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy and the Italian prime minister Signor Benito Mussolini."

I saw a slender man with a shrewd Oriental face, whose eyes penetrated deeply and who spoke carefully, weighing each word he uttered. From time to time those coal-black eyes fluttered somewhat nervously whereupon he cast them down abruptly and began to adjust the ring with the diadem, which according to tradition was presented by King Solomon of the Hebrews to the queen of Sheba. The emperors of Abyssinia claim descendance of the union of Solomon and Sheba.

Abolishing Slavery

Sharp and even raucous sounds the Abyssinian language when spoken by the merchants and the hucksters in the market-place, but the speech of Haile Selasse could almost be called a melodious whisper. He was on the point of smiling several times, but repressed the inclination as if it would have detracted from his dignity. He was visibly pleased

Missing

LONDON, Ont., March 30 (C. P.). — The city seems to have lost a sewer. The sewer was last seen back in 1854, and the present City Engineer's Department disclaims all responsibility for the loss. The loss was discovered when workmen dug down to make repairs and were unable to locate it.

The Weather

TORONTO, March 30 (C.P.). — A moderate depression extending from Quebec to Newfoundland has caused some snow in the Maritimes and heavy rain at Halifax. Light local snowfalls have also occurred in Quebec and some parts of the west. Pressure is high and the weather cold over Western Canada, while a disturbance is moving eastward in the Mississippi Valley.

Lower Lake Region: Moderate winds; fair. Sunday—Fresh northeast winds; cloudy and cool, with some light rain or snow, chiefly near Lake Erie.

Georgian Bay: Moderate to fresh north-west to north winds; mostly fair to-day and Sunday; stationary or a little lower temperature.

Northern Ontario: Westerly to northerly winds; mostly fair, with lower temperature to-night and on Sunday.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley: North to north-east winds; fair to-night and most of Sunday; slightly lower temperature.

Dry Mexico

MEXICO, D.F., March 30.—(A.P.).—Plan for preventing manufac and sale of all alcohol beverages in Mexico is being considered by the Government to-day. President Lazaro Cardenas said he regarded elimination of the use of intoxicating liquors as one of the most important duties of the Government, but said he realized it would take considerable time to enforce a dry law.

LAST MINUTE NEWS FLASHES

TORONTO, March 30.—(CP)—Official celebrations in honor of the king's jubilee will be held jointly by Ontario and the City of Toronto before the parliament buildings, according to Hon. Harry Nixon, provincial secretary.

PANCONA, Italy, March 30.—(AP)—At least 16 men were drowned and a number of others injured in a violent storm which lashed this section of the Adriatic Sea today. Huge waves caused thousands of dollars damage to fishing boats and shore property.

MOSCOW, March 30.—C.P.-Havas)—Great Britain will "resolutely support" the Franco-Soviet position on European security, Captain Anthony Eden was understood to have told Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff today in concluding three days' conversations.

Queen's Rap at Makeup Sees Debutantes Bloom at Court in Natural Complexions

LONDON, March 30 (CP)—Queen Mary's hint make-up was displeasing to the eye, it was reported to-day, was responsible for an amazing number of natural complexions at the second of the season's royal courts.

The beauty in last night's court bloomed without benefit of rouge, mascara or lipstick.

Artful embellishments at the last of the first series of "Silver Jubilee" courts were conspicuously absent as the flattering debutante and stately dowagers curtseyed as Their Majesties sat on the golden throne.

Relief Camp Collapse Plotted Minister Declares

DOMINION-WIDE OUTBREAK BARED BEFORE HOUSE

Organized Revolutionary Body Behind Scheme Defense Minister States.

SET FOR APRIL 4TH.

Propaganda Found Similar to That in Russia Before Overthrow.

OTTAWA, March 30.—(CP)—While adequate measures were in effect to forestall trouble, existence of a destructive plot aimed at unemployment relief camps across Canada, today stood revealed.

The plot, laid by an organized revolutionary body whose emissaries were agitators working among men in the camps, had for its purpose the return of these men to "conditions of misery in the cities." Once there, they would be more ready to join any revolutionary movement on foot.

Parliament was apprised of the plot last night. On a particularly sleepy evening, when national defence department estimates were winding their slow way through supply committee, Hon. Grote Stirling broke the news.

Many Complaints

In previous sittings of the committee he had been bombarded with complaints about treatment accorded men in these camps run by his department. Specific complaints were cited. Regulations governing camps were described as 'Prussianism.' The minister was asked to explain why such harsh rules were laid down.

Last night he gave the reason, armed with pamphlets, newspapers and circulars which he said had been distributed in the camps, he quoted a propaganda calling upon the men to organize and agitate.

"This propaganda," said the minister quietly, "is strangely similar to that which was circulated in Russia before the revolution, and in the German fleet just before a disturbance which caused bloodshed."

The minister furnished one date in respect to the plot. A general demonstration was to take place in all camps in Alberta and British Columbia on April 4. All camps in the country were to be destroyed at a later date, which he did not give.

"It is evident," he continued, "we are face to face with a definite organization desirous of raising trouble so considerable it can be handled only with difficulty."

Agitators to Blame.

Thus regulations were necessary, but the minister asserted that law-abiding men did not fall foul of the rules. Most of the complaints were attributable to agitators whose underlying purpose was to destroy the camps.

Some of the members who listened to the minister's statement continued to blame conditions at the camps. To specific complaints the minister promised investigation.

Col. Harry Mullins (Cons., Marquette), a pioneer in Western Canada, advocated closing up the camps. He said that they were spoiling the men who would not work for farmers requiring help.

Here is an informal camera study of Mrs. John Buchan, who will be the new chatelaine of Rideau Hall, Ottawa, as wife of Canada's new governor-general. STAMP CORNER

By M. A BESSEY

This week we illustrate the remaining three values of the recent issue of Trinidad and Tobago.

One cent, green and blue, the Boca de Monos or Monkey Channel called the first Boca on the new one-cent stamp, is one of the four famous Bocas of Trinidad.

Few ships actually use this approach to Port of Spain because of the strong current which runs between Trinidad and the island of Monos.

The two-cent of brown and blue depicts the Imperial College of Tropical Agriculture, situated in the parish of St. Augustine, some seven miles east of Port of Spain.

Six-cent, blue and brown. When Sir Walter Raleigh touched at Trinidad enroute for the fabled El Dorado he came to the great lava lake called "Piche" by the natives, and which was subsequently named Tierra de Boca (The Pitch Lake) by the Spaniards. To-day it is leased by an asphalt company and the central design of the stamp is adapted from one of their advertising posters.

CANADA'S JUBILEES

Announcement has been made that Canada will issue a special set of stamps in honor of the 25th anniversary of the ascension to the throne of His Majesty King George the Fifth.

The denominations and descriptions are as follows: One-cent, green, a portrait of Princess Elizabeth. Two-cent, brown, a portrait of the Duke of York. Three-cent, red, portrait of the King and Queen. Five-cent, blue, portrait of the Prince of Wales. Ten-cent, green, view of Windsor Castle. Thirteen-cent, blue, view of the royal yacht Britannia. The one, two and five cents, will be of the ordinary size. The three, ten and thirteen cents will be of double size.

From information it would appear that Canada's Jubilee issue will be an outstanding one. It will be regrettable, however, if the department cannot turn out a far superior brand of centering regarding the perforating of the stamps, than has been the case during the past four years.

The date of issue, although not officially announced, will probably coincide with that of the rest of the empire.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Martin Krenz, Saskatoon, Sask.:

It would doubtless be best to send to the capital city of each colony for first-day covers of the coming Jubilee issue. Your letter would have to reach its destination on or before May 6th.

I have no information regarding cachets.

Your postmaster should be able to inform you as to whether or not you have time to reach some of the more distant colonies by May 6th.

The space required for a block of four would be that necessary for a block of eight of our small regular size stamps.

Canadian currency would not be acceptable as a remittance. Remit by post-office money orders or bank drafts.

"A" stands for "anna." "R" for rupee. For Kenya the values are in cents and shillings. The actual value of these changes from time to time, your postmaster or banker will doubtless be able to tell you the exact value at the time you apply for money orders or drafts.

Any up-to-date geography will indicate the capital cities of each colony. Try your local branch of the public library.

Do not know of anyone handling such covers, as mentioned.

SETTLER GANGS BEING LAID OFF

Government Plans to Give Settlers Opportunity to Put in Crops.

URBAN MEN KEPT ON.

The District Engineer, T. C. Swartman, announced to-day that all settlers' gangs working in the district of Peterborough with the exception of those from urban centres would be closed by the first of the month.

This is being done so that the farmers can clear up any work around the farm and be in a position to take full advantage of the spring for ploughing and seeding.

Mr. Swartman explained that this was only a temporary shut down and work would be resumed after seeding was done. The Department of Northern Development this year, working in conjunction with the Department of Public Welfare, will supply seed grain. In other years, liens were taken for seed supplied by the Department of Northern Development, but this year where seed is supplied by the Department of Public Welfare the applicant will be required to do road work to the value of the seed supplied. This work will be done after seeding operations are completed.

Mr Swartman stated that the Department of Northern Development would close down all settlers' gangs during seeding, haying and harvesting but would operate between these periods and assist settlers by road work until the crop was harvested. Before threshing time comes, the farmers would be given road work to assure them money for threshing.

The Government intends to make an organized attempt to rehabilitate the settler on the land and to subsidize him until his farm is self supporting.

NO PRUROACTION BEFORE EASTER PERLEY STATES

Liberals Led By King Block Supply to Government For Over Month.

WANT SHORT RECESS.

Mass Buying, Housing Committee Reports Given as Reason For Delay.

OTTAWA, March 30 (C.P.)—One of the liveliest battles of the present hitherto peaceful session of Parliament may be fought over the length of the holiday allotted to Parliamentarians at Easter. This prospect loomed to-day as a result of notice served by leading Liberals last night they would oppose a long Easter adjournment.

Acting Prime Minister Sir George Perley yesterday told the House the session could not end before Easter because of two important reports pending. The report of the Mass Buying Commission, due next week, would have to be studied and time would be needed to draft legislation designed to correct the abuses revealed in the long probe. The special committee on Housing was also working on an important study which should be completed. He gave no indication of the length of the holiday the government would propose at Easter.

If the House could not complete its business before Easter it should take a short holiday over the week-end, said Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader. The people wanted an early election and Parliament should wind up its business without delay and set the voting machinery in operation.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, asked the House to vote two months' interim supply, enough money to carry on the public service pending prorogation of Parliament when supply for the year is voted, but Mr. King refused and consented only enough money to carry on for one month. Mr. Rhodes, however, declined to give the Liberal Leader an assurance further money votes would not be asked before the end of the session.

One Month's Supply

The people should have an opportunity of choosing a new administration as early as possible, Mr. King declared. He had hoped it would have come before now: for that reason he did not think he

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, March 30 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on produce delivered at Toronto, as supplied by the United Farmers' Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Eggs—Grade A large, dozen, 15c; grade A medium, 13c; grade B, 12c; grade C, 11c.

Ontario Cobbler potatoes, bag 55c.

TORONTO POULTRY

TORONTO, March 30 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on poultry as supplied by the United Farmers' Co-operative Co., were reported unchanged to-day.

ONTARIO GRAINS

F.O.B. shipping point: Wheat, 85c to 87c; oats, 32c to 34c; corn, 56c to 58c; buckwheat, 43c to 45c; malting barley, 63c to 65c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Unsettlement of European finances, together with indications of moisture relief for much drought-stricken domestic crop territory, led to moderate setbacks of wheat prices yesterday.

Monetary uncertainty resulted both from a sudden rise in sterling exchange rates and from proposed devaluation of Belgian currency. One of the immediate consequences was to exert a restraining effect on grain trade activity, and for at least the time being to serve as a drag on most agricultural values.

Wheat closed easy at the same as Thursday's finish to ⅝ lower, May 94⅛-94⅝c; Corn, ⅛-¼ up, May, 79¾-79⅝c; oats unchanged to ¼ off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

Corn and oats mainly followed wheat, but in the closing hour the corn market developed comparative strength that was associated with enlarged shipping demand here.

Provisions lacked adequate buying support.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Prices were generally steady on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday with trading somewhat quiet. Number 1 grade butter was unchanged at 23½c to 24c a pound for cariots or less, with small lots to retailers bringing 24½c to 25c a pound for solids and a cent higher for prints. Receipts were 127 boxes. The egg market was unchanged at 19c a dozen for A-large, 16c for A-medium, 15½c to 16c for A-pullets, 16c for B and 15c to 15½c for C, all for graded shipments in cariots or less. Arrivals amounted to 1,293 cases.

For the second straight day no receipts were offered on the cheese market. Number 1 Ontario fall make brought 11½c to 11¾c a pound and summer lines a cent more.

On the potato market Quebec No. 2 whites sold for 50c to 60c and No. 1 Mountains for 60c to 65c. New Brunswick Cobblers were 60c to 65c, New Brunswick Mountains, 65c to 70c, and Prince Edward Island Mountains, 67½c to 70c, all for 80-lb. bags.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 30. — Grain traders surveyed a disturbed monetary situation yesterday, and most of them decided to stay out of the wheat market until it settled. After a quiet session, wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed unchanged, May at 84⅞s and July at 84⅝c.

A sharp advance of pound sterling in currency exchanges, resulting in ⅝d declines at Liverpool, favored Canada's wheat export trade, most of yesterday's dealings on the local market being purchases for export. Foreign sales totalled 390,000 bushels, offsetting Liverpool's weakness.

Traders paid little attention to other market factors. Crop reports from the United States South-west continued unfavorable. Argentine wheat exports this week increased 2,000,000 bushels to 4,750,000 bushels, and Australia's shipments were 3,000,000 bushels, also an increase.

Cash and coarse grains did little.

An Extra Five

NEW YORK, March 30 (C.P.). — Three armed robbers locked Julius Costello and his brother, Louis, in the washroom of their shoe store and then rifled the cash register of $24. While they were trying to open the safe a customer walked in. One robber greeted him with a genial "good evening," and sold him a pair of shoes.

"Five dollars and fifty cents," said the gunman.

The customer paid. The sale money was added to the $24 taken from the cash register. The robbers left in an automobile.

LAYMEN'S NIGHT

CAMPBELLFORD, March 30. — (Examiner Correspondence)—There will be a special service for men on Sunday evening at St. John's United Church when E. L. Fraser of Trenton, will be principal speaker. Special music has been arranged for the occasion. Men's choir, quartette, "Steal Away to Jesus", Dr. Richardson, Messrs Ronald Hazell, Harvey Donald and George Godden; violin solo, Donald Bennett.

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAMPBELLFORD, March 30. — Rev. P. Wiseman, D.D., of Ottawa, will be special preacher at the Free Methodist Church on Sunday evening, March 31st, where revival services are being continued with the quarterly meeting over the week-end. Rev. F. A. Ball, the resident preacher, reports that congregations are increasing and that great interest is being taken in this revival.

CALF FOR SHIRLEY

HOLLYWOOD, March 30. (CP). When the school children of Tillamook, Ore., voted Shirley Temple their favorite actress, they decided they should do something about it. So they sent Shirley a gift, which arrived by express yesterday. It is a jersey calf, named Tilly of Tillamook. Tilly will be quartered on Spencer Tracy's ranch.

NEW LIQUOR STORE TAX

QUEBEC, Mar. 30. (CP).—Right to levy a two cent tax on all revenue of stores of the Quebec Liquor Commission in this city will be requested of the Legislative Assembly in the Quebec bill, the City Charter Committee has decided. The bill comes before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature next week.

HYDRO CONTRACT DECISIONS SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Hepburn Promises Announcement Shortly After To-day's Session.

PRIVATE BILLS ADVANCE.

TORONTO, March 30 (C.P.). — Private members of the Ontario legislature to-day had for week-end political diet knowledge they would sit in special session next fall to discuss Ontario's financing and that while they were away from the Legislative Buildings over the week-end the Cabinet was settling the province's attitude towards the Quebec power contracts.

The Government's decision on the contracts which Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck has denounced as "illegal," will not, however, be known to-day. Following a question from Opposition Leader George S. Henry in the Legislature yesterday, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn stated an announcement would be forthcoming next week.

Confirmation of his hint two weeks ago, a special session might be necessary was given by the Premier when he addressed a meeting of the Ontario-Quebec division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association yesterday. At the same time Mr. Hepburn predicted the province's budget would be balanced by the end of the next fiscal year.

Question of to-day's Cabinet meeting was raised when the Opposition leader asked the Premier for an explanation of two different versions of what Cabinet would do. Mr. Henry read despatches quoting the Premier as stating the Cabinet's decision would be announced after the Cabinet meeting and another despatch containing a statement of Mr. Roebuck that the decision would not be made known till later.

The Old Reliable Remedy for WEAK AND NERVOUS PEOPLE

● Will Rogers is fond of saying: "Well, all I know is what I see in the paper". It is substantially true that all most of us know about current topics is what we see in the daily newspaper.

An unusual bond of friendship unites the reader and his newspaper, a relationship cemented by that wonderful thing we know as "News".

What is it?

News might be called the theme song of life. It is the sound of civilization's machinery in motion. It is the speed gauge of progress. It is the background of all thinking, all planning and all knowledge of current human affairs.

Because of this quality, when white paper leaves the printing presses carrying "the news", it has become an active force in its city, its country and the world.

In such an atmosphere of motion and vitality the Daily Newspaper places within the hands of maker and seller the power of contact with this new-reading public—a power that is limited only by the advertiser's own ability to use it intelligently.

"THE DIDACHE."

"The Doctrine of the Twelve Apostles"—A "Near Scripture" Book.

By REV. E. R. JAMES.

WHEREIN lies the interest in this ancient tractate, which can be read in fifteen minutes. For nearly three hundred years of the early church it was looked upon as "near Scripture." St Athanasius, writing in 367, when the Canon of the New Testament was practically closed, classes the Didache and the Shepherd of Hermas as the two leading non-canonical books appointed by the Fathers to be read by those who are thinking of Christianity and desire to be instructed in the doctrines of godliness. Yet there exists only one manuscript of this extraordinary book, and that written about 1056, and only discovered in 1875 in a monastery in Jerusalem and translated about 1883, when it created a great sensation and is still considered by leading scholars as worthy of very deep consideration.

It has been the happy hunting ground of those who do not hold Episcopal views of the ministry, just as the Ignatian Epistles, written about 115, are the stronghold of the opposite position. It emphasizes the position of "Apostles and Prophets," who were apparently dominant in the church at Antioch, as we read in the Acts of the Apostles. The author is entirely unknown, but the book had a very wide circulation in the province of Syria and Egypt, and the authorities are divided as to whether Barnabas, one of the great teachers of the primitive church, copied from the Didache or vice versa.

Dr. Biggs, a noted Presbyterian in the States, took up the isolated position that the book is a fourth century work, which is not accepted by any other scholar of note; while on the other hand Dean Armitage Robinson held it was a forgery of even a later date. Sabatier, the great French Protestant scholar, assigns the early date of 50 A.D. to it, which would make it earlier than any Scripture of the New Testament. Harnack, the great German scholar, places it early in the second century, and Streeter in his "Primitive Church" brings a wealth of argument to bear for an earlier date, placing it about 90 A.D., largely on the ground of its frequent quotations from St. Matthew. Here, in passing, I would say that Streeter does not hold the view that St. Matthew was originally written in Aramaic.

The work consists of instructions to catechumen, references to an itinerant ministry, and closes abruptly with an apocalyptic statement, so abruptly that scholars are of the opinion that the closing lines have been lost, similarly to those of St. Mark's Gospel. It is largely tinged with Jewish ideals, which is natural when we remember that the church in Antioch was predominantly Jewish. There is no mention of women, which Sabatier thinks gives weight to its Jewish origin.

The work undoubtedly was intended as a tract for the out of the way congregations, and was very probably published by the authority of an important church, very probably Antioch. The author's intention is to gradually lead these back stations and outlying congregations to organize a settled ministry in the place of itinerant, consisting of travelling "Apostles and Prophets," many of whom had a disturbing effect upon the lives of these congregations, similarly to our roving evangelists. Strange to say, and it is true to-day also, that this same itinerant ministry was most highly honored in that primitive community, and received with every sign of appreciation, so much so that many false prophets and apostles were making an excellent living in this way. The experience is not unknown to the twentieth century churches, and we see a hint of this condition in the first Epistle of St. John in the command to "try the spirits." But the primitive church was in a grave dilemma. The true prophet, says the Didache, must be accepted with the highest honor, as being the very voice of God, and he was given the right to order the Agape, the love feast, if not even the holy Eucharist. On the other hand, there was the false prophet, and he must be guarded against. The result was that by natural evolution the larger churches were slowly evolving a settled ministry of at least bishops and deacons. The writer's object is to emphasize the importance of that settled ministry and to encourage the travelling prophet to settle in a community. Such a man settling in a community with his prophetic gift and having natural powers of administration would soon rise to a dominant position, and nonarchical episcopacy was the result naturally. For example, Ignatius, second bishop of Antioch, was also a prophet, which in an Oriental community added greatly to his influence as bishop. The primitive church was in a state of evolution, growing from an irregular to a settled ministry, and the example of the church in Jerusalem with mono-apostolic rule had an enormous influence, for St. James, the writer of the Epistle, represented the Messianic line, and other churches were not slow to follow its example, so that early in the second century we find the settled order of bishops, priests and deacons, perhaps the very result of those unsettled times, and the tremendous object lesson of Roman law and order, producing peace and happiness all over the empire.

It is interesting to speculate upon the influence of this book, had it been received into the Canon.

Luther would have objected to it as he did to St. James' Epistle.

Perhaps the Baptist controversy might not have taken on its bitter note about the mode and manner of this rite. The Didache says: "Baptize into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost in living water. But if thou have not living water, baptize into other water, and if thou canst not in cold, in warm. But if thou have neither, pour water thrice upon the head into the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost."

Perhaps the holy Eucharist would not have been given a second place in popular Protestantism, for the command is clear that they should "Break bread on the Lord's day."

Perhaps the sacred ministry would have a higher place in the minds of many when they read the emphasis placed upon the office: "My child, day and night shalt thou remember him that speaketh to thee the word of God and thou shalt honor him as the Lord."

Perhaps such a word as "Christmonger," one who makes merchandise of Christ, as opposed to a true Christian, would have added enormously to our vocabulary.

Finally, a close study of this book shows us the contrast between the Canon of the New Testament and the near-canon literature, and we see clearly the guidanceof the Holy Spirit when the church of the fourth century set her seal upon the Canon of the New Testament.

Will History Repeat Itself?

By DEAN O'SULLIVAN.

The news from Europe these days is not very reassuring. The tension is greater than it was before the Great War. When we think of all the modern instruments of destruction, increased many fold since that day, the effects of an armed conflict are too terrible to contemplate. After the signing of the Treaty of Versailles it was felt by thinking men that all was not well, that the end was not yet. Subsequent events have confirmed that suspicion. I do not pretend to be a phophet, nor do I claim to be well informed upon the present situation, for I have not been on the spot and have no other source of information than what I may glean from a not too reliable press. I have read, however, some reliable history, and if history repeats itself, as it usually does, the nations of Southern Europe, unless they listen to the voice of the Prince of Peace, will be overrun again as they were in the fifth and sixth centuries, either by the Teuton and Slav of the north or possibly by the Mongolian race of the east. I propound this merely as a theory but that my readers may see something of its force I will draw a brief parallel between the situation then and now.

The old Roman Empire had becomean autocracy; power had largely passed from the hands of the people. Patriotism and virtue were at a low ebb. The northern races had made frequent attacks upon the Empire, and though repulsed many tribes with their leaders had taken up their abode in the Roman provinces. Among these were the Visigoths, who rebelled against their Roman rulers, and under their leader, Alaric, pillaged Rome in the year 410. This catastrophe caused the Emperor to abandon the outlying provinces, such as Britain, and call home his troops. Then came the Huns, led by Atilla, who swept down through Lombardy when the then Pope, Leo the Great, came out to meet him and induced him to retire. There was great rejoicing then among the Romans at their deliverance, as there was among the allies when the armistice was signed, but the saintly pontiff warned them that if they did not turn from their wickedness, God would send greater evils upon them. His advice was not followed, and four years later the vandals of Northern Africa again pillaged Rome. Thus ended the Empire of the Caesars.

These Germanic tribes, which in many instances had become assimilated with the conquered peoples, divided the Empire among themselves, each taking what they could claim by force of arms. The Lombards settled in Northern Italy, the Visigoths in Spain and Southern France, the Franks in Northern France as far as the Rhine, the Vandals in North Africa, the Anglos and Saxons in South Denmark, Northern Germany and Britain, and the Scandinavians in Sweden and North Denmark. Of these invading races, the Franks, Angles, Saxons and Scandinavians were heathens. The other Teutonic tribes were Arians. Arianism (which denied the divinity of Christ) was rampant in the fourth century, and the Arian patriach of Constantinople had induced many of these northern tribes to accept his brand of Christianity. These Gothic peoples possessed a vigorous character and, as Montalambert tells us, swept the corruption of Rome from their path and prepared the way for a healthier civilization.

The Christianizing and civilizing of these rude races was, as the historians, Sanderson and Hallam, tell us, due to the work of the monasteries and the influence of the sovereign pontiffs. "Religion," says Hallam, "made a bridge across the chaos and linked the periods of ancient and modern culture." Clovis, the husband of Clotilde, became a Christian, and with him were baptised many of his subjects. St. Boniface converted the Teuton tribes along the Rhine, and St. Augustine the Angeles and Saxons in Britain. But it was the monks of Ireland who had retained her soil and which had been the only secure place amid the wreck of a world, that played the chief part in this rebirth of Christianity in Europe. The culmination of all this constructive work came on Christmas Day in the year 800, when Charlemagne was crowned in St. Peter's and saluted as Emperor of the West. Thus arose that Christendom which gave to the world the great cathedrals and universities of Europe and which endured for many centuries.

Now, in the light of this, let us examine the present situation. Just as the Huns were at the gates of Rome in the fifth century, so were they in our day at the gates of Paris. There was great rejoicing when General Foch turned back the tide. But the successor of Leo the Great warned the nations that if they did not turn from their wickedness, greater evils would befall them. Who will say that they have heeded his warning? Who will say that his prophesy will not come true? Will the nations of Europe, war-weary and disillusioned, appeal, as a last resort, to the representative of the Prince of Peace to adjust their quarrels and to bring order out of chaos? Or will they, blind to the lessons of history, rush madly on to the destruction of European civilization? These are quettions which the present deplorable situation brings to the lips of every student of history.

Cathedral Musings

STAGNATION is death. Motion is life. A static universe would be impossible. If there is one law which is truly universal it is the law of change. Ceaselessly the great forces of evolution and devolution operate, forever building up, forever tearing down in order to build anew. Forms change to newer forms, everything becoming something else, even to the very elements themselves. Nothing is stable. Nor is man, the microcosm, exempt from these great laws. He must grow. He must definitely align himself with the constructive, creative powers, or perish. And when I speak of man, I do not mean the mere outer husk of his body and mortal mind, although that in itself also comes under the law. I speak of the Real Man, the Dweller in the house of clay; he cannot stand still, however much he may so desire. He must evolve, or else the incarnating Ego will perforce seek other vehicles of growth more amenable to the urge and drive of the spirit. Whole races have perished, empires and civilizations as mighty as this of ours have crashed in ruins because they disobeyed both God's and nature's law of growth. For man is by no means a so recent arrival on this earth as some would have us believe, and there have been many, many civilizations, many empires, many races stretching away back into the dawn of time, and it is as if they had never been. Had they fulfilled the law of growth they would not have perished. Herein is contained the lesson for ourselves. Shall we grow, or shall we die?—Prater IX., Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

The Life and Letters of Peter — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—I Peter 5:6-11; II Peter 3:14-18.

When Peter wrote his two epistles he was looking back over almost forty years from that day Jesus found him at his fishing and called him to be a fisher of men. During these years he had grown in the grace and knowledge of our Lord.

How much Peter needed that grace he learned on that night of the betrayal when Peter so shamefully denied his Master. Had he relied less upon self and more upon God's grace he would not have fallen as he did.

The Lord Jesus was most gracious in forgiving Peter and restoring him to his position among the apostles. On the day of Pentecost, Peter was given grace to preach Christ boldly so that thousands were converted and added to the church.

Grace gave Peter power to heal the lame man at the temple gate and to give all the credit to Christ, saying it was done "in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth."

CLUB LICENSES.

Liquor Commissioner Odette's action in restricting the operations of a number of licensed clubs to supplying only their members with beer is a step upon which the board is to be commended.

There is every reason to believe that some of these clubs have been very loosely run, that little attempt has been made to control sales, and, in short, that they have been operated more as a business proposition than as a service for legitimate members, so that Mr. Odette has thorough justification for putting them on probation.

This whole question of club licenses might well be scrutinized closely in the light of the experience of the past few months.

Suspicion will not down that in some cases at least the chief purpose of some at least of these clubs is to sell beer, and in this regard The Examiner agrees with the Ontario Temperance Federation in its contention that the limits should be narrowed very considerably.

As the Federation points out, the drinking of liquor in clubs presents many objectionable features, and this is especially true when the club apparently exists for the sole object of profiting from beer sales, a condition that does not make for adequate control.

Obviously Commissioner Odette has been impressed by these features of the situation, and the action he has taken is a plain hint that unless abuses are corrected club authorities in the province may be materially reduced.

"WHAT I SEE IN THE PAPER."

In using the advertising columns of Canadian newspapers to stress the efficacy of newspaper advertising the Canadian Daily Newspapers' Association certainly cannot be accused of inconsistency.

Such a course demonstrates that the newspapers have abiding faith in their own medicine, and that they realize that the only logical way to impress the public with the effectiveness of newspaper advertising is to use that medium themselves.

The first advertisement appears in to-day's issue of The Examiner, and in it Will Rogers' favorite saying, "Well, all I know is what I see in the paper," is used effectively.

Undoubtedly most people depend upon the newspaper as a reliable source of information as to what is going on in their own community, in their own country and in the world at large, and just as certainly they depend upon the same medium for information as to what they should buy and as to the newest and latest that business and industry has to offer it.

Canadians are particularly consistent and keen newspaper readers, and as the extension of rural mail delivery has brought the farmer into the fold of daily paper circulation, advertising in daily newspapers means constant contact with the bulk of the country's consumers, with most beneficial results to business and industry as well as to the public.

Intelligent use of this opportunity means much to those who want to sell, and therefore the C.D.N.A. is doing a useful service in advertising the advertising capabilities of the country's dailies.

BETTER LET IT ALONE.

With some of the recommendations in regard to the liquor situation that have been brought to the attention of the Ontario Government by the Ontario Temperance Federation The Examiner is in accord, viewing them as suggestions likely to improve conditions throughout the province.

The proposal that in local option votes a straight majority should settle the issue, however, is something else again.

We have always felt that in such controversial matters as the liquor question that unless public opinion is strongly in favor of one side or other of the issue there is always difficulty, and that the late Sir James Whitney's insistence upon the three-fifths clause in local option votes was one of the wisest things in the career of that sagacious statesman.

It, of course, applies both ways.

If a community is legally dry it requires the ballots of 60 per cent. of the votes polled to bring into effect the sale of intoxicants; on the other hand, if a community is legally wet the dry forces must poll 60 per cent. of all those who vote if sale facilities are to be abolished.

In either case public opinion is, by this system, more strongly indicated than if a straight majority settled the question, and there is more respect for the law and less danger of constant bickering and frequent changes.

The Temperance Federation should let the three-fifths clause alone; it may make it a little more difficult to banish liquor, but by the same token it is just as difficult to legalise the sale of intoxicants in dry districts.

A BAD RECORD.

The accident record for February, according to the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways, was serious enough surely to cause the public to do some earnest thinking.

Compared with the same month last year, increases in accidents, fatalities and the amount of property damage were registered.

As a matter of fact, the number of accidents, 562, was the greatest total for any February on record.

The number of fatalities, 34, was also greater than in any previous February, and was fourteen more than in the same month last year, although this exceptionally large total for the month was partially accounted for by the fact that ten persons met fatal injuries in one accident, a collision between a motor truck and a railway engine.

In addition to the 34 killed, there were 417 persons injured during the month.

The pedestrians killed number 12 as against 10 in February a year ago.

An extract from the bulletin itself might be useful as well as interesting.

"The findings of the coroner's jury following the accident in which ten persons were killed and six persons injured, emphasized the lack of ordinary safety precautions on the part of the driver as the main cause of the mishap," says the official statement. "Similar evidence of a callous indifference to the need for safe traffic habits is to be found not only in virtually every accident but in the behavior of a large proportion of drivers and pedestrians in their everyday use of the highways. Many of these persons would not consider themselves in this class, but their desire to show such mastery of an automobile that they can do several other things while driving, often results in disaster. Pedestrians, likewise, cannot cross streets safely when their minds are on other matters.

"There are probably few persons to-day who do not know the rudiments of highway safety, but they do not in many cases put them to use. The various safety organizations can teach care and thoughtfulness in the use of the streets and highways, but they cannot drive a motorist's car for him or take a pedestrian's place on the roadway to see that their instructions are carried out. Until such time as each individual is willing to assume this responsibility, there is little hope for a large reduction in the number and seriousness of accidents."

TWO-YEAR CIVIC TERMS.

There is a bill before the Ontario Legislature empowering Owen Sound to elect its mayor for two-year terms. Apparently there will be no opposition to the measure, and in many cities outside of Owen Sound the idea thus raised is meeting with considerable support and commendation. The St. Thomas Times-Journal, for instance, thinks it would save a deal of argument, bother and heart-burning if the Municipal Act were so amended making this principle universal throughout the province. The St. Thomas paper points out that in many cities there seems to be a gentlemen's understanding that the mayor is entitled to a second year by acclamation; but it is as much observed in the breach as in the agreement, and a law establishing a two-year term would settle the question for all time.

There is some merit in the argument that any mayor should be better the second year than the first after he has had some experience on the job. This argument was recognized by the framers of the city of Chatham bill which established our present form of civic government when they provided that both mayor and aldermen should be elected for two-year terms—the terms of the aldermen alternating, three being elected one year and four the next.

While during the past few years when civic politics have been more strenuous in character than usual there has been an outcry against the two-year term for aldermen on the part of those calling for a "complete change" in representation, still we believe that the system as far as the aldermen are concerned has worked out satisfactorily and with benefit to the community.

In the case of the mayor, however, while the principle itself is equally beneficial, it was found in Chatham that there was a greater lack of interest on the part of the voters in the civic elections when there was no contest for the mayoralty. The mayor and four aldermen were elected one year for two-year terms, and the following year three aldermen were elected for two years. Thus when only three aldermen were to be elected, the people were not as greatly interested in their public affairs. Chatham made a change, and now mayors are elected for one-year terms; so that both the mayor and a certain number of aldermen are elected every year. We believe that this change has aroused more interest in the annual contests—and we still have the beneficial continuity of service as far as the aldermen are concerned assuring that at no time will there be a danger of electing a council composed entirely of men serving their first terms.

The experience of Chatham seems to prove that instead of electing mayors for two-year terms, it is better to apply such a principle to the council on an alternating plan. It is complained in some quarters that a mayor is often robbed of his "second term," to which by custom he is entitled as a compliment to his good service, through the anxiety of aldermen to attain the office of chief magistrate; but there is no room for complaint in this regard in Chatham where we have a mayor who is serving his fourth year in office—and certainly his presence in each yearly election has caused the people to take greater interest in the contest.—Chatham News.

RUSSIA AND WHISKERS.

The news columns tell us how seven thousand barbers carrying boxes filled with perfumes and lotions are travelling throughout Russia trimming the whiskers and cutting the hair and scenting the persons of stalwart Russian Moujiks.

It is all a part, it seems, of the Soviet Government's determination to encourage the farmers to improve their personal appearance.

That determination, no doubt, arises from the fact that Communist leaders are becoming conscious of the ridicule that is reflected upon their political system through the uncouth habits of the Russian peasantry.

It is a decided upward trend from a social standpoint and we suppose we should congratulate Russia upon her new manners.

Yet, somehow, we regret it.

Just as sabots and sashes and bloody pikes are integral and colorful parts of the French revolution, so are whiskers bound up indissolubly with the birth of Communism.

A Bolshevik without a beard is like a lion without a mane.

Surely Communism will lose something of its savor when it is mouthed through lips that have no more foliage than the face of any bloated plute.—Vancouver Sun.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

This session of the Legislature continues to make history. For the first time on record a premier has appealed against a ruling of the speaker.

The prolonged debate at Queen's Park has at least served to prove beyond a doubt that George S. Henry's days of usefulness as party leader have gone to an end.

Two eminent Toronto men admit they had never heard of John Buchan. Doubtless the distinguished novelist had never heard of them, so that makes it all even.

Mr. Hepburn announces a fall session of the Legislature, and predicts a balanced budget for Ontario by next year. The first part of this program looks much easier than the second.

There will be regrets over the announcement that the Montreal Canadiens are to shift their franchise to some American city, possibly Cleveland. The Canadiens have been more than a hockey club; they have been an institution.

NEWS OF OUR OWN VILLAGE

The Edison works bill was up before the Private Bills Committee at Queen's Park, west of here, Tues., but was tossed out so quick it nearly hit the tail end of the deputation as the boys was coming into the committee room. Those Legislative fellows musta been anxious to get out to lunch, surmise we.

J. Cripps, from England, well to the east of us, was in the village the other nite and give the C.C.F. folks a little talk, but unfortunately didn't drop no tips on the likely winner of the Derby this year.

Ottawa, east of us, is all stirred up this weeek by the news that J. Buchan, a Scottish literary chap, is going to be the next tenant of Rideau Hall. Ottawa folks will put in a lotts time reading this summer so they'll know all the answers when the new G.G. arrives next fall, we suspect.

As many of the villagers as could snaffle tickets for the same has been taking in the hockey matches between the Bostons and the Torontos in Toronto, west of here, this week, while the rest of the folks has been glued to the radios. D. Clapper of Hastings, southeast of here, is on the line up of the Bostons, we mention in passing.

Art Roebuck, the attorney-general in Mitch Hepburn's Govt., has been cluttering up the ether waves this week, talking about the Hydro, but up to now J. Benny still remains the favorite comedian on the air, we are forced to report after a check-up.

Your scribe learns the real reason no tulips aint put in an appearance in the village parks so far is they wasn't none put in, which seems about as good explanation as any, come to think of it.

The badminton enthusiasts held a bonspiel or something in the drill shed last Sat. and as most of the games was long and most of the costumes brief, the affair was voted by all and sundry a real success from all points of view.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

NELSON, BRITISH COLUMBIA

Discovery of teh fabulously rich Silver King mine claims on Toad Mountain in 1887, was responsible for the founding of Nelson, according to the most reliable authorities.

Gilbert Malcolm Sproat, an official of the B.C. government, visited the spot to survey a townsite for a government reserve and laid out this property. A little later, Harry Anderson, mining recorder and local constable, surveyed a site adjoining the government property, to which he laid claim.

Sproat and Anderson did not live in harmony owing to Sproat's contention that Anderson's claim was not legal? They couldn't agree on the choice of a name. Anderson calling the place Salisbury, while Sproat named it Stanley. Eventually, the post-office refused the right to name the place Stanley, as a town of that name already existed in the Cariboo. According to the best authorities, the place was named for Hugh Nelson, then lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, and not for the British sea hero.

Matthias Kolt was a well-known Bavarian violin maker and head of the celebrated family of violin makers of that name.

A Thought for Today

"And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves."
—St. Matthew, 21:12.

A Thought

WHAT DO YOU LOVE?

Do you love the fragrant flowers in the spring;
Do you love the flitting birds that sweetly sing;
Do you love the gentle breeze,
And the wind that blows the trees
And the bussing of the bees?
Yes, I do.

Do you love the dancing shadows on the lawn;
Do you love the glorious sunrise at the dawn;
Do you love the rainbow's beam,
And the wing flowing stream,
As the glittering sparkles gleam?
Yes, I do.

Do you love a child's sweet laughter when at play,
Or an old man's kindly smile at close of day,
Or the beauty of the sun
When a weary day is done,
Or a good work just begun?
Yes, I do.

Do you love the pitter patter of the rain
As it splashes and it dashes on the pane?
Do you love the quiet night,
And the day so full of light,
And the way God works with might?
Yes, I do.

Do you love the way the sun shines after storm;
Do you love the evening dusk and dewy morn;
Do you love the snow-like wool,
And the water pure and cool,
And to keep the Golden Rule?
Yes, I do.

Do you love a simple story or a rhyme;
Do you love a tho't another sent in time;
Do you love to feel another's joy not thine?
If all this you truly say
Tho some things don't come your way,
There is joy here every day.
Hope you do.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE STRATHCONAS "WON THE WAR"

On this date (March 30) in 1918, the Strathcona Horse figured in a cavalry charge, which according to General Seely, won the war for the allies. It was at Montreuil Ridge. The situation was desperate. The Fifth Army had been destroyed. The cavalry included many crack British regiments but the honor of the day went to the Strathconas, thanks chiefly to young Flowerdew, a lieutenant in the Canadian corps. Many of the riders fell never to rise again. Let General Seely tell the story:

"I went with Flowerdew to a point where we could see past a corner of the wood. He looked fresh, fit, ready for any desperate deed. I pointed to a long thin column of Germans marching into the woods. He said with his gentle smile 'It is a splendid moment, sir. I will try not to fail you'. He wheeled his men into line and then with a wild shout he started, his sabre raised and shining. There were two lines of Germans facing him. Flowerdew checked his horse and pivoted to give orders to Lieutenant Harvey. Dismount your men and after we've charged seize the machine guns.'

"Then the squadron, less one troop, went forward at the charge, slashing and stabbing with their sabres. Machine guns and rifles spattered them, thinned them, knocked men out of saddles, dropped horses. Those who were left went on, tramping the gunners and riflemen, rode over the first grey column and into and over the second.

"Flowerdew, with two bullets in his chest and a gaping wound in each thigh, wheeled his men and led them back to sabre the Germans who had survived. Seventy per cent of his men were dead or wounded. Flowerdew grinned and dashed to the ground, dying.

"'We've won,' he shouted. 'Carry on'."

The Canadians, led by young Flowerdew, had saved the situation. The gap was closed, never to be re-opened. It was sealed with the blood of this young Englishman wearing a Canadian uniform but fighting for both his native land and his adopted country. He died of his wounds March 31. On April 24 the London Gazette announced that he had been awarded the Victoria Cross.

Foch himself bore tribute to the Canadians that day: "I shall never forget the heroism of the valiant Canadian cavalry division. The situation was saved, largely through its efforts."

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

WE WANT TO BE GOOD

We want to be Good.

Don't smile skeptically. We do.

We may pretend to be tough, cynical, indifferent, mean, cantankerous....But we're not.

Deep in our hearts we want to be kind, trusting, interested in other people, gentle, ocmpanionable. We have ever been. Our ambition is to be good....I think I can prove that a normal, healthy man is a Good Man. I may not be able to prove it to you, but I know I can prove it to myself.

I'm always reading in the papers of men who go crazy—from drink, from worry, from a complication of troubles—and kill their wives or their children of their friends.... And a hundred times I have been asked myself, "Why do so many men become violent and murderous when they go insane? Why are they worse instead of better when they lose their minds? Why don't they become like little children, decent and harmless, when they go mad? ....Yes, I know there are gentle lunatics, but why is violence always on the edge of their sanity and health?

I know about me, too....When I am tired I must fight against peevishness. If I have a headache I am a worse human being. When I am worried I am not as "good" as when my heart is free of all anxiety....I am "good" when I am well and happy. I am not so good when my health is below its proper level and I am unhappy.

If this is true of me(I am sure it must be true of all other normal men and women. I am certain of my own normality. I do my share of silly things, but I'm sane enough for all ordinary functions and purposes.

From these observations of ourselves and those we know, we may fairly rise to a belief that the human race WANTS to be good, that the strongest impulses in humanity and in any society we may create are toward decency and honesty. We are not bad, we are NOT an incorrigible species. When we are off balance we make terrible mistakes. In our ignorance we commit fearful crimes, but the most powerful tendency in our natures is in the direction of The Best.... And I cannot believe this force for happiness and decency can ever be finally defeated!....We cannot be pessimistic as long as we keep this truth in mind.

2 LOWER PRICE PLYMOUTH CARS

Business Coupe and Two-Door Business Sedan Presented For Fleet Demand.

ALL STEEL BODIES.

To meet a special demand from business organizations for lower priced transportation to be used by their salesmen and other representatives, the Plymouth Motor Corporation of Canada Limited today announced that new new lower priced models are being added to the 1935 Plymouth line.

The list price of the new Business Coupe is $675.00 and the list price of the new Two-Door Business Sedan is $705.00. These cars are additions to the 1935 Plymouth line and do not change the general line-up of Plymouth models.

These new Plymouth models incorporate all-steel bodies, hydraulic brakes and scientific weight distribution. They are powered with the new six-cylinder, 82-horsepower engine with its high compression ratio of 6.7 to 1 calibrated ignition, full-length water jackets and new directional water circulation.

Jno. C. McGuire, Chrysler-Plymouth Sales Manager, announced the addition of the new models for the Plymouth Motor Corporation of Canada Limited. He said the models are especially designed to meet the requirements of fleet operators.

"Plymouth sales on the 1935 De-Luxe models have established new records for the Corporation," he said. "Our shipments of 1935 models to date are 72.3% greater than shipments of 1934 models as of the same date.

BADMINTON PLAYOFFS

The final playoffs for the Peterborough Badminton Club championship will be held on the Market Hall courts on Monday evening, starting at 7.30 sharp. The games will be the same as some of those held during Military Club tournament, and spectators are cordially invited to attend.

BEAGLE TRIALS OPEN.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., March 30 (C.P.).—With entries from about 75 owners, the Canadian National Beagle Club's spring field trials opened here to-day. The trials are divided into two classes, the 13-inch and 15-inch sizes, and only beagles born since January, 1934, are eligible.

The winning dogs can compete, if their owners so desire, in the western trials at Palinfield, Ind., next week.

SEES RUSSIA HEADED FOR FALL

SARNIA, Ont., March 30.—(CP)—Belief Russia is rushing headlong into conditions other countries have been undergoing was voiced here by Dr. Weston Krupp, of Woodstock in a lecture on 'Russia As I Saw it."

Dr. Krupp said everyone was working feverishly in Russia but he, as well as other visitors, felt the country was building up a Communistic capitalism which would eventually swing into a class system.

LEADING OILS SHOW STRENGTH

International Pete Moves Up Half Point—Imperial and B. A. Unchanged.

NICKEL HOLDS STEADY.

TORONTO, March 30 (C.P.) — The leading oils displayed firmness on good volume in the closing session of the week on Toronto industrial board. International Petroleum moved up a half point to 31 and Imperial and British American held unchanged. International Nickel was steady at 24¾.

Distillers Seagrams had a fractional gain to 16, and Brewers and Distillers was off 5 cents to 60.

Advances were recorded for Fanny Farmer, Loblaw "A" and Weston's Common.

Bell Telephone went down a point to 125½. Royal Bank lost a point, and Bank of Canada ½. Dominion Tar Common was stronger with the preferred issue down 5½ to 56.

Fractional gains were boarded for Hinde and Dauche and Toronto Elevators Pfd.

ACTIVE DEMAND COPPER SHARES

Little Long Lac, Pickle Crow and McWatters Advance in Secondary Golds.

NORANDA STEADY AT 35.25.

TORONTO, March 30 (C.P.).—Selling of Hollinger in more than ordinary volume appeared on the mining board of Toronto Exchange to-day and the price had a setback of 25 cents to 16.50. The copper shares were in some demand, with Hudson Bay going through at $13, a gain of 50 cents.

Braylorne sold at 8.10 to show a small gain. Lakeshore held a minor advance, Pioneer was up a few cents and Wright-Hargreaves down about 10 cents. In the secondary gold group Little Long Lac, Pickle Crow, McWatters, McKenzie, God's Lake, Brazilian and Macassa and San Antonio all traded at advances of a few cents each.

Noranda was steady at 35.25. Eldorado Silver picked up 3 cents, Bear Exploration 2 cents, and Premier 2 cents.

Greece Uneasy As 25 Rebels Go On Trial

ATHENS, Greece, March 30.—(A P.)— Exceptional precautionary measures were taken to-day by the government to prevent another uprising as parliament considered the fate of 25 rebel officers on trial for their lives in connection with the recent ill-fated Greek revolt.

Cordons of soldiers were placed around parliament. A detachment of soldiers was deployed on almost every street corner.

Rumors were circulated of the possibility of a counter-attack .

"As long as the Greek nation reposes any confidence in me," said Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris, "I shall never allow half the Greek people to shoot the other half."

This was taken by some as an indication there probably would be no executions of rebel officers or their staffs for participation in the uprising led by former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos.

THREATENS TO QUIT.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., March 30 (C.P.). — An ultimatum that if his wife is dismissed from her position as matron at the Essex County Home for the Aged he himself would resign, has been issued by Dan Kennedy, superintendent of the institution.

Kennedy, suspended some time ago as a result of charges of maladministration, was exonerated and reinstated by the County Council on Thursday following an investigation by the Standing Committee.

NO INCREASED RATES

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP) —Railroads of United States were denied the right to make a horizontal increase in freight rates today but at the same time were authorized by the Inter-State Commerce Commission in a split decision again to add emergency charges to existing rates.

CLOSE CALL

FORT ERIE, Ont., March 30 (CP) —Fred Barber, driver of Fort Erie South fire truck, had a miraculous escape from serious injury to-day while responding to a fire call at Crescent Park. Rushing to the fire, four miles southwest of Fort Erie, Barber's chemical truck struck an automobile driven by Fred Holenbrook of Buffalo, overturned and was nearly demolished. Holenbrook's auto was damaged.

HELD FOR "JOB SELLING."

HAMILTON, March 30 (C.P.).—A charge of conspiracy was laid against Thomas Moore, Wentworth Street North, in magistrate's court to-day. It is alleged Moore conspired to sell "jobs" on the new Federal building here.

Radical Designs Feature British And German Locomotives

MONSTROSITIES FROM MARS?

Designs from the imagination of a futurist? Mais non! Locomotives—a la streamline. At left the bullet-nosed front of the new streamlined locomotive at Swindon, England. The unique shape of the locomotive's nose tends to lessen wind resistance and give the engine more speed, the object of the engineers. The locomotive, called the "King Henry VII", has been built in the utmost secrecy, this picture having been taken at its first trial run. At right, a closeup view of the new German streamlined engine, constructed at the Borsig engine plant, as it started out for its first trial run on especially built rails. It has an average speed of about 150 kilometres an hour.

MINING STOCKS

RENO GOLD MINES

QUERY: I am interested in Reno Gold Mines and would like to have some information from you as to the outlook for earnings and consequent value of the Shares.—H.L.Q.

ANSWER: Reno Gold Mines entered upon an era of profitable production in 1933 under new management that corrected many former mistakes. It is the most advanced property in the Sheep Creek area south of Nelson, B.C., which was discovered and first developed some thirty years ago, but under the stimulus of a higher price for gold Reno, as well as adjoining properties, took on a new importance and ore developments have in the past year and a half been most satisfactory in indicating a profitable little mine, without, at the present time, any indications of big tonnage possibilities, such as are known in the mines of Porcupine and Kirkland Lake. A shaft is currently being sunk from the fifth level with encouraging results and the sixth level is the only one to be fully developed. On this horizon some 350 feet of ore have been opened up in two ore shoots, averaging 1.4 ounces of gold over an average width of 2 2-3 feet.

In the fiscal year ended June 30 last, the value of the company's production was $419,375 from 23,717 tons treated, which is an average recovery of $17.68 per ton with the mill averaging 65 tons a day. Earnings from this operation showed a net profit of $32,732 after all write-offs and reserves, equivalent to 2.5 cents per share, as compared with 2.1 cents per share in the previous fiscal year. Total production costs, including depreciation, depletion and taxes, was $15.57 per ton as compared with $14.39 in the previous year. At the present time the mill is treating close to 100 tons daily and production in February was valued at $64,000, as compared with $71,450 in January. In order to get a true picture of the advance in production, it may be stated that last June production was the highest in the last fiscal year, with the value of the production in that month $60,049. Development on the eighth and ninth levels is proceeding and anticipations are that it will encounter the same ore as in the more fully developed sixth level.

The company paid its second dividend of 3 cents per share on April 1, which indicates an annual rate of 12 cents per share. Current production and estimated profits indicate that the present dividend is close to current earnings of the company. Under the circumstances, the shares are selling on the basis of anticipated, rather than real earnings when applying the ten per cent yield on the investment. I can foresee at the present time little justification for increase in mill capacity in view of the presently known ore situation. Therefore, the shares are obviously selling on speculative rather than intrinsic worth.

NOT NOTIFIED

TORONTO, March 30 (C.P.) — Plans to destroy unemployment relief camps have not been brought to the attention of the Attorney-General's Department, Hon. Arthur Roebuck said to-day, in commenting on reports presented before the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. Grote Stirling, Minister of National Defence. Mr. Roebuck also claimed Provincial Police had not been detailed as special camp guardians.

Nearly 6,000,000 gallons of milk have been distributed to pupils in schools of England in three months.

Who May be Who in 1935

By BILL BRAUCHER
© CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION, INC.

After giving him a trial here and there, the Yankees decided William M. Werber could not hit. So in 1933 they sent Bill to the Boston Red Sox in a deal.

Bill undid the wisdom of that decision by becoming one of the most dangerous hitters in the American League and a third baseman second to none in the business. This year he is counted on, with Joe Cronin, to form the strongest combination in the game working on the left side of the infield.

The Yankees, bringing him up in 1930, tried him at Albany, Toledo, Newark, Buffalo and the Yankee bench. Though a fast man, he was solemnly adjudged a flop at short, "not quite good enough." At Boston Bucky Harris put Bill on third and he became a .321 hitter last year, led his league in base running with 40 stolen bases, and accepted more chances at third and had more assists than any other third baseman in the league.

It may be just the Yankees' tough luck that in 1935 Bill Werber proves

Bill is one of the few ball players in the majors with a A.B. degree. He was born in Berwyn, Md., June 20, 1908, and grew up in Langdon, District of Columbia. At Duke University he distinguished himself in athletics, especially baseball, under the tutelage of Jack Coombs and George Whitted, and was a fine student as well. He was All-Southern football guard in 1929 and 1930, though only five feet eleven height, weighing 163.

After his graduation, in 1930, the Yankees sent him to Albany, where he hit .339, was named most valuable player on the Albany team and received a gift of $500 worth of furniture.

The following year saw him at Toledo and Newark, where his hitting was only fair. In 1932 he was sent to Buffalo, where he hit .289. Meanwhile the Yankees were sold on Frank Crosetti, using the young Pacific Coast Leaguer at short and third. There seemed no spot for Werber in the Yankee lineup, especially as he seemed an uncertain hitter.

BILLY WERBER

to be the key man in the Boston ensemble, the spark to lead the Red Sox past the Yanks to a pennant.

Star in Football, Too

Speed and Finesse

Werber is a different type of base runner from Jo-Jo White of the Tigers, who was runner-up to Bill last season. White is the Cobb type, crashing into an infielder, causing him to drop the ball. Werber depends on speed and finesse in evading the baseman with the ball.

Besides, Bill is brainy, always ready to take advantage of any lassitude on the part of his opponents. He delights in doing the unexpected.

This year, with Cronin at his side, there is no telling what heights he may attain.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, March 30.—(C.P.)—Only a few narrow changes were recorded on Montreal stock exchange to-day.

Power issues were traded only slightly as the announcement by Premier Mitchell Hepburn, of Ontario, of his policy on the Ontario Hydro situation was awaited. B. C. Power A lost ¾ at 24½ and the B shares eased ½ at a new low of 2¾.

Canadian Celanese Preferred lost ½ point at 107 and International Nickel was off ¼ at 24¼. Industrial Alcohol, Canadian Pacific, Dryden, Montreal Power, Power Corporation and Shawinigan, among others, held unchanged, while Dominion Steel rose ¼ at 4.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, March 30 (A.P.).—The stock market ended the week and month with a quiet display of confidence to-day. Encouraged by such key groups as rails and metals, other divisions had no difficulty in keeping in step and closing prices for active leaders were minor fractions to a point or so higher. Transfers aggregated 360,000 shares.

In the Canadian section of the list, International Nickel, after opening unchanged on a transfer of 4,000 shares, later eased a shade, while shares of Dome and McIntyre ruled about even on the curb; Lake Shore held steady. Dominion Government bonds were narrow. Canadian funds were 1-16th of a cent lower at 99¾ cents.

Among the most active stocks ending minor fractions to a point or so higher were Santa Fe, U. S. Smelting, Coca Cola, Sloss-Sheffield Common and Preferred, U.S. Steel, General Motors, Dupont, National Distillers, United Fruit, Chrysler, Liggett & Myers, Motor Products, Howe Sound and Bohn Aluminum.

Eggs Very Plentiful Price 13 To 16 Cents

Prices were as usual in the main, at the farmers' market this morning. Eggs were very plentiful and sold as low as two dozen for 25 cents. One woman who brought in 107 dozen disposed of her lot at two prices: 13 and 16 cents. The general price was at 16 cents a dozen.

Butter was quoted at 26 and 25 cents a pound; chickens had quite a range, from 16 to 23 cents a pound, and hens were 13 and 15 cents.

Maple syrup was in evidence in both the basket section and the open market. The general price was 50 cents a quart and $2 a gallon, but other prices were 60 and 65 cents a quart.

The prices on the open market were at the usual range, as quoted for several weeks past, with plenty of fresh fish, including perch at four pounds for a quarter, catfish, salmon and whitefish.

FRED TEMPLE FOUND GUILTY

robbery in which a robber, left outside the bank in a waiting car to assist in a speedy get away, was equally guilty of the offence committed by his fellow bandits woh undertook the actual work of holding up the bank.

Mr. Davidson referred to the recent case of the murder of Samuel Weinstein in London when two men undertook to rob the man's grocery shop. One remained outside on guard. The other entered and in the course of the robbery shot and killed Weinstein. The man left outside, though he did not have a gun and was not there when the shooting occurred, was equally guilty of the crime with the man who did the shooting.

If the accused was implicated in any way, helped in any way, or was an accessory after the fact in any way, he was just as guilty as the bank robber sitting outside in the car, he added.

The Defence

Mr. Barnum questioned what would be the father's reaction on seeing his son attacked by a police officer, hearing a gun go off, and hearing his son cry out, "They've got me."

Defence counsel contended the elder Temple had done what was natural; he had fired in dire extremity and at great risk of endangering his son's life. He also spoke of the independent attempt of Frank Temple to make a break for his freedom, independent because he left Fred Temple, the accused, in the kitchen to fare for himself. This was evidence there was no common intent between Fred Temple and his father.

To a contention by Mr. Barnum evidence showed the accused had only used the words "They've got em," not "They've got me—get them," as quoted by the Crown. His Lordship in his address asked for the court reporter to refer to his notes. The notes showed Sergeant McCully had testified the accused yelled to his father, "They've got me—get them" as Sergeant McKeown grappled with accused before the father fired the shot that McKeown and McCully swore killed McGregor.

UNSKILLED MEN MORE IN DEMAND

workers placed by the Bureau has not been noteworthy, a definite decrease in the application lists has indicated that many laborers are being re-employed. As a general rule, the factories are choosing men from their lists of former employees and direct applicants at their gates.

Cashing Cheques

Evidence of a definite improvement conditions in the city is also ment of employment conditions in the city is also contained in reports from a number of city shops which make a practice of cashing workers' pay checks on pay days. On several Friday's past, these shops have been "cashed out" at an early hour. Yesterday, one George street shop which had laid in $2,500 in cash to accommodate the workers, was cashed out by six o'clock. The checks were no larger than usual but were a lot more of them, the clerk commented.

Farm Workers Wanted

A definite shortage of farm workers in this district has brought the farm wage scale up as high as $30 a month with board—a new high for the past four years—the Bureau reports. Many orders have been filled from the city but the demand is already exceeding the supply even though the spring farm work has not yet got into full swing. Two years ago, farmers were offering only $10 to $15 a month with board. Last year the scale advanced to $15 to $20.

The fact that the road projects in the north of the county have taken much labor off the market as well as the strengthened demand from local industries is responsible for the shortage in farm labor.

The Bureau has on hand at present several orders from other Canadian centers for highly specialized workers. The list includes demands for a fitting room foreman, and under-glaze painter, a leather finisher and an assistant leather sorter. Only experienced men are acceptable for these jobs.

RELIEF TO CONTINUE

OTTAWA, March 30 (C.P.)—Relief payments to the provinces will continue uninterrupted in April, although the Relief Measure has not yet passed the two Houses of Parliament, Dominion Minister of Labor W. A. Gordon said to-day. The present act expires Sunday and the bill befort Parliament is to extend its provisions for another year. The measure probably will receive parliamentary approval and royal assent within the new week or ten days.

LEE TRACY FINED $100

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—(AP) —Five shots were fired today in the Hollywood apartment of Lee Tracy, police said, and the screen actor was arrested on charges of drunkenness, pleaded guilty and paid $100 fine.

The bullets crashed through the floor into the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Laidlaw, who said they had assisted Tracy upstairs a short time before.

OUTLET OVERSEAS.

TRENT RIVER, March 30 (Examiner Correspondence).—An attendance of twenty patrons of Trent Bridge Cheese Factory met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. George Brooks for the purpose of completing organization.

Mr. H. B. Wood, secretary-treasurer of the local cheese factory, was chairman of the meeting, and introduced the first speaker, J. A. Murray, Inspector of local dairy.

J. A. Murray

Mr. Murray spoke regarding organization. The demands of cheese makers and quality of cheese was very exacting, little difference from year to year in regulations; to-day they are insisting on a uniform high quuality; we'll have to keep up the quality. When we see what is being done by organization, it's well worth trying the second speaker was George Vanvolkenburg, president of Northumberland Cheese Factory Association, who outlined what was going on in the association. We started out last year to secure a man overseas to look after our interest in the Old Country. This requires a good deal of prestige. We presented our claims to the new Minister of Agriculture; he favored them, but wished to think them over.

Mr. Vanvolkenburg said he visited Rylston Cheese Factory and expected to get 100 per cent of patrons. At Warkworth they expect 65 per cent; Campbellford, 65 per cent, and it looks very much like we will get 65 per cent.

Harold B. Wood

Harold B. Wood, secretary of the Trent Bridge Cheese Factory, said:

"The cheese business, despite poor returns and plenty of trouble, is trying to get some place. There will have to be something done, or there will not be any cheese factories. Out of failures will grow success in the end. Some years ago the apple grower started some such scheme: buyer overseas. The apple growers think its the best thing they ever did, keeping an office open in the Old Land. They claim now a very small levy per barrel from each grower to-day. We sell our cheese and cannot hold them indefinite and buyers come and buy them as cheap as they can and they hold them till they get a big price in the Old Country. They are speculating. We want a more orderly system on the market. We want cheese ready to be thrown on the market when wanted. This year the cost will be likely taken on a 5 cent on a 100-pound of cheese to finance the business. The 5 cents on the 100 pounds will not be taken directly from our treasury.

Main Issue of Meeting

We have called you here to-day to see if you favor joining the Ontario Cheese Factory Patrons' Association. We hope to handle the marketing scheme for our cheese. We would cut out some commissions but would have to help keep up the man overseas.

In the picking of the cheese (500 or more in carload), Mr. Joss, secretary of the Patrons' Association, says, a buyer might want a certain grade of cheese and we might not have the kind wanted; we would get a certain percentage of the carload by joining the organization.

Mr. Wood explained the resolutions adopted at Kingston annual meeting.

The cheese factory is an export market business, would like to get equalization. There's room in this country for cheese. It's a product that is going to be exported. We are the people that it is going to benefit. The point is we should get 50 cents more a hundred for our milk as we have to pay a cent a pound levy on butter fat.

The difference between our action this year and last is that we are going to call ourselves the Ontario Cheese Factory Marketing Board. To make it our own business all the way through. We are working to get a law behind us. The province will be divided into five districts. We are all starting on the same level with government grant of $10,000 to begin first year with, and we want to get a system where we have a quantity of cheese ready all the time. Throw a cent a pound into the pool; we reap the benefit; it's good business. The cheese factory patrons are tired of the old way; must try something that is different. The bonus that goes with the pool goes to bonus expert products. Our butter is made for home consumption.

Mr. Wood asked the patrons if they were willing to endorse the resolutions and read the petition to the Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, Hon. Robert Weir. Every one can register their wish whether to terminate or continue at the end of a year.

A Strong Organization

Mr. Vanvolkenburg said if we have a strong organization, we can use it as a check up. The income of it is all our way.

Mr. J. McNeely moved, seconded by Mr. John Scott ,that the patrons go into it, the majority being in favor it was declared unanimous.

The Resolution:

Resolved, that we, the patrons of Trent Bridge Cheese Factory, approve of the Ontario Cheese Patrons' Association Marketing Scheme, as submitted to the Dominion Marketing Board for approval under the Natural Products Marketing Act and we further approve of the equalization scheme as introduced by the National Dairy Council and the Canadian Dairy Farm Federation."

BETHANY A.Y.P.A. WILL PRESENT PLAY

Associate Editors Named For News Budget Bulletins—Interesting Program.

BETHANY, March 28 (Examiner Correspondence).—The A.Y.P.A. of St. Mary's Church held their regular fortnightly meeting on Wednesday evening, March 27, at the rectory. Mrs. Lloyd Staples invited the Young People to meet at her home for the next meeting on April 10. A committee was named to take charge of the program which will be of a musical character. It was decided to arrange a A.Y.P.A. News Budget, with Jimmy Drysdale, Ben Page, Lawrence Staples, Bob Reid and Isobel Sisson in charge. A play is being arranged which will be in preparation to be given at an early date. The meeting was then given over to Muriel Hannah and Isobel Sisson and the following program was presented: Sketches by Mac McGill, Mrs. A. H. Monk, Theresa Holden, Lawrence Staples; solo Ben Page; piano solo, Robert Sisson; reading, Marjory Page; talk, Betty Galloway; essay, Theresa Holden; a play was enacted by seven boys, Robert Sisson, Lawrence Staples, Jack Hannah, Ben Page, Jimmy Drysdale, Harold Page; Robert Reid.

Following this a dainty lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Holden and Miss Galloway.

NO PROROAGTION BEFORE EASTER

could convince his followers that more than one month's interim supply should be granted, that being sufficient to pay costs of government for the month of April.

G. W. McPhee (Lib., Yorkton) was more outspoken. "I thought," he said, "the Minister of Finance in asking for unanimous consent, would have settled the current rumor that there will be a six weeks' adjournment at Easter. If that is the intention of the Government, then I say he will not get unanimous consent to such a proposal."

Mr. Rhodes, asking unanimous consent, observed that following the usual practice he had discussed the matter with Mr. Mackenzie King.

"My right honorable friend did not concur in the suggestion that I should ask for one-sixth," Mr. Rhodes said, "but did intimate his willingness to concur in the granting of one-twelfth, with the exception of an additional one-sixth in the case of certain items where the heavier expenses came early in the year."

He would have preferred the customary one-sixth vote of this year particularly, the minister said, because the estimates were based upon continuation of the 10 per cent. salary deductions which were to be restored, as from April 1, to thet extent of 5 per cent.

A question to the Acting Prime Minister from Mr. King brought up the question of prorogation and adjournment.

Short Adjournment.

The Liberal Leader reminded Sir George that he had spoken to him on the matter yesterday, and he had then expressed the hope that if prorogation was impossible before Easter, adjournment would be only for a few days and that Parliament would reassemble as soon after Easter as possible.

"It seems to me quite evident that we cannot get through the session before Easter," Sir George replied.

"Why?" queried P. F. Casgrain (Lib., Charlevoix-Saguenay), Liberal Whip.

"If the honorable gentleman will allow me, I propose to give the reason," Sir George retorted.

"The report of the Mass Buying Commission has not yet come in, nor do we know exactly when it will come in. We also have a committee discussing the housing problem ,one of the most important questions in this country."

Reports of these committees would have to be prepared and submitted to Cabinet Council where decision would be reached as to legislation that may be based upon them. Proper consideration could not be given these matters if prorogation were to be reached by Easter, Sir George said.

Enough for Present

Speaking to the Finance Ministers request for unanimous consent to passage of the Interim Supply Bill, Mr. King, after presenting his arguments in favor of an appeal to the people as quickly as possible, expressed the hope that further interim supply would not be asked for.

Interim supply is almost a matter of form in Parliament since it is customarily in session during the end of one fiscal year and start of another, and estimates are seldom passed in their entirety until the eve of prorogation. The custom has been to secure unanimous support of the House to put through an interim supply bill appropriating to the use of the Government sufficient of the money provided in the estimates to carry on business and pay salaries. It is only by unanimous support this can be done.

Estimates for the Department of National Defence, always among the more contentious of the money votes were finally passed last night. Hon. Grote Stirling, Minister of National Defence had them before the House several times without making progress, but last night caught the members in a more agreeable mood.

Continuation of the budget debate dragged on slowly all day. At one time there were less than 35 members in the House with two or three asleep and the rest reading newspapers or solving cross-word puzzles.

Defends Trade Policies

Minister of Trade R. B. Hanson made an elaborate defence of the Government's tariff and trade policies, reading columns of figures to strengthen his argument it was the Liberals who lost foreign markets and the Conservatives who regained them.

This prompted Jean Francois Poulliot to give another set of figures to attack the argument and for 20 minutes straight column after column of comparative statistics was read into the record.

No Canadian Government, Mr. Hanson contended, had done more to clear away trade obstructions than the Bennett administration. Treaties had been signed with many countries and he expected lasting benefits from them, particularly the Ottawa Conference agreements.

Mr. Hanson took occasion to mention reports regarding Premier Bennett. "Mendacious and malicious statements" about the health of Mr. Bennett are being circulated in the press and in other ways by persons opposed to him, Mr. Hanson charged.

At the same time the Minister made it clear he did not hold Liberal Leader Mackenzie King responsible and did not doubt the sincerity of Mr. King's expressions of hope for Mr. Bennett's early recovery.

Mr. Bennett, he said, would be back in the House before the end of the session and would lead his party at the general election.

Obituary

MRS. ANN McMARTIN

A resident of Peterborough County for eighty-four years, Mrs. Ann McMartin passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. Albert Crowley, Lot 23 Concession 13, Otonabee, early this morning. In declining health for some time past, the deceased with in her eighty-seventh year.

mier said. "We will make that announcement before the middle of next week."

Private bills respecting the village of Hastings, Windsor, Toronto, Fort Erie, Tisdale Township and Ottawa received second reading unopposed.

In committee stage similar success was recorded for the bills of Owen Sound, St. Thomas, Crowland Township, Teck Township, Neebing Township, Huron College and Weston.

Chief discussion in committee focussed on the Attorney-General's bill to amend the Justices of the Peace Act.

W. A. Baird (Cons., Toronto-High Park) protested against abolition of property qualifications for justices of the peace, and Col. W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto-Parkdale) stressed care should be taken in appointing justices of the peace. He recalled one example where a Northern Ontario man, dismissed in 1930 as a notary public, was appointed a justice of the peace last September but dismissed a month later. Col. Price read from the Timmins News an account of the man, Eustace Mountjoy, on serious charges.

John Rowlandson (Lib., Cochrane South) accepted responsibility for Mountjoy's appointment.

Small Boy Has Close Escape From Injury

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 30. (Examiner Correspondence).—Prompt action of driver of a heavy truck averted a near tragedy at the intersection of George and Tice streets late Thursday afternoon when a small boy on a kiddie-car—heedless of traffic regulations—attempted to cross the road. There was a screeching of brakes, a breathless moment, and then within inches of the front tires the child was grabbed by a pedestrian and carried to safety.

EDEN OPPOSES GERMAN SAFETY VALVE IN EAST

No Idea of Sanctioning Move to Preserve Peace in West Briton Tells Stalin.

PARLEY CONTINUES.

MOSCOW, March 30.—(C.P.) — The Anglo-Russian peace and security talks entered their third day to-day as Soviet hopes grew for British cooperation in political and commercial matters.

Capt. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, and Foreign Commisasr Maxim Litvinoff met at the latter's country home. After the luncheon the youthful Briton and the Soviet statesman continued their talks which will end to-mororw when Capt. Eden leaves for Warsaw and Praha to continue his efforts in the interests of a system of collective security to guard the peace in Europe.

Denial was made by Capt. Eden Britain would grant Germany freedom of action in Eastern Europe as a safety valve for the purpose of maintaining peace in the west. His denial was in reply to a direct question from Joseph Stalin in their interview yesterday—the high light of the Moscow conversations.

No Talk of Aggression.

"Say that we are weak, say that we are hesitant, but don't say that we are thinking, directly or indirectly, of aggression against anyone," the British envoy is reported to have declared.

The "Far Eastern Locarno" proposal, which it had been predicted Stalin would make to-day, was not brought up in the course of the conversation, Havas reports, though Stalin did remark that "solutions that are good for the West are at least desirable for the East."

He added tension on the Far-Eastern frontier of the Soviet Union seemed to have been considerably relaxed recently by the tendency of the United States to play a less active part in the Far East, and by the transformation of Russia-in-Asia into a virtually invulnerable and economically self-sufficient fortress.

Large Audience Sees Second Presentation

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAMPBELLFORD, March 30. — Another good audience greeted the St. Andrew's players on Friday night and judging by the applause everybody seemed to forget their troubles for at least three hours and went home happy. A special feature of the evening was the violin and guitar selection by Messrs. Gerald and Manson Labrash. Musical numbers between acts which also delighted the gathering were provided by Keith Bailey with piano selections and guitar selections by Messrs Bill Blue and Douglas Long. Mayor Long is being congratulated upon the success of his new endeavor.

A hearty vote of thanks was also tendered Frank DeCarrol for his assistance with the electrical effects and also to A. D. Bennett who kindly loaned the furniture. Some kind words were also conveyed to Harold Dunk who acted as prompter. The Young People have already been offered engagements in adjoining towns, which "For Petes Sake" they may accept.

Mass Buying Report Nearing Govt's Hands

OTTAWA, March 30 (C.P.). — Some time must elapse before the voluminous report of the Royal Commission on Mass Buying finds its way into the House of Commons. Said to be divided into eight sections, the report was completed yesterday. It must now be printed.

Indications are that it will be in the hands of the Government in a little more than a week, but its consideration by the Cabinet must occupy further time. No intimation has been given yet of when it will be tabled. Assuming that it is to be the basis for legislation, some weeks may elapse before the Government is in a position to bring it down.

PLANT SWEET PEAS EARLY NEXT MONTH

Seeds Must Be Placed in Ground Early in Order to Have Results.

Sweet Peas are general favorites and no garden seems complete without at least one row; but many gardeners do not seem to get satisfactory results and have given up trying to grow them. One of the most important things to remember is that the seed must be sowed early, as the young plants will not stand the heat they will be subjected to when sown in late April or May. Seeds should be sowed any time from now till the end of next week. Get out a trench 12 to 16 inches deep; put in a good layer of thoroughly rotted manure or partly rotted leaves, or even partly decomposed vegetable matter from a compost heap. Tramp this down firmly, and replace the top soil to within two inches of the surface and sow the seeds in a triple row 2 or 3 inches apart and diagonally. If your seeds are named varieties a good plan is to sow them in clumps of 10 or 12 in color schemes. As soon as the young plants are 2 to 3 inches high, put in some small twigs for support and later put in brush from tree prunings, pushing these into the ground in two rows outside the plants and meeting at the top forming an arch. If these are not available, string may be used in the same manner. Do not use wire netting, as the wire gets hot and saps the vitality of the stems. Keep all lateral or side shoots pinched as soon as they show and (this is most important) on no account allow any seed pods to form. When watering is necessary do not water from overhead, but tie a piece of cheesecloth or muslin on the end of the hose and let a gentle trickle of water flood the base of the plants. This will suffice for a week, being retained by the mulch at the bottom of the trench.—Peterborough Horticultural Society.

REO A REAL SAFETY CAR

Effective Brakes, Power When Needed and Ease of Control Are Three Potential Features.

DRIVING MADE EASY.

Ask ten motorists to list in order of importance the various features that, in their opinions, contribute most to the safety of motoring and you will find the answers give a pretty accurate picture of what automotive engineers will be building in years to come. This is the opinion of John S. Selkirk of 466 George street, local Reo distributor.

Operation Safely

"With the number of persons killed or seriously injured in motor car accidents increasing year by year," Mr. Selkirk says, "the public is becoming more 'Safety Conscious' and more thoughtful of those details of new cars that contribute to safety of operation. Persons who do most of their driving in the mountains might not all head their lists of wanted safety features with the same items that would be selected by persons who do most of their driving in flat country or by persons who drive chiefly in city traffic—but there are three times items that will be among the first five on almost every list. They are: Effective brakes, power when needed and ease of control.

Two-Shoe Brakes

"Recent adoption by several more prominent motor car builders of two-shoe internal hydraulic brakes —the type pioneered by Reo in 1928 —is rather convincing evidence of public recognition of the type of brakes Reo owners have found so effective and safe. During recent years Reo engineers have made important contributions to the safety of motoring by pioneering several notable improvements in transmission design. Back in 1929 Reo gave the industry the incentive to improve transmissions when they pioneered "Silent - Second" the transmission which made the shifting of gears easy and certain, and which left the long accepted noise out of driving in second speed.

Automatic Self Shifter

"Reo's more recent contribution, the automatic "Self-Shifter" introduced nearly three years ago, removes the dangers attendant upon shifting gears and the mental strain. Both hands are at all times free for steering and for signalling. When gears must be shifted by hand in an emergency it is impossible to have the left hand on the wheel and at the same time extended from the car to signal drivers coming up from the rear. Again, the removal of the conventional gearshift lever from the front compartment, together with the shifting of the parking brake lever to a convenient location well forward to the driver's left, make it easy for the driver to leave his car through the right hand door, instead of climbing out the left door into mud, onto slippery pavement, or in front of approaching traffic."

PRIZES PRESENTED TO WINNING TEAMS

George St. Church Carpet Bowlers Close Successful Season.

The members of the ladies Carpet Bowling club of George Street United Church last evening held a very enjoyable banquet in the Sunday School auditorium. This marked the conclusion of their activities for the season. Since the first week in November they have met each Wednesday afternoon playing two regular schedule games. The rinks have been evenly matched and the competition very keen. Mrs. Miller's and Mrs. Hales' rink had the highest number of games and played off for first and second prizes.

Mrs. Morrow's and Mrs. Cunningham's rinks were close runners-up with an equal score. In the play-off Mrs. Morrow won from Mrs. Cunningham.

At the conclusion of the banquet the first prizes were presented to Mrs. P. Miller's rink by Mrs. J. W. Hales with the following personel: Mrs. Bleaker (lead), J. W. Hales (second), Mrs. Weir (vice) and Mrs. Miller (skip).

Mrs. A. I. Brown presented the second prizes to Mrs. Hales' rink: Mrs. J. Douglas (lead), Mrs. S. Oke (second), Mrs. McKibbon (vice), Mrs. J. W. Hales (skip).

Mrs. W. H. Cunningham in a few witty remarks made the presentation to Mrs. Morrow's rink: Mrs. Northey (lead), Mr. Northey (second), Mrs. H. Wood (vice), Mrs. Morrow, (skip).

The convenors of the arrangements for the winter's sport: Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Hales made a few remarks thanking the members for their co-operation. Rev. J. E. J. Millyard gave a short address congratulating the members on the success of their banquet and referring to the good times they had enjoyed during the winter. Mrs. W. H. Cunningham and Mrs. M. H. Frederick were convenors of the banquet and Mrs. C. Wylie was in charge of the decorations. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered each of these ladies. After the conclusion of the banquet carpet bowling was enjoyed a number of the members husbands coming in and participating in the game.

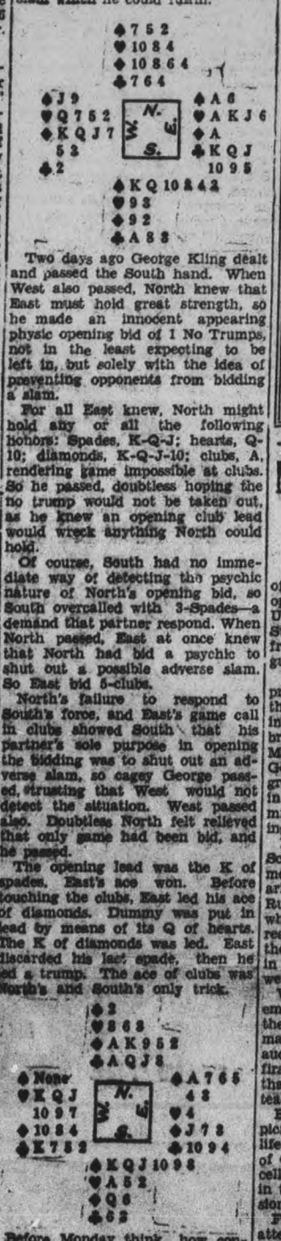
ABLE PLAYERS DETECT PSYCHIC BIDS

You can fool some of the players all the time, and all the players some of the time, but some of the players are so quick to detect psychic bids and vulnerable spots in opposing hands that it is dangerous to attempt deception. Note how South detected the physic call of his partner and thereby prevented east from bidding the small slam which he could fulfill.



Two days ago George Kling dealt and passed the South hand. When West also passed, North knew that East must hold great strength, so he made an innocent appearing physic opening bid of 1 No Trumps, not in the least expecting to be left in, but solely with the idea of preventing opponents from bidding a slam.

For all East knew, North might hold any or all the following honors: Spades, K-Q-J; hearts, Q-10; diamonds, K-Q-J-10; clubs, A, rendering game impossible at clubs. So he passed, doubtless hoping the no trump would not be taken out, as he knew an opening club lead would wreck anything North could hold.

Of course, South had no immediate way of detecting the psychic nature of North's opening bid, so South overcalled with 3-Spades—a demand that partner respond. When North passed, East at once knew that North had bid a psychic to shut out a possible adverse slam. So East bid 5-clubs.

North's failure to respond to South's force, and East's game call in clubs showed South that his partner's sole purpose in opening the bidding was to shut out an adverse slam, so cagey George passed, trusting that West would not detect the situation. West passed also. Doubtless North felt relieved that only game had been bid, and he passed.

The opening lead was the K of spades. East's ace won. Before touching the clubs, East led his ace of diamonds. Dummy was put in lead by means of its Q of hearts. The K of diamonds was led. East discarded his last spade, then he led a trump. The ace of clubs was North's and South's only trick.

Before Monday think how conservative players would bid and play the above hands.

John Hays Hammond Still Youthful At 80

NEW YORK, March 30 (C.P.)—As John Hays Hammond, noted figure of mining, writing and the wars of another era, observed his 80th birthday to-day, one of his chief irks about life was youth treats him with "too darn much reverence."

Hammond, much of whose life was chronicled in Richard Harding Davis' "Soldiers of Fortune," filled the air of his hotel suite with pipe smoke and said:

"Why, not many months ago a fellow on a street car got up and offered me his seat! I felt like punching him in the eye. A few years back I got into an argument with a young scrub and it waxed pretty hot, and he almost broke my heart when he said, 'If you weren't so old, I'd show you a thing or two.' Why the young scrub. I could have got out of a sick-bed and licked him. The young scrub."

Gets Three Months' Rest From Financial Worries

LINDSAY, Ont., March 30 (Special to Examiner).—James Lindsay, of Orillia, was given three months' definite and six months' indeterminate at the jail farm yesterday. "In order to get you away from your financial worries for a spell," said Magistrate Gee. Lindsay had been working for a farmer near Sebright when he collapsed from a dose of strychnine, which had been self-administered.

Crown Attorney Anderson referred to Lindsay's war record and the fact that he has a service medal, stars for 1914 and 1915, and a military medal. On the other hand he had been wedded twice and his obligations were many. With two wives still living, the accused, amid tears, did not deny that he had recently made a will leaving his all to a third woman.

During a Maharajah's wedding in India dancing girls entertained the crowds in the street by performing on a platform strapped to the backs of two elephants.

Not half so clever as their wives—
Just like the drones of honey bees
That serve one purpose in their lives,
While eating honey in the hives.

They praised the toiling honey bees
For discontinuing the doles;
While Mother Queen Bee fertilized,
Her progeny produced in shoals
And kept on paying Nature's tolls.

They thought the day would surely come
When man, a being then of worth,
Would keep as mothers human queens
To mate and populate the earth—
Quintuplets often at a birth.

The mass of females sterilized
Would do the work like busy bees,
And many drones in male attire
Cast out would be to starve or freeze
And women run the world at ease. . . .

"Oh, dear," said one, "it's five o'clock
And dinner must be ready when
My Tom comes home to wash and eat
And rest like other working men,
Content with love and smoking den.

"I could not treat him as a drone;
He slaved for me and gave me more
Then many wives deserve to own:
A cottage paid for, children four,
And all the love he held in store."

"I guess we're not so badly off,"
The other woman smiled and said,
"My wifely duties also call;
My husband loved me ere we wed
And since we've shared our daily bread."

MISS M. I. STEWART IS GUEST SPEAKER

Under the auspices of the W.M.S. of Peterborough Presbyterial, an open meeting was held in Knox United Church, with Miss M. Irene Stewart, missionary - on - furlough, from Rutlam, Central India, as the guest speaker.

Mrs. C. H. Scott, Presbyterial president, occupied the chair, and the meeting opened with the singing of "Jesus Shall Reign." The brief service of worship was led by Mrs. W. H. Morton, president of George Street United W.M.S., which group has been especially interested in Miss Stewart, since she was their missionary adopted for prayer during the past three years.

In introducing the speaker, Mrs. Scott spoke of her as one of the most outstanding W.M.S. missionaries, in her work as Principal of Rutlam Day and Board School, to which position she has recently been reappointed. She also referred to their close affiliation in the work in Rutlam, where Dr. and Mrs. Scott were stationed for some years.

Wearing a beautiful silk costume embroidered in gold and typical of the native dress of the Indian woman, Miss Stewart impressed her audience most favorably from the first moment, when she explained that her dress was the gift of the teachers and girls of her school.

By means of beautifully-colored pictures, Miss Stewart depicted the life and surroundings of the people of Central India, as well as the excellent work being carried on there, in the various departments of missionary endeavor.

From the gardens of Kashmir, the attentive audience were transported to the famous Taj Mahal, the most beautiful building in the world and built by a Mohammedan. The next picture showed a Hindu shrine, a common sight in India, and interesting as a type of architecture. The sacred Ganges, with its banks thronged with pilgrims was shown, and the speaker noted that there were many other sacred rivers in India as well. In their various forms of penance, the holy men were depicted, one with upraised arm and another on a bed of spikes. A scene in an Indian village showed the merchants setting out their wares as well as the different costumes worn.

The final picture was that of an attractive native woman doctor, who was given to the mission as a babe and whose consecrated life bears witness of the efficacy of the W.M.S. enterprise.

Mrs. Scott expressed the sincere appreciation of the gathering to Miss Stewart for her excellent address; to the pastor, officials and members of Knox United Church for their hospitality, and to Mr. Morrison, who operated the lantern.

Rev. Wm. McDonald supplemented Mrs. Scott's remarks, thanking Miss Stewart for her message presented in such an interesting form, and also, speaking of the splendid contribution being made by Dr. and Mrs. Scott to the missionary education of the community.

The singing of another stirring missionary hymn and the Mispah Benediction closed an evening of great enjoyment for all W.M.S. workers.

Trinity Choir Plans To Present Cantata

The Lenten cantata, 'Penitence, Pardon and Peace,' by Maunder, will be sung in Trinity United church next Monday evening at 8 o'clock by Trinity choir, under the direction of Miss Mabel Clarry, the solo parts being taken by Mrs. R. Cowan and Mr. G. Coleman.

The choir will also be heard in soli, anthem and hymn, singing with faux bourdon and in two-part canon. Mrs. G. Richmond and Miss M. Wolstenholme will be the soloists. There will be a silver collection.

Frost recently destroyed about half the orange crop in Valencia, Spain, and the loss is estimated at $15,000,000.

WAR WOULD HALT

when I ventured to say that the Christian world was especially happy to have learned that under his beneficient rule slavery was being abolished in Abyssinia.

The emperor nodded his head several times at this and his eyes flew to a mahogany escritoire upon which stood a portrait of his holiness Pope Pius XI. I recalled that I had seen him in Paris some years ago when he was still co-regent. That was the occasion when he had also visited the Vatican for a private audience with the pope, who presented him with a portrait in jewelled frame.

He listened attentively while a court interpreter translated my words from French into Amharic. Upon completion of the translation he burst into rapid speech, which turned out to be a reminder that the year of his journey through Europe had been followed by a difficult time, an era of civil war and rebellion, but that all this was over now. I said the whole world knew his majesty as a social reformer, under whose administration the people of Abyssinia had made astounding progress in every branch of human endeavor.

Resembles Arab Sheik

The emperor nodded his head again and stroked his short beard, and asked the secretary who took down the conversation to repeat my statement. It seemed to please him. As he leaned over sideways I had a good opportunity to study his profile. The color of his skin is not black by any means, but olive-hued, the color of South Americans, Sicilians, Spaniards and of Jews who have lived for a time under the sun of Palestine. The forehead is high, the hair was combed back straight, the nose more Greek than Semitic, although there was a striking resemblance, in features, I thought, to those of the late King Hussein of the Hedjaz, the father of Feisal of Iraq and Abdullah of Transjordania who was a typical Arab sheik and with whom I had a sentimental tete-a-tete once on the island of Cyprus.

The emperor remarked next in a lively tone of voice that I had been seen at the service in the cathedral on the previous Sunday and asked me whether I was interested in the religion of the country. I said that I was happy to tell him that I had on more than one occasion officiated in the service of the Coptic church in Jerusalem. He leaned forward eagerly, but quickly corrected himself by sitting back and assuming his former attitude. He had the interpreter ask me what I thought of the church. I said that I preferred to hear a good sermon to assisting at a long ritual and that I was sorry to say that I had little sympathy for a cult which used an obsolete language. This was perhaps a little boldly stated, but then I thought I'd better tell the truth even to an emperor.

When my reference to an obsolete language had been translated, the emperor threw up his hands in protest and asked me whether I was not aware that he had personally imported a printing plant and had ordered the translation of the Bible into the everyday language of the people and that the task of translating the Gospels was completed.

Is Social Reformer

I said that I regretted exceedingly not to have known this and that I was infinitely obliged to his majesty for conveying the information personally. "It is to hear this that I have come to Addis Abeba, and your majesty's words are more valuable than the rumors of war," I said. To this Haile Selasse replied: "It is my hope, with God's will, to live in peace with all men and to transform the still many backward tribes of Abyssinia into industrious Christians. It is a difficult task which requires years of patient tittoring. I am building schools and am operating several commercial enterprises, not for personal enrichment, but to have funds to extend my educational program. War is the thing furthest from my thoughts, for war would interrupt my social reforms. War would bring back evil days. We are seeking to progress gradually and peacefully in the direction of a European democracy such as England. I would like to see the Abyssinians a truly modern people under the kingship of Jesus Christ. To this end we have changed the laws of the land, abolished old customs which were cruel. There is no torture now in Abyssinia and we will ultimately abolish the death penalty."

Receives Inscribed Volumes

I looked him steadily in the eyes, but my thoughts wandered off to another land where two women had just been decapitated with .... an axe.

The emperor then inquired after my travels in Africa and how long I intended to stay. Almost an hour had gone by before he rose and extended his hand, signal that the audience was over. I surmised by the frown on his face of the chamberlain that I committed a faux pas in not kissing the diadem, but I only kiss hands when I am in Vienna. That's a rule of Medes and Persians with me. But I did not forget to walk out backward and to bow deeply three times before I reached the door.

In the antechamber before departing from the palace, I was presented with a magnificent set of three volumes of Abyssinian history in French with a personal inscription by the emperor.

Officers' Association Will Present Play

Intensive preparation for a dramatic program to be presented by the Peterborough Officers' Association in the recreation room at the Armouries next Thursday evening has been under way for some time past. Officers and ex-officers of British and the recent allied forces with their male friends will be welcomed to witness the performance free of charge.

The presentation which will be combined with a social evening for the officers will be the first step of a move to promote a wider interest in the Officers' Association agreed upon at the last Armistice Dinner. Enacted by local members with the aid of some Toronto talent, the offering will have a distinct military flavor.

First Ship To Cross Arctic Sea

The S.S. Fort James, frozen in near the North Magnetic Pole in the Canadian Arctic, has just been reported by the Hudson's Bay Company as the first ship to cross the Arctic seas. It started its long voyage from St. John's Nfld., and stayed in the Arctic for some years. Then it returned east, sailed through the Panama canal and via Vancouver to its base where it had previously wintered in the Arctic, reaching there this winter. It thus is first ship to complete circumnavigation of North America.

CHABOT SIGNS CONTRACT

CHICAGO, March 30 (C.P.) — Three playing members and Manager Clem Loughlin of the Black Hawks were on their ways out of Chicago to-day, already under contract to play in the 1935-36 National Hockey League season.

Lorne Chabot, who won the Georges Vezina Memorial Trophy for the best defence record during the season just completed; Paul Thompson, the team's leading scorer; Johnnie Gottselig, ace forward; and Loughlin called at Owner Frederic McLaughlin's office Thursday and came to terms.

Pleasing Program Cheerful Workers

Mrs. M. H. Drysdale lent her home on George street last night for the March meeting of the Cheerful Workers' Bible Class, when over forty member and friends gathered for business and entertainment.

A brief, well-planned business session was carried out and quickly settled, leaving the meeting open for the social side of the program.

Two humorous readings were enjoyed. Mrs. Wm. Atkinson's selection, "Meddlesome Neighbors," was very true to life and provoked much merriment.

Mrs. Wm. Casey in "Job's Comforter," also brought a pcture of everyday occurrence.

Interspersng the readings, Mrs. H. Turner and Mrs. J. Moynes played very acceptably, several guitar numbers, while a delightful piano solo was contributed by Mrs. Monk (nee Crissy Milby), who later played in duet with Mrs. Kay.

"God's Tomorrow" was sung with much expression by Mesdames Monks and McKinstry, and "When You Come Home" by Mrs. J. Cooper.

"Easter" formed the theme of a clever contest, while the refreshment committee under the able convenorship of Mrs. Olaveson, provided a dainty lunch. During this service, community singing was enjoyed, from the Revival Hymn Book, "Triumphant Songs".

"Blest Be the Tie That Binds" concluded a very pleasant evening.

The thanks of the class was tendered Mrs. Drysdale for her kindly hospitality, and to all who contributed to the success of the evening.

"NOW IF I WROTE THE ADS . . ."

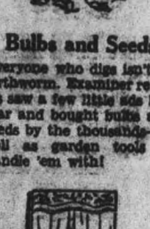
"HERE ARE SOME OF THE THINGS I'D ADVERTISE!"

"If I wrote the ads" says our advertising manager, "the first thing I'd do is find out what my customers need and tell 'em about it."

And what do people need and want in the merry month of March? Pul-lenty! we'd say, judging by the things that were sold last March with the sly help of an ad in The Peterborough Examiner. Easter bonnets marched out of the stores in droves. Splendiferous neckties melted off the racks like snowmen in July. Sunshine and spring breezes made gasoline sales go up-sadaisy.

Far be it from us to tell you how to run your business. Deciding what to sell this March is your problem, not ours. But just to get you started we're showing you some of last year's "best sellers." Of course, you may have better ideas on what to advertise—we aren't merchandising sharks. But we do know you can't beat our ideas on where to advertise if it's quick sales and lots of them you're after.

Because people who make a habit of buying the best things and getting more for their money also make a habit of reading the Peterborough Examiner. And you just can't reach these buyers for so little expense in any other way but through The Peterborough Examiner. Use it anytime— most advertisers do. But for goodness' sake, do it now—for when spring is in the air, profits aren't far behind!



Bulbs and Seeds

Everyone who digs isn't an earthworm. Examiner readers saw a few little ads last year and bought bulbs and seeds by the thousands—as well as garden tools to handle 'em with!

Curtains Laundered

Plenty of winter soot on the curtains in March. One bright laundry knew it and cleaned up last year with a twelve-inch ad. Who'll be first this year?

Used Cars

March is used car time! The whole family is aching for a bus. They'll be looking for one in The Examiner . . . and it might just as well be one of yours.

Decorating

Spring is the season for house cleaning—time for re-decorating the home inside and outside. An ad or two in The Examiner will prove a business puller.

Flowers

St. Patrick's Day means green carnations . . . and anyway it takes little argument to sell flowers in the Spring. A little ad did it last year . . . it will to-day.

Milk

Swellest Spring tonic in the world! You might about the face in a few Examiner ads and give your milk sales a boost.

Advertise in the EXAMINER
The Paper that's welcome at Home!

Furniture

People buy furniture all the time but Spring seems to speed up the process. Last year many a nifty chair and table was sold . . . and it didn't take much space to tell 'em about!

Dry Cleaning

Winter clothes are going to sleep . . . Spring togs are saying "Hello." Both kinds need cleaning . . . here's extra business for some bright advertiser.

Super-Service

New cars, old cars, used cars all need servicing in March. Try a "club offer" on washing, greasing, brakes etc. . . . tell the world with an ad and then watch the business roll in!

Shipping Lanes Clogged Hundreds of Miles by Ice Packs

LINERS DELAYED BATTLING WAY THROUGH FLOES

Two Steamers and Unknown Schooner Get Caught in Immense Atlantic Fields.

COAST GUARDS BUSY.

HALIFAX, March 30 (C.P.).—A heavy ice barrier extending hundreds of miles across the Atlantic shipping lanes held two steamships and an unidentified schooner in its grip last night, while a crippled freighter was being towed toward Halifax.

Jammed in the floes about 20 miles apart off the Cape Breton coast, the Canadian Government ice-breaker Montcalm and the collier Coalby were helplessly waiting for favorable winds to loosen the pack.

The Montcalm, which broke four propeller blades while battling ice on an errand of mercy earlier this month, was bound from North Sydney to Louisburg when she was caught yesterday near Flint Island.

Collier Trapped.

The Coalby, a 4,903-ton carrier chartered by the Dominion Coal Company, was surrounded and held fast by drift ice about one mile out of Louisburg.

Reachin, Halifax yesterday after an 18-day passage from Port Talbot with coal, the Norwegian steamship Leif confirmed wireless messages that she had sighted a schooner jammed in the ice about 100 miles south of St. Pierre and 140 miles east of Flint Island.

"The schooner seemed to be four miles ... the pack and we were unable to make out her name," said the Leif's mate.

Belief was expressed here that the helpless wind-ship was the Gloucester fisherman, Arthur D. Storey, long overdue at her home port with a cargo of frozen herring.

Rescue on Way.

About the same time word reached Halifax that the United States coastguard Mendota, which had been assisting the rudderless Belgian freighter Jean Jadot, was speeding toward the ice-pack in an effort to identify the vessel.

If it was the Arthur D. Storey her crew would be short of food and water, it was said, for she left Belleoram, Newfoundland, March 3.

The Mendota left the Belgian ship after the ocean-going tug Foundation Franklin, out of Halifax, put a line on the helpless craft and began to tow her toward port.

A message from the Jadot to East Coast Radio yesterday said she was about 50 miles off Sable Island, and making four or five knots with the tug's assistance.

Ice conditions in the Gulf and off the Cape Breton coast are the worst in years, the barrier extending from St. Pierre clear down to Sable Island.

No Kid-ding, They're Getting Our Goats

Quintuplet kids are all the rage now. Here are two sets of them, one in Hamilton, Ont. (TOP), and the other (BELOW) from Geneva, New York. Both sets are doing well and attracting the interest of both lay and scientific minds. Quintuple birts of little goats are rare indeed.

A National Message

(By Rev. D. Pascoe Goard, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.E.S.)

In process of time Jesus Christ was born to the House of David, in Bethlehem of Judea: born of that House which is apointed to hold for ever the first "estate" of the Realm, viz., the "throne." The three estates as we now reckon them are:—The King, the Lords, and the people. Jesus was born into the House of David, as heir to the throne, to rule over the people for ever.

Jesus Christ came to confirm the promises made to the Fathers. The promises so confirmed were racial and national in character. The covenants and promises, together with the laws, form the basis of our faith and of our national administration.

Jesus Christ died to redeem Israel and to make atonement for "sins of the people"; and for the world.

The promises so confirmed included the everlasting permanence of the nation Israel: :the throne of David and the ministry of the Levites, the secular order of priests. (See Jeremiah XXXI to XXXIII.) In the near future Jesus Christ is coming to reign over and to administer this state.

God has used the state in many ways, and for a variety of task connected with the Kingdom of God. He used Israel and Judah in captivity, to banish the darkness of the heathen blight from among the nations. For instance, through the captivities, there was scattered twilight to the nations, as follows, and even then to a wider stage.

Zoroastrain faith in the Euphrates valley and in Persia, Buddha in India, Shinto, which is akin to Druidism, the ancient faith of Britain, in Japan; the renaissance of Judah faith in Jerusalem, which resulted in the Talmudic development; the philosophies of Greece and Rome; and reformed Druidism in Britain. So from the gross darkness of heathenism the dawning of light came through the scattering of Israel. Israel was not enlightened by the scattering of Israel.

Then came the founding of the modern western nation, and the development of Celto-Saxon civilization; through Israel missionizing and colonization.

God is calling the peoples of the state together again, and is in process of unifying them all for the next stage of world history.

To these Israel colonies the gospel was brought by St. Paul and other Apostolic workers. The gospel was welcomed in Greece, Spain, Britain, Gaul and in all the Israel colonies.—Reprinted from "The National Message."

GOLD WATCH IS GIVEN MEMBER

Radio Quartette of Belleville, composed of Harry Moorman, Harold Howard, Alfred Evans, and J. D. Bankier, with Leo Riggs at the piano; choruses by the entire company provided delightful entertainment.

Letters and telegrams of felicitations and also of regret for inability to attend were read from nearly a score of "Bill" Fraser's absent friends, including Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and Premier M. F. Hepburn.

Albert Matthews of Toronto, treasurer of the National Liberal Federation, conveyed its congratulation to Mr. Fraser upon the demonstration of appreciation and honor, and J. J. Duffus of Peterborough expressed a similar salute from the Central Ontario Liberal Association.

Candidates Present

With the members of Parliament at the head table were some of the Liberal candidates already nominated in district ridings for the next Dominion elections. They were: Bruce McNevin of Victoria; W. F. Rickard of Durham; Charles Cameron of South Hastings; J. Clark of Prince Edward-Lennox.

Others were: J. Dixon, Warkworth, president of the Northumberland Liberal Association, and Mrs. Dixon; Mrs. Sam Dudley, Colborne, county vice-president; Mrs. Neil Morrison, Campbellford; J. J. Duffus; Nelson Parliament, W. Stephens.

The group of members of the House of Commons who came from Ottawa as colleagues of Mr. Fraser, were Hon. Chas. Stewart, Edmonton; Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Vancouver Centre; John Wallace, South Battleford, Sask.; W. H. Moore, Ontario County; William Duff, Guysborough, N.S.; J. A. Mercier, K.C., Montreal; Ross Gray, West Lambton; Colin A. Campbell, Frontenac-Addington; Wilfred Hanbury, Vancouver-Burrard, B.C.; Fred G. Sanderson, South Perth.

Also H. N. Carr, M.L.A., Campbellford; Mayor John Delanty of Cobourg, who extended a civic welcome; Albert Matthews and W. H. Cunningham, Toronto; and James F. Cox of Trenton.

Mr. Fraser's Reply

In his reply to the address with which Mr. Carr made the presentation of the gold watch, Mr. Fraser said he felt overwhelmed by the sentiment of so many of his constituents.

"I am moved beyond words by the sincerity of thought and action by this great gathering," Mr. Fraser said, "and what makes me happiest is the feeling that I am home when I am with the people of Northumberland who accepted me as I am and placed their trust in me as their member of Parliament five years ago. It is always to me a wonderful thing that you have accepted me, and that I am one of you; that we hold to the same political principles and breathe the same political atmosphere, and that we stand united behind our leader, W. L. Mackenzie King."

Mr. Fraser said that the loyal support and regard from his constituents was a compensation for the sacrifices demanded by public service, with absence from home, and the criticism that was directed from some quarters.

"Your loyalty and support stands as the second thing in my life, and with that behind me I pray God to give me strength to carry on for this old county of Northumberland, for this province of ours, for Canada and the British Commonwealth of Nations, of which Canada is a bright jewel in the crown. This is the second happiest day of my life. The first was when my wife took me as her partner in life; and I deeply regret that owing to her illness Mrs. Fraser is not here tonight to share in the happiness which you have given me. Through Mr. Carr I extend my gratitude for this beautiful token of your confidence. As I look at this old iron watch of mine I can't help but think that it is symbolic of the dullness of the depression we have had for the last five years under the Bennett administration. This gold watch becomes a symbol of the sunshine of prosperity that will follow the re-election of my esteemed leader, Mackenzie King, as the head of the next government in Canada."

Hon. Mr. King's Praise

The letter from Hon. Mr. King, read by Hon. Chas. Stewart last evening, referred to the duties at Ottawa which prevented him from coming to Cobourg for this occasion.

It continued in part as follows: "I am happy indeed to join with Mr. Fraser's many friends in paying tribute to his public service and to the personal qualities which have won for him the position in the community and in the party which he enjoys to-day. Since his election as member for Northumberland, Mr. Fraser has represented, irrespective of political affiliations, the interests of his constituents with the greatest fidelity. His energetic support and never-failing loyalty to me personally during the arduous and perplexing years since 1930, have meant more than I can say. What his services have been to the party as a whole is, perhaps, best revealed in the formation of the Central Ontario Liberal Association, in which he took so active a part, and in what that organization has since its inception suceeded in doing to further the interests of Liberalism in its part of the Dominion. That, at this moment, there should be in Central Ontario ten Liberal candidates in the field, with the eleventh and final convention to be held within the next few weeks, bespeaks more eloquently than words the practical and successful nature of Mr. Fraser's activities and those of his colleagues in the work of the association."

Impressed by Mr. Fraser

Hon. Mr. Stewart declared that from the entry of that "human dynamo, Bill Fraser, into Parliament" he had been impressed by his ability and energy.

"Mr. Fraser has endeared himself to every one of us, and I may say that no young man coming to the House has been so useful and valuable, and also who has given himself to the all important task organization as your member, William Fraser.

If I may venture into the political field for a moment I wish to refer to the new budget at Ottawa, a wonderful budget Mr. Rhodes brought down the other day. The ladies may not be interested in the fact that there is a three dollar reduction on whisky, but no reduction in sugar. They will have to wait another twelve months until us Grits get in.

The boys who sport those fancy lighters may be interested to know that the Government has placed a higher duty on them; so you will have to burn more Bennett matches. It is a poor man's budget they tell us, so they have taken the tax off gold."

From West Coast

Fred Hanbury recalled that while other provinces in 1930 decided to accept the promises of Mr. Bennett by returning him enough members to form the Government, British Clumbia has sent "five good Grits" to Ottawa, and this year they hoped to have a solid representation for that province to support "the next Premier—Mackenzie King."

Your Problems

Religious and Social Questions Answered By DR. WYLIE CLARK

I saw a quotation which said: "Books are written to send men to heaven or hell." Is that true? —T. D. G.

Those of us whose business it is to read books often wonder why many may be printed, bound together and called a book. Perhaps every book leaves some impression on the of them were written. There seems to be no purpose in them except to produce stuff that mind, and if so, the influence is either good or bad, and may be a reason why we choose our road of destiny. There are some books, strong books, which are decidedly good or bad. If we read the bad there is always a danger that our thinking may be twisted and some of our finer senses destroyed.

Dr. Wylie Clark

Please explain Luke xiv:26.—E. M. S.

In this passage Jesus was explaining the position of His followers towards Himself. He was to be first. No human relationship was to be preferred before Him. Even the disciples' own aims in life must be set aside. The passage does not mean that there was to be any hostile attitude to relatives to injure or belittle them. The teaching of the New Testament makes the service of Jesus supreme. We are to seek first the Kingdom of Heaven, and other things will be added. He who loves Christ first will the better love his relatives.

Please explain I. Corinthians, xi:13-15.—E. M. S.

Paul in this passage is dealing with a woman's position and privileges in the church. He is influenced by the customs pertaining to the Jewish women of his time and is giving, I think, his opinion apart from any claim that it is inspired. He has his own ideas about dress and actions of women not afraid to give them to the inthians. He did not like liberties to be given to the women. In this broad age some still think that women are not more attractive because they smoke or congregate in beer parlors, or submerge their dignity.

Can a man's body be saved and his soul be lost?—A. R. W.

I am not sure what the questioner has in mind by the saving of the body. I do not suppose he is thinking of the hereafter, where the sufferings would be all of the soul and the body would be immune. If this is his idea, he must remember that the hereafter body would not be the same as the physical of earth, and therefore could not have a separate condition apart from the soul—they would be saved or lost together. There is no doubt a man might by careful living keep his physical body in good health up to a ripe old age and might thus be spoken of as saving his body in this life. At the same time his soul might be lost. His sins would be of the spirit and not of the flesh.

Was gold to be found in Palestine, and if not, where did the Israelites get the gold for the Temple?—D. M. T.

There was no gold in Palestine or Syria. It came through the Phoenicians. Arabian merchants brought it from Sheba to the markets of Tyre. Solomon was said to have got it from Ophir by sending his ships for it.

Warsaw

There was a merry pa at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cooper on Tuesday evening, March 26, when they celebrated their twenty-third anniversary of their wedding at their home. It was a surprise party arranged on Tuesday afternoon by their daughter, Mrs. O. B. McIlvena, and her husband, so that while there were seventy-five guests, of whom six had been at the wedding, it was mostly neighbors and none from a distance who were present. Mr. and Mrs. Will Cuffe, Peterborough, were the only ones from there. The evening was spent in music, dancing and cards. Congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, who appreciated the gathering very much.

The meeting of Warsaw United W.M.S. on April fourth will be a special Easter one.

St. George Retains Rural Hockey Title

Ohsweken River Rangers Drop Final Game By 6-0 Count.

BRANTFORD, March 30.—(C.P.) Malcolm's condensers of St. George won the Ontario Rural Hockey Association title here last night by defeating the Oshweken River Rangers, 6 to 0, in the second game of the two game final series, goals to count. St. George defeated the Rangers 7 to 4 in the first game to take the round 13 to 4.

By their victory last night the Condensers annexed the championship and the Henry Cup for the second year in a row. They were champions last year and at the end of the season, the then Premier George S. Henry presented his trophy at a banquet at St. George, a similar event is planned for St. George again this year.

Lad Has Leg Broken George Street Mishap

Donald Frick, aged 11, 297 McGill street, suffered a severe fracture of the right leg at 10.15 this morning when he was struck by a motor car, driven by Maurice Gadd, 467 King street, on George street.

According to pol ice information, the boy darted diagonally across the roadway, east to west, near the Elite Cafe and into the path of the car driven about 12 miles an hour by Mr. Gadd. The boy was attended by Dr. S. Y. Walsh and then removed to Nicholls Hospital. His injury is between the ankle and the knee.

This Is The Germany Adolf Hitler Wants

The map shows how "ring of steel" around Germany caused the Reich to rearm, according to the German military leaders. Although the Versailles treaty forced Germany to dismantle forts, those of other nations remained intact and were added to. France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Poland all have added to their fortifications on a large scale. They also have been increasing their military forces.

Peterborough's Possibilities

By HOMER MOORE

ARTICLE 16

The previous article was written principally to benefit those without money. This article is for the benefit of those who have money—"money" being spoken of as being a large amount of cash, cashable securities, and property. Such people are in varying degrees—capitalists.

There are great natural resources adjacent to Peterborough city. Most of them are underdeveloped. They are in the rocks and on top of the ground. They have been named and located in previous descriptions of parts of the county. They are dormant for lack of money to bring them into use for the benefit of everybody in this county. What a wonderful city we could have if people who "now" possess money over and above their own requirements, would spend it to develop these natural resources! To do so now, would be to do so gracefully and stamp those who did it, as public benefactors. To do so would not mean to sell securities to the public—but would mean to use your own cash—all you could get, for the purpose, out of sale of your own assets. This suggestion, if followed soon, will enable you to see those natural resources utilized for the benefit of every man, woman and child in our county. To do so would make your name great. To try to hang on to that personal fortune, will be to enjoy the satisfaction of having it for a few more years and then find a new financial structure had been evolved, in which the old or previous combination didn't fit.

From experience in even the best of times, I know it takes time and skill to turn property into cash—and in the present economic change we are going through, it might take longer. So this suggestion comes to you, in this column just about "eighteen months" ahead of the time when you will know the suggestion given was the correct one.

By astronomical calculations, meteorologists figure our future weather conditions. The different combinations of the planets produce different kinds of weather. "What has been will be again" has been stated from observing weather in the past caused by certain combinations.

Some can even forecast with accuracy crop failures years ahead. They can also state with equal assurance the exact year when a grasshopper plague will come. All is figured by precise astronomical calculations as the planetary system moves according to schedule—always on time. These are natural laws operating in the heavens and the "effect" is on the things of the earth.

By astronomical calculations also are figured earthquakes and other phenomena. What an important science astronomy is? What a wonderful gift it was when God gave people brains to understand by observation and deductive reasoning, the effects of the different planetary combinations? By calculating backwards it has been found that when Christ was crucified, a mighty earthquake shook the land and the heavy mist resulting, hung over the countryside for three hours.

By knowing the laws of astronomy, past events or future events relating to the physical world can be figured.

In the British Empire—and an honored member of it—is an internationally famous consulting structural engineer. He was authorized to find out the astronomical calculations and their effect on this earth. He went to the place where the greatest astronomers of all time, had put those vitally important measurements, for our guidance. He had the most modern appliances to assist him. In his scientific research he used the "law of relativity" and by other means he calculated the combinations which gave the same results as his predecessors of ages ago, had secured. These findings gave "time indicators" and effects. I have before me, as I write, a copy of those calculations, the "time indicators" and their effects on things pertaining to this earth up to the year 1953.

Some of these astronomical calculations portray a time when humanity will act in unison. So in making the suggestion that those who have a large amount of wealth "now," should not lose any time in using it to develop our natural resources and also help feed any person who needs food, I am aware of the "time indicators" and write from reliable knowledge. This world is run on a planetary time schedule and "Nature never makes a mistake."

Supposing you who have great wealth should use it during the next eighteen months, to help develop our natural resources for the benefit of all our citizens, you would still have the same set of God-given brain-cells and knowledge in them, to build another great fortune if you then thought the then financial laws would allow it. Those who ever built a large fortune know how to do it and how long it takes. If capable of building a fortune once—it can be done twice, if the same set of conditions prevail.

Most financiers build a great fortune to show the world how clever they were—and they must have been clever in different lines! But after they built it why not show how clever they are to "catch on" it is time to spend most of it?

It is quite easy to build a large fortune, legally, with the past and present financial machinery. It takes years and a great amount of study to find out "how" to do it starting with little, but it can be done, given time to do it. I am not referring to a needed invention—but to the general method.

As we read press despatches recording the suicide of some great banker, financier or industrial magnate, did you ever wonder why such happened? In my opinion such was never caused by criminal acts of any kind, but the knowledge of the changing financial conditions which were likely to wipe out a carefully built fortune and a different standard of living to which he felt unable to adjust himself?

In a Chicago paper recently I read a statement by an eminent doctor, in which he said Americans would have to apply the "positive and negative" methods as ordered in the laws of Moses and Joshua, in order for Americans to save themselves." Such a statement by an eminent doctor simply means the application of natural law—positive and negative — which is the successful way to find correct working combinations in all nature, including humanity.

When brilliant thinkers the world over see that a change in this world is on the verge of appearing, isn't it necessary that we act while we have time to do it our way? We have about eighteen months to develop our resources before the next great world change takes place.

IN MEMORIAM

FENNER—In fond and loving memory of a dear husband and father, Charles W. Fenner, who passed away March 30, 1934.
There is some one who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went,
There is some one who thinks of you always,
And tries to be brave and content.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear;
'Tis sad, but true, we wonder why,
The best are always the first to die..
—Ever remembered by Wife and Family.

IN MEMORIAM

DAVIS—In loving memory of my dear husband, Frank Davis, who passed away March 30, 1933.
Time goes on; we are reminded
Of a day our hearts were crushed;
When God took you, oh, so quicky;
And we all in gloom were thrust.
In the bloom of life, God claimed you,
In the pride of early days;
But we hope to meet you some day,
And be with you always.
—Ever remembered by his loving wife, Lily Davis.

Vocational School Exhibit Sets New High Standard

DIVERSITY OF TRAINING GIVEN PUPILS OF VOCATIONAL SCHOOL IS SHOWN IN ANNUAL EXHIBITS

Hundreds of People View Annual Exhibit of the Vocational School of Collegiate Institute — Model Village is Big Attraction.

LADIES' WORK AGAIN IS HIGHLY COMMENDED EXHIBITS OF BOTH DAY AND NIGHT CLASSES

Demonstrations of the wide diversity of training offered industrial art students of the city and the completeness of the facilities offered were features which impressed hundreds of citizens who attended the annual Vocational School Exhibition of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School yesterday afternoon and evening.

Tasteful exhibits, nicely arranged, of the products of both day and night students and the opportunity of seeing the students actually at work in the various departments of industrial training were provided for the interested public.

The tour of the shops and laboratories in the industrial arts section proved a major attraction to the visitors, while the exhibition of work in the gymnasium and classroom also drew expressions of praise and wonderment. The visitors saw boys seriously at work at steel lathes, bandsaws, drills, and performing chemical tests in florence flasks, test tubes and performing intricate electrical experiments.

The thoroughness and practical nature of the training provided at the school was evident on all sides, while the high quality of workmanship of the exhibits on display gave proof of the sincerity of effort on the part of the students and the fine standard of instruction given by the school staff.

The visitors were guided through the woodworking, machine shop, electrical construction and applied electricity departments, mechanical architectural and related draughting departments and given penetrating glimpses of the work carried on by the students during day and night classes.

Among the interesting exhibits in the electrical construction division of the electrical department were, the various systems of house wiring, simple circuits wired on table tops, and an object lesson in the winding of armatures and fields of motors. In the electrical department many demonstrations were given by the students showing the how and why in the operation of electrical apparatus.

The machine shop was another scene of great activity as the students went through various operations of work on the large steel lathes. In the woodworking department were exhibitions to show that the students secure definite knowledge of the proper methods to pursue in the erection and interior fitting of houses. Great interest was also shown by the visitors in the demonstrations in the chemistry and physics department.

One of the features in the exhibition of products of the students' skill, on view in the gymnasium, was the model of the village of Verona, 35 miles north of Kingston, by Earl Wood. Every detail in the typography and lay-out of the village was shown in the model, which is about 20 feet long. The young builder of the model village lived in Verona for seven years, his father having been station agent there. The chief company in the town is much interested in this model.

The historical section in the exhibition attracted much attention. A noteworthy exhibit in this section being the model of a Norman fort, complete to the minutest detail with catapult, predecessor to modern artillery, drawbridge and moat.

Gay colors in the ladies' exhibits defeated the grey of the day, yesterday afternoon, in the rooms at the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School which were devoted to the annual display of work of various types. From the gymnasium the bright tones of yellows and reds, in the dresses and suits and coats of the Night classes, crept up through the showings of similar work by day students, on the second floor, right to the top of the building; where, in a third-floor classroom, the efforts of pupils in the Art classes were on view.

The note of brilliance in hues and tints was notable in the Art work, which appeared to be especially good, this season. Perhaps the lovely colorings were more noticeable because of the deep black which formed their backgrounds, this idea being carried out through the entirety of the upper-room display.

Decorative designs in water-color proper and in tempera, were striking portions of this exhibit. The animal, insect and floral worlds have a place in these conventionalized designs, which use anything from a tropical fish to a faire ladye of olden type, as a motif for pretty ideas worked out in brilliant colors. Poppes and bullfrogs, ships and wild roses; gorgeous iris lilies and droppings bells of crimson fuchsia plants; Japanese maidens listening to the pleas of amorous Japanese suitors; the tails of glowing peacocks; parrots and love birds; tropical fish and maple leaves; all have a place in these attractive circles and squares and oblongs that illustrate the students' skill and the expertness of their tuition.

Baskets of flowers filled with pretty blossoms, painted on water-color paper and then cut out ,to be applied to stiffer cardboard squares, were novel bits of a decorative type; advertising posters were an item, one done in water-color showing a graceful birch canoe with Indian [illegible] and a [illegible] bush [illegible] all-over patterns for materials and wall-papers were a distinctive item, examples using turtles and bunnies as a central theme!

Painted Biscuits

Place cards were done with tiny French flowers applied to the corner, or in water-color floral designs tally cards were treated in similar fashion, and there were numbers of pretty things in papier mache such as bowls and bead necklets, as well as painted wooden trays, little boxes and hot-dish table pads, waste-paper baskets, telephone screens and lamp-shades.

An outstanding bit of decorated kitchen ware was a black-enamelled biscuit tin ornamented with a painted plate of crackers.

On the second floor was the exhibit of work done in the Day School Sewing and Household Science classes and a pretty little tea-room arranged with bright vases of tulips, daffodils and narcissus. Catching the eye in the Household Science rooms were wall charts showing amounts of calcium, iron and phosphorus contained in various foods, and something different also was a table display of real foods with explanatory cards showing the different vitamins concealed in their calm interiors.

In another room a healthy-looking large doll played the part of a sick lady, reclining in a real large bed, with a breakfast bed-tray in front of her, complete with real dishes and food and those gingham table-naperies so much liked by moving-picture makers. A table nearby showed sample meals adapted to the use of invalids, also sample menus for use in fluid diets, all very instructive and worth while.

A table prettily arranged for a special repast had a large cloth of antique filet, centered by a low flower-holder in black and silver, filled with pink tulips, the shade matching tall tapers placed in low holders of black and silver glass. On the buffet were green candles and a bowl of narcissus and tulips.

"Did you ever stop to think of the travels of your breakfast?" was the caption for a very interesting will chart of the world, with long narrow streamers of colored paper pointing out places of origin of breakfast food stuffs, another of those educational 'eye-filling' items of yesterday's display which aimed to instruct through the eye, rather than the ear.

Fine Needlework

Next door were many exhibits of expert needlecraft, with a specially-designed emphasis on bright colors that attracted the eye despite the drabness of the rain-washed windows of late March.

In the hall outside the entrance to this exhibit were two energetic young ladies who demonstrated the making of a complete frock, right from the cutting-out of the pattern to the finishing touches, all aided and abetted by a recent purchase in this department, an electric sewing-machine.

The display included the articles made by the girls in these classes—middies, shorts, pyjamas, stitched hats, cotton and woollen skirts and blouses, night gowns and slips and various items of lingerie, bureau covers, infants' wear, unlined coats, pattern-making and renovation of garments, as well as a door-panel with attached examples of skilful patching and darning.

A new item this year that deserves especial mention was demonstrated in the making of neat shorts for sports wear, with matching blouses and wrap-around skirts, all contrived from patterns made by the girls.

Some striking things were noted: a white flannel coat nicely finished; entire suits of tweed with matching hats and silk blouses or suits with frocks like the ensemble developed in grey—a grey tweed coat and matching pillbox hat, and a grey crepe dress with green neck bow; also a very attractive ensemble that used white pique for the skirt and 'butcher boy' coat with a matching little hat of pique and a lovely blouse of pale pink silk crepe.

A grey tweed coat flecked with red gave an impression of extreme care in its fashioning, with carefully executed collar and diagonally-placed pockets.

Cross stitching embroidery adorned rose-linen towels of hand type and made also a conventionalized design in pale green on a lovely bureau set of oyster linen finished with Italian hemstitching.

Little fine white ties for a baby's bonnet had the tinies of stitches in their making and were done with hand-rolled hems, while tatting edged with neckline and sleeves of a beautiful bias-cut nightgown of rose pink silk crepe. A bassine gown had a yoke finished in faggotting.

Evening Dresses

Little boudoir novelties were in French pink pin cushions, daintily embroidered, and there was a hint of evening jollity in the pretty frocks that appeared in special places. One, of corn yellow crepe, had tiny puffed sleeves and another was in yellow organdie, with high waist.

A knitted blouse showed another variation in the girls' ideas, as well as a very colortable-looking pair of socks.

Children's wear was another item, with much smocking on dainty little frocks, and a peach of a baby's bonnet frilled about the face, in charming pink organdie.

In the gymnasium, work done in dressmaking night classes was on view, in frocks, suits, coats, lingerie, shorts and children's wear.

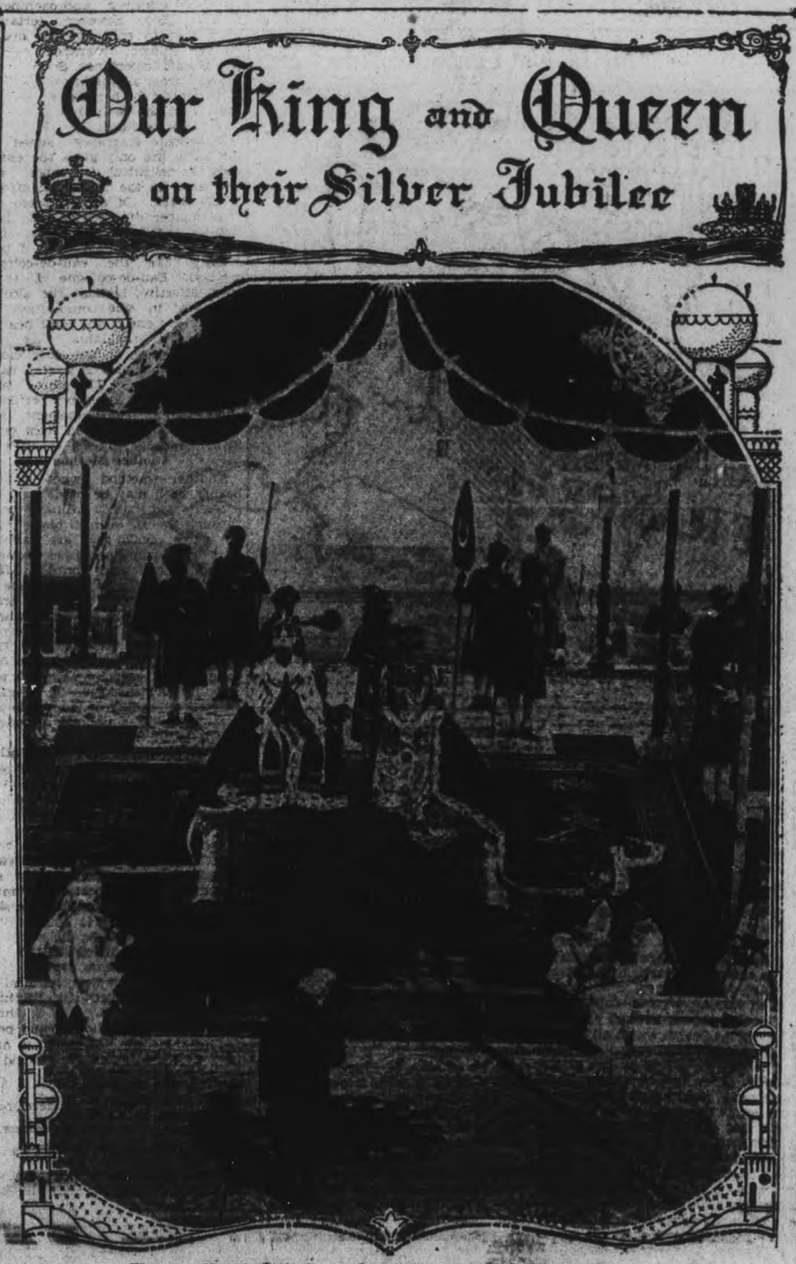
Evening dresses appeared here in printed chiffons, silk crepes and velvet and there were numbers of cotton frocks for morning, afternoon and general house wear, in sleeveless type, like the pretty white pique adorned with large red buttons, and with elbow, three-quarter and full-length sleeves.

The things for children and infants had a large display in this section. Outstanding in its finished appearance was a short coat for a little boy, done in blue, flecked tweed, with white buttons and matching small hat of tweed.

A tiny girl's frock of extreme daintiness showed a great deal of artistic effort and genuine attention to detail in trimming. The material was printed, a white ground showing elongated red dots interspersed with little blue flowers. A narrow collar of white organdie had a very deep frill of the printed goods, pleated finely and edged with lace. And a lovely finishing touch was in the border of tiny red and blue French knots that made a division between the organdie and goods of the collar.

Shell pink organdie sprayed with tiny French blue and rose flowers was the material used in a child's frock with a faggotted yoke; a dress of rose pink silk crepe, also for a child, had a yoke done in solid silk smocking of a pale green shade, while a third dainty bit of wear for a baby was developed in fine white voile, checked in white and patterned in tiny blue, red and yellow flowers, the same trio of pretty colors appearing in the smocking of the yoke.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee



The magnificent spectacle of the Durbar at Delhi, India, in 1911

ARGUE, persuade, cajole, plead as they might, Britain's ministers could not convince King George and Queen Mary that they should not go to India for another Coronation ceremony at Delhi.

The King and Queen felt that it was in the best interests of the Empire and their decision could not be moved—in fact it was only strengthener—when they were told of the dangers of assassination by an ever-growing anti-British element in India.

It was characteristic of the royal couple, so recently coronated at Westminster Abbey, that they never shunned places of danger if they thought any good purpose could be served by their appearance.

As it turned out, their visit to India served a good purpose. The masses turned out in myriads to see the gorgeous Durbar at Delhi; all the ruling princes with their brilliant entourages attended. They spent lavishly from their huge fortunes to produce a magnificent spectacle—one that fairly dazzled.

The Durbar was held on December 12, 1911, at Delhi. Millions of India's masses looked on; the new King was popular and no untoward incident occurred to mar the majesty of the occasion.

Our picture to-day shows the King-Emperor and the Queen-Empress seated in their gilded thrones under the shamiana or canopy. There they received the ruling princes of the land, and the King spoke to the United peoples of his Indian Empire.

It was on this occasion that the King announced the transference of the capital of India from Calcutta to Delhi. He also announced many constitutional reforms.

Wherever they went, great celebrations and ceremonies were held; all India rejoiced for weeks, the visit of their King-Emperor.

To-morrow: King George indulging in his favorite sport.

FRANCE MOVES CRACK RESERVES

Will Be Given Three Months' Training Along Eastern Frontier.

EYE ON HITLER.

NANCY, France, March 30.—(A.P.)—Crack troops of reservists were posted on the eastern frontier of France to-day for a three months' training period—earlier than last year's manoeuvres.

The change in routine, it was learned, was due partly to the tense European situation created by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's announcement of German conscription.

It was also said the change was due to the desire of the general staff to familiarize the reservists as quickly as possible with changed conditions brought about by motorization of the army.

Louis Felix Maurin, Minister of War, is eager to push the motorization rapidly. The first test will be in the full dress manoeuvres in June.

Each reservist is obliged to serve 21 days every three years. The course comprises intensive physical training, route marching, and target practice designed to bring all reservists up to date.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL STUDENTS PRESENT CONCERT IN AUDITORIUM

F. S. Rutherford Director of Technical Education Addresses Large Audience.

VARIED PROGRAM.

With music, dance, drama and fashions, the program presented in the Collegiate auditorium last evening was a finale to the annual exhibit of work done by pupils of the Vocational School which drew many hundreds of people to the big school building yesterday afternoon and evening. The program of last night was greeted by a capacity audience and a special visitor for the occasion was F. S. Rutherford, director of Technical Education for the province of Ontario, who occupied a seat on the stage, in company with the principal, H. R. H. Kenner, and Dr. A. Moir, chairman of the Board of Education, who presided for the program in the absence of the chairman of the Board's Vocational committee, J. R. Marshall, absent in Montreal on a business trip.

Mr. Rutherford made a very brief speech, following an introduction by the chairman. He referred to the great interest in the Peterborough school taken by the Minister, the Deputy Minister and the officials of the Department of Education, and congratulated the principal, the staff, and the students, on the wide range of subjects afforded in the many departments of the Collegiate and the Vocational School, remarking that the splendid scope and choice afforded the pupils and the excellent equipment of the school throughout its many ramifications, should be a matter of pride to the city and the citizens at large.

The program of last evening opened with selections by the school orchestra, directed by A. J. Weames, B.Sc., and playing two snappy marches: "On the Mall" and "Washington Grays." This combination of youthful players, who were assisted last evening by Stanley Northrop, violinist, and R. M. Beach, the skilled veteran performer on the traps and drums, plays with a great deal of brilliant vigor and zest. Their stirring music, usually of a gay, bright order, is rhythmical, melodious and smooth and they have a balanced ensemble of tone that makes their playing most attractive.

Spring Modes

A fashion show which brought to the stage the young girls and women in the Day and Night classes in sewing, wearing frocks, suits and coats of their own manufacture, was as interesting as always, and each mannequin received a generous meed of applause from an appreciative audience. The show illustrated a wide range in style, color and treatment of materials used this season in expressing Fashion's whims, and illustrated also the wearer's individual taste and the skill of the teachers.

The first part of the show demonstrated work done by Vocational Day students, with Miss Helen Gerrard as directress, and the second portion had to do with work by Night Class students. The stage setting was done with a light latticework screening, festooned with flowers, and a Dutch windmill occupied the background, while a gay Dutch maiden carried in signs descriptive of the various sections and also did some good work in quieting the fears of the tiny lassies who came on later to model children's wear, and grew confused over the bright lights.

It was a pretty and ambitious showing of well-executed modes, with many smart suits and matching small hats, often of the same materials as the frocks and coats; of afternoon and evening attire, of neat and dainty house frocks and wear for sports use, and of children's things, the latter occupying no small place in the display.

The orchestra played the old favorite, "Over the Waves," and "Repass Band" for the fashions showing. As a rule, many of these fashion shows go over to the strains of that old melody first mentioned.

An interlude that proved very spectacular and charming was a dance by a sextette of girls from the Vocational classes, directed by Miss Mildred Bailey, B.A. In their brief white ballet skirts and sandals, with sparkling head bands, tight satin bodices, fluted neck and wrist ruffs of white, the girls executed a very pretty interpretive dance that brought them much applause. And a tiny fountain with little jets rising over a center that looked exactly like a colored angel cake, occupied the middle of the stage as they danced.

Fine Cornet Solo.

A part of the music of the evening that drew forth hearty and repeated applause from the listeners was the splendid cornet playing by David Wilson, who was compelled to respond with a repetition of the last portion of the composition, when he played, with easy finish and soft, modulated tone, the lovely "Lost Chord." Accompanying him in a miniature orchestra were the following players: Mrs. E. Foster, pianist; William Moorhead, Russell Higgins and Noel Barr, violinists; Robert Graham, clarinet; Ferguson Barr, 'cellist.

A selection by the school orchestra, in a brilliant rendition of "Danube Waves Waltz," closed this portion of the entertainment.

A gay little playlet completed the evening's program, Entitled "Choosing a Secretary,' and performed by students of the Special One-Year Commercial Course, it was presented as a typical form contribution to this phase of the school life, having been produced previously at one of the winter meetings of the school's Literary Society.

The scene is a busy man's office on Monday morning, with the harassed employer, W. D. Little (of the Little Incinerator Company), in search of a secretary who will turn out an important piece of work required within a short space of time. Mr. Little (whose part is taken by Thomas Smart), is further harassed by the appearance of several applicants for the position, among them Dora McJitters (Miss Iris Borland), who lives quite up to her name in the fluttery way she proceeds to set the office on edge; May Work (Miss Anne Schiarizza), a jazzy dame who gets a big hand from the audience for her very realistic impersonation of a young lady bent rather on gum-chewing and powder-puffing activities than on the business of the moment, and finally, Shirley Makegood (Miss Constance Gibbons), who is, of course, the product of the Vocational School's course and who presents a picture of neat and shining efficiency in every way. Another brief appearance is that of Miss Dorothy Allen, as Ima Nagent, intent on selling a book to the busy Mr. Little.

The parts were well taken in every instance and the brief playlet made an interesting period to an attractive program.

Even Rheumatic Pains Eased Fast Now!

BAD HEADACHES, NEURITIS PAINS OFTEN RELIEVED IN MINUTES THIS WAY

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Demand and get the method doctors prescribe—Aspirin.

Millions have found that Aspirin eases even a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain often in a few minutes!

In the stomach as in the glass here, an Aspirin tablet starts to dissolve, or disintegrate, almost the instant it touches moisture. It begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it.

Equally important, Aspirin is safe. For scientific tests show this: Aspirin does not harm the heart.

Remember these two points: Aspirin Speed and Aspirin Safety. And, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet.

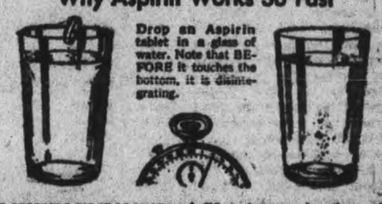
Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 at any druggist's.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast



Drop an Aspirin tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches the bottom, it is disintegrating.

IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH — An Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach—ASPIRIN tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

It does not seem to me that physicians are using their blood pressure apparatus as much as they used to. At least, it is true to say that a knowledge of the blood pressure is not so important in making a decision in as many cases as it used to be.

Part of this is due to the fact that blood pressure readings give the patient a false idea of the state of his health or his progress.

I heard an eminent student of the diseases associated with disturbances of blood pressure say that he wished people would quit taking the blood pressure for a while, and see whether it wouldn't brighten up the world. This referred to his experience that a patient will hear one day that his blood pressure is down 10 points from the week before and will think he is cured and begin to indulge in excesses. Then the next week he will find it is up 10 points and this will throw him into unnecessary melancholy.

What the patient finds it hard to realize is that the blood pressure fluctuates within very wide limits in normal people and even more so when it is in any way disordered. Therefore, small variations over a short period of time do not mean very much either for good or bad. It is for this reason that my friend believed that blood pressure readings, if taken, should not be disclosed to the patient. Of course, he did not mean that they were not valuable pieces of information to the physician.

Thirty Years

It must be remembered that blood pressure examinations have been made only for a comparatively short period of time. It is less than 30 years ago that life insurance companies began to require blood pressure readings on all applicants. And since they were supposed to be used to determine the prospects of long life, we have not yet had time to gather the information that we need.

If we wanted to know the significance of different blood pressures in men aged 35 as regards their longevity, it is plain that if a thousand such examinations were made on a thousand men 30 years ago, most of them still would be alive. So our observation is not completed. And really we don't know all about blood pressure until we have the records of a thousand mothers and fathers, and of their children from birth to death. So it won't be until about A.D. 2000 that anyone will be able to be very dogmatic about the meaning of blood pressure.

It is certainly true that those who have made the most elaborate study of the subject are the least willing to say that all the problems concerning blood pressure are settled. The opinions that they hold on it, as the eminent student I have referred to said, should be subject to radical revision at any time.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

J. S.: "In the Eighteen Day Diet could oranges be substituted instead of grapefruit?"

Answer: I am afraid not. The reason grapefruit is selected is because it has a low amount of nutriment, with enough bulk to satisfy appetite in spite of nutriment. Oranges have more than twice as much sugar as grapefruit and not as much bulk.

C. R.: "Please tell me what to do for warts on the 'hands.'"

Answer: The best treatment is exposure to the X-ray. It is entirely painless, and the wart falls off in about three weeks. Another method is to take a half ounce bottle of formalin, full strength, keep it in your pocket, and touch the moistened cork to the wart three to four times a day.

A unique gathering was held in the Primary Room of the Sunday School of Knox United Church on Thursday evening, when a group of eighty people, representing the church choir, the Sunday School, the Young Women's Auxiliary, the official Board of the church, the Dramatic Club and the Women's Association, gathered to present gifts to Mr. Joseph Crocker and his daughters, the Misses Mabel and Annie Crocker, who are leaving the city next week for Fort Erie, where they are opening a grocery business. Mr. Crocker has been janitor of Knox Church for the past eight years, and his daughters have been active in many ways in the church groups. The gathering was for the purpose of expressing appreciation of their many services, in the way of gifts, and also to express regret at severing such pleasant relations. The Rev. W. McDonald acted as chairman, and called on representatives of various organizations to make their presentations. The first of these, a large floor lamp, was presented by the Rev. Mr. McDonald, with an address read by Mr. William Herd. It represented the gift of the Sunday School to the departing members. Miss Annie Crocker having been superintendent of the Junior department since 1926, and Miss Mabel Crocker having been in charge of the Primary department since 1919. In addition, both ladies received gifts from their departments, Miss Marie Armstrong presenting a framed, tinted etching to Miss Mabel Crocker, while her sister was given a silver vase, the presentation being made by Mrs. H. Lewis, accompanied by an address of appreciation read by Miss H. Huffman. The address from the choir, of which Miss Annie Crocker has been a part longer than any other of the present members, giving faithful and valued service, was read by Miss Mary Morton, and signed by every member of the choir, while Mr. William Herd made the presentation of a pen and pencil set. Miss Annie Crocker has also been a valued member of several other Knox Church groups. Appreciation of her services to the Helen Rogers Auxiliary was manifested by the presentation of a framed picture of Knox Church, the presentation made by Mrs. J. F. Reed, being accompanied by an expression of appreciation voiced by Mrs. Howard Clegg. Miss Crocker's talent and skill, both in a directing and acting capacity, as a member of Knox Dramatic Club, were recognized by the presentation, made by Mrs. H. Wood, of a silver compact, with an appreciative address by Mrs. A. Huffman. Mr. Joseph Crocker, who also is severing his connection with the church to accompany his daughters to Fort Erie, was presented with a box of cigars by the Board of Managers, Mr. John Allen making the presentation and Mr Herb McCannan eulogizing the recipient's long and faithful service. His assistance to the Dramatic Club was remembered by Mrs. A. Huffman and Mr. N. Hughes, in the form of a pair of lounging slippers, while Mrs. J. Londerville of Knox Church Women's Association gave him an evening set as a parting gift. All three recipients expressed their appreciation of the gifts from their friends, and their regret at leaving those with whom they had passed such a long and agreeable association. Mr. J. F. Morrison, senior elder of the church, made an especial note of the faithful and loyal service to the church given by Mr. Crocker and his daughters, and Mr. W. R. Potter thanked with especial emphasis Miss Annie Crocker, for her services to the choir. Following the program of presentations and brief speeches, lunch was served by members of the choir and the Helen Rogers Auxiliary, with convenors in Miss Kay Benson and Mrs. J. H. Anderson. All those present personally united also in expressing regret at the family's departure and in wishing them every success and happiness in their new home and business undertaking.

'Heart Appeal' Modes To Cost Hubby More

NEW YORK, March 30 (C.P.).—For rustling petticoats, furred suits, fluffy blouses and what-not — in short, for eastern parade finery—women are expected to spend more this spring than they have for several years.

The reasons range from superficially dull business statistics to the gay fact women's attire this spring is unusually feminine. Men will be willing to write larger cheques than usual, say the clothes creators, because the little capes and sheer blouses have heart appeal.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Children delight in April Fool parties whether a joke is turned on others or on themselves. Also it is the one day in the year when they feel that they can play tricks on their elders without being reprimanded, if they do not go too far. It is this tendency which has to be guarded against, for sometimes disaster entirely unforseen may result. Nor is this confined to childish pranks. One young woman perfecting herself in piano playing for concerts had to abandon her career because of a prank. Someone pulled her chair away just as she was sitting down. The force of her fall came on her wrist which was so seriously hurt, it never regained its full strength. Today some pranks are given which are free from any danger yet have the necessary element of amusement. Some are for small children. Others are for those older.

GUESS WHO'S THE FOOL.

A fool's cap is attached above a mask as if the person wearing the mask had a cap on. This is suspended in a doorway above a screen or sheet to conceal whoever stands behind it. The party is divided into two groups, one to guess and one to play the part of fools. Each person in turn looks through the eyes of the mask while the guessing group guess who it is. If after a moment the player's name is not rightly decided upon, that player after the game is done gets a prize. Only a minute is granted a player. Groups change places, after all in one company have had their turns at playing fools.

• • • • • • •

STIR THE FOOL'S PUDDING.

A large shallow baking dish of dry fine cereal or flour is placed in the centre of a table covered with a white cloth or with paper to catch particles which are sure to soft over edge as each player in turn stirs the Fool's Pudding with his or her forefinger. As soon as a Fool's Plum is felt the player pulls it out by crooking his finger about it.

• • • • • • •

PLUMS FROM THE PUDDING

Some of the Plums are nothing but sugar candy wrapped in gay paper twisted or tied about them, but among them are a few prize plums, each having a polished luck penny as well as the candy. Or any tiny favor may be substituted for the penny. Be sure the pennies are wrapped separately before wrapping with the candy. Tin foil is good for the former.

• • • • • • •

APRIL FOOL GHOST

One of the company is selected by the hostess to act as the April Fool Ghost. None of the others knew about it so the ghost must be whisked away from the others without being noticed. He is dressed in fool's costume as follows. Have the player lie on his stomach with his legs bent up from the knees. Wrap the feet around with a towel and tie it about them. Fasten a mask on and put a fool's cap on this improvised head. Place a chair over the player and throw a cloth over it. Drape the legs with a white sheet to simulate a body. Call the company into the room telling them the April Fool Ghost will answer any question with yes or no. This the Ghost does by nodding back and forth for yes and sideways for no. No one is allowed to examine the Ghost and unless he laughs no one will know who he is, and there will be a great speculation.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

According to all legends, the famous charmer, Cleopatra, really was not anything approaching a beauty. Cleo, however, certainly knew how to enchant the males. In her opinion, ragrance was of paramount importance. Scents were brought from all the known corners of the world for her use, and it was usually in the bath that Cleopatra used these perfumes.

A delicate fragrance added to the bath, not only gives the entire body a delightful fragrance, but also adds to the refreshing effects of the bath. Of course, there are any number of methods of perfuming the bath effectively. But like the average Parisienne, I personally like the eau-de-cologne method. Eau-de-cologne I think most effective, because the alcohol contained in the composition of this fluid is one of the most healthful of skin stimulants. As you probably know, it not only closes the pores, but also is a very valuable antiseptic. Therefore, your skin is not only agreeably perfumed when you use eau-de-cologne, but is also doubly protected from germ invasion.

Another Method

Another method whereby the beauty bath may be made more of a beauty aid than it ordinarily is, is through the use of meal bags. There are three meals that are particularly effective; namely, oatmeal, almond meal and bran. Make small cheesecloth bags, and place in each bag a cup of ordinary bran. Then sew the bags shut, and whenever you take a b ath, toss one of them into your bath water. This immeasurably helps to soften the water and to keep the skin soft and smooth. A teaspoon of lavender flowers or orris root added to the bran will lend a delicate fragrance to the bath.

In like manner, for using other meals, make small cheesecloth bags and put into each half a cup of almond meal, a cup of oatmeal and a teaspoon of either lavender flowers or orris root. Use these bags in the same manner as the bran bags, tossing one in your tub each time that you bathe. They are grand for softening and perfuming the water, and for keeping the skin smooth and velvety.

DANGEROUS WORDS . . .

"I don't want to play"

HIS playmates and all the gay, sparkling out-of-doors call, "Come out, come out!" Yet—Billy prefers to stay in.

"I don't want to play," he says. To every mother these words are danger signals.

You wonder what is wrong. The answer may be one of many things. Perhaps your child is taking cold. Maybe his digestive system is out of order. But most likely of all—the underlying cause of his listlessness is constipation.

Give a SPECIAL Laxative

At such times as these it is a wise precaution to give a laxative—not just any laxative, but one made especially for him. Give him the children's laxative—Castoria!

Castoria is safe—contains no harsh purgatives, no narcotics, is not habit-forming. It is gentle—will not disturb digestion nor cause griping pain. And it is thorough!

Ask your doctor about Castoria. He will assure you that Castoria contains only such ingredients as are suitable for a child's system.

Children like it

Modern mothers, who realize they shouldn't force bad-tasting medicine on a child who is already upset, rejoice to find that their children like the taste of Castoria—take it without a struggle!

Keep a bottle of Castoria always ready in your medicine chest. (The family size bottle is especially economical.) Give it—from babyhood to 11 years—whenever a child needs a laxative.

Ted Clarke In Stake Event

Mooney Colorbearer Carries Top Impost in Fort Worth Handicap.

CANADIAN RACING DATES.

OUR OWN Canadian Ted Clark gets top impost of 120 pounds for Saturday's Fort Worth handicap at Arlington Downs. The son of Chatterton will concede two pounds to the Eakay stable's Sweeping Light and four pounds to the Three D's Stock Farm's Qustras Bras II. Nineteen contenders of the three-year-old and handicap division are eligible for the $5,000 added prize that will be added at one mile and a sixteenth. The Mooney colorbearer was the sensation of the fall meeting at this same track and also set a terrific pace in the famous Santa Anita Handicap and it is to be hoped that the Canuck-bred will more than cover himself with honors today.

A further review of the week's news reveals the death of Judge Clinton C. Riley, grand old man of the turf. Associated with the Chicago Racing Form as one of its editors since the publication was founded some forty years ago, he died at the age of 67 years and had been active in the racing game up until one year ago. In 1890 he was honored by Ed. Corrigan, the old master of Hawthorne, in having a horse named for him which won the Kentucky Derby that year. In the years Riley was connected with racing he served as steward at old Hawthorne and on the Pacific coast.

APPROXIMATELY $250,000 in purses will be distributed to horsemen during the 39-day meeting that opens at the Detroit Fair Grounds, May 23, and Judge Joe Murphy has been re-engaged as presiding steward. Prexy Clarence Lehr announces a liberal list of stakes topped by the two $25,000 added events — Detroit Derby and Detroit Challenge Cup. A total of $81,000 in stake money will be paid out while the other purses with a minimum of $800 for each race, amounts to $244,000.

THIRD PERIOD COMEBACK WINS FOR LAKEFIELD

Blewett's Pucksters Take 6-4 Decision From Packers in Hard Fought Battle.

FOR PECK TROPHY.

Chubby Blewett's Lakefield picksters took a 6-4 nod over Herb Payne's Canada Packers in Oshawa last night to win the Peck Trophy and the E.P.L. hockey championship in a sudden-death playoff game. Rallying strongly in the third period, the villagers rammed home four goals to come from behind and grab the title. It was a fast, close contest between the well-matched squads.

The Packers took an early lead, being in front 2-0 to end the first frame. They scored once in the middle chapter while the Lakefield gang battled hard to tally twice. But in the third, the Northerners came on fast and notched four while the fading Meatmen could bet but one. Play was fast and mostly even throughout the game. Of the 12 penalties, Packers drew seven.

Scores Three Goals

Calladine scored three of the losers' goals, with McDougall figuring in two. The whole front line for C.P.C. looked strong, while the second stringers worked hard throughout. Maudsley did some fine stickhandling and Williams fought hard every time he was on the ice. Hill also was dangerous. But it was the McDougall-Calladine-LeBarr line that had the real punch. The defence pair of Ashmore and Meagher looked good most of the way, both offensively and defensively. Payne in goal made some great stops in every period. While the whole Lakefield outfit shone, Chittick, Blewett and Jewell on the attack and Sabatino and Loyst defensively starred.

Play opened fast on the good sheet of ice with both goalies having to jump as the rival forwards tested them. Packers tallied after five minutes on a close-in play, Williams scoring on Maudsley's pass. A little later, Calladine rounded defence fast alone to rifle a shot by Loyst. The C.P.C. crew had an edge most of this frame and did some smart rushing but were checked up closely in the Lakefield zone. Wingett went off for tripping and Meagher followed for the same offense toward the end of the stanza.

Lakefield Gets Two

Early in the second, Calladine took McDougall's pass at close range to make it 3-0. Walker and Meagher were chased for roughing it and play was fast and even. LeBarr later got the finger for slashing and Lakefield pressed while he was off. Williams was the next to go for tripping and Chittick grabbed a loose puck at defence to bore in fast and notch it. A rush by McDougall ended with Loyst pulling a circus save and then Blewett pulled a speedy and classy rink-length rush to split defence and score. Williams got the air for boarding just before the bell.

Jewell was yanked for tripping to start the final heat and Calladine blamed McDougall's passout into the twine. Pearson came back shortly to score on a shot from the blue line, the disc hopping Payne's stick. Meagher and Jewell were benched for roughing it and Blewett got around defence fast to counter the tying marker. Play was fast and furious with Lakefield putting on the pressure and both sides fighting for the winning goal. Calladine got a five-minute penalty for cutting down Blewett and the Lakefield crew ganged up repeatedly but were checked tightly. Later, Walker picked up a loose puck at the blue line and went in fast to rap it home. A minute later, Chittick tallied at close range on an angle shot from a scramble and put the game on ice. Packers shoved all their players up the ice but could get nowhere. Wingett went off for charging and Lakefield shot the bootheel down the ice the final few minutes as Packers pressed.

The teams:

Lakefield: Goal, Loyst; defence, Stenner and L. Sabatino; centre, Chittick; wings, Blewett and Jewell; alternates, Wingett, Kennedy, Walker and Pearson.

Packers: Goal, Payne; defence, Ashmore and Meagher; centre, McDougall; wings, LeBarr and Calladine; alternates, Maudsley, Hill and Williams.

Referee, Jack Sabatino.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, I guess as a picker I'm still running true to form. A week ago I called the Bruins to take the Leaves and told the customers not to sell Chicago short, and here Boston is within 1 game of being chucked out on their ear and the Black Hawks is enjoying home cooking with the 1935 series just a memory. They say you can't be wrong all the time, but you gotta admit, neighbors, that I come as close to it as possible.

Anyway my dope so far has sure gone sour. True, the Bruins did take the Leaves in the 1st set-two, but since then Mister F. Patrick's lads ain't even scored a goal, the Toronto gang taking them 2 to 0 in the 2nd game at Boston and grabbing a 3 to nil win in the 3rd at the Maple Leaf Gardens. You can't win no hockey games without scoring, and so right now the Bruins is out on the end of the well-known limb with the Smythe men sawing it off behind them, and it looks like Sat. nite's fixture will wind up the doings. Of course, the Bostons has got a little the worse of the brakes what with Mister Clapper, Mister Siebert and Mister Thompson on the injured list, but making allowances for bad knees and punctured feet, the Leaves has been tops over the serious so far, and it don't look possible for the Bruins to pin them down twice in a row and grab the N.H.L. tinware.

Meanwhile, Mac, the people's choice, the Montreal Maroons, has been doing themselves noble. They didn't look so hot when the Hawks held them to a scoreless tie in Montreal, but they went back to Chicago and got the only goal of the serious to put the Hawks into the discard, and then they outsmarted the Rangers in Noo Yawk Thurs. nite to get a 1-goal lead in the Stanley Cup semi-finals. It looks like they oughta hold that Sat. nite and thus set up a all-Canadian final for the cup. If that happens the Leaves on the season's play should have fairly easy sailing, but a funny thing is, most of the fans pulls form on 1 side and picks the Marcons to cop the Stanley mug. Mebbe the folks is right, but certainly Mister Smythe's boys ain't had much trouble handling the Montrealers all season, and I don't believe the Leaves could lose even if I called them to win, and that, old-timer, would be a real handicap.

At that the only thing decided yet is that the Canadiens and the Hawks won't win the tinware this season.

And while the hockey stars is getting their final share of glory, the ball teams is rounding into shape, and before long, Mac, the Ruths and the Deans and the Goneses and the Foxxs will be hogging the headlines. I for 1 will be glad when the old battle cry, "Play ball," booms through the air once again, for after all it's nice to be able to watch a game without getting chilblains or influenza.

That'll be about enough for now, old-timer, and next week we'll about wind up the hockey dope.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SHILL WILL REPLACE CLAPPER ON BOSTON BRUINS' FRONT LINE

Manager Smythe Fears to Risk Injury to King Clancy and May Use Andy Blair on Toronto Leafs' Defense Line To-night.

By ELMER DULMAGE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, March 30. (CP).—This Saturday-night hockey town was prepared to-day to welcome a National Hockey League championship before midnight, and a terrifically disappointed town it will be if the celebration is either deferred or postponed. Boston's Bruins hope to quash the entire business.

They can defer any celebration 72 hours by beating the Maple Leafs in the fourth game of the league title series and squaring the count at two victories each. Manager Frank Patrick says they will do it; Eddie Shore is sure they will if the greatest defenceman in hockey has to play all 60 minutes to put it over.

With Dit Clapper, the only Bruin who has scored in this series, out of the game with water on the knee the Boston fighters have pulled in their belts, called young Jack Shill into the huddle and emerged with an announcement that all is not yet over. There is wallop in the Bruin paw.

Having been held scoreless in two straight games, absorbing bitter 2-0 and 3-0 defeats in the second and third games, the Bruins are unable to see any defects in their own defence. And something in that Toronto defence has got to crack, they think. The Bruins are something better than a goal-every-three-games team.

Take Clapper's Place

Shill, a right winger purchased from the Leafs before the start of the season, will take Clapper's place beside Max Kaminsky and Marty Barry. That will leave Nels Stewart, Charlie Sands and Jerry Shannon for a second attacking division and Alex Motter, Petty O'Neill, Red Beattie and Paul Haynes to look after the checking.

George Hainsworth's hope of marking up a third straight shutout, equalling the playoff record set by John Ross Roach in 1929 when the Rangers held New York Americans goalless in two games, then won the next from Toronto, 1-0, was not exactly bright.

For one thing, the Bruins may open up the throttle and throw away their strictly defensive measures, allowing Shore to lead a smashing offensive. For another thing, little King Clancy may be given a night off. Manager Conny Smythe of the Leafs can't quite make up his mind whether to play Clancy or not.

The mightiest little defenceman in the game, Clancy has given and taken enormous punishment in all three series games and the Toronto boss thinks he needs a rest. If he gets it Andy Blair will team up with Red Horner on one rearguard.

The probable lineups for to-night:

Boston:		Toronto:
Thompson	goal	Hainsworth
Shore	defence	Day
Siebert	defence	Hollett
Kaminsky	centre	Thoms
Shill	r. wing	Finnigan
Barry	l. wing	Kilrea

Boston subs. — Davis, McInenly, Stewart, Sands, Shannon, Motter, Beattie, O'Neill, and Haynes.

Toronto subs. — Horner, Blair, Conacher, Primeau, Jackson, Boll, Cotton, Metz, and Kelly.

STARS BEATEN BY 9-2 COUNT IN FIRST GAME

Torontos Completely Outclassed By Brilliant Play of Royals.

PENALTIES HEAVY.

MONTREAL, March 30. — Montreal Royals, Quebec amateur hockey champions, stamped themselves formidable contenders for the Allan Cup at the Forum here last night when they flashed to a surprising 9-2 win over Toronto All-Stars, Ontario champions, in one of the stormiest games in the history of Allan Cup play.

The win gave Royals a one-game edge in their two-out-of-three games series with Toronto for the right to advance against Halifax Wolverines in the Eastern Canada semi-finals. With two points for a win under their belts they will meet the Toronto team in the second game at Toronto on Monday. Site of the third game will be decided later, if necessary.

"All-Stars" Outclassed.

Favorites to win the series, Toronto's were outclassed by a brilliant Royal team that amazed even the most partisan of the 7,000 fans who turned out to watch the encounter. The "All-Stars" were completely outplayed, and at the final bell were out on their feet, while Royals were comparatively fresh.

Penalties were heavy in the hard-checking encounter, with hot tempers flaring in a hectic second period and players of both teams piling on to the ice in one of the wildest fights seen in Montreal in years. When it ended "Shorty" Robinson of Toronto and Herman Murray of Royals were serving majors, and Johnny Taugher was in the coop with a minor penalty.

COLTS TROUNCE ST. MIKE'S BEES ON ROUND SCORE

Winners in Second Game 7-1, Provincial Team Scores 11-4 Series Triumph.

GOALIE HAYNES STARS.

TORONTO, March 30.—Barrie Colts swept to their first O.H.A. junior championship at Maple Leaf Gardens, leaving in the wake of their 7-to-1 triumph a gallant bunch of youngsters from St. Michael's College, who, although beaten, went down fighting to the last.

As the speeding red and white clad boys from the North Yonge Street district demonstrated their superiority over the younger and smaller "Buzzers," the spacious Gardens resounded to the cheers of followers of the team from Barrie. It seemed as if all of Barrie had moved into the big rink to watch their team bring home the championship. And they were not disappointed.

A Real Surprise Team.

The St. Michael's kids, all of whom are eligible for juvenile hockey, and some for midget ranks, made a great stand against a better team. Barrie had more speed, weight and experience than the locals and used it to good advantage. Their clever passing plays and superior speed enabled them to get past the Irish defence which was not functioning in the manner of last Saturday when the Students outplayed and outscored their rivals to deadlock the series.

The Irish youngsters on their fine showing this season rate a place alongside Young Rangers as the "surprise" team of the season.

For the winners the work of Haynes, of course, was the big feature, while the Scott brothers, Bev and Bill, Bill Arnott, Coulson and Kirby, were the pick of the remainder. Bill Burkhart was the sparkplug of the Irish team, the big right winger never gave up trying, and it was his playmaking that made possible the locals' solitary marker.

CLOCKMAKERS GET 9-8 NOD FINAL TUSSLE

Wohelo Club Sews Up Junior Finals With 17-2 Cage Triumph.

THIRD GAME NECESSARY.

Westclox won the senior championship of the Ladies' Basketball League last night with a 9-8 nod over Blue Petes, taking the second straight playoff game in the Y.W.-C.A. Wohelo Club upset the dope with a 17-2 victory over Murray Street Church to sew up the Junior finals and force a third game next week. Another large crowd lined the gym. to see two classy contests, both games being something of surprises.

After losing the opening game of the playoffs a week ago, the Wohelos weren't given much chance to win last night. But they stepped out and, led by F. Bestard, ran up a one-sided win over their rivals. It was a fast, thrilling tilt and the great work of F. Bestard captured the spotlight. She scored 12 of the 17 points for the winners, eight of them in a second period drive. E. Lynch got three, and C. Whatman the other two. B. Weart got the losers' lone basket.

Dominate the Play

The count was 5-0 for Wohelos at half time, and they dominated play with speedy and aggressive rushing on combination efforts most of the second stanza. The losers checked hard and tried some neat teamplay and shooting on their own account, but failed to click against their inspired opponents as they had done a week before. F. Bestard was hooping the ball from all angles the final frame, showing speed in eluding checks and accuracy in her snap throws. The game was clean all through. The teams:

Murray Street.—H. Mann, G. Mann, R. Ellis, M. Armstrong, D. Armstrong, C. Valentine, J. Carson, B. Weart, and P. Rome.

Wohelos:—B. Flynn, C. Whatman, E. Rogow, P. McCarroll, K. Rogow, E. Lynch, M. Kingsbury, D. Gluklick and F. Bestard.

Referees—J. Cooper and H. Macdonald; timer, G. Young; scorer, S. Ecobichon.

A Heated Struggle

The Senior struggle was a thriller, with the Blue Petes giving Westclox a hard fight from start to finish. The checking was close by both sides and rival snipers got away few good shots. They played on an even footing in both halves, neither team showing any advantage to speak of on the night's play. Blue Petes came from behind in the windup chapter and threw a real scare into the Clockmakers.

The score at the breathing spell was 5-1 for Westclox, but the latter just counted four more points while the Petes came on fast to run in seven. Play was heated this second half and the fans kept excited all the way. However, Westclox kept in front by their slim margin and copped the title. B. Blade was their scoring ace with seven points, G. Hunter getting the other two. H. Cole counted five points for the losers with nice work; J. Allen got two, and P. McClellan the other one. The teams:

Blue Petes.—H. Cole, J. Allen, B. Rogers, P. McClellan, O. Young, S. Levine, and M. Burns.

Westclox.—B. Blade, G. Mortimer, M. Ferguson, G. Hunter, I. Vivash, A. Livingstone, B. Thirnbeck, M. Terrace, and G. Brand.

Referees.—J. Cooper and J. Dundas; timer, G. Young; scorer, S. Ecobichon.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

DAY BY DAY

(By C. J. P.)

What the Petes have needed for the past 10 years in C.O.B.L. competition is batting punch. Two or three players that you could bank on stepping up there in a pinch and rapping out ringing base-hits. Managers, fans and players themselves have known this for several years. Local squads have had pretty fair fielding in recent years and some good hurling. But time and again they've fallen down because of no punch on the offensive. That's what cost us the Central League championship two years ago to Kingston and that's what cost us the O.B.A.A. semi-finals to the G.W. Grads last Autumn. This year should see something new and welcome on the locals' lineup—several guys that can and do smack 'em hard and often.

• • • • • • •

And the chief slugger will likely be Charlie (Red) Kearns, late of the St. Mary's seniors in the Western City League in Toronto. He's not very tall—this young outfielder—but he is chunky and puts plenty of weight behind his swing. Look at his record last year, compiled officially for the Toronto league at the end of the season. It says: "Charlie (Red) Kearns, the aggressive centre fielder of St. Mary's, put on pretty much of a one-man show at Willowvale Park, walking off with most of the honors in the Western City Senior Baseball League."

• • • • • • •

The redhead led all the hitters with a grand mark of .422; scored the most runs, 27; led in total bases with 60; collected most hits, 38; batted in most runs, 23; tied for home runs with Eddie Murphy, each getting four; and was second in stolen bases with 14! He played in 30 games and, in addition to the above figures, he hit three triples and four doubles, fanned just 14 times all year and drew 20 walks. If Red isn't a slugger, and just what the doctor ordered for the locals, at least he will do till a better hitter comes along. He is also rated a classy outfielder, fast, a sure catch and with a fine throwing arm. Knotty Lee sure knows how to pick 'em.

• • • • • • •

Not long ago Doug McQuarrie wrote in the Star: "Chuck (Red) Kearns, St. Mary's star centre fielder in the Pit League, has hied himself to Peterborough to play in the Central Ontario League, and has taken with him young Eddie Murphy, Western City League's leading shortstop in '34. Kearns, as an all-around ball player, is probably the most likely looking pro prospect to come up in years. He led Western City in every batting department but home runs last summer and didn't do so badly in that regard, either, tying Murphy in circuit drives. Murphy has few equals as a shortstop. Both play rugby." Yeah, Kearns was a lineman for Argo juniors, Dominion rugby champs, a few years ago. We'll dig up some dope on Murphy—who is here, too—some time next week.

• • • • • • •

With Tommy Foley likely to be back in the centre garden for the Petes—okay, then, Sea-Horses—this summer, Kearns may be tried in right field. This is just our guess. But a good outfielder can generally go get 'em regardless of the field he's in. And just before we knock off on this subject, here's an excerpt from a game account in The Telegram last summer: "Red Kearns was all smiles as he pulled down four good catches in centre field, one off Turner in the fifth being the standout play of the evening when the popular sorrel-top went well back and made a sensational catch over his shoulder as he was running away from the infield." Glad to meetcha, Red, olboyolboyolboy!

Well, the merry E.P.L.-ers finally wound up the watch on the Rhine or, rather, their playoffs on foreign ice. They took the gas-buggies to Oshawa last night and right strenuously did they tangle on a large fast sheet of ice. Final count was 6-4 for Lakefield over Packers, so Chubby Blewett's boys are champs of the circuit this year and holders of the Peck Trophy. 'Twas a sudden-death playoff tilt to settle supremacy. Packers were in the van, 2-0, in the first frame and in front, 3-2, going into the last roundup. Howsomever, they wilted before a scrappy gang of Lakefield lads in this number who were long on youth, condition and the old moxie. It was a good game, played around eleven o'clock before nearly a dozen fans!

The C.P.C. crew were hardly at top strength, not having Houston, Jarvis or Wood. Manager Herb Payne went in goal and did okay. He had Ashmore and Meagher—really a forward—on defence; while LeBarr and Williams—defencemen—played up front. They played good hockey but didn't last as well in the hard going. Lakefield looked good most of the way. The big reaction afterward for both squads was that of relief—relief that the blinking season was over. Aside from these teams, there were only the Leafs, Bruins and a few others still going. Congratulations, Lakefield; tough luck, Packers.

Westclox gals won the senior championship of the Ladies' Basketball League when they nosed out Blue Petes, 9-8, in the Y.W.C.A. last p.m. We didn't see it but it must have been a grand battle with the losers giving the classy Alarm Lasses their toughest tussle of the season. And the gallant Wohelos staged a big surprise by beating Murray St. Church, 17 to 2, in the junior playoff to tie the series up. A deciding game will be played next week to settle this sectional title. B. Blade and H. Cole were the scoring heroines in the senior scrap while F. Bestard went great guns to tally a dozen points for Wohelos in the other contest.

Hither and yawn: Barrie took the 'B' junior O.H.A. title last night with a 7-1 smirk over St. Mike's—which means that our three O.H.A. teams were eliminated by Ontario champions this winter . . . . Account of local swimmers at Albert Collitch, Belleville, Friday appears in today's paper . . . . And P.C.I. boys did right well last e'en in cage play in Toronto, too . . . . One of the Lakefield Junior City Hockey League players told us his team would take on Tigers or Normal in field hockey to clean up the playoffs in that 'loop! . . . . Folks in Oshawa still act touchy when you mention hockey to them . . . . A flock of local puck fans are taking in tonight's N.H.L. playoff squabble in Toronto.

BILL McKENZIE MAY ACT TONIGHT ON RANGER REAR

Ching Johnson Suffering From Leg Infection May Have to be Benched.

TEAM CONFIDENT.

MONTREAL, March 30.—(CP)—New York Rangers tonight will call upon all the skill and courage of a fine 'money' team as they fight from behind against Montreal Maroons for the right to enter the Stanley Cup finals.

Down a goal following a 2-1 decision to Maroons at New York on Thursday night, Rangers will rely on the tricky goalward thrusts of their Cook-Boucher-Cook line and the speed of the two other lines.

Maroons on the other hand look to the brilliance of Alex Connell who has allowed one goal in three playoff games; and the steady defensive work of the rearguard pairs, Cy Wentworth and Stew Evans; Lionel Conacher and Allan Shields, to keep Rangers score down, and to three well balanced, fast front lines to add to their margin.

Many Bench Johnson

Other than Ching Johnson both teams were in good shape and spirits when they arrived from New York last night. The perennial Ranger defencemen, bothered by a leg which has refused to respond completely to treatment following an infection, may have to be benched. Those close to Manager Lester Patrick saw a possibility he would use Bill McKenzie, former Maroon in Johnson's place.

Probable Lineups

Rangers		Maroons
Kerr	Goal	Connell
Starr	Defence	Wentworth
Seibert	Defence	Evans
Boucher	Center	Smith
W. Cook	Wing	Ward
F. Cook	Wing	Northcott

Ranger subs — Heller, Johnson, McKenzie, Connelly, Mason, Patrick, Dillon, Murdoch and Keeling.

Maroon subs—Blinco, Robinson, Trottier, Gracie, Marker, Cain, Miller, Conacher and Shields.

Belleville Seniors Lose To P.C.I. 26-21

TORONTO, March 30 (C.P.) — Three Belleville basketball teams took the role of spectators here today as the Central Ontario Secondary Schools basketball finals got underway. The Belleville teams—Senior boys, Junior boys, and Senior girls—were all eliminated in the semi-finals here last night.

The Senior boys put up the best battle of the three before losing a 26-21 decision to Peterborough. Belleville, down 21-11 at half-time, came back with a brilliant offensive in the second half, and but for their inaccuracy in shooting fouls, might have come out victors. They missed 12 of their 17 foul trys. George Forster led their attack with six points, made up of two baskets and two fouls.

JOE LOUIS SCORES DECISIVE VICTORY

Detroit Heavyweight Outclasses Natie Brown—Bout Goes Limit.

DETROIT, March 30.—(AP)—Joe Louis, sensational young Detroit colored heavyweight, gave Natie Brown of Washington, D.C., a terrific beating here last night before 13,000 fans to win every round, and the decision of referee Elmer McClellan.

Brown, weighing 10 pounds less than the "Brown Bomber," who made the clean-cut victory his seventeenth straight since entering professional ranks last July, had only his 'gameness' to recommend him. In the opening round Louis drove him into a corner, feinted a right and then hooked a left which dropped Brown for the only knock-down of the match. Brown took the full nine count, and for the remainder of the bout had one idea in mind—to hang on for the limit.

Local Volleyballers Compete At Toronto

This morning several car loads of players and supporters drove to Toronto where a team representing the local Y.M.C.A. is competing to-day in the Eastern Ontario Intermediate Volleyball Tournament at Broadview Y.M.C.A. Teams are entered from University of Toronto, the three Toronto Y.M.C.A.'s, Toronto Young Men's Hebrew Association, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Belleville, and Peterborough. The Western group will at the same time be playing off at Brantford. The two top teams in each group will be eligible for the Ontario championships at Hamilton on April 13.

Tournament results will be wired to The Examiner as soon as a winner is declared, and information may be had by phoning 1600.

The following players, managed by Rev. C. D. Daniel and coached by Doug. Loomis, made the trip: Cec. Richardson (captain), Don Crawford (vice captain), Art Rhodes, Cliff Cadd, Russ Kitchen, Stan. Payne, Jack Hardie, Albert Dryland, Alex Fitzgerald, Nels Stanger, Bill Stanbury, and Ed Shortt.

CLINTON TRIUMPH IN W.O.H.L. FINAL

GALT, March 30.—(CP)—Clinton Colts, Intermediate "B" O.H.A. finalists, are intermediate champions of the Western Ontario Hockey League, defeating the Erin Shamrocks here last night in a sudden-death game by the score of 3 to 1. The Colts had more condition than the Shamrocks, who had been idle for three weeks. Pickets, at centre, Rath and Waters, on the defence, and Goaler Elliott featured for the champions. H. Hurren and G. Horton were Erin's best.

Their goalkeeper, Barbaer, suffered an injury in the second period in a collision that delayed the game 20 minutes.

NATIONAL LEAGUE 'OLD GUARD' PLANS GAUDY BASEBALL SEASON

Cincinnati Reds Introducing Night Ball as Fresh Stimulant to Cash Customers.

WELCOME BAMBINO RUTH.

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW ORLEANS, March 30 (AP).—After capturing three of the last four world series, the National League is all steamed up for one of the gaudiest seasons in its 60-odd years of existence.

With Babe Ruth in the circuit for the first time as an added attraction at the box office, and Cincinnati Reds all set to introduce night baseball as a fresh stimulant to cash customers, there's an unprecedented display of showmanship by baseball's erstwhile and conservative "old guard."

Slam-Bang Baseball.

There is a demand for more slam bang baseball in consequence of the popularity of the more primitive tactics practised last season by the champion Cardinals. There is no doubt challenges will be issued and accepted with alacrity as the season unfolds. It may even be necessary to call the cops.

The rookie Reds of Cincinnati alone can be counted definitely out of the picture. Three of the four clubs in the western half of the circuit will be very tough indeed, but Cardinals and Giants have the most effective-looking combinations of pitching, power and defense. It's a toss-up between the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates for third place.

Giants Look Best.

The Giants look best this spring for several reasons. They beat themselves last September, blowing a seven-game lead that would have been impossible for the Cardinals to wipe out except for the utter collapse of the New York Club. Bill Terry already has the best pitching staff in the league, considering the fact he has four aces to the Cardinals' two Deans.

LEAFS' MISPLAYS GIVE REDS GAME

Infield Errors Permit Six Runs in the Second Inning.

TAMPA, March 30.—(CP)—Larry McPhail's No. 1 team called the Reds and his No. 2 squad, labelled the Leafs, waged another terrific battle here yesterday and the "Oners," who are no wonders, by the way, were lucky as all outdoors to snatch the decision, 10 to 9.

It was a game of give-way, and the Leafs carried off the presentation honors. Two misplays by Eddie Miller at short, and another by Ernie Smith, who essayed to play second, made it possible for the Cincinnati cohorts to collect six runs in the second after the side should have been held runless. Smith's blunder, a muff of a pop fly, which Mayo Smith would have caught without any trouble, started the procession and spoiled a good effort for Sherman Edwards. Triples from the bats of Riggs and Bottomley followed, and the parade was on.

After that the Leafs got fair to middling heaving from Moore, and better than that from Lloyd Williams, and made a contest of the fifth and final game of the inter-club series.

Bowling Notes and Comments

By Reg. McClavey

Results for K. of C. Monday night league for this week give Dufus 8 points from Lalonde and Gimblett 8 from J. Anthony. Mel Armitage laid them for 769, hitting 232, 198, 339.

O O O

Westclox Shop League rolling for the week gave Beckerman 8 points from Simmons, Jr.; Cupoli 8 from Wyatt; Goodson 8 from Spillsbury; Ebbs 8 from Starr; Delahaye 8 from Simmons, Sr. Bill Scollard was high man for the night, rolling 305, 195, 269 for 769. Harry Cordery hit 280, 211, 280 for 751; "Bud" Goodson had 287, 273, 186 for 76, and Tom Cupoli had 189, 210, 307 for 706.

O O O

Ladies' City League results show Pirates 4 points, Nashua Paper 0, (default); Centrals 3, Lawn Bowlers 1; Lucky 7 3, Lucky Strikes 1. Mrs. Kingsbury led the bowlers for the night with 215, 207, 175 for 597; Marita Elliott had 198, 222, 137 for 557; Queenie Miller, 170, 161, 195 for 526; Hilda Joyes, 170, 169, 180 for 519 and Betty Goldie, 178, 182, 146 for 506.

O O O

City League Play-off results were Lucky 7, 1181, 1108, 1165—3454; Bowlrites, 960, 1058, 1231—3249; Lawn Bowlers, 1044, 1091, 993—3128. Ah Delahaye was high man for the games, rolling 271, 295, 253, 819, and Harry Baptie hit them for 756 with 201, 312, 243.

O O O

With Play-off Berths in view C.G.E. Shop League teams staged some hectic battles this week. Tice copped 6 points from Martin; Dyer 8 from Morrison; Darling 6 from Cranfield; Copping 8 from Shiner; Montgomery broke even with Thomas and Emery took 6 from Masters. Les Calladine was high man for the night, rolling 303, 287, 237 for a smart 827 triple. Jimmy Newson had 251, 236, 281 for 768.

O O O

Examiner League results for the week give Scotts three points from Taylor; Cullen 3 from Dunkley; Dugan 4 from Gray; and Swanston 3 from Max Glover. Reg Doubt set up a new high three-game mark for the boys to shoot at, rolling 337, 310, 253 for a nice 900 total. Harry Dugan hit them for 745 with 229, 233, 283, and Geo. Taylor had 735 with 312, 308, 215. Cullen's three-point victory gave him a four point margin over Dunkley, 31-27 to lead the league. Gray's whitewashing left him in third hole with 26 while Taylor and Swanston are tied with 25. Two nights to go with 8 points at stake leave Dugan, first half winner, now with 23—a bare possibility of tying for first in the second round.

CHAPTER 4.

It has often been noticed that devoted family pets have a way of echoing in their behavior the way their owners feel but because of civilization must not act. Jane had sat erect, a princess in her chariot, on the corner seat behind them. Something may have annoyed her. She had leaned forward, her shaggy head thrust out between them, to look at the scenery ahead. As Orton spoke, she turned and nipped him.

"Good heavens, I thought she was a perfectly trained dog!" said Orton.

"She is," Leila said shortly.

"I told you being a house dog would spoil her, Leil. That dog has better points than even the duchess. We're going to get any amount of blue ribbons and mugs, if we keep her. It might be better not, though," said Orton thoughtfully. "The duchess is a sure champion for years yet, and I never like a vicious dog around. Never make a house dog of a show dog, is my motto. I don't care what Terhune says. It may work with collies, it's all wrong with Scotties. Mary tells me she never makes friends of her show dogs."

"Or anybody," said Leila, before she thought.

"My dear! You are a little tired, I think. You have been working too hard over the kennels. I must really insist on your turning them over to George Haskins before we are married, instead of afterwards."

"Why do you want me to keep them at all, then?" Leila asked. She did not intend to give them up till the last gasp. And she never intended to give up Jane. Jane loved her, Nobody else that counted did. Jane trusted her. Jane had nipped Orton out of pure telepathy.

He smiled, quite amiable again.

"We, of course, belong to the more solid and older set of the manor, my dear. But after all, we don't want to be wholly what Mary calls so cleverly 'cave dwellers.' We want to be among the best of all groups, if you follow me, not chained to Fernwood Manor's more outworn ideas by any means. Life-change — brightness — entertain amusin' people—you know the sort of thing. And the dogs are an asset, just as my water polo is—and huntin' will be."

"I see. And a hired press agent, I suppose, to see that it all gets into the society columns."

"There is a difference," Orton said sternly, "between a press agent and a public relations counsel, such as all really valid people need."

Mary had done a good deal in half a summer, Leila thought scornfully. And then remembered that she had no business to be scornful of Mary's principles. A girl who is marrying a man she doesn't love because her old aunt will be put out in the street without his help, she reminded herself, isn't much better ....And yet, she saw no other way to do.

Just as she felt most despairing Orton patted her shoulder and his voice softened.

"You must go home and lie down, dear. I am awfully proud of you, and I want a pretty wife, not a tired one." He kissed her—they were driving through an unfrequented spot—and Leila had a revulsion of feeling. After all, she wasn't a romantic idiot like Bet; and she mustn't be a martyr. Orton would always be good to her. Orton would do everything for her and hers. Orton's mother loved Minnie and would always be good to her. She must forget this wild summer's wild loves and desires; she must remember that Orton was a good man she had always known, and all the things which had glittered so about him in the early summer and for the year before, and which seemed so cruelly dimmed now, were still there, and would be for her and with her.

"I'm going to try to be a good wife to you, Orton," she said in a subdued voice.

"I know you are, Leila," he said. They stopped outside the door. "Now run in and I'll call up George Haskins to look after the dogs for you to-day."

It would be a little extra expense, but after all saving didn't matter. What would it matter when the deluge came?

She turned back for a moment. She must ask him.

"Orton, what shall we do if Aunt Minnie loses everything in this building scheme?"

"Well, you'll be all right of course," he said slowly. "And after all, Aunt Minnie would probably be better off and happier in a little apartment of her own, a couple of rooms where she could putter around and not have to keep up that big, inconvenient place. Mother says so."

Poor Aunt Minnie, whose very life and soul were in the big shabby house which represented to her all the place and power—not to speak of the romance—of a lifetime! And poor Addison and Bet, and the coming baby!....

She opened her lips to speak again.

"Now, now, no more worrying," said Orton. "Run on in and lie down an hour. Mother says you've been looking a bit seedy lately. Come for you after luncheon and we'll do some golf—set you up."

She went in obediently.

She seemed to herself to be doing everything obediently for the rest of the summer. She put more clothes for her trousseu on the family charge account. She was given engagement luncheons and all the rest of it. She went dutifully wherever Orton took her. She thought up funny stories and amusing anecdotes of one syllable to amuse him. And for the first time in her hard-fighting young life she was absolutely helpless.

Life at home would have been trying if there had been more of it, but she was so constantly out with Orton that it was only faintly so. It was, she could no help seeing, an extremely happy home in which she was more or less an outsider.

"Bet used to be the outsider," she remembered, "and I didn't feel sorry about it."

Somebody in eastern United States ordered 15 cedar poles each more than 100 feet long from C. L. M. Gigey in Terrace, B.C. British Columbia had the three, but how to get them out was a tough problem. However, Giggey was equal to the task and the above picture shows how he did it. He built up platforms on two trucks and contrived to get the poles down the steep and winding roads without a hitch.

During an abnormally high tide in the Thames recently policemen were stationed at a wall in Millbank, England, to be prepared if the water rose over the stones as it did in 1928 to cause a disastrous flood.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, March 31

Sunday's horoscope holds auguries of a rather quiet and contemplative day in which practical or sordid activities are not under encouraging rule. It would be as well to indulge in occult of metaphysical investigations or in speculation on the higher powers and influences of nature or thought.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of slow progress, with a tendency to depressions and obstructions in the affairs. The finances and property are under rather hazardous planetary rulership.

A child born on this day may have a rather contradictory nature, with moments of excitement, energy and aggression and then depressions and discouragement.

For Monday, April 1

Monday's astrological forecast is for a particularly lively and eventful day with many angles of high interest and pleasant development in both business and personal affiliations. It is a very propitious time for pushing new and important projects. All pertaining to writings should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active, eventful and interesting year, with much stirring in the way of progress and pleasant associations in both business and private life.

A child born on this day may be progressive, creative, energetic and ambitious and should succeed in business and attain position and happiness in life.

TELLING ON CANADA

and the British Empire

By HARRIS-STAPLETON

Fascinating to students of the occult is the amazing story of Charles Coghlan's demise, which provides a unique chapter in the lor of mysticism. It is vouched for by Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, remembered by the older generation for his colorful characterizations in "Hamlet," "The Light That Failed," and other great plays.

Coghlan himself was a Canadian-born actor and playwright, the father of another notable of the theatre, Gertrude Coghlan. He trod the boards for many years in support of numerous celebrities, until death overtook him in Galveston, where he was buried.

Fate, in the form of a terrific storm, intervened following his burial on foreign soil, and Coghlan's coffin was swept out to sea. The raging waters carried the body around the Florida coast and into the Atlantic, where the kindly Gulf stream assumed the burden.

Destiny piloted the strange cruise for 1,500 miles or more, and harbor was reached when the coffin was washed up on the shores of Prince Edward Island — Coghlan's birthplace!

Paraphrasing a familiar line, nature works in a mysterious way, her wonders to perform.

When Lemmings are plentiful, white trappers, Eskimos and Indians in Canada's northland are prosperous and well fed. When they are scarce, as they are periodically, hard times prevail. For this reason, the small rodents are the subject of careful observation by government officials, men of the R.C.M.P., the Hudson's Bay Company and the inhabitants.

The Lemming is a near relation of the familiar meadow mouse, and lives on the vegetation of the northern plains and tundra, remaining active under the snow during the winter months. He is unfortunate enough to be the favored item on the menu of the Arctic (or white) fox, most valuable of the fur-bearers of the vast region. When Lemmings are plentiful, the foxes are well fed, consequently trappers do well; when they are scarce, the foxes travel south in quest of food and the fur catch is small.

Fluctuations in the prevalence of Lemmings occur in regular cycles, the reasons for which have not been definitely determined by scientists, although climatic changes are believed chiefly responsible.

Barcaldine was never headed in his turf career, but had to be destroyed because he was a "killer" and became so mad that it was impossible to handle him. This strain in horses corresponds to insanity in humans.

Northern Ball Loop Loses Hurling Ace

WINNIPEG, March 30. (CP).—Leading pitcher in the Northern Baseball League in 1933 and the Winnipeg Maroons' ace hurler, Leroy Goldsworthy probably won't don a baseball uniform this year.

Preparing for the 1935 season of the class D professional circuit, Bruno Haas, manager of the local team, will miss the versatile athlete.

Goldsworthy, Edmonton product, "found his spot" with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League this winter. Haas said he doubted whether "Goldy" would be permitted to play baseball, his summer pastime.

Goldsworthy set a record of 21 victories two years ago, the first season the league operated.

Carpetball Notes

The Fire Eaters went wild this week and when they started pouring water into Silverwood's milk the nozzles got out of control. Results, a complete washout for Silverwood's and for the Presidents who were following behind.

The Empire Painters disappointed the Carpet Makers when they scored a four in the last period to beat them 7-6, and whitewashed them in the fifth of the second with a five, making 2 all.

The Separator gang did some tall work when they took Curtis' Brick Yards for two, blanking them completely with an eight in the eighth end.

The Woodpeckers took a fancy to the Railway Sleepers this week and did so much damage that the C.N.R. freighter was a total wreck before they could get any distance from home.

The Cup games are not scheduled but will be played at St. John's at 8.30 p.m. Thursday. Referees will be notified.

The mighty St. John's team No. 3 fell before the Woodmen's axe in the President's Cup, whilst Ed. Heap's East Enders could not hold their lead and lost to the Brinton Carpet Makers.

Birthday Greetings

(By The Canadian Press)

TO HERBIE STUART, goalkeeper for London Tecumsehs in the International Hockey League. Born in Brantford, Ont., 25 years ago, he was a member of the original Detroit professional team in 1926. He joined London in 1932. Also to John Anthony Collins, first baseman of St. Louis Cardinals and leading National League slugger in 1934, born in Altoona, Pa., 30 years ago today.

Local Swimmers Win Senior Relay Race

A number of local "Y" swimmers competed in an aquatic meet at Albert College, Belleville, last evening. Swimmers from Peterborough, Kingston and Belleville Y.M.C.A.'s put on some fine water events. While a number of girls also took part none went from here. A local team won the senior men's relay race of 100 yards, while Peterborough juniors finished second in the other relay.

Following are the events: Ladies—20 yards backstroke: 1, D. Gardner of Belleville; 2, E. Barry of Belleville, time 14.3; 20 yards breast stroke: 1, E. Bush of Belleville, 2 A. Roberts of Kingston, time 16.1; 40 yards free style: 1, D. Gardner of Belleville, 2, A. Roberts of Kingston, time 36.2; 100 yards relay: 1, Kingston, 2 Belleville.

Junior boys: 20 yards breast—McKellar of Kingston, Martin of Belleville and Dyer of Peterborough, time 15.1; 20 yards back stroke—Aughrue of Kingston, Rogers of Peterborough, Claire of Belleville, time 14.2; 40 yards free style—Black of Kingston, Aughrue of Kingston, Monerief of Belleville, time 29.2; 100 yards relay—Belleville (Monerief, Martin, McBride, Claire and Plummer), Peterborough (Fitzgerald, Burgess, Dyer, Clark and Rogers), and Kingston.

Senior boys: 40 yards free style—Allen of Peterborough, MacDermid of Kingston, Cather of Belleville, time 22.3; 100 yards free stye—Gerow of Peterborough, MacDermid of Kingston, time 1.08 4/5; 200 yards free style—Harris of Kingston, Gerow of Peterborough, time 2.26 4/5; 40 yards back stroke—Harris of Kingston, Thompson of Peterborough, Blaker of Belleville, time 27 secs.; 100 yards breast stroke—Turner of Kingston, Graber of Belleville, Williams of Peterborough, time 1.19½; 100 yards relay—Peterborough (Gerow, Williams, Allen, Janeway and Thompson), Kingston and Belleville.

Judges were C. Rogers of Peterborough, A. McGlaston and C. McBride; Andy Reekie of Kingston acted as starter with J. E. Short of Belleville the announcer; Ralph Morden of Belleville was clerk of the course; and the timers were R. Somer of Kingston, Jim McClenaghan of Peterborough, and Ken Colling of Belleville.

EDUCATION, WIDE UNDERSTANDING ALONE BASIS FOR WORLD PEACE

Dr. Lorna Cotton Addresses Members of the Local Kiwanis Club.

CO-ORDINATION URGED.

"Education and the resultant wide understanding is alone the basis for world peace," declared Dr. Lorna Cotton, Peterborough C.C.F. president, in a plea for world-wide co-ordination addressed to the Kiwanis Club yesterday. "It is useless to impose elaborate peace mechanisms on the international communities in their present state of progress. Peace must be built from the bottom up."

The learned speaker urged co-ordination—the intelligent co-operation of human beings toward a common objective of peace, welfare and happiness—in all human communities from the smallest village up to the greatest community, the world itself. She pointed out that Kiwanians themselves are already conscious of this need for co-operation inasmuch as they have felt the need to organize themselves into a service club. While the service afforded by the Kiwanis Club affects only the needy, however, there are many other services which affect all citizens, in need of co-ordination, she said. She took for illustration the lack of co-ordination which permits vicious price wars between stores, gasoline firms and other retailing agencies of the community.

Community Expanded

To the individual the community used to be simply the parish in the village or city in which he lived, Dr. Cotton continued. The arrival of the radio, the modern newspaper, the telegraph and telephone expanded the individual's community until to-day the intelligent human feels that the whole world is his community. However, there is still a serious lag in acceptance of this fact, she said.

Developing this point, the speaker ridiculed the frequent quarrels over such matters as "provincial rights." "As if it were possible to chop up the people of Canada geographically!" she exclaimed. "There is a lack of co-ordination in Canada in the economic social and political structure. Although Canada is as modern and progressive and other nations, Canadian life is permeated with a lack of co-ordination. Social science is struggling toward co-ordination."

She referred to an outstanding absence of co-ordination in the field of transportation. Thanks to President Roosevelt, the first step to correct things has been taken in the United States. A move has been made to co-ordinate railways, trucking, air services and water transportation, she said. At last it is being recognized that branch of transportation should serve the community in that regard in which it can best serve. Instead of throttling each other, they will be expected to co-operate with each other.

"You may not agree with me," she continued. "I don't expect you all to agree with me. But co-ordination is coming." Alluding to the huge Canadian National Railway debt of almost three billion dollars she declared, "We are going to be forced to co-ordinate. I don't care how it is done. I hope it is done outside politics. The move should come from the general field of intelligent citizens as represented by you men in Kiwanis, Rotary and other service clubs."

Turning to the need for co-ordination in the world community as a whole, Dr. Cotton reminded her audience that the peoples the world over have the same outlook as Canadians. Even in Germany the great majority has the same longing for peace and happiness. It is for a world-wide co-ordination to make permanent peace and co-operation between all peoples a reality, she said.

"Without co-ordinations our communities are heading for destruction. That is not a theory of mine. It is an actuality. It is something bigger than politics. It is a matter of sociology—the creation, development and organization of our environment. I don't think there is any man or woman worth while who hasn't a sense of community—a sense that he is part of a community whole."

Dr. Cotton was introduced to the Kiwanis Club by A. B. Gates. Dennis Fitzgerald tendered the club's thanks at the conclusion of her address.

KING WILL GREET LONDON CITIZENS

Separate Drives Arranged Through Metropolis for Jubilee Week-ends.

LONDON, March 30. — (CP). — King George's four jubilee drives with the Queen through the streets of London, as part of the public rejoicings, have been fixed for Saturday afternoons in May and June.

Main outlines of the routes have been drafted, but the actual details of the drives are still under consideration. The drives will take place in the following order: North London, May 11; South London, May 18; East London, May 25, and West London, June 8.

Each route will be kept within a six-mile radius of Buckingham Palace. In East and South London the King and Queen will use cars for the first part of the journey and then continue by carriage; but in North and West London the whole of the journey will be by carriage.

The reason is that part of the East and South London drives will come within the route of the great procession on May 6.

As "Miracle" Girl Is Buried

New miracles of healing that came about even after death are reported at Marie Anne Gravelle, 19-yearold Navan, Ontario, girl, to whom is attributed many remarkable cures, is buried from the Church of St. Joseph d'Orleans near Ottawa. The above scene, taken inside the church during the ceremony, shows only a part of the huge throng that gathered in a procession a mile long to follow the girl to her grave. Meanwhile medical men and church officials refuse to comment.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sours the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind

WARSAW

Soon after settling upon the land, pioneers formed for themselves a local government. Were it not for divisions into sects the Christian church would perhaps be the best example of what municipal government should be.

In municipal government there shouldn't be no petty divisions, but all should work towards one goal, the building of God's Kingdom upon earth.

In our school system we have a form of local government which in many ways is close to perfect. While it is true there are sometimes little flurries or trouble generally speaking everything is settled quite satisfactorily. While our public school boards are subject to the advice and remote control of the Provincial Department of Education, the people without division of race, creed or party politics co-operate that their children may receive an education because they know that without it, they cannot well take their place in the world. While an education does not give a woman or woman success, it is the ground work that fits them to take the duties of home, church and state. School government is perhaps, outside the church, the most important because on it and on the home rests the welfare of those who in the next generation will control the destiny of Canada.

Every elector should interest himself in the affairs of the school section, and in my opinion, each school board should have one woman as a member.

The township council is one of the oldest forms of self-government we have. It is composed of four councillors and a reeve.

There have been those who proposed abolishing provincial legislatures and county councils, yet to date I have not heard of any one who dared propose that fate for the township council.

The township council is closest to the people of any governing body, being located nearly with its meetings convenient to the ratepayer, there is no reason why everyone should not know just what the council is doing and to what extent the members are carrying out the wishes of the electorate. The township council should be the medium through which the people speak to other township councils and to Provincial Legislatures and so obtain for the municipality and for its people what is rightly theirs.

In the Provincial Legislature we have ninety members each representing a different county. These members make our laws to guide the municipal council. These laws are called statutes and are made up of bills affecting every person and every citizen on the land, the fish in the water and the minerals and timber.

Because our especial interest in this paper is the municipal act. Each year parts of it are amended to suit the wishes of the different municipal councils and each change is called a bill to amend the municipal act. These acts are for the guidance of town, city, village, police-village and township councils and include: how a township is organized, how its council is elected, how a councillor can qualify or be disqualified for office, how and when taxes shall be collected, how sheep are protected, how the municipality must be responsible for indigents in hospitals, or feeble-minded in institutions, the appointment of sanitary officers and stating their duties, rules for governing the pasturing of cattle on highways, fence-viewers, pound keepers and all municipal servants. In order for these to be put in action, in every case the council must pass a by-law which takes the same place as a bill in the legislature. It is passed also for making appointments, borrowing money, opening or closing roads, forming school sections and any or all other matters that directly affect the people of the municipality. A by-law is passed in a township council in the same manner as a bill is passed in the legislature, in three stages.

The first reading introduces the subject and is explained by the chairman, and if constitutional is accepted. On the second reading the council goes into committee, the by-law is discussed item by item, amended or changed if thought advisable and either passed or thrown out. If a majority vote to send the by-law back to open council it is usually passed and numbered and becomes law for that municipality.

Very many people are indifferent when it is their duty each year to elect those who will look after their business for the succeeding year.

Often we allow friendship, relationship or something else which is foreign to the question of who is best interfere with our better judgment. We should study well the questions of the day, attend the nomination meeting, discuss and hear discussed the various questions, and then as our better judgment demands we should go to the polls and vote for those whom we think will carry out the ideas for which we stand and in this way help our community up to the standard which our ideal demands. We should not forget that those whom we elect are the ones who will work and speak for the things we either want or do not want.

A public servant knows the wishes of the people only when they tell him. He is not a mind-reader, so either by resolution, letter, personal conversation or visiting the council while in session, you should make your wishes known. It is not always possible to comply with, but it is possible to consider every person's idea.

As women should take part in the affairs of the school section so should they take part in the election of municipal councils, attend nominations and if they think wise elect a woman as councillor or reeve.

If you have any suggestions to make to the council we will welcome you and give proposals every consideration.

A paper prepared by Reeve E. N. McDonald and read by Mrs. Thomas Cooper at the February Women's Institute meeting.

RELIABLE PRINTING

SIMS' BIDDING PROVES MARVEL

"One Clubs" Says Dorothy—"7 Clubs" Says Hal—"Bah!" Says Culbertson.

AT 29TH RUBBER.

NEW YORK, March 30 (CP)—One freak hand and the simple but astounding way Hal and Dorothy Sims bid it was the subject of much controversy to-day as the Culbertson-Sims brige marathon of 150 rubbers swung into its eight session and 29th rubber with Ely and Josephine Culbertson 2,530 points ahead.

"One club," said Dorothy Sims, with the Jack only Club in her hand (Mrs. Sims is noted for her psychics).

"Pass," was all Culbertson had to say.

"Seven Clubs," said Sims.

Culbertson, startled, glanced at his bulky opponent.

Mrs. Culbertson passed.

Mrs. Sims did, too.

Culbertson opened with the Club deuce. Sims flipped eight Clubs on to the table, including the ace, king and queen. Mrs. Sims captured the trick with her lone jack.

Ducks Finesse

She went ahead to play the hand neatly, avoiding a Heart finesse which she could not afford to take, although it would have succeeded.

She returned a small Diamond, trumped in dummy, which was blank in Diamonds, and then dropped the remaining trumps, discarding a Spade herself on the second trump lead.

Two more rounds of Diamonds picked up Culbertson's queen, making her jack good.

Culbertson was incensed.

"I still don't believe there is such a bid in any system," he said. "Even the Sims system. One Club—seven Clubs. Bah!"

"I agree heartily with you, Ely," Sims said.

The Culbertsons have won 15 of the 28 rubbers played.

GOOD SUM REALIZED IN WARSAW SOCIAL

United Church Women's Association Will Replace Old Brackets.

WARSAW, March 30 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Women's Association of the United Church held on Thursday afternoon, March 28, was well attended. Mrs. Weller presided. The report of the pancake social showed a good sum realized after all expenses were paid. It was decided to procure two Easter lillies for Easter Day, also to replace the old baskets with new fern baskets. Mrs. W. Anderson read the scripture lesson from John, chapter XV. Mrs. Wilkinson gave a piano selection. Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Harold Payne gave interesting readings. After the close lunch was served by Mrs. Allan Payne. Mrs. Gordon Payne and Mrs. Matthews will provide the program for April.

Bethel Association

Bethel Women's Association held its regular meeting at Mrs. Clayton Jury's home on Tuesday afternoon, March 26. The only business was to arrange for a taffy pull on the evening of April 5, at the home of the president, Mrs. Herman Payne.

After the meeting the usual dinner was served. Rev. W. J. Wilkinson was present for meeting and dinner.

TRUST COMPANY SEEKS ADVICE UPON VALIDITY

Judgment Reserved After Argument By Counsel For Residuary Legatees, Mortgagors.

$65,000 ESTATE.

Notations Ordered Cancelling of About $6,000 Mortgage Interest Arrears, Notes.

TORONTO, April 1.—(CP)—Whether or not certain notations the late Hon. John R. Cooke, former chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission, made on a statement of his assets and upon the face of an envelope constitute a valid direction to the National Trust Company, executor of his will, to cancel arrears of interest up to Jan. 1, 1934, on mortgages and promissory notes that he held and to reduce the rate of interest on such securities from six to three percent per annum, was a question today submitted to Mr. Justice J. C. Makins in weekly court.

His lordship, after hearing argument by counsel representing residuary legatees under the will and counsel for mortgagors and note makers, reserved his judgment.

Company Asks Advice

Presenting a motion on behalf of the National Trust Company asking advice of the court, D. C. Donnan, K.C., Belleville, said Mr. Cooke, who died Aug. 13, 1934, prepared a statement of his assets as to Jan. 1, 1934. At the top of that statement, Mr. Cooke had written "interest on mortgages and notes reduced 6 to

GROTE STIRLINGS CHARGE DENIED

"No Plots to Destroy Camps" Says Relief Workers' Union Statement.

MEN TO STRIKE, HOWEVER.

VANCOUVER, April 1 (C.P.) — Charges of "plots to destroy the camps," made by Hon. Grote Stirling, Minister of National Defence, in the House of Commons, are denied in a statement issued by a committee of the Relief Camp Workers' Union; but the statement intimates the men will walk out April 4.

The statement is signed by E. Cumber, Matthew Shaw and John Watts.

"The Relief Camp Workers' Union has been the organization of the workers in the camps for over three years," the statement declares. "It organized and led the strike of last December when definite promises were made the intolerable conditions in the camps would be thoroughly investigated. No investigation has been held.

"The record of the National Defence (Relief camps come under that department) is replete with blacklistings, jailings and discrimination. It is in protest against such treatment the men will walk out on April 4."

Canada's Part?

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—What Canada would do in event of an outbreak of war in Europe involving Great Britain will likely be discussed to-day in the House of Commons. The matter will be raised by Henri Bourassa (Ind., Labelle).

The debate will be injected into the proceedings of the House in the form of an amendment which Mr. Bourassa is expected to make to the motion of Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister, for the House to go into Committee of Supply.

GERMANY'S NEW WAR MACHINE LIKE THAT OF '14

Reich Aims to Keep 500,000 Men Under Colors At All Times.

(Copyright, 1935 by the Havas News Agency).

BERLIN, April 1 (C.P.-Havas).—Laws for organization of the new Reich military force—setting up a war machine almost identical to that of 1914—are expected to be issued soon, an informed source declared to-d y.

The [illegible]-man army, formation of which was officially announced in Chancellor Hitler's proclamation of March 16, will have 500,000 men continually under the colors. The Reichswehr Ministry has been busy drawing up plans since that date.

Gen. Erich Von Ludendorff and Gen. Hans Von Seeckt, the latter also a Great War commander and organizer of the new Chinese army, are mentioned as possible members of the new high command when it is organized.

Cash Wants Voted.

Money to finance the new war machine was authorized last week in a budget adopted by the Cabinet with total expenditures left open.

Although an official communique following the Cabinet meeting failed to mention other measures dealing with the new army, it was believed that plans were presented at that time by Gen. Werner Von Blomberg, Reichswehr Minister..

Compulsory service for all German men between the ages of 18 and 45 who are physically capable is the basis of the new army system. They will serve first in the active army, then in the active reserve, finally in the Landwehr.. The class of 1915—20-year-old youths, will be mobilized first. This class is estimated at 580,000, of whom it is expected 300,000 will enter active service.

Lad 2, Dies, Father Burned In Explosion at Garage

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.).—Billy Widner, two years old, was burned to death to-day, following an explosion and fire in the garage at his home. His father, William E. Widner, was seriously burned but is expected to recover.

The boy was watching his father clean grease from the car. It is thought some gasoline spilled and became ignited from a spark while the motor was running. The garage was filled with flames and the boy trapped. Duncan McRae, seeing the fire, rushed to help and was able to drag the father from the flames.

LINDSAY April 1. — "The Liberal party is strongly attached to the cause of world peace, and will hesitate very much about countenancing a policy of embroiling Canada in any foreign war," declared Ian A. Mackenzie, M.P., Vancouver, in addressing a largely attended meeting which was held in the armouries here Saturday night in behalf of Bruce McNevin of Peterboro, Liberal candidate for Victoria-Haliburton in the next federal elections.

The Hon. Mr. Mackenzie was given the major assignment in the program, and others who spoke briefly were W. A. Fraser, M.P., Northumberland; Wm. Newman, M.L.A.; John Vallance, M.P., South Battleford, Sask.; Mr. McNevin and J. J. Duffus, Peterborough, president of the Central Ontario Liberal

PRISON CLOSES ON TWO GIRLS

"Molls" of Garpis and Campbell Start Five Year Terms.

HARBORED GUNMAN.

MILAMILAN, Mich., April 1.—(AP)—The gangster girl friends of Al Karpis and Harry Campbell adjusted themselves today to the atmosphere of the United States government's "Alcatraz for women," in which they must spend five years for having harbored Karpis.

Wyona Burdette and Delores Delancey, erstwhile companions of the fugitives, passed their first Sunday in, but not of, the prison community which includes Evelyn Frechette, "moll" of the late John Dillinger; Kathryn Kelly, wife of the notorious George "Machine Gun" Kelly; and Mrs. Kelly's mother, Mrs. Ora Shannon.

Before the newcomers are assigned prison tasks side by side with others of their sex who achieved notoriety and prison sentences through association with desperadoes they must undergo a period of strict quarantine, Warden John J. Ryan said. The quarantine may extend for as long as 30 days, during which prison authorities will seek to learn all they can of the histories of the two men.

Wyona and Delores were rushed secretly to the Milan penitentiary last week, lest their gangster admirers learn of their transfer and attempt a rescue. They came from Miami, Fla., where they were sentenced Monday.

Public ownership of the Bank of Canada, the refunding of Canada's domestic and foreign debts at lower rates of interest, abolition of unethical practices in trade and commerce, a square deal for the Canadian National Railway system, elimination of at least half the "bureaucratic commissions and tribunals functioning in Canada," the adoption of social legislation which Liberals had long advocated, and primary consideration to this country's greatest problem, the unemployment of hundreds of thousands of citizens—these were some of the policies upon which Mr. Mackenzie said the Liberal party would base its appeal to the electors when the Bennett Government seeks a new mandate this year.

The amenities of Canada's political forum at the capital inspired expressions of goodwill for Premier Revolt in U. S.

NEW YORK, April 1. (CP).—H. G. Wells, British novelist, was enroute across the Atlantic to-day, but he left behind the prediction of a coming revolution in the United States.

"I think there will be a revolution in this country" said Mr. Wells. "But it won't be Communist or Fascist. It will be thoroughly American." The leader of the revolt, he said, would not be Senator Huey Long. The author said he believed Father Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit, is preaching a proletarian revolution.

CHANCE OF WAR IMPOSSIBILITY IS POPE'S BELIEF

Pontiff Unable to Picture Any Nation Willing to Commit so Erroneous a Crime.

SECRET CONSISTORY.

Canonizes Two English Martyrs, Thomas Moore and Bishop Fisher.

By Andrue Berding
(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press).

VATICAN CITY, April 1.—War, Pope Pius told the 19 cardinals gathered for the secret consistory to-day, "would be so enormous a crime, so foolish a manifestation of fury, we believe it absolutely impossible."

The Pontiff, speaking with tremendous emphasis, said: "We cannot in fact persuade ourselves that those who should have at heart the prosperity and well-being of peoples should be willing to push to suicide, to ruin and to extermination not only their own nation but a great party of humanity."

If, however, there is someone who wishes to commit "this nefarious crime," then, the Holy Father said, he could do nothing else than pray to God to "destroy those peoples who desire war."

At this moment, he continued, the "clamor of war is universally diffused and the cause of agitation to all and arouses in everyone the greatest fear."

Dire Destruction.

The Pontiff said the "enormous crime," which he regarded with such abhorrence, would result if "peoples once more take up arms one against the other, and if once more the blood of brothers is spilled and if destruction and ruin are spread on the earth and in the sea and the sky."

After his presentation of the canonization of the blessed Thomas

CARLETON ADLER PLEADS GUILTY

Sentence is Deferred By Judge O'Connor Until Saturday.

FIVE WORTHLESS CHEQUES.

COBOURG, Ont., April 1 (CP) — Carleton Adler of Buffalo pleaded guilty in County Court this afternoon to five charges of issuing worthless cheques to Campbellford merchants. The cheques were tendered to G. S. Davidson, jeweller; Dunnett Morton, druggist, Charles Calver, and Mrs. F. Clarke, merchants, and were drawn on the Simcoe Street branch of the Bank of Montreal, Peterborough, at which he had no account. The total amount was for $141.75.

Defence counsel pointed out Adler was trying to make restitution, and Judge L. O'Connor consented to defer sentence until Saturday of this week.

Creditors Have Right to Tie Up Debtors in Abyssinia.

LOVE RITUAL.

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

ADDIS ABEBA (Airmail), April 1 —Every house-owner in Abyssinia has a private bodyguard. The numerical strength of this guard is in ratio to the size of his house and the amount of his wealth. When a citizen ventures forth, he is accompanied by an escort of rifle-toting, barefooted servants. A wholesale grocer, for instance, is accompanied by six armed men, a tobacco merchant by ten, a privy councillor by fifty and the emperor would feel lonesome, I dare say, unless he has the whole bearded yeomanry trailing behind whenever he goes out to look over his domains. The custom is a delightful one and lends animation to the scenery. When two privy councillors set out simultaneously to buy a loaf of bread there is liable to be a traffic jam. When two such prominent persons meet in the streets, they exchange kisses on both cheeks and say: "Christ be with you," but their followers take the precaution of releasing the catch on their guns.

Chain Debtors

The most remarkable peculiarity of the street life in Addis Abeba is the prevalence of pairs of men chained together. These people are not prisoners out on parole, nor are

Toronto Savings And Loan Company Discontinues Taking Of Deposits

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company made the announcement this morning that their directors had decided that in the future they will discontinue the taking of deposits and issuing debentures and will restrict their operations to the business of a holding and investment company only.

In carrying out these arrangements their deposit business was transferred this morning to the Bank of Nova Scotia at 235 George street and all depositors of the company were so notified by letter mailed on Saturday March 30. Debenture holders were also notified that the company would not under any circumstances renew any maturing debenture and that any debenture holder would be paid the amount of his debenture together with accrued interest to date on presentation of the bond to the company, or on the due date of the bond as desired by the debenture holder.

The company wishes to take this opportunity of thanking the citizens of Peterborough and especially the depositors and debenture holders for their very generous support during the half century that the Company has been doing business in the City of Peterborough.

UNENFORCABLE SAYS MEASURE BEFORE HOUSE

Hydro Commission to Buy What Power Necessary From Gatineau Company.

BILL BY HEPBURN.

Beauharnois, Ottawa Valley, Maclaren-Quebec Contracts to be Terminated.

TORONTO, April 1.—(CP.)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn introduced a bill in the Ontario legislature declaring power purchase contracts with Quebec power companies are "illegal, void and unenforceable." The Hydro Commission will buy what power is necessary from the Gatineau Power Company but the contracts with the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company will be terminated when the bill goes through.

"I now face the most difficult task that has ever been mine in my nine years of public life," said the Premier as he explained the bill.

He reviewed the position in which Ontario was placed by the contracts and said unless another transmission line is built at a cost of $20,000,000 Ontario will be paying for power it could not use.

"The bill declares the four contracts are illegal and unenforceable," said Mr. Hepburn.

"The second part gives power to the Hydro Commission to take such power as is required." .. ..

"Ontario is going to continue to buy power from the Gatineau Power Company but terminate the other power purchase contracts."

To Serve People's Interests.

The first part of the Bill notes: The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario was created a body corporate without capital to serve the interests of the people of Ontario and to supply such power or energy as the municipalities and the people of the said province might require.

"It never was the intention of the Legislature of Ontario that the said Commission should have authority to impose financial and other obligations without consent upon the said municipal corporations, power users, and taxpayers of the province," it continued.

The bill declared the commission and certain corporations entered into the contracts "without consent of the said municipalities, or the ratepayers thereof, contrary to the rights of the said municipalities

SIX U.S. FLIERS DROP TO DEATH

Five Are Victims in Four Plane Smashes in Various Areas Sunday.

CHUTE TEST TAKES SIXTH.

CHICAGO, April 1 (C.P.). — Six United States fliers plunged to their deaths in Sunday accidents witnessed by hundreds of spectators.

A plane piloted by Jack Barstow, veteran glider pilot, locked wings with another flown by Eddie Johnson, manager of the Corpus Christi, Tex., airport, and fell 100 feet away from scores of spectators. Barstow and Jack Cowgill, reporter for the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, who was a passenger, were killed. Johnson escaped with only minor injuries.

Barstow was associated with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in glider experiments in San Diego, Calif., in 1930.

At De Leon, Tex., a student pilot, Cecil Cook, 20, was burned to death after his plane fell from a low altitude and burst into flames two miles south of the city.

L. W. Abbott, 35, and Claude Morin, 28, were killed when Abbott's monoplane plummeted near an airport at Elmhurst, a few miles west of Chicago. With Abbott at the controls, the ship crumpled 25 feet from a radio transmitting tower.

Experimenting with a glider wing, Floyd Davis, 22, parachute jumper, hurtled 6,000 feet to death near Flint, Mich., when one of his two parachutes fouled in the glider wing attached to his back. Davis had hoped to use the wing, a four-foot span of fabric to guide his flight to earth.

SOVIET AGREES ON COOPERATION IN SECURITY PACT

Ready to Make Anglo-French Plan Basis For Preserving European Stability.

URGE REICH TO JOIN.

Moscow Press Warns France German Army Will Total 849,000 by Summer.

MOSCOW, April 1.—(CP) — Capt. Anthony Eden sped toward Warsaw today in quest of further bulwarks for peace leaving behind in Mocow an agreement with Joseph Stalin that the nations of Europe should build for security whether Germany collaborates or not.

A joint communique issued just prior to the British diplomat's departure last night disclosed that he and the Soviet dictator concurred that the Anglo-French peace plan concluded at London should be made the basis for preserving Europe's stability.

"Loyalty to obligations" as members of the League of Nations was fixed as the guiding rule for mutual relations and the "spirit of collaboration" between Russia and Great Britain.

The statement said the conferees believed it was now "more than ever necessary to pursue the endeavor to promote the building-up of collective security in Europe as contemplated in the Anglo-French communique of February 3 and in conformity with the principles of the League of Nations.

Britain To Participate?

This statement was taken by observers as meaning Captain Eden agreed Great Britain should participate in any collective security system even though Germany remains aloof.

The communique emphasized security and mutual assistance pacts do not aim at "isolation or encirclement" of any state, which was taken as a reference to Germany. Both the Reich and Poland, the statement said, would be welcomed as participants.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, in bidding Captain Eden farewell at the railroad station, said: "I wish you every success, for your success is our success."

Eden clasped the hand of his host and replied, "The same to you."

Then the Briton strode down the red plus carpet to his railway coach and departed for the Polish capital where he was scheduled to arrive some time to-night.

As Eden left the city, the Soviet press came forth with another critical reference to Germany. Michael Tukhachevsky, Vice-Commissar for Defence in an article in the newspaper Pravda, declared Germany would have an army of 849,000 by the summer exceeding the French army by 40 per cent. and almost equalling the Soviet army in size.

He charged Hitler with "lulling France to sleep," with anti-Soviet war talk in the hope France would not realize her own peril.

$2 RADIO FEE STAYS FOR YEAR

Licenses Already Printed and Issued For 1935-36 Beginning April 1.

PEDDLING STOPS.

TORONTO, April 1. — Rumors from Ottawa some time ago that proposals for a new set-up for control of radio in Canada included abolition of the two-dollar-a-year license fee are not substantiated by latest developments at the Radio Branch, Department of Marine, which still is held responsible for the collection of the fees from listeners for the upkeep of the Radio Commission's stations, programs and salaries of executives and artists.

At any rate, it is understood that listeners' licenses have been printed and issued for the 1935-1936 radio year, which begins to-day, April 1.

Whether the proposal to do away with the two-dollar license fee has been abandoned entirely or merely left in abeyance in the meantime is not known; but with the start of Canada's new radio year to-day it does not look as though the proposed changes in radio control and regulations in Canada will experience much change effective within the next twelve months.

It is stated, however, that there is to be a change in the methods of collecting the license fees, which will confine the sale of licenses to Government radio inspectors and their staffs and do away with the peddling of licenses by vendors which was the cause of so much complaint last year.

Night to Them

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 1 (C.P.)—The "official" reactions of dogs, crickets and even cockroaches to an eclipse of the sun were made public to-day by the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

While humans strained for a glimpse of the phenomenon, the Academy reported that crickets chirped, chickens went to roost, dogs howled, and other animals exhibited signs they believed the darkness was authentic.

DRAMA FESIVAL OPENS APRIL 22

Toronto Arts and Letters Club Play By J. O. Francis is Central Region Winner.

EDGAR STONE DIRECTOR.

OTTAWA, April 1 (C.P.).—With teams from eight provinces competing, the third Dominion drama festival will open here Easter Monday, April 22. For a week, amateur dramatic groups which competed in regional competitions throughout Canada and passed the critical eye of Malcolm Morley, adjudicator, will face a harder test.

At the Ottawa Little Theatre they will play before Allan Wade, selected to judge the finals, in competition for the Bessborough trophy, emblematic of amateur dramatic supremacy in Canada. Every province, with the exception of Prince Edward Island, will be represented.

Last year the Bessborough trophy went to one of the Hart House teams playing "Michael," the mystic drama by Miles Malleson. Hart House did not win the central regional competition this year. It went to the Arts and Letters Club, Toronto, playing "The Poacher," by J. O. Francis. The director of the winning group this year was Edgar Stone, who last year directed the Hart House entry which won the Bessborough trophy.

English, French Plays.

The finals competitions embrace both English and French plays. In addition to the Bessborough trophy, donated by the Governor-General, and now held by Hart House, prizes are awarded for the best play in English, and the best in French. A prize is also given for the best production of a play by a Canadian dramatist. Last year this award was won by Miss Martha Allen with her "All on a Summer's Day."

The Ottawa Drama League was winner of the Eastern Ontario regional festival, and will play in the finals. The play is "Rizzio's Boots," which carried off the regional award in competitions staged at Kingston, Ont.

The Community Drama Guild of London won the Western Ontario group playing "St. Simeon Stylites," under the direction of Vincent Perry. It is understood the second and third groups—the Border Theatre Guild of Windsor in act one of "The Torch Bearers," directed by Edwin Gramercy and the London Little Theatre in "Saturday Night," directed by John Burton—also will go to Ottawa.

ONTARIO GRAINS

F.o.b. shipping point: Wheat, 85c to 87c; oats, 32c to 34c; corn, 56c to 58c; buckwheat, 43c to 45c; malting barley, 63c to 65c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Severe dust storms reported as extending from Texas to Nebraska gave a quick life to grain prices Saturday.

Not only were fears expressed by traders that the dust storms might cause widespread crop damage, but apprehension was also voiced that freezing temperatures predicted for Kansas and Nebraska would be likely to have ill effects on wheat prospects.

After scoring a maximum rise of 1¼ cents a bushel, wheat closed firm ¼c to ⅜c above Friday's finish; May, 95⅛c to 95⅜c; corn, ½c to 2c up; May, 80¼c to 80⅜c; oats, ⅜c to ⅝c advanced; provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an equal gain.

With no material pressure to sell apparent, the wheat market readily responded to bullish news. Most heed was given to reports of dust storms said by many points to be the worst so far this season. A typical message that came from Dodge City, Kansas, said the dust conditions were such that it was impossible to see across the street.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter prices were again stronger on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market during the past week, continuing the rally started late the preceding week. Number 1 grade, in carlots or less, was quoted at 23¾ to 24c a pound, more than a cent higher than a week ago. Small lots to retailers became 24¼c to 25c a pound for solids and a cent higher for prints. Receipts for the week totalled 4,566 boxes, compared with 3,139 boxes the previous week.

The egg market remained somewhat easy. Graded shipments in carlots or less ended the week at 19c a dozen for A-large, 16c for A-medium, and B, 15½c to 16c for A-pullets, and 15c to 15½c for C. Arrivals for the week amounted to 11,581 cases, an increase of more than 2,000 over the previous week.

On the cheese market No. 1 Ontario continued at 11½c to 11¾c a pound for Fall make, with Summer lines a cent a pound higher. Receipts were only 42 boxes, 72 less than a week ago.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 1. — A preclosing burst of selling wiped out an earlier half-cent advance on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday and left wheat prices only ⅛c higher to unchanged, May at 85c and July at 84⅜c.

The last-minute flurry was the only life during the session. Previously, support of export sales of 300,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and upturns in outside markets had sustained futures against a trickle of profit-taking.

Decline of the pound sterling in currency exchanges gave values a ½d hoist at Liverpool. Buenos Aires also was higher, ⅝c up at the close.

Washington reports stated the Department of Agriculture there estimated surplus of wheat in exporting countries on March 1 at 664,000,000 bushels, compared with 919,000,000 at the same time last year and 1,000,000,000 two years ago.

Dullness prevailed in the cash and coarse grain sections.

Giant Liner Ploughs Through "Worst" Storm

These views show German liner Europa, one of the largest vessels in the world, ploughing through what the captain termed the worst storm in his 35 years at sea, in vain effort to rescue freighter which sank in North Atlantic ocean. Top photo shows giant wave approaching; lower photo shows Europa "mastering" the wave, with tons of water pouring over bulbous bow. The waves reached a height of 65 feet. Among the passengers was Mrs. Lillian Campbell, woman's editor of Central Press Canadian, going abroad to obtain news of Europe's latest styles, fads and fancies.

GERMAN MOTHER TO DIE BY AXE

Found Guilty of Letting Children Starve to Death in Berlin.

BUSY AT NIGHT LIFE.

BERLIN, April 1 (A.P.).—A German mother, Frau Charlotte Juenemann, who was so absorbed in gay night life that three of her children died of hunger and cold, was sentenced Saturday to death by the axe.

Expert pronounced her fully responsible for her actions. Police had quoted the 24-year-old mother as saying:

"I had no time to give the children food and water."

When a four-months-old baby and another little boy a year and a half old were found starved to death in an unheated basement apartment she was charged with murder.

Her four-year-old son Wolfgang was taken to a hospital and given a small chance to live. He had been exposed to cold and hunger and was on the verge of exhaustion.

Testimony at her trial showed she received dole money and foodstuffs from the winter relief fund. An inquiry revealed she squandered the dole on cigarettes, liquor and night life.

Her husband is an inmate of an insane asylum.

BUFALO, N.Y., April 1 (CP)—If anybody pins a medal on Walter Kremblas, 23-year-old relief worker who rescued two 10-year-old lads from drowning in icy Buffalo River, he'll swap it for a job.

Kremblas, married and a father, pulled Billy Welch and Francis Dures from the water yesterday afternoon as they were sinking. He used a cake of ice to roll the boys on until they showed signs of life.

HOUSE THIEVES

CAMDEN, N.J., April 1.—(CP)—Camden owners in the vicinity of Central avenue and Hale street can breathe easier. They awoke one morning to find a whole house had been stolen, and nothing but the cellar was left.

Police found the house, they say, in pieces and charge five men with stealing it piece by piece during the night.

ONTARIO HOUSE FACES ITS MOST EXCITING WEEK

Statement Expected To-day on Cabinet's Quebec Power Decision.

BUDGET TUESDAY.

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.) — Faced with what promises to be the most momentous week of the current session, Ontario legislators returned to Queen's Park to-day wondering what decision the Government would announce with respect to the Quebec power purchase contracts.

They wondered also what would be disclosed in the budget to be presented tomorrow by Premier Mitchell F Hepburn in his capacity as Provincial Treasurer.

Cabinet had an all-day session Saturday, and it was confronted with framing the Government's decision on power contracts negotiated by the former Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Assailed early in the Throne Speech debate by Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck as "illegal, unenforcable and void ab initio" the contracts have been before the Government since with no decision reached.

Announcement To-day

The Premier said Friday, in response to a question from Opposition Leader George S. Henry an announcement would be made in the Legislature this week. Observers expected a statement to-day, but there was no definite confirmation it would be forthcoming.

The budget will disclose a deficit, Premier Hepburn has admitted, but size of this is being kept a close secret. It has been placed as high as $25,000,000 by some speculators.

In addition to the budget and the power announcement, considerable legislation will have to be discussed this week. Mr. Roebuck's Labor legislation, the Industrial Standards Act, has yet to come up for second reading, and his Police Centraliza-

Half Starved Negro Freed From Box Car

WINDSOR, Ont., April 1 (C.P.).—The next time Ted Lucas travels by rail, it is a safe bet it will not be in a refrigerator car. The six-foot two-inch Negro, who claims to have been born in Sheffield, Ont., was released from a sealed car on the siding here in a semi-starved condition when his tapping attracted the attention of Railway Policeman Cooper during his rounds last night.

Lucas, who said he was returning "from down south," was taken to police station, where he was given a quart of milk and a sandwich.

PUBLIC WORKS PLANS ENLARGED

Scheme Intimated to be on Greater Scale Than Any Attempted to Date.

BUDGET STILL UP.

OTTAW.., April 1 (C.P.). — The House of Commons to-day looked forward to further light on the question of the Eastern adjournment. While Sir George Perley, acting Government leader, may not be prepared to announce if the Government proposes to ask for a long adjournment, he will probably do so within the next few days.

In the meantime optimistic reports on the progress of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett continue to come from his apartment. He may even be able to appear in the House briefly before Easter.

It is now intimated that the Government will shortly introduce a public works scheme on a far greater scale than thus far attempted. The housing committee of the Commons is still sitting, but work is going on with its report, and it will be ready for presentation shortly; recommendations contained therein may form part of the program.

The House will continue with Government business when it meets to-day. Budget and estimates have lately formed major items on the bill of fare. The Opposition last week granted the Government one month's interim supply, but Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, refused to agree to any more saying that the Government should go to the country at the earliest possible date.

20 Nova Scotians Held For Rioting

DARTMOUTH, N.S., April 1 (C.P.). — Royal Canadian Mounted Police brought 20 jobless men to jail here to-day following disorders at the Eastern Passage Relief Camp. The men were to face charges of rioting. The prisoners declared their demonstration had no connection with an alleged plot to destroy all the relief camps across Canada, mentioned in the House of Commons on Friday by Hon. Grote Stirling, Minister of National Defence.

A food shortage, particularly during the past week, was their main grievance, they said, declaring one man had been fined 25 cents for stealing two prunes.

CANADIAN ORANGEMEN HONORED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 1.—(CP)— A picture of an improved world in which the standard would not be "how much money have you accumulated, but also what have you done for humanity," was left today with those who heard the address of J. Starr Tait, K.C., of Saint John, before a gathering of prominent Orangemen here.

As grand master of the Orange order in British America, Mr. Tait spoke at a dinner given Saturday night by the Grand Orange Lodge of the United States on behalf of a visiting party of Canadian members of the Order.

He said "As gold impoverishes the soil from which it is taken, so it impoverishes the heart of the man who makes it the sole purpose of his life."

JOHNSON MAKES BITTER ATTACK ON RADIO PRIEST

Says Money For Social Justice Union is Taken From the Poor.

COUGHLIN REPLIES.

"Trumped Up Charge Used By Every Bigot Throughout the Ages."

CHICAGO, April 1. — Hugh S. Johnson has fired his final fusillade at Father Charles Coughlin and Senator Huey Long.

In an address, he pictured Father Coughlin as taking advantage of distress to further his projects. A blast at the Louisiana Senator, which asserted, "I prefer Huey Long's forthright bunk," included in the General's manuscript, was omitted to keep the speech within the 30-minute broadcast limit.

In comparing the priest to Hitler, Johnson declared: 'You have not chosen the Swastika. You have a more sacred device—no Swastikas for your Nazis—but a Cross."

As if addressing Father Coughlin personally, Johnson said:

Some one sent me a parallel of what both you and Adolf (Hitler) have proposed and preached, and they are as alike as peas in a pod. As a foreign-born you could not be a President, but you could be a Reichsfuehrer—just as the Austrian Adolf became a dictator of Germany." (Father Coughlin was born at Hamilton, Ont., of American parents.)

From beginning to end he sought to pick to pieces the priest's Union for Social Justice—For this he takes, from the pennies of the poor, much money never accurately reported nor accounted for," he said.

Johnson warmly defended Bennard Baruch, financier and friend, whom Father Coughlin has referred

MASS MARRIAGE IS HELD IN INDIA

Uniting of 374 Infant Couples is Largest Ceremony in Years.

ELDERS SAY "I DO."

BOMBAY, India, April 1. (AP).—Their childish eyes blankly bewildered and their bare feet fretfully chafing the grass, 374 infant couples were married yesterday in a meadow near the small village of Kathiawar. It was the largest child marriage ceremony held in India in many years'

Some of the brides and bridegrooms were mere infants in arms, whose parents had arranged their future lives for them in accordance with Indian customs centuries old.

Many of the babes slept in the arms of their elders while the latter said their "I do" for them. Others gurgled happily at the booming-gun salutes which were a part of the elaborate ceremony.

Feast of Celebration

The young bridegrooms arrived, many of them in decorated bullock carts and were carried before the priests some of them laughing, some crying. The priests incanted the mass marriage vows and afterward all the tiny couples united in a big feast of celebration in which their parents joined.

Child marriage in India is a religious tradition among the Brahmin and other Hindu castes. Marriage is performed when the children are between two and 14 years old.

The children ordinarily continue to live with their parents through the period of adolescence, when they set up housekeeping on their own.

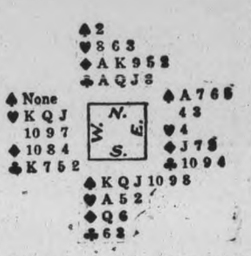
SOUND BIDS AND PLAYS

After you pick up your 13 cards, remember that the remaining 39 cards may be dealt into 8,122,425,444 different hands. Your best procedure is that which will stand the greatest chances for success, considering all those 8 billions of holdings possible in the 3 remaining hands. You must not wholly consider your own hand. You must consider the joint 26 cards of your side. Only deep students of card probabilities are competent to formulate rules of procedure. Unfortunately this is not always the case.

As the bidding and play of the hands shown today was far from sound, it is not given. Instead is given proper bidding and play, as the hands are too interesting to misuse.



North is the only player having a sound opening bid, regardless of who dealt. East and West can lose 7 tricks on their joint 26 cards: 1 heart, 3 diamonds and 3 clubs. Neither can do much bidding without serious loss. South may bid high, after North has shown his great strength. Bidding should go: North, 1-diamond. If East risks a spade bid South should jump into 3-spades. If East passes South should bid only 1-spade. West may make a tentative heart bid, but he should not bid high. Over South's spades North should next show his clubs, but South should bid as high as 4-spades, not venturing higher unless forced to do so by reckless adverse bids. South must lose 1 spade trick. The only reason why he cannot lose 2 heart tricks as well is the fact that East holds no second heart to lead back. The K of clubs has as great chances to lie East as West.

As a matter of fact, wild bidding by opponents forced South to bid 6-spades, which he redoubled, when doubled. Of course that was unjustified. North should have doubled the 6-hearts, or South should have done so.

The opening lead was the K of hearts and South's Ace won. He at once led trumps. When East refused the first trump trick and West showed out, East fairly screamed, "I haven't a heart to lead back!" When East persisted in refusing to win and lead back a trump he admitted that he did not have the missing K of clubs. As played, East refused to play his Ace of spades, although South led trumps 5 times. The declarer then led a club and won with the J. He regained his hand with the Q of diamonds, led another club and won with the Q. On the Ace of clubs one losing heart was discarded. The other heart was discarded on one of dummy's high diamonds, when East ruffed with his Ace.

Menu Hints

Scalloped Eggs, Salmon and Noodles
Stewed Tomatoes
Cabbage With French Dressing
Club Apple Pie Coffee

This scallop is a good Friday dish, and may be varied to suit yourself.

Menu Hint

Scalloped Eggs, Salmon and Noodles—One No. 1 can salmon, four hard-cooked eggs, one-half cup bread crumbs, one cup milk, two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth pound egg noodles. Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Make a sauce of the milk, flour, butter and salt. Put into a greased baking dish a thin layer of noodles and then salmon. On top of the salmon put a layer of sliced eggs, then a few crumbs. Repeat until all ingredients have been used. Cover top lightly with cream sauce and sprinkle with crumbs. Bake in a moderately hot oven 400 degrees until thoroughly heated and crumbs are browned. Served with a vegetable, this makes an excellent meal.

Club Apple Pie—One quart cooked apples, hot; one cup maple sugar, grated; four tablespoons granulated gelatin, one-half cup water or fruit juice, one teaspoon nutmeg, grated; four eggs, beaten; one cup macaroon crumbs, rolled and sifted; one baked pie crust, square. Apples for the quart of cooked apples should be cored and pared and cooked just until tender enough to press through a colander. Measure the quart after this process. Add the nutmeg and maple sugar and mix until sugar is dissolved. Stir over the fire if necessary. Add four beaten eggs and stir vigorously until the eggs are set. Add macaroon crumbs. Place gelatin in water or fruit juice and add it last. Mix thoroughly into the warm apple mixture and allow to cool. Pour mixture into square pie shell and place in refrigerator to harden. Cut in triangles to serve.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Fruit Stains

If there are fruit stains on the white cloth or on the children's clothes, use boiling water and salt, of lemon. Pour this mixture over the stain, using a bowl under it so that a good deal of boiling water can be poured.

Use Open Roaster

A fine cut of beef should always be roasted in an open roaster. The cheaper cuts are for pot roasting and braising. No water should ever be added during the cooking process. The liquor in the roasting pan is used for basting.

Will Seek Clemency For Younger Temple

ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 1 (CP).—An appeal for clemency will be made to the Minister of Justice on behalf of Fred Temple, 21-year-old youth sentenced to death here Saturday for the murder of Constable Colin McGregor. Announcement to this effect was made by Temple's counsel, Fred R. Barnum of Aylmer, to-day.

The application will be accompanied by a petition which will be put into circulation at once. No decision has yet been made for similar action in the case of the father, Frank Temple, also sentenced to die June 27 for McGregor's death.

Reports from Elgin jail say young Temple continues as cool and collected as during his trial, but the father is showing the effects of the terrible strain to some extent. The special guards have been named as death watch by Sheriff Cameron. They work in four-hour shifts during day and night.

FIVE YEARS FOR SHOOTING

TORONTO—Joseph M. Kwiakowski, 44, alias Kary, convicted last week of shooting his wife with intent to maim, was today sentenced to five years in Kingston penitentiary by Judge I. M. Macdonnell. The couple originally came from Barrie, Ont.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

King George Hunts Tigers on His Visit to India

AMID all the pomp and ceremony attending his visit to India after the Coronation the King found time to indulge in his favorite pastime—shooting.

King George has been many time called the second best shot in England. He more than proved his accuracy in Nepal while tiger hunting. He accounted for 24 of the 39 tigers that fell before the guns of the royal hunting party.

For just a month celebrations were held in India for the King-Emperor and the Queen-Empress. On January 19, 1912, they sailed home from Bombay with the cheers of all India ringing in their ears.

There were many reverberations of the Kings visit; he had proclaimed several constitutional changes in the Indian government, just at a time when the home government was in lengthy debate on the subject. The King had committed the government and forced them to adjust things. The changes were popular in India; they tended to strengthen the government and ease the oppression of certain influences on the masses.

More than anything else, the visit resulted in a wave of loyalty on the part of the Indian people who had previously shown some resentment toward British rule.

The King and Queen had been able to undo much of this. It was their first major role as monarchs of the empire.

Though Europe was peaceful and quiet when the King and Queen returned in 1912, there was an undercurrent of strife approaching; statesmen were worried; Germany was making many suspicious moves.

Again the King was called upon to play a role which, although it failed in its purpose, it nevertheless showed his passionate desire to keep peace in Europe—just as his father, Edward the Peacemaker, before him. The King was called upon to visit the Kaiser.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Lent is not only an ecclesiastical season but because it is springtime, is an excellent period for both pagan and Christian to ease the burden on the digestive system. "Fasting" must not lower vitality—food must be stimulating and nourishing. A good soup will round out the meatless meal and when it has a fine, creamy body, is highly nutritious.

* * * * * * *

Neither white sauces nor thickeners are needed in these recipes to give bisques or chowders their smooth, fine texture. Minute tapioca has stepped from the pudding and ice cream shelf right into the soup ingredients. Those little pearly particles that cook in five minutes bind these delicious soups perfectly.

* * * * * * *

OYSTER BISQUE

4 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 1 teaspoon salt; dash of paprika; dash of cayenne; 4 cups milk; 1 cup oysters, cut in pieces; 4 tablespoons butter.

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, cayenne, paprika, and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point (allow 5 to 7 minutes) and cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add oysters and butter; reheat. Serves 4 to 6.

* * * * * * *

SALMON BISQUE

1 tablespoon quick-cooking tapioca; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; ⅛ teaspoon paprika; 1 tablespoon minced onion; 2 cups milk; 1 cup water or salmon stock; 1 cup flaked salmon; 1 tablespoon chopped parsley; 2 tablespoons butter; ½ cup cream, whipped.

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, salt, pepper, paprika, onion, milk, and water or salmon stock in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point (allow 5 to 7 minutes) and cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add salmon, parsley, and butter; reheat. Serve with whipped cream on top of each serving. Serves 4 to 6.

SHRIMP AND CELERY CHOWDER

1 cup diced celery; 1 cup stock or 1 cup water and 2 bouillon cubes (chicken flavor); 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; ½ teaspoon salt; dash of cayenne; ¾ cups diced cooked potatoes; 3 cups milk; 1 cup diced shrimp; 3 tablespoons butter; 6 pilot biscuits or hard crackers.

Cook celery in stock 5 minutes; combine with quick-cooking tapioca salt, cayenne, potatoes, and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point (allow 5 to 7 minutes), and cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add shrimp and butter; reheat. Before serving place pilot biscuit on top of each portion. Serves 6.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: Some time ago, you mentioned that you do not approve of the use of ice on the face. I always thought the ice was excellent for astringent purposes. Would you please tell me just why you do not approve of its use?

"MARILYN."

Ice is indeed astringent in its action upon the skin. But in my opinion the use of ice is far too drastic a measure for the tender facial skin. In the first place, the frequent use of ice is somewhat drying to the skin, and may cause the appearance of tiny, fine lines. In the second place, the shock of the sudden, extreme cold may cause unsightly little broken capillaries. And in the third place, the constant intense cold may even induce a condition of facial neuralgia. If you've been using ice on your face, I'd suggest that you substitute a mild astringent. A good astringent will close the pores and tone up the skin as effectively as the ice, but will not have any of its detrimental effects.

"Dear Miss Glad: I certainly owe you a large vote of thanks for the assistance you've rendered me through your 'New Figure' booklet. I've been following the reducing course in that booklet of yours, you see, and have lost about 31 pounds all told. Even my severest critics are forced to admit that my present figure lines are close to perfection. However, I've another problem. I recently got a permament wave, but it is very kinky. Is there anything I can do to eliminate this kinkiness? LINDA."

There are a number of effective things that you can do to make your permanent wave softer and less kinky. Daily vigorous brushing of your hair, in the first place, will make the hair more tractable. It will distribute the natural oil evenly over each hair, and will help to soften the wave. Then, hot oil shampoos and softening vinegar rinses will also help to make the waves flatter and less kinky. And if, in addition, you set your hair in wide, loose waves after each time that you shampoo it, it will eventually become trained to retain a smooth, even wave.

"Dear Miss Glad: I know that you always advice that the hair be given vigorous brushing treatments each day. My hair, however, is very oily, and I was told that brushing treatments will only increase the oiliness. Is this true? Or would you advise me to continue giving my hair brushing treatments each day? ANNA."

I certainly would advise you to give your hair vigorous brushing treatments each day. Oiliness results when the glands in the scalp relax and overflow. The hair becomes dark and lifeless because the oil, which should flow normally through the hair, comes out at the scalp and is wasted. The brushings will distribute the oil of the scalp down the length of the hair, and may even help to remove some of the excess oil. In addition, the circulation in the scalp will be stimulated, the hair roots nourished and the oil glands assisted in regaining their normal functioning.

PENNY BANK HAS LARGER DEPOSIT

King Edward School Leads With Number of Pupils Depositing.

45 PER CENT. DEPOSITORS.

An increase in Penny Bank deposits in Public Schools of Peterborough and vicinity is reported for the months of January and Febuary this year. At the end of February, a total of $16,373.97 was on deposit compared with $15,795.66 at the same time last year.

The average weekly percentages of pupils depositing in local schools during the two months this year were as follows: King Edward, 68; Queen Alexandra, 65; South Central, 54; King George, 43; Confederation, 42; May, 38; Queen Mary, 38; Central, 34; and Prince of Wales, 33.

With an average of 45 per cent. for the entire local group of schools, Peterborough was well down the list in comparison with other schools of the province and yet above the provincial average, 35 per cent. A total of 475 schools in Ontario had a total sum of $1,286,044.53 during February.

MAKES NO APOLOGY PREACHING GOSPEL

Capitol Theatre Crowded to Hear "Catchy" Titled Address.

The auditorium of the Capitol Theatre was again crowded last evening for the Revival Crusade meeting held under the auspices of the Park Street Baptist church, and addressed by the Rev. H. L. Stephens, evangelist.

Opening the service the Rev. C. D. Daniel, pastor of Mark Street Church led the gathering in the singing of gospel hymns, while the Rev. G. K. Tyler, pastor of Park Street Church where services are being continued nightly throughout the present week, offered prayer and made several announcements pertaining to the Rev. Stephen's mission.

The service of praise was augmented by the combined mixed choirs of Park Street and Mark Street churches, and by the appearance of a male quartette from the latter.

"Five Fools in Peterborough — Who Are They? Their Names Will Be Given", such was the advertised subject of the Rev. Mr. Stephen's address, which albeit did not as might be anticipated deal with any particular individual personalities resident here.

The Rev. Mr. Stephens who did not appear on the platform until after the preliminaries, were over, and it was time for him to address the gathering commenced his message by stating: "I do not apologise to any man or woman or any fool for preaching the Gospel".

Commenting on the successs of his mission which he has been conducting here over a period of weeks the speaker urged, "we should do just a little more than we have been doing and get out of our circumscribed shells in order to learn how fully and how wonderfully the Lord will bless us".

Announcing the subject of his address, the Rev. Mr. Stephens quoted a passage from the Scriptures which cautioned against the use of the word 'fool' in its application towards a fellow human being. On the other hand, he pointed out there was a great deal in the Bible regarding the word 'fool'.

Webster, he stated, defined a 'fool' as being a person of deficient intellect, but the Biblical dictionary gave it a much more portentous definition.

A fool according to the Biblical dictionary is an egotistical, rash, unbelieveing and absurd person who treats the teachings of the Bible with irreverant disregard.

He was not necessarily a person lacking in intellect, on the contrary he was all too often a person of high intellectual attainment, but who was reasoning wrongly. In this connection, the speaker mentioned such names as Ingersoll, Shelly, Hare and Payne, atheistic thinkers.

"Hell is filled with men who have reasoned, but who have reasoned wrongly", the Rev. Mr. Stephens declared.

The speaker proceeded to categorise different classes of fools, mentioning the unbelieving fool; the scorning fool; the adulterous fool; the procrastinating fool; and the grasping fool.

"I tell you there is a God; there is a Jesus; there is a judgment day; and there is a heaven and a hell", he declared.

Speaking briefly in general terms, of licentiousness and adultery, the speaker charged, "there is lots of it here in Peterborough!"

"Two-thirds of the young men who follow the dance", he contended, "go there to satisfy their lust".

U.S. POWER COMMISSION PROPOSES NEW PLANTS

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Early construction of new electric generating plants costing at least $300,000,000 was advocated by the United States Power Commission in a survey published today. It said the plants were needed to prevent a 'critical' power shortage.

"The critical shortage of existing generating capacity most seriously affects the great industrial districts of the east and middle west," the commission reported.

"It would, therefore, be disastrous in case the United States should become involved in war."

GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENTS.

While it has been generally realized that level crossing accidents have played a tragic part in Ontario's motor death roll, it will be surprising perhaps to learn from the latest report of the Department of Highways that driving the past four and one-half years there have been 536 such accidents in this province, causing the death of 225 persons.

In each of the last three years, the department reports, there has been a decrease in the number of accidents and deaths from the totals of the previous year, but with thirteen deaths recorded during the first two months of 1935 as compared with two during the same period of last year there appears to be a likelihood of a substantial increase in the toll of accidents of this type when the total for the year is compiled.

It is worthy of note that over 25 per cent. of the level crossing accidents of the past four and a half years have occurred at crossings where gates or other protective devices had been installed.

As the official report points out, with over seventy per cent. of the accidents happening at unguarded crossings, it is evident that lack of protection is dangerous, but the mishaps at guarded crossings show, on the other hand, that there are many motorists who still fail to realize the danger such locations represent, and despite warnings or other safety measures, take needless chances.

AN INTERESTING TEST.

While the authorities in most instances refuse to charge a driver with being drunk unless he is obviously incapable of taking care of himself, it is becoming more and more apparent that a motorist need not be helplessly drunk before his ability to drive safely, has become lessened as a result of drinking.

In this connection Curtis Billing, of the United States National Council, calls attention to some interesting experiments recently conducted by two Danish professors who have been testing the effect of alcohol on human judgment and alertness.

One hundred students were selected for the investigation, and half of them were given alcohol equivalent to three cocktails, the other fifty having no liquor.

In one of the tests two iron bars were suspended in front of the students, and these were struck with a hammer so that they would fall and each student was required to reach out and grasp these bars as they dropped.

The height of the fall was carefully measured as a fair proof of how quickly the brain acted, and as a result it was found that the students who had had no liquor showed 17 per cent. quicker reaction than the other group, while several other tests revealed as high as 60 per cent. more alertness on the part of the non-drinker.

The inference is justified that in an emergency while driving a car the man who has been drinking, even while he is not drunk, would be a second or a fraction of a second too slow in braking his car or in swerving to avert a collision, and at the usual rate of speed that slightly slower reaction would be enough to cause an accident.

FUR FARMING A GREAT INDUSTRY.

The annual report on the fur farms of Canada just issued at Ottawa shows how rapid and substantial has been the progress of this comparatively new industry.

Although the first case of successful fox breeding in captivity was reported from Prince Edward Island in 1878, it was not until a decade or more after that fur farming really showed much growth in that province, rapidly rising fur prices after 1900 proving the impetus that started the industry on its way.

A census in 1913 showed Prince Edward Island as possessing 277 fox farms with a total of 3,130 foxes. Meanwhile other provinces were getting in the game, Quebec in 1898, Ontario in 1905 and Nova Scotia a year later.

In 1933, which is the last year for which full statistics are available, there were 5,507 fox farms in Canada, with a total of 109,362 foxes, of which by far the greatest number were silver foxes.

Although the fox is of chief importance, other kinds of wild fur-bearing animals are being raised successfully—mink, raccoon, marten, fisher and fitch. The mink, in particular, is easily domesticated, and thrives in captivity if care is exercised in the selection of environment and proper attention given to its requirements in the matter of diet. There are now 577 mink farms distributed among the various provinces, and mink farming in Canada may well be regarded as permanently established. Muskrat farming also is a branch of the industry to which attention is being directed, and numerous areas of marsh land are being utilized for raising this fur-bearer. The farming of muskrats consists chiefly of making provision for an adequate food supply for the animals and in giving protection from their natural enemies, i.e., hawks, owls, etc. On many of the muskrat farms the areas have been enclosed with strong wire fencing.

In 1933 the total number of fur farms of the miscellaneous class, i.e., farms on which various kinds of fur-bearing animals, exclusive of foxes, are raised, was 966 compared with a total of 1,075 in 1932. Many of the fox farms, also, engage in what may be termed "mixed fur farming," raising miscellaneous kinds of fur-bearing animals in addition to the foxes.

THERE WILL BE ANOTHER YEAR.

R. C. Berkinshaw, a member of the board of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, and Horace L. Brittain, director of that organization, have addressed a most timely open letter to the mayors, controllers, aldermen and municipal taxpayers of Canada in which the much needed warning is given that the municipalities must refrain from damaging their credit by ill-considered actions if they expect to escape greater evils in the future.

Too many municipal governments are acting at the present time as if they need not expect to ever raise another dollar by borrowing, and that therefore they can dodge their responsibilities to their creditors with impunity, and therefore this pointed and pertinent communication from the Citizens' Research Institute deserves every consideration:

It reads as follows:

"So far as you and we know, there will be another year after this year. As intelligent men and women, we must act in the light of this belief and would have to so act even if we had reliable information to the contrary. It behooves us, therefore, to take no action which will handicap ourselves or our descendants in future years. Steps might be taken in two days, the evil effects of which might not be wiped out in two centuries.

"Credit is not merely an abstract term. It is a quality which attaches to an individual, an institution or a government as the result of past action, reputation for good faith, willingness to pay up to the limit of ability and, to a relatively small degree, the value of the assets technically available to creditors. If past action has been such as to heap up liabilities beyond ability to pay, and if present action leads to a suspicion of bad faith or of unwillingness to use present and future resources to meet, so far as possible, the debts which have been contracted, credit vanishes and investments flee to safer uses and more reliable and intelligent jurisdictions.

"If there were to be no future year, it would not make so much difference as to whether or not debts were paid and contracts honored—so far as this life is concerned. But a person or authority with lost or impaired credit must, during the period of the loss or impairment, failing the ability of self-financing, either be deprived of fundamental services and the possibility of making replacements and extensions or have to pay so much for them in interest charges as to add seriously to current burdens. When governments or municipalities without the concurrence of their creditors express a determination not to meet their liabilities even up to the limit of their ability, as some are doing, the whole basis of both private and public finance is shaken. A government's promise to pay is physically only a piece of engraved and printed paper. By fiat, a government, of a municipality with government's assent or active co-operation, may deny the use by its creditor of available assets of itself as debtor. It may hold and use its assets, without lowering its scale of living, and say to the creditor, "Well, what are you going to do about it?" If and when this comes to pass, creditors will have something to say and do about future investments at least.

"In most cities still budgets may be balanced, at least after an adjustment period, without serious reduction in important services and without reduction in civic salary and wage scales below the rate of reduction in income obtaining among taxpayers—if there be a will to do so. The balancing of the budget actually or constructively is the first and most convincing evidence of good faith which a municipality can show. Having made this demonstration, creditors will be found not only human but accommodating.

"Many of the people in the world now seem to have adopted a very cynical attitude toward guarantees and contracts. The widespread character of this cynicism among both governed and governing is alarming to many patriotic citizens who, of course, have not a purely selfish interest in the matter.

"If general sanity in fiscal matters does not soon return, incalculable and irreparable damage may be done. This is our country, not to throw away and ruin but to build up and enjoy.

"It is true that many citizens, influential and otherwise, have played an active part in bringing about present conditions, but if and when a debacle comes, this will be forgotten. The accomplice before the fact will have become a determined accuser, and being legion, will have his way. Not all creditors are grasping. Not all debtors are cynical. Is there not sufficient saving grace in the citizens of Canada to preserve what was worth while in old standards while making the necessary concessions to human frailty and human need?"

THE SANCTITY OF CONTRACTS.

In an article in the "Maple Leaf," the house organ of the Montreal Life Insurance Company, under the caption, "The Sanctity of Contracts," the statement is made that it has become the fashion lately to make light of the sanctity of contracts.

This ultra-modern tendency, the article proceeds, originated in Germany, but that it should spread to Canada has been an unthinkable thing. "Every self-respecting citizen of Canada will hang his head in shame, if any governing body in this country should repudiate its contracts. There is a difference between default and repudiation. Default because of utter inability to pay is not dishonest. Repudiation is rank dishonesty. The man who keeps his word is respected and trusted. The nation that holds inviolate its agreements commands the respect and confidence of all mankind. Great Britain is such a nation. Being a British Dominion, Canada has been regarded as a country of similar character. Canadian securities have held up during recent years, because of this confidence in the high character of the Canadian people. Any shaking of this confidence will do untold damage to the credit of the whole country.

"Canada is a debtor country, that is, it owes more than is owed to it. Canada needs foreign capital for development of natural resources. Canada needs to maintain its credit with foreign investors. Canada will not be able to pay off its debts to foreign countries as they mature. There will be the necessity of floating refunding loans. What will be our position, if the foreign investor says: 'We dare not trust you again, we are afraid you may repudiate your obligations. We feel there is risk in lending money to you, therefore we can do it only at a much higher rate of interest.'

"The restoration of confidence is vitally necessary to the resumption of normal business activities. Are we not justified in looking to our legislators to uphold the honor and dignity of the country, to maintain its high credit, enhance its reputation, and to lead us onto the firm road of peaceful prosperity?"

There are few who will not agree with the sentiments expressed in these paragraphs, but on the other hand general repudiation of contracts by important governing bodies is not likely to occur and anxiety on this score may be a little premature.—Monetary Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It seems to be an era of hockey nationalism as well as of economic nationalism. The Stanley Cup series is to be an all-Canadian affair.

The Hydro warfare over the air is to be continued to-night when the other side of the argument is to be heard.

An early announcement as to the approximate date of the federal election would be generally appreciated especially by those who are making holiday plans.

BATH TUBS FOR COMPANY

Dear Editor:

I am writing in regard to a five-foot bath tub in all these highway camps both in Peterborough County and Haliburton County and all adjoining counties where highway camps are in operation. We want bath tubs and not a wash tub as wash tubs were intended for washing clothes in and not for taking baths out of. Any person with common sense would know that. If there was a five-foot bath tub installed in every highway camp there wouldn't be any excuse for a person not taking a bath at least once a week.

It is once every two weeks in the County House of Refuge and these highway camps are just as much in need of the same as the County House of Refuge. These camps come under the Ontario Government and the Northern Development. And how about one or two more things such as a small tub for washing socks. A person's feet are a stinking thing at any time and more so when wearing rubbers. There should be good strict camp rules so when the lights go out at nine o'clock all talking is cut out. If they don't obey these orders they should receive a call from the time office and be handed their time and go home and sober up on common sense.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns?

by FRANK H. WILLIAMS

GASPE, QUEBEC

The village of Gaspe, the first spot in Canada on which Cartier set foot in 1534, last year celebrated with great pomp the four hundredth anniversary of its foundation.

A centre of historic Canadian interest, it was visited by Gen. Wolfe in 1758, who sent ashore a detachment of troops that destroyed the town, at that time a hamlet of 300 souls.

Place in a natural amphitheatre, slightly resembling the promontory of Quebec, it is village of surpassing beauty. Although it searly associations revolved around the French, today the population is mostly English-speaking.

A MAN OF CHARACTER

Sometimes, when I hear men and women discussing human character, I think of an old innkeeper who used to live in the lovely Napa Valley.

He was famous, that old fellow, and proud of his fame. He wished nothing more than to keep an inn to the last day of his life, a place of perfect service in which he might prepare and sell the best of food and enjoy the delight of his guests. ....That was enough for him, and he was an artist in his profession.

Yet he had one annoyance, and it ranked deeply....Not many miles away was a well known sanitarium. And to this place came men and women, rather often, who had dined too well and abused their bodies and were suffering from diabetes. Part of their treatment was to eat carefully, to abstain from rich food and drink. If they did not do this, if they violated the orders of their physician, their chances of getting well were almost nothing....This was before the days of insulin, and they knew they were not supposed to enter the old innkeeper's place.

But some of them were weak. Their appetites were stronger than their characters. Friends would call for them in fine automobiles to take them for a drive in the valley, and they would come to the old man's inn. He could spot them the moment they entered by a greedy and defiant look in their eyes.... And he DESPISED them. He knew that this good food of his was poison to them. He knew they were not enjoying his meals as free and healthy as joyous mortals, but as doomed men and women who were too weak to do what was right. So he suffered and grumbled and was as rude as he dared to be. He felt cheapened by their presence, and when they were there—eating his roasts and his pastries and drinking his good red wine, he wished he were anything else but an innkeeper.

But by that noble contempt he showed forth the sturdy character that proved the old innkeeper a man.

UNUSUAL PROGRAM JANETVILLE Y.P.S.

Members Enjoy Mock Trial Staged By Mount Horeb Young People.

JANETVILLE, April 1.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—An unusually large crowd of young people congregated at the United church on Monday evening, March 25th, for the presentation by the Y.P.S. of Mount Horber of a most humorously entertaining 'Mock Trial.'

The trial resulted from Rod Porter being accused by John Coldwell of running into his horse and buggy with a car while coming down the hill at Mount Horber near the school when returning from Dave McGahey's Hallowe'en party. It was alleged that the buggy was smashed, the arm of Grace Coulter, the lady companion of the plaintiff badly fractured and several of Coldwell's ribs broken. Five hundred dollars' worth of damages were claimed. Mr. O. Gandy acted in the capacity of judge, while Mr. Bob McAlpine took the part of district attorney. The defence's lawyer, Mr. Tom Moore, the sheriff, Mrs. Vincent Hickson, the court clerk, Allan Deyell, the court stenographer, Thelma Coulter, and the court crier, Rev. Wolfraim.

The Witnesses.

Witnesses for the plaintiff were: John Coldwell, Annie Ingram, Grace Coulter, Ross Parks, Doctor C. Parks and Fred Coulter. Witnesses for the defence were: Rod Porter, car driver, Marjorie Parks, Thelma Hickson, Reta Deyell, Elmer Parks, Frank Deyell and Jim Budd.

The jury included: Miss Marjorie Robinson, Mrs. Vern Bell, Mrs. Clem Parks, Mrs. Orval Grandy, Messrs. Harry Reynolds, Billie McAlpine, Vincent Hickson and Henry Skuce. The jurors experienced extreme difficulty in refraining from indulging in a peaceful slumber during the presentation of the case. One member snored deeply while her purse slid to the floor, where its contents was scattered. In another case the member herself dropped from her chair. On the appearance of a mouse the lady members of the jury frantically climbed upon their chairs. After much deliberation the verdict of "not guilty" was announced.

After this unusually interesting program the visiting artists were served dainty luncheon and the evening was considered a huge success in every way.

A cross has been erected at Marche les Dames, Namur, Belgium, where King Albert was found fatally injured on February 17, 1934, after a fall while rock climbing.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

ARE YOU A GOWK OR A FISH TO-DAY?

April 1 has from time immemorial been All Fool's Day. Why? That is a question not easy to answer. Its origin lies somewhere in the backwaters of the history of old Europe, for it was not introduced into England until the 18th century, but once there its observance spread rapidly, probably from the mere fact that when April comes in England one wants to get out into the country and get exuberant and for those who were unable to travel afield to pick primroses, the opportunity to let off the spring fever was to make a fool out of those nearest and dearest to one, in a harmless way of course.

Many, many moons ago there were young folks who sat up nights planning new April fool's tricks to be sprung as early as possible, at breakfast generally, and though English folk are not noted for taking jokes easily it was always different on the first of April. It was all very jolly and very simple and the fooling had to be done before noon or it was of no avail.

There are many famous April fool's jokes perpetuated in history. Perhaps the most famous is that perpetrated by Thomas Hood, the immortal son of the great poet of the same name who, at a meeting in the Savage Club the home of so many literary geniuses, proposed on the night of March 31, that a telegram should be sent to a politician then much in the public eye by reason of his moral crusading: "Fly. All is discovered." The next day there was a missing politician and a vacancy in the House of Commons. That is one case where an April Fool prank was no joke to the victim.

Historical explanations of the fooling on April 1 are quite varied. One man tells us that the custom came from India centuries ago; another that it is a relic of the time when in calendar reform the new year was transferred from April onto January 1 and the joke makers brought "New Year's gifts"; others that it is a survival of folk lore in France whence it was carried to Scotland by some of the gay lads who fought for France when there was no fighting to do at home. In France, and in French Canada, the victim of a joke on this date is called "un poisson d'Avril". In Scotland he or she is a gowk, the local word for a cuckoo, reputed to be the most foolish of birds. So take my advice: Don't be a gowk or an April fish today!

BAILIEBORO SEES MOCK PARLIAMENT

United Church Y.P.S. Stages Opening Session of Ontario Legislature.

BAILIEBORO, April 1 (Examiner Correspondence)— The young peoples meeting in the United Church on Wednesday evening was very largely attended, when a mock parliament was staged and an opening session of the Ontario Legislature carried on.

The speech from the throne included the following items. To forbid marriage of people not really in love. To compel farmers to have an eight hour day. To provide agricultural courses in winter for young men and home economic courses in summer for young ladies. Providing compulsory attendance at Sunday School the same as day schools. To build modern beer parlors in all villages. To provide an artificial ice arena with hot dog stands for subzero athletics. To increase revenues by a tax on all unmarried people over 29 years of age. To build church halls with a small lawn. To provide hydro for farmers and towns-people at a flat rate for all. To compel all entertainments to close at eleven o'clock to allow sufficient sleep for one and all.

The Cabinet

Mr. Fred White acted as Lieutenant-Governor and read the speech.

Rev. E. M. Cook was elected speaker; sergeant at arms, Errol Barnard; pages, Ileen Thompson and Lena Hawley; Premier, Herb Dean; Provincial Treasurer, W. Lang; Minister of Agriculture, A. Watt; Minister of Education, Miss A. Barnard; Minister of Public Works, G. Stuart; Minister of Hydro, Miss W. Gainer; Minister of Welfare, Miss B. Barnard; Minister of Crown Lands, Mrs. N. Thompson; Minister of Highways, M. B. Perrin; Attorney General, F. Barnard; clerk, G. Dean.

Aylmer Dawson led the opposition group and those taking part in the items brought forth from the speech were Mrs. W. Lang, Mrs. M. Perrin, Miss D. Dawson, Miss C. Seens, Mr. S. Johnston, Miss A. Heaslip Mr. P. Barnard, Miss W. Watt, Miss May Earl.

Milton Jewison and Harland Seens were Government whips.

During the opening session Mr. P. Barnard lead in prayer and a duet by Miss Frances Watt and Leslie Griffith "Alone" was greatly enjoyed.

"What difference would this make in the aggregate of the estate," asked Mr. Justice Makins.

"About $6,000," replied Mr. Donnan.

"The estate apparently aggregates about $65,000," said his lordship.

Scottsboro Negroes To Get Third Trial

WASHINGTON, April 1 (A.P.).—A third trial was ordered by the United States Supreme Court today in the case of death sentences imposed on Clarence Norris and Haywood Patterson, Negroes, convicted of assaulting a white woman near Scottsboro, Ala.

The opinion was delivered by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

The Negroes, centre of litigation since 1931, contended they had been deprived of constitutional rights because they were indicted by a grand jury and found guilty by a trial jury from which members of their race had been systematically excluded.

During arguments before the Supreme Court, counsel for the defendants asserted that names of Negroes had been "forged" to the jury rolls of Jackson County after the indictments had been returned.

LIGHT DECLINES IN INDUSTRIALS

Recessions Predominate in Construction, Utility and Bank Issues.

OILS-FOODS FIRM.

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.). — The industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange opened the month with a dribble of selling that sent prices to a lower price level, losses appearing mainly in small fractions. Oils, foods and steels maintained an appearance of strength while recessions predominated in the construction, utility, and bank issues. Bell Telephone was particularly soft, dropping three points to 122½.

Nickel closed with a fraction on the up side, while small losses were registered for Brazilian and C.P.R. A few of the foods worked higher including Canada Bread A and Consolidated Bakeries and in the steels the Canadian Car and Foundry stocks were up ½ to ¾ on the report orders might be placed soon for railway equipment on the financial backing of the Federal Government.

United Fuel Preferred lost a half-point. Losses in the miscellaneous group were registered for Riverside Silk. Imperial Tobacco and F. N. Burt. The Dominion Tar issues lost ground, the Common dropping and the Preferred 4 points.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.) — Cattle prices bounded higher on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon as the division, under active trading, registered gains of 15 to 25 cents.

Calves and sheep continued firm while Ontario feed-lot lambs were steady, but hogs and Western lambs failed to settle.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 3,620; calves, 520; hogs, 1,160; sheep and lambs, 1,820.

Choice weighty steers brought $6.50 to $7.60, while plain sold down to $5.50. Good and choice butchers made $5.75 to $6.25, with a few tops at $6.50. Common butchers went down to $4.25. Good cows sold mostly at $3.75 to $4.25, with a few up to $4.50. Canners and cutters brought $1.50 to $2.25. Bulls sold mostly at $3 to $3.50, with one at $3.75. Choice fed calves were active at $6.75 to $7.25, with two at $7.50. Medium sold down to $5.25.

A few light stockers made $4 to $4.60.

The calf division held steady at $7 to $7.50 for choice vealers and at $4 to $5 for common, light kinds. Sheep were also steady at $3.50 to $4 cwt., with culls at $1.50.

Hogs were still unsettled with packers' bids steady at last week's close of $7.60 f.o.b., for bacons; $8 off truck, and $8.55 off car. Ontario feed-lot lambs were steady at $7, but the 1,400 head of Westerns did not sell.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES.

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.). — Gains of 25 cents on bacon hog prices were made at Hull and London to-day, while Stratford registered a 10-cent advance. Peterborough 15 cents, and other reported market points held unchanged. To-day's prices:

Barrie $7.60, Kitchener $7.75, London $7.75, Stratford $7.75, Peterborough $7.75, Brantford $8.00, Hull $8.26.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—After a moderate upward flurry in today's early stock market dealings, the equities list turned extremely dull in late trading. Initial improvement was led by the rails, which reflected the granting of rate increase by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the final hour most of the carriers pared morning advances of fractions to a point or more. Santa Fe, Union Pacific, and N.Y. Central were among the best. Coca-Cola got up a point, but National Biscuit lost as much. The closing tone was steady. Transfers approximated only 450,000.

MAYOR IS SENT THREAT LETTER

Note to Hamilton Official Threatens Force to Equalize Relief.

SEND WILTON TO MOSCOW.

HAMILTON, April 1 (C.P.). — Mayor H. E. Wilton has handed over to the police a threatening letter left at his office when he was in Montreal last week.

The epistle was written in a foreign language, but an interpretation revealed the writer and his friends were "prepared with plenty of ammunition and not afraid of the police" in the effort which they were ready to make to have relief equalized, to enjoy the fat of the land "like the big lords," and to see Mayor Wilton went to Moscow after a short preparatory term on city relief.

The missive was signed "Nam Prinka."

"I wish they had the courage to come up here and meet me personally," the Mayor said. "I'll guarantee not to put the police after them then. I'm quite satisfied with what I could do to them myself. It's time we loaded them on a train and shipped them out of the country. They should never have been let in here in the first place."

The writer of the letter said he and his friends wanted everything of the best this summer. "We'll take the office jobs and you, Mayor Wilton, will go on relief and then to Moscow," the document said. "We are ready for a good time, the same as other gentlemen, not to depend on relief and on the Mayor."

POLAND READY TO REDUCE ARMY

Willing Providing Others Do—Oppose Security Pact in Present Form.

WELCOME READY FOR EDEN

WARSAW, April 1 (A.P.).—A Foreign Office spokesman said to-day Poland will be interested in any modification of the proposed eastern European security pact which Capt. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, may suggest after he arrives here to-night, but is opposed to the proposal in its present form.

"If the others disarm," said the spokesman, "we will reduce our army." He placed the size of the Polish army at about 250,000 men, although unofficial estimates have mentioned 600,000 men.

The streets of the capital were decorated with flags in preparation for the British emissary's arrival to-night. Eden will talk directly with Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, the Polish leader.

JEWESS PREACHES IN ANGLICAN CHURCH

LONDON, April 1 (CP-Havas) — British church circles were discussing to-day the first appearance of a Jewess preaching in an Anglican church. This unprecedented event took place last night at St. Bartholomew's Church at East Ham when Miss Olga Levertov, former marathon dancer, occupied the pulpit.

Miss Levertov was invited to preach by the Rev. H. O. Hodson. He received the permission of the Bishop of Chelmsford and the Parochial Church Council.

BASE METAL ISSUES FIRM

Golds Hold Steady in Small Turnover on Toronto Mining Section.

BOARD TRADE SMALLER.

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.).—Base metal and silver stocks were firm without showing much action, and the golds held steady on small turnover to-day on the mining section of the Toronto exchange. Expectation that the Ontario Government would show its attitude within a few days on the question of a provincial tax on gold production, had a tendency to reduce trade in the yellow metal stocks. Trade over the board was smaller than the recent average.

In the senior golds, Bralorne came back to 5.25 and narrow gains were boarded for Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves. Higher prices ruled for Hudson Bay, Noranda and Falconbridge. Eldorado and Nipissing silver closed about 5 cents up.

The penny group harbored a few weak spots, including Kirkland Lake, Read Authier and Gunnar.

CUSTOM RETURN UP $91,614.75

Receipts Show Marked Increase Over Every Month of Previous Year.

MARCH $75,570.86.

Custom receipts here showed a marked increase during the fiscal year, closed at the end of March, as compared with the previous year. The increase for the past fiscal year over the previous one was $91,614.75. Figures for the fiscal year just closed total $934,261.22, while the total for 1933 was $842,646.47.

The receipts have shown a marked increase month by month as the following table shows:

MINING STOCKS

A daily column which answers the Queries on Mining Stocks that are of general interest to Examiner readers.

McMILLAN GOLD MINES

Query.—I would appreciate your giving me any information you can regarding McMillan Gold Mines. The market price of the shares has been weak lately and I am wondering if I should take my loss now.—J. N. P.

Answer.—McMillan Gold Mines started its new 125 ton mill about September 1st and to the end of 1934 treated 12,313 tons of ore valued at approximately $67,400 in Canadian funds. This is an average recovery of $5.50 per ton and an average daily milling rate of about 100 tons.

All of the ore that has been treated to date has come from above the 500 foot level primarily because the 625 foot is not yet sufficiently developed to permit stoping operations. All indications point to the 625 foot level as being the best one developed to date. The official estimate of ore reserves last published was 53,940 tons averaging .4 ounces per ton. Actual recovery to the end of the year was .155 ounces per ton. This great discrepancy between recovery and anticipated grade according to the estimated reserves, is doubtlessly reflected in the weakness for the shares in the market.

More recently there has been a considerable improvement in the grade of ore treated and officials state that current mill heads are about .29 ounces per ton which, allowing for tailing losses, would have a value of approximately $9.40 per ton. Obviously, the grade of ore is close to the margin of initial production costs and can be explained partially by dilution in mining which has lowered the grade.

I regard the operation as having good management and there is indication that as time goes on there is a chance of the company working out of the troubles that now confront it. There seems to be little doubt that milling operations were started before the mine was really developed and opened up to the point where it could sustain production and, if this initial period of production can be successfully withstood with the limited finances of the company, future operations will be more profitable.

BANKE KILLS WIFE, SELF.

SEATTLE, April 1 (A.P.).—Police said to-day Willard M. Perkins, 70, Chicago banker, shot and killed his 65-year-old wife, then shot himself to death. Illness, police said, was the reason for the shootings.

1,200 Men Employed In Electric Plant

The Peterborough plant of the Canadian General Electric Co., Limited, has now 1,200 employees at work as compared with 1,050 a year ago, according to the information reaching Financial Service from an official source. This also compares with the minimum number of employees during the depression, of 860 in the early part of March, 1933.

The larger number of employees is due to increased production of electric refrigerators, motors and small apparatus. Production in connection with Beauharnois generator contract is only moderately greater than under existing contracts with the said commission, and contrary to the Power Commission Act and and without regard to the provisions of the British North America Act."

It added the contracts obliged the commission to purchase over long period of time "large quantities of power generated without the Province of Ontario regardless of whether or not the said power was desired or could be used by the said municipalities."

Further, the bill declared, "the said commission has made payments of large sums of money under the said alleged contracts and has illegally charged the cost of the same against certain municipal corporations and has thereby so increased the cost of power as to threaten industry within the province and to cause unemployment."

The bill goes on to state all the contracts "are hereby declared to be and always to have been illegal, void and unenforceable as against the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario."

Overseas Markets

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

OTTAWA, April 1.—(C.P.)—Butter was quiet and cheese easier on the United Kingdom market this week, states a cable received today by the Department of Agriculture.

Point Anne Workmen Badly Hurt In Fall

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 1. — (C.P.)—Michael McTerrin, 50, laborer at Point Anne, was critically injured shortly before noon to-day when he fell 25 feet while dismantling a cement plant at Point Anne with a number of workmen. He suffered a triple fracture of one leg, severe chest injuries besides internal ones and is not expected to recover.

He was rushed to Belleville Hospital, where he was attended by Dr. E. G. Kennedy, while Rev. J. J. Collins of St. Michael's church, administered the last rites.

"PICCOLO PETE" MURRAY'S IDENTIFICATION STARTS

LONDON, Ont., April 1 (C.P.).—Ten persons viewed "Piccolo Pete" Murray in an identification line-up at the Middlesex County Jail to-day as the Crown began to build up its case against him for the alleged kidnapping of John S. Labatt.

Those of the ten who were able to pick Murray from the line-up will be used against him as prosecution witnesses at his trial. Officials have more witnesses who will visit the jail later.

John Labatt, kidnapped August 14 and held for $150,000 ransom, was not among those who visited the jail. He is said to be in Bermuda, but is expected back in London shortly.

D. F. KELLNER DIES.

EDMONTON, April 1 (C.P.). — Former United Farmers of Alberta member of the House of Commons for East Edmonton and Athabaska ridings and long prominent in the Farmer Party in Alberta, Donald F. Kellner, 56, is dead to-day.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Dr. F. S. McCall, principal of Alberta College, and Rev. Capt. Robert Pearson, an old school friend of Mr. Kellner, and now Provincial motion picture censor, will officiate at the services.

GERMANY CALLS CLASS OF 1915

Total of 8,500,000 Men Reported Likely to be Summoned Eventually for Training.

LUDENDORFF PLAYS PART.

LONDON, April 1 (A.P.). — Unconfirmed British press reports said to-day the German military class of 1915, totalling 580,000 young men would respond to the new conscription law to-day by reporting for their medical examination.

These same reports said a total of 8,500,000 men is likely to be called up eventually for military training in pursuit of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's program to re-establish Germany as a first-line military Power.

It also was reported that General Erich Ludendorff, the veteran strategist of Grear War days, to whom Nazidom recently has extended the olive branch, is to become one of the most influential members of the new "National Council for Defence," the creation of which is soon to be announced.

(In Berlin, official quarters refused to comment upon the British reports that the first contingents of Germany's new conscript army would move into training to-day.)

FINANCIAL NEWS BRIEFS

ACADIA SUGAR.

Although not listed until recently, the stock now being traded in on the unlisted section of the Montreal Curb Market, Acadia Sugar preferred has enjoyed a good demand around 4¾-5. The stock is a $5 par 6 p.c. preferred issue. Arrears of this security at the end of last year totalled 9 per cent. or 45 cents a share, as in addition to regular quarterly dividends there was paid during 1934 6 p.c. on arrears, in 1933, 5 p.c. on arrears was distributed in addition to regular payments. Assuming that the present rate of payments on arrears is continued, they will be cleared up by the middle of next year.

The report for 1934, just made public, revealed earnings on Preferred, after charging regular depreciation and bond interest, equivalent to 58 cents a share as against 96 cents in 1933 and 92 cents in 1932.

EARNINGS IN 1934

Proof of the improvement that occurred in Canadian business in 1934 is to be found in the annual statments of Canadian corporations. An analysis of 154 annual reports reveals that a gross improvement of 73.7% was recorded. Only 25 companies showed lower ernings as compared with 1933, and only 39 reported net losses after all charges for the 1934 fiscal year.

Tornadoes Kill Six In U.S. as March Ends

NEW YORK, April 1 (C.P.). — Spring tornadoes and winter blasts were grim reminders in the United States to-day that March had bowed off the year's calendar with a roar.

Freakish winds and tornadoes took six lives and caused considerable property damage in Mississippi and Texas; winter gripped the northern Rocky Mountain sector and sent cold blasts through the Middle-West; bathers flocked to the southern beaches, while out in the dust belt, farmers and ranchers hoped for rain but saw only familiar billowing clouds of silt and sand.

Moisture-laden clouds hovered over much of the Middle-West today, with light rains reported in Missouri and Eastern Kansas. Streets were flooded at Charleston, in south-eastern Missouri, after a heavy rain. Snow in Western Nebraska, southern Wyoming and parts of Montana clarified the dust-laden air.

FIVE NATIONS TAKE TO AIR CREATE TRADE

Mammoth Cargo and Passenger Planes Hum Round World in Near Future.

Rivalry Between Nations.

By DAVID P. SENTNER, Central Press Canadian Correspondent.

LONDON, March 30.—Wars may start and stop, but the peace-time battle for new commercial markets goes on.

Columbus set out for a shorter route to India; England sent its legions to the far continents to create a gigantic imperial trading system; the world has been probed and charted to its furthest shadow to make new outlets for the products of nations. And now nations take this everlasting fight for new markets into the air.

The drying up of present world markets, due to the economic depression, has opened the battle some years before its time.

In the near future, fleets of mammoth cargo and passenger aeroplanes will be humming across the two great oceans. Perhaps it will prove the fillip, the new twist, to lift a stagnant, creaking industrial world out of the trenches.

Rivalry Between Nations.

They are skirmishing for the peting for a dominating position in the inter-hemisphere aerial trade routes to-day. They are the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy.

They are skirmishing for the routes between Europe and the Americas and the aerial routes to the Far East.

The present struggle for commercial domination of the air recalls the great battle of centuries—the contest for maritime supremacy.

Spain first reigned over the ocean trade lanes to be supplanted by the Dutch and then the British. Those were the days when European nations subsidized their shipping and declared monopolies.

Then came steam, and Great Britain has ruled the waves ever since.

In this new contest among the nations, even as in the maritime struggle, supremacy in the aerial trade lines will be established by high-speed merchant ships of the air, long-distance flying boats.

America blazed the trail with the epic flights of Lindenbergh, Byrd and Chamberlin.

Those early pioneers of oceanic crossings flew for the glory of it. A more substantial reward will accrue to the first nation which operates a standardized flying service across the Atlantic. Great trade advantages will result. Incidentally, a flying merchant marine would enhance the military forces of the victorious nation. Anglo-American Unity Pan American Airways, carrying the colors of the United States, has an agreement with Imperial Airways of Great Britain for the operation of a trans-Atlantic route within the next few years—or sooner.

Great Britain controls Newfoundland and Bermuda, logical bases for either a North Atlantic or South Atlantic route. The Bermuda government has already appropriated money for the construction of an air base for a trans-Atlantic service to be operated jointly by Imperial Airways and Pan American. To those who believe that the salvation of the world rests in the co-operation of the two great English-speaking nations, this commercial agreement is a happy one.

Pan American is now negotiating with the Portuguese government relative to operation rights in the Azores, the second base for any South Atlantic route. The concession for an airport in the Azores was previously allotted to France, but this is understood to have expired.

The American aviation group also has the concession in Greenland and Iceland for operation rights in the event a North Atlantic flying service is developed.

Already Started.

This is important, as the northern route, with its shorter distance, is expected to supplant eventually any southern route established.

It is the consensus of aviation authorities that France, Germany and Italy, in conducting their South American flights, are using this latter field as a training ground for North Atlantic operation later.

France, Germany, Italy and even Portugal are attempting to create regular flying service to South America. Imperial Airways already are serving 22 different countries and have ambitious plans for the near future. Regular air service by France, as far as mail is concerned, is already under way between Africa and Brazil. Air France, large operating company of France, is constructing a fleet of 12 long-range flying boats expected to be ready for the South Atlantic crossing by summer.

Germany, in its South American flights, is using flying boats which are refuelled by steamers stationed at intervals across the ocean. Italy is also building long-range flying boats. Portugal plans its first attempt across the South Atlantic with a British machine, similar to that which won the London-to-Melbourne air race.

The nation which first creates a regular trans-Atlantic flying service must dominate along three lines, according to aeronautical authorities—experience, equipment and international operation rights.

HITLER'S DEATH A GYPSY MYTH

Underwriters Clean Up Several Thousand Dollars "Easy Money" After Tale.

MANY POLICIES TAKEN OUT.

LONDON, April 1.—(A.P.)— The mysterious warning death was imminent for Reichsfuehrer Hitler, reportedly made by a gypsy a month ago, turned out to be an April Fool joke to-day for all concerned except possibly the London insurance companies. The underwriters were reported to have cleaned up several thousand dollars "easy money" on the strength of the tale.

Several British firms trading in Germany were said to have taken out insurance after the gypsy story began to circulate. The premiums demanded were small, one insurance broker said, and after a while the scare died down.

It has since been learned, brokers reported, similar predictions, likewise said to have emanated from gypsies, were circualted in Europe —in Belgium, France, Spain and Germany.

The version of the Hitler death prognostication story which was prevalent in London involved a motorist who was said to have been told by a gypsy to whom he gave a ride:

"There will be a dead man in your car by evening as sure as Hitler will be dead before the month is out."

That night, the story ran, the motorist picked up an injured pedestrian by the roadside who died in his automobile en route to the hospital. The motorist then was said to have taken out a policy on Hitler's life.

Lloyds Ltd. was reported to have issued one such policy for £10,000 (approximately $48,000) on which the premium was £500 (approximately $2,400).

IAN MACKENZIE GIVES OUTLINE

Bennett and his complete recovery of health by both Mr. Fraser and Mr. Mackenzie.

Mr. Fraser was spiking a rumor which he said had been disseminated throughout the country to the effect that Mackenzie King was "a sick man", and after he had completed an emphatic denial of the story stating that Mr. King was never in better condition and full of vigor to lead the party, some man in the crowd called out: "What about Bennett."

"There is not a member in the Liberal party who is not anxious for the speedy return of Premier Bennett to sound health, and they also hope his physician will allow him to lead the Conservative party in the next elections," Mr. Fraser replied.

For Integrity of C.N.R.

Remarking that Lindsay was a railway town, although it had lost some of its importance in that respect during the last few years, Mr. McNevin said he stood four square behind the independence and integrity of the Canadian National Railways.

"We have all noticed in the last twelve months the president of the C.P.R. going up and down the country addressing meetings in favor of that company," Mr. McNevin said. "Is there no representative of the Board of Directors of our publicly owned railways who could speak for it the way Sir Henry Thornton did some years ago."

As one of the best cattle producing districts in the country, Victoria and Haliburton were vitally interested in markets. Mr. Bennett should be taken to task for failing to impress the opportunity that would have disposed of 100,000 head of cattle in one year. When this industry prospered, more work was provided by railway men, and business generally shared in the new money that was put into circulation. Larger market for cattle and farm products, Mr. McNevin said, would always be to him a primary interest.

"In regard to unemployment I ask you what you think of the way this problem is being handled. Prior to June 19 any man who wanted to get a job on our public works had to go to some Conservative member, candidate or foreman. When the Hepburn government was elected we did away with that system. We decided that the given work in the road camps should be appointed by the reeves and clerks of our municipalities. Which do you think was the fairer way? At any rate, whether my political career is numbered in weeks or in years I will never permit myself to play politics with the needs and the distress of any of our citizens."

For International Peace

The Liberal party stands behind the ideal of international peace, Ian Mackenzie declared.

"Our concern is for all those Canadian young men who are growing up today anxious and eager to find a place for themselves in the life of this country, and we shall also do the best we can to see that the doctrines of peace and amity and accord are inculcated in their minds, and not that narrow nationalism which has been the curse of international politics for the last five years."

Speaking of the "plethora of promises" made by Premier Bennett and the Conservative party in the general election of 1930, Mr. Mackenzie said the number of unemployed in Canada was 117,000 at that time, and today it is more than 500,000. Of this country's total population of ten and one half million people, 1,350,000 are on relief.

"As a humble member of the Liberal party I can assure you that if we are returned by the people of Canada this year to administer their affairs the first problem to be tackled will be this problem of unemployment that is sapping our national life. We intend to deal with it as a national emergency and all other problems will be secondary to it."

Mr. Mackenzie said the Bennett government had spent $400,000,000 on unemployment relief without any apparent improvement of conditions. In 1933 the government had given a guarantee of $16,000,000 to the privately owned Canadian Pacific Railway while money was needed for the hundreds of thousands of people out of work.

"Although the Liberal government had reduced our national debt by $257,000,000, all that effort and saving has been wiped out, and during these five years of the Bennett administration that debt has been increased by almost one billion dollars including the commitment of $150,000,000 under the terms of this year's budget."

Under the Bank of Canada Act of 1934, a total of $115,000,000 of interest bearing securities had been extended by the government to a private corporation, and Parliament abandoned control over its currency and credit.

"The Liberal party stands pledged for a system of public ownership of the Bank of Canada, and restoration of complete control over the credit and currency of this country," Mr. Mackenzie said. "I reciprocate the good wishes for the return of the Prime Minister to health, but we can't in fairness be debarred from criticizing the details of his policies, especially when he himself has said that the signs of recovery are few."

Referring to the price spreads investigation, Mr. Mackenzie pointed out that this whole question of ethical practices in trade and commerce came within the purview of the Department over which Mr. Stevens had control.

"If Mr. Stevens was sincere about reform of business practices why did he wait nearly five years before the enquiry?"

"The Liberal party is frankly and openly the friend of the C.N.R. system, and in spite of eleventh hour protests I believe a policy of sabotage against the integrity of the C.N.R. has been carried on."

Mr. Mackenzie outlined Liberal plans for refunding the internal and foreign debt of Canada, and expressed confidence that prosperity could be regained by the Liberal trade policies of agreement and conciliation, and not in the spirit of "blasting a way into the markets of the world."

CORDIAL RELATIONS

WARSAW, March 30 (CP-Havas)—Polish-German relations have never been as cordial as at present but Poland will not diminish its war budget by a single penny, Deputy Col. Miedzinski, former member of the cabinet and director of the government organ, the Gazeta Polska, said in an address here.

Miedzinski declared former misunderstandings between Germany and Poland arose from the influence of the "Junkers." He said this had been eliminated by the Nazi government.

Reserves have also been built up out of earnings to the total of $5,248 in the electric department and $8,786 in the water department.

POPE PIUS PRESIDES AT SECRET CONSISTORY

(By Andrue Berding.)

VATICAN CITY, April 1 (A.P.).—Pope Pius for the first time in 18 months presided over a secret consistory of his cardinals to-day.

The consistory approved the canonization of Blessed Thomas More, King Henry VIII.'s Chancellor, and Bishop John Fisher, of Rochester, England, who lost their heads for opposing Henry's marriage to Anne Boleyn.

The consistory also approved the nomination of Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli as Camerlengo, in this capacity he acts as Pope during the period between the death of one Pope and the elecftion of his successor. Pacelli succeeds the late Cardinal Pietro Gasparri, veteran ex-Secretary of State.

A European form of Yogi, with schools in Paris, Cannes and London, will open a branch in New York.

tion Bill, which received second reading, will go to committee. It is not known whether the measure will be before committee this week.

Future contracts with four Quebec power companies will be decided by the government's announcement of policy.

The companies with which the commission negotiated the contracts were: The Gatineau Power Company, The Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company, the Ottawa Valley Power Company and the James MacLaren Company. By an agreement of June 14, 1931, the commission consented to the transfer by the James MacLaren Company to the MacLaren-Quebec Company of the rights arising out of the contract between the commission and the James McLaren Company.

Regulated in Ferguson's Rule

The contracts were negotiated between 1926 and 1930 during the administration of former Premier G. Howard Ferguson, now Canadian high commission to Great Britain. Chairman of the Hydro commission at that time was C. A. Magrath.

First purchase of Quebec power took place in May 1926 with the signing of the Gatineau contract for 260,000 horse-power at $15 a horse-power. The contract was to run 30 years.

The other contracts were for 40 years. In 1929 the Beauharnois contract for 250,000 horse-power at $15 a horse-power was signed. This was followed by the Ottawa Valley contract for 96,000 horse-power at the same price in February 1930 and the MacLaren contract for 125,000 horse-power, also at the same price, in December of that year.

Since the first contracts were signed the commission has paid Gatineau, Beauharnois and MacLaren-Quebec $22,326,006, Mr. Roebuck said in his Hydro address and he estimated when the contracts terminated the payments would have reached $326,326,006.

JOHNSON MAKES

to as "Bernard Manassen Baruch."

Father Coughlin's "running back to Roosevelt has left Long, who is attacking the President daily, out on a limb," said Johnson.

"If no more has been done than to pry those pied pipers apart, it is enough."

Called Cowardly.

Branding the Detroit priest cowardly in his previous attacks, Johnson said: "This guileless follower of the Gentle Master says that his confidants have heaped his desk with gossip about my private life, but he disdains to use it. Of course, by that remark alone, he did use it in the most cowardly way he could have used it. That was to be expected."

Addressing Father Coughlin directly, the former director of NRA asked: "Are you a jack-in-the-pulpit who jumps up one minute in the collar of Rome, ducks and reappears the next moment in a necktie?"

Then he continued: "Photographed in the cassock of a Catholic priest while you said it, and announcing from the Shrine of the Little Flower that you were going after me the Sunday before you did it, you said over the radio, 'I address you neither as the spokesman of the Catholic Church nor as the representative of its Catholic following.'"

General Johnson accused the priest of nurturing a belief that the Catholic Church is "deliberately and subtly building in the United States a Fascist order in which the Church and State are one, to the exclusion of all other political and religious beliefs.

"Now I know that not one word of that is true, but as a lover of the Mother Church of all Churches I want to say that the opinion is growing rapidly throughout this country and it is growing because Father Coughlin makes it grow," he continued.

Priest Replies

DETROIT, April 1.—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin defended the methods of financing his Union for Social Justice yesterday in what was regarded as an inferential reply to Hugh S. Johnson.

The former NRA chieftain, speaking last night in Chicago, charged that the priest took for his Union of Social Justice "from the pennies of the poor much money never accounted for."

Without mentioning Johnson by name, Father Coughlin declared at the conclusion of his Sunday broadcast that "throughout the ages every bigot who has hated the Church and principles of social justice advocated by the Church has trumped up the charge that we are bleeding money from the poor.

"That was the charge made by Stalin in Russia. That is the charge made today in Mexico. That is the recent charge which has assaulted the ears and intelligence of the American public," he continued, "by those who have out-Stalined Stalin.

"May I ask where they get their blood money? They get their money from the crimson hands of Wall Street, crimsoned with the blood of industrial martyrs."

Father Coughlin mentioned Johnson's name only once during his address, and then in a routine connection with his address, in which he charged that "the birth certificate of the NRA and the AAA showed that both were conceived by the United States Chamber of Commerce."

UNITED CHURCH MISSIONARY DIES

Rev. D. R. McKenzie, Senior Member of the Japan Mission, is Dead.

WENT TO JAPAN IN 1887.

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.). — Rev. Dr. McKenzie, senior member of the Japan Mission of the United Church in Canada, died at Kobe, Japan, yesterday, a cablegram reaching the Foreign Mission offices in Toronto revealed to-day.

Dr. McKenzie went to Japan in 1887 as teacher of English and spent 20 years in evangelistic work. From 1908 until 1933 he was secretary-treasurer of the mission, and was founder of an orphanage.

He was the first president of the West Japan College and treasurer of the National Christian Council of Japan. He was born in 1861 and was educated at Victoria College, Toronto.

Poles Claim Germans Concentrating on Border

GENEVA, April 1. — (A.P.)—A dispatch from Warsaw to-day quoted the Polish newspaper Illutrovany Codzenny as saying numerous German regiments were being concentrated along the Memel territory frontier.

The newspaper was reported to have said a division of Reichswehr in addition to large formations of storm troopers and Shutz Staffel (picked guards) were occupying the region. The dispatch added the construction of fortifications is being actively pushed.

(Germans were aroused to indignation last week by the action of a Lithuanian military court in sentencing 91 Nazis whom it convicted of plotting to seize Nemei in behalf of Germany. Four of the Nazis were condemned to death. Violent meetings of protest were held in East Prussia after news of the verdicts became known).

Obituary

MRS. B. H. POOLE

The death of Mrs. Bertha H. Poole, widow of the late Captain B. R. Poole, occurred at her home, 312 Rubidge street, early this morning. She had endured a lingering illness.

Mrs. Poole was born in Bridgenorth, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Dean. She had spent her entire life in this district. Among the immediate survivors are a son, Kenneth Poole in Windsor, and a daughter, Dorothy, at home.

The funeral will proceed from the residence to St. John's Anglican Church at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Venerable Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave leading the services. Interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

PATRICK O'DONNELL.

The death occurred at Detroit on Saturday of Patrick O'Donnell, former resident of this district, in his 83rd year.

He is survived by his widow, formerly Johan Garvey and also by daughters, the Misses Josey, Julia and Agnes O'Donnell and Mrs. M. F. Sharp and Mrs. Halpin, all of Detroit. A son, Patrick, predeceased.

The remains are resting at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Sharp, 537 Homewood avenue. Requiem mas will be celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral on Wednesday at 9 a.m. followed by interment at St. Peter's cemetery.

Hepburn Lost Bet To Hon. David Croll

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.) — Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn's luck has turned. He lost a bet to-day to Minister of Welfare David A. Croll against whom he scored a betting victory over the result of the Nipissing by-election last month.

The Premier wagered his colleague $5 Cecile Dionne would have a tooth before sister Marie. Today, day, however, he received a telegram from Dr. Allen Roy Dafoe, the babies' physician, Marie had sprouted a molar.

"I'm paying in coppers," said the Premier, recalling Mr. Croll sent him 500 coppers when Mr. Hepburn won his bet the Liberals would win Nipissing by more than 5,000 majority.

"You'll get it in coppers," he told Mr Croll over the inter-office telephone. "Remember what I did; gave it to the Salvation Army," was the Premier's parting remark.

JUST ANOTHER BIG ONE.

Fred Bissonette of River Road brought into The Examiner just another big hen egg to-day. Mr. Bissonette has had several very large eggs this year, but the one laid on Sunday was the "daddy" of them all. It measured seven and seven-eighth inches by six and seven-eighths. It was laid by a Bray Chick Hatchery pullet of June hatch.

GRASS FIRES

The gras fire season was inaugurated with a blaze on Armour Hill early yesterday afternoon. Answering an alarm which came in at 1.48 p.m., the firemen beat out the flames with coats before the fire could spread and cause damage. At 11.29 p.m. last night, an alarm for a blaze in the sawdust piles by the Quaker Oats dam was sent in. Believed to have originated from spontaneous combustion, the fire was put out without difficulty. Two chimney fires engaged the attention of the men this morning, the first at 7.52 a.m. at 358 Aylmer street and the second at 8.44 a.m. at 174 Adeline street.

45 BIRTHS IN MARCH.

There were 45 births in this city last month, three less than during the same month last year, records at the City Clerk's office disclosed to-day. There were only seven weddings, half as many as in March 1934. Deaths during the month numbered 46, nine more than last March.

20 BUILDING PERMITS.

While not large the number of building permits issued this month is far ahead of those issued in same month last year, according to figures available at the City Engineer's office. Twenty permits totalling in value $2,580 were taken out in March, as compared with three permits to a valde of $1,125 last year. Three permits for $80 were for building garages and the others were miscellaneous permits mainly for repairs.

NEW PRICE SCHEDULE IN EFFECT

The new price schedule went into effect in better than 90 per cent of barber shops throughout the city to-day. Barbers said they were satisfied that the formation of the Peterborough Barbers' Association had been a big step forward in the final solution of troubles confronting the trade. "We have heard no complaints following the announcement of last week that we had decided on higher prices for hair cuts," one barber said. "Everything in connection with the new association is going smoothly."

193 TAKEN TO CAMPS

In high spirits 193 city unemployed men left by truck yesterday for the Government's highway camps in the northern section of the county. It required seven trucks to convey the men to the camps. These men will remain at the camps for a month. The same trucks brought home the group who had been in the camps throughout March.

ROTARIANS ARE TOLD STORY OF EXCITING RACE

April Fool Day Atmosphere Pervades Weekly Luncheon of Local Service Club.

UNUSUAL TOPICS.

Members Are Called Upon to Discuss Subjects About Which They Know Very Little.

There was an April Fool atmosphere about today's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary club, starting with a pistol shot report, when President J. Fred Reed banged his gavel on the table to call the gathering to order and continuing with a number of Rotarians being called to give addresses on unusual topics.

The speaker was Rotarian R. F. Downey who entertained the members with a vivid condensation of the story of the four horse-team race in Ralph Connor's story "Black Rock" to which he imparted added interest by sketching the course on a black board and substituting the names of prominent Rotarians for the drivers originally named by the author. Rotarian Downey told the story very dramatically and kept the excitement at a high pitch until the pinto team driven by Jack Seels had flashed across the finish line, winner by a head from Chris Graham's team. It was a program novelty that was cleverly done and was much appreciated by the Rotarians and their guests.

Prior to Rotarian Downey's contribution Rotarian George Gillespie spoke on "Pasteurization Debunked". Rotarian R. J. Kidd discussed cocktails and advocated tomato juice and Rotarian Ross Dobbin talked about matrimony with a vague promise to try it out some time.

It was an informal, enjoyable luncheon in keeping with the date.

RECITAL GIVEN BY BOY SOPRANO

Master Dewi Jones Delights Large Audience in George Street.

VERY FINE VOICE.

Master Dewi Jones, Welsh boy soprano who has come to Canada to live in the City of Montreal, delightful his audiences yesterday at George Street United Church, when he sang at both services and also gave a recital of sacred music following the service in the evening.

Just a little over twelve years old, this boy has a remarkably fine voice that has received high praise from critics in many cities. He has a voice of great purity and clearness of tone, sweet, true and melodious, and he sings with constant attention to intonation, diction and enunciation, in the manner of Old Country singers who give so much emphasis to these very necessary attributes of any vocalist. It is a treat to hear music rendered as this very youthful singer presents his lovely numbers.

Although troubled by a slight cold yesterday, the boy singer made a splendid impression on his listeners, his poise and assurance in presenting his numbers adding greatly to the interest of the program.

In the morning, the boy sang, "O, for the Wings of a Dove," by Mendelssohn, and an old Spanish melody, "Flee as a Bird."

In the evening, the solo numbers were "Come Unto Him," from Handel's "Messiah," and "Only a Little Way," by Frances Martin.

The sacred recital of songs which followed the evening service was very interesting, demonstrating the splendid training of this child vocalist, and illustrating varied degrees of expression.

In "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" by Handel, his rich, full tones, his masterly phrasing and superb articulation were strikingly manifested, while the "Prayer Perfect" (Stenson) was another exquisite number. "Jerusalem," by Mendelssohn, was a stirring composition, while there was a wealth of sentiment and expressive sweetness in "Daddy," and in the Welsh rendition of "David of the White Rock."

Organ numbers by D. R. Howat completed a very pleasing recital.

Toronto leads series, two victories to one. Fourth game to-morrow night.

Hero Of Arctic, Bahr Arrives In Edmonton

EDMONTON, April 1 (C.P.)—All decked out in brand new clothes, Andy Bahr of the Arctic was becoming Andy Bahr of the city today.

Ending five years in the Arctic regions, Bahr flew into Edmonton late yesterday in a Canadian Airways plane piloted by Archie McMullen. It was the first time he had seen a city since leaving Seattle to get 3,000 reindeer at Kutebue, Alasaka, and take them to Kittigauzit on the Canadian Arctic shores, a distance of 1,800 miles.

Bahr's task was heralded as an epic of the North. Canada's 25,000 Eskimos are now looking after the reindeer. The reindeer were taken on the long trek on orders of the Canadian Government because starvation was threatening the Eskimos due to lack of meat.

DRAFTING WOMEN AS PILOTS URGED BY AMELIA EARHART

By W. J. TAYLOR
Central Press Canadian Correspondent.

CLEVELAND, O., April 1.—Amelia Earhart Putnam, who yields to no man in the matter of flying an aeroplane, sees no reason why she should not pilot a flying ship in the event of another war.

Moreover, inasmuch as so many women have achieved parity with men in business, professional and industrial pursuits, she would favor a universal draft of women as well as men.

This does not mean she favors war. To the contrary, she asserts that she abhors it, as a barbarous institution which civilized people should not tolerate.

"For Ending Wars."

In an interview here she offered a proposal that women should be drafted as a formula for ending wars. Semi-seriously she remarks: "If women were drafted it might tend to end war. It would spoil all the fun if women tagged along."

She did not care to amplify that statement but her expression indicated she was thinking along another line. Would not women, subjected to the actual rigors of war, take steps to make all future wars impossible?

"Do you mean that women should go into the trenches?" she was asked.

To which Miss Earhart responded: "I think able-bodied women should do exactly as able-bodied men do, serving where they can, in the trenches, behind the lines or, perhaps, in the air."

No Discrimination.

Then this was put to her:

"You are a celebrated aviatrix and your accomplishments leave no doubt as to your ability to handle a plane. Would you, for instance, be willing to pilot a combat ship?"

To which she replied:

"I should expect to do just that."

Miss Earhart, known to a comparativte few as Mrs. George P. Putnam, desired her interviewer to be specific that she holds no brief for war. Her proposal is made only in the event that war cannot be prevented.

"I cannot understand how civilized people can want war," she said. "But, if there must be war, women should share its responsibilities equally with men."

As a pilot she is a fatalist. Male pilots, who have observed her exploits in the air, have no doubt she could and would qualify as an ace, along with the best of them.

Magistrate's Court

Melville Simpson, of Rockcroft, pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Langley today to a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. He was sentenced to seven days in the county gaol.

Police said that Simpson was in a minor crash early Sunday morning at the corner of Mills and Water streets.

Found in Simpson's car were several bottles of beer. He was charged with having beer in an illegal place. Pleading guilty, he was fined $10 and $4.50 costs or in default ten days in jail.

Two brothers, Harry and Fred Pluard, of Rockcroft, passengers in Simpson's car, pleaded guilty to drinking in an illegal place. Each was fined $15 and $4.50 costs or 15 days in jail.

Police visited the apartment of John Donnelly, Simcoe and Aylmer streets, yesterday and found a quantity of beer. Donnelly was charged with having in his possession liquor not legally procured. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and $4.50 costs or 28 days in jail.

Chief Newhall told the court Donnelly was on relief and had been handling large quantities of beer. "The newspaper has been carrying stories about the number of blindpigs about the city and we are doing our best to clean them up," he explained.

Three charges faced Earl Smith, Bellevue street, who was in a pugnacious mood on Saturday when Constable John Thompson went to arrest him for drunkenness. Smith pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication as a second offender under the L.C.A. and on this charge was given one month.

He also pleaded guilty to assaulting Constable Thompson. Chief Newhall said Smith kicked the officer's shins and bit his thumb severely. "He assaulted an officer several weeks ago when he was arrested for being drunk," stated the chief. "You warned him then Your Worship but that doesn't seem to have done much good."

Smith was given an additional month for striking and biting the officer.

He was also charged with doing wilful damage to the police car. "He kicked both doors of the car," said the chief. "The damage is extensive. It will cost at least $80 for repairs to the car."

For this damage His Worship added ten days to Smith's period in gaol.

Joseph Long, Park street, pleaded guilty to consuming liquor in an illegal place. "It was only one drink," he said.

"It must have been a big drink, because he was plastered when the officers got him," said Chief Newhall.

The man was charged also with vagrancy. He pleaded not guilty. He was remanded for a week without being sentenced on the L.C.A. charge, the Crown explaining that some investigations in connection with the case were necessary.

George Gehan, who claimed he had an uncle at Marmora, explained that he "met some of the boys on Saturday". He pleaded guilty to intoxication, but urged that he be given a chance. The cadi studied the police report on the case, shook his head severely, and then said, "Ten dollars or ten days."

YOUTH LEADER STILLS GERMAN PAGANISM FEARS

Announces Nazi Plank Stipulating Third Reich to be Reared on Positive Christianity.

HITS AT TROUBLE MAKERS.

[What is in store for German youth, One of Europe's unanswered questions was put to the German official who is the virtual "dictator of youth" in the Reich by Louis P. Lochner, veteran foreign correspondent of the Associated Press. The official's answer constitutes an authoritative indication of the trend of religion in Germany to-day].

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
(Copyright 1935 by The A.P.)

BERLIN, April 1. — Baldur von Schirach, to whom Adolf Hitler has entrusted the care of 6,000,000 boys and girls organized in the Hitler Youth and Federation of German Girls, in a frank interview here sought to put at rest fears of millions of German parents lest the youth drift in the direction of paganism.

He declared himself yeserday an adherent to the Nazi party plank which stipulates the Third Reich shall be reared upon "positive Christianity" and claimed the only ones who worry about the religious future of German youth are 'paid secretaries" of confessional youth organizations who fear losing their jobs.

Confessions Recognized

The 28-year-old leader of youth, said "Let me emphasize I am entirely disinterested in confessional questions. I recognize in both Christian confessions, Protestant and Catholic—two powerful factors with which I must reckon.

"My tasks in the construction of the Third Reich is the unification of German youth. I am carrying out this task without discussing confessional problems and without committing myself as to whether youth should learn the old testament or not."

He continued: "In the Third Reich, with its sharp line of demarcation drawn between the realms of competence belonging to the church and those belonging to the state it follows as a matter of course that the responsibility for religious education lies with the leaders of both Christian confessions. Let them decide what religious reading matter is desirable for youth and what not."

Globe Trotter Gets Hepburn's Autograph

TORONTO, April 1.—(CP)—Jean de Vaudreuil, grizzled 68-year-old globe trotter from Belgium, added another autograph to his 50 book collection when he visited Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn at the Legislative buildings today.

A picturesque figure in skull cap and loose fitting sack coat bedecked with medals, Vaudreuil has been travelling throughout the world for the past 15 years. He was in Canada three years ago.

De Vaudreuil thinks Canadians eat too much meat. He is a vegetarian. His recipe for longevity is to avoid tobacco, wine and women.

TORO FLIGHT LEADS FIELD IN STAKE RACE

Favorite Takes Lead in Stretch to Win $10,000 Added California Derby.

LONG SHOT SECOND.

TWO BIG handicap events were run off on Saturday, the Fort Worth Handicap at Arlington Park and the California Derby at the Bay Meadows track in which Toro Flight, crack 3-year-old belonging to Norman W. Church and ridden by Glen Smith lead the field to take top honors. Smith kept Toro Flight under snug restraint as Barcarolle and Supreme Court set the early pace but when he gave the Toro colt his head he responded easily to win by one length and a half with Bon Amour second, and Ann O'Riley third. Toro Flight went to the post a favorite and paid $5.40.

THE FIGHTING HEART

We wonder if the millions of sportsmen the world around who listened to the international broadcast of The Grand National Steeplechase at Liverpool, England, paused for a moment to render silent homage to the memory of Moifaa, the winner in 1904. If they didn't they should have. If there ever was a horse with a fighting heart, and there have been many, it was Moifaa, the giant New Zealand lepper who trekked the long, wet trail to the mother country to win the most gruelling test of them all. And how he trekked! The first ship which undertook to take the animal to England sank without a trace. Some fishermen later chanced to pass an uninhabited island and espied a horse nonchalantly tasting the vernal tidbits of this lonely speck on the sea. It was Moifaa. Moifaa—the only living survivor of one of the numberless tragedies of the ocean wastes. Returned to New Zealand, he was safely delivered to England where honor was to be his due. When you speak of the fighting heart, think of Moifaa, the horse who licked the ocean!

Kelly Scores Two Goals To Give Toronto Leafs 2-1 Win Over Boston

Twin Deliveries, One in Overtime, Sends Near Record Crowd of 14,850 Into Frenzy of Joy.

BRUINS OUTPLAY WINNERS.

Goalies Give Brilliant Net-minding Display in Fourth Game of Series.

By Elmer Dulmage.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.). — Tegis (Pep) Kelly, the curly-headed Irish kid who jostled Ken Doraty into the minors, depriving Toronto Maple Leafs of one of hockey's greatest pinch-scorers, found himself seated to-day on the unique Doraty throne—a National League playoff hero.

He's there because he brought the N.H.L. championship to Toronto on Saturday night by firing two dramatic shots that gave the Leafs a 2-1 overtime triumph over Boston Bruins in the fourth game of the classic series. Not even Doraty's famous drive that broke up a 104-minute overtime struggle in the 1933 series took more effect.

Sent Crowd Into Frenzy.

The twin deliveries of the 21-year-old Kelly, playing his first season as a professional, sent a near-record crowd of 14,850 into a frenzy of joy. The first broke a spell of gloom that had pervaded Maple Leaf Gardens since late in the first period when the gallant Bruins swept into a one-goal lead.

It occurred at the 18.11 mark in the third period when Babe Siebert and Peggy O'Neill of the Bruins and Harold Cotton of the Leafs were crowded in the penalty box. If the shot wasn't sufficient to make the name Kelly immortal in these parts, the pepper-pot from North Bay, Ont., quickly rectified that.

One minute and 36 seconds after the start of the sudden-death overtime period, the rookie leaped out of the penalty box where he had put in a spell with the still incarcerated Siebert, O'Neill and Cotton. He ripped into Boston territory, and within six seconds broke up the game.

At the end of a Leaf gang attack, the former Newmarket and St. Michael's College junior picked up the puck behind the Bruin net. He skated around the cage, looking for an opening to pass to Charlie Conacher, Hec Kilrea or Joe Primeau. There wasn't an opening, and Kelly circled around until he reached a point 10 feet directly in front of the net.

Too Much For Thompson.

It was a duel between the rookie and Goalie Cecil (Tiny) Thompson, who two years ago saw the N.H.L. title snatched away by the midget Doraty. Doraty beat Thompson with that celebrated 1933 shot. Now it was Kelly's turn, because Kelly had ousted Doraty from his right-wing job. He lashed a high shot that Thompson never saw until it dropped to the ice and he turned around to pick it up.

Until the way was paved for this drama, the Bruins had outplayed the Leafs, fighting grimly in an effort to square the series at two wins each and force a fifth game. Only spectacular puck-stopping by George Hainsworth had kept the Bruin assault within limits.

Red Beattie, one of the most effective forwards in the series, had whipped in a pass from Nels Stewart at the 15.45 mark in the first period a few seconds after Nels himself misfired when he had an open net in front of him. Through the second period the Bruins moved confidently behind their lead.

Three or four times Beattie, Paul Haynes, Max Kaminsky and Eddie Shore seemed certain to get another goal that would have been too much for the Leafs to overcome. Hainsworth was unrelenting in these crises, diving headlong into two or three attackers to spoil shots.

Boston Defence Weakens.

Except for Red Beattie's penalty in the second period, the Bruins had stayed on the ice, doing comparatively little bodychecking. But when Siebert accidentally tripped Frank Finnigan and drew a minor penalty late in the third period the Boston players were so tired that the defence weakened at last.

Hardly had the defenceman left the ice when Cotton knocked in a pass from Joe Primeau, only to have the goal disallowed because Baldy was in the goal crease. There was much verbal to-do about this as Cotton protested, swung his arms, argued with Goaler Thompson and many other players.

Penalties Costly.

The result was a near-skirmish and major penalties for Cotton and O'Neill, who was alleged by Referee Ag Smith to have landed a punch. O'Neill later explained that Haynes had been guilty. But Cotton and O'Neill left the scene and Siebert, who had jumped from the penalty box to participate in the squabble, had two minutes added to his sentence.

O'Neill and Cotton were still on the sidelines when it was all over, when Kelly had fired his tying and winning blows. Siebert had just finished his penalty and was rushing to the help of his mates when the winning tally was scored. His jump overboard during the argument had been expensive.

STAMFORD FIVE GAINS 30 TO 16 BASKETBALL WIN

Petes Put Up Spirited Offensive But Fail to Penetrate Winners' Defense.

CLEVER CAGE WORK.

Niagara Falls Clinches Junior Title With 34-9 Victory Over Bowmanville.

TORONTO, April 1. (CP). Stamford collegiate held the senior boys' Central Ontario secondary schools' basketball championship to-day by virtue of a 39-16 win over Peterborough while the Niagara Falls sextette clinched the junior division with a 39-9 pasting over Bowmanville.

The Stamford-Peterborough game was brilliantly played throughout with the winners always holding the upper hand. With the score 26-5 at half time. Peterborough put up a spirited offensive but could not penetrate the winners' defence. Stewart and Dalby shone on the Stamford attack each netting six baskets. Harrington and Fraser followed close with four each.

Little Excitement

The nightcap did not provide much excitement. Niagara Falls went on the offensive from the opening whistle and virtually swept their opponents off their feet with a masterly display. Their passing plays outguessed the losers and at three-quarter time led with a score of 22-8. From then on the winners had all their own way and finished with a 23 point advantage.

McKenzie, with seven baskets starred for the winners while Siemon was the mainstay of Bowmanville.

Line-ups:

Stamford — Forwards, Stewart and Walby; centre, Fraser; guards, Horrington and Thomas. Subs: Irwin, Jackson, Rowe, Hoswell, Montgomery.

Peterborough — Forwards, Ward and Thorburn; centre, MacPherson; guards, Pulkinghorn and Sedgewick; subs: Amys, McIntyre, Welch and Burns.

Niagara Falls—Forward, Stephenson and McCutcheon; centre, McKenzie; guards, Frost and Boyle. Subs: Greenwood, Saph, Thibert, McLean.

Bowmanville—Forwards, Neal and Hooper; centre, Spencer; guards, Ames and Siemen. Subs, McIlveen, Cowle, Clark, Balligell.

Week-End All-Stars

(By The Canadian Press)

Pep Kelly, Toronto, scored the two goals that gave Leafs victory over Boston Bruins.

Davie Kerr, Rangers, who kicked out 42 Maroon shots and saved Rangers from worse defeat.

George Hainsworth, Toronto, who played brilliantly in goal.

Dave Trottier and Russ Blinco, Maroons, figured in two of the Montreal goals.

BASEBALL'S WHO'S WHO

Joe Bowman Masters New Delivery as Side-Arm Fails.

From Pueblo to Portland to Wilkes-Barre to Omaha to Portland to the Philadelphia Athletics. Then back to Portland, up to the New York Giants and back to Philadelphia again, but this time as a member of the Phillies.

That is quite a lot of kicking around, and Joe Bowman, the fellow who has been taking it is ready this year to start dishing it out.

Mack Gives Him Tip

Bowman, 24-year-old native of Kansas City, Mo., received his first big league lesson in 1932. After serving apprenticeship with Pueblo in 1929, he was purchased by Portland, optioned to Wilkes-Barre and Omaha and finally sold to the Athletics.

Manager Connie Mack took one look at Bowman's side-arm delivery and advised the young man to do it differently, bringing the ball over-hand. Bowman tried, but found difficulty controlling his offerings, then went back to the side-arm swing.

Returned to Portland in 1933, he lost his first four games pitching side-arm, and decided to follow Mack's advice. He began to win immediately and finished the season with 23 victories and 11 defeats. The Giants bought him.

Strong in Relief Role

Last year at times he showed brilliance several times when Bill Terry called on him as a relief hurler. Pitching 107 innings, mostly as a trouble shooter, he scored an earned-run average of 3.52, a respectable mark. He finished 15 games, winning five and losing four.

JOE BOWMAN

This year, with regular work as starter for the Phils, he is expected to fulfill the promise he showed at Portland two seasons ago.

MAROONS TIE RANGERS 3-3 TO COP ROUND

Montreal Ousts Patrickmen on Former's Ice, Taking Round 5 to 4.

HARD FOUGHT STRUGGLE.

Patrick and Trottier Lead Scorers, Each Getting Goal and Assist.

(By Alex. Bell, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

MONTREAL, April 1 (C.P.).—Survivor of as gripping a struggle as any the game has seen, Montreal Maroons were quietly confident to-day as they faced a five-game series with Toronto Maple Leafs for the Stanley Cup and world's professional hockey title. Last season's cup-winning Black Hawks and New York Rangers were eliminated in Maroons' climb to the finals.

The same stubborn defensive game used against Chicago until a break came proved good enough to earn a 3-3 tie for Maroons on Saturday despite a daring, smashing Ranger offensive that never let up after the first five minutes. All the power and craft that carried Lester Patrick's men into their ninth consecutive play-off hockey was not enough to wipe out the 2-1 margin Maroons won in New York, but it kept a crowd of 11,000 tensed until the final bell signalled Maroons had the round 5-4.

Never better than one goal behind on the two-game total-goal round Rangers fought like champions even when the breaks went against them, and Maroons got the first goal when Cy Wentworth's blue line shot beat Dave Kerr in the first period—a shot usually turned aside by the brilliant goalkeeper.

Breaks Against Rangers.

After Bun Cook had matched that goal another break went against Rangers when Butch Keeling had an open net to shoot at for a score that would have tied the round and changed the complexion of the game. A rolling puck too high on his stock made him hoist it over the cage into the crowd.

Maroons played steady hockey watchful for a scoring chance which came often enough in Rangers' wide-open game, but the first period was almost over before Kerr was beaten again. Russ Blinco did the trick when he evaded Earl Seibert, picked up Dave Trottier's pass, and slid the puck underneath the stretching goalkeeper.

Shifty Ott Heller and Lynn Patrick combined for the only goal of the second period. After Heller's rush was halted Patrick picked up the loose puck, eluded Wentworth, and drove it in. Stew Evans was in the penalty box when the goal was scored. He went off for picking up the puck to claim a goal on his long shot that beat Kerr but struck the post.

Maroons stock soared less than three minutes after the third period started when Trottier made it 3-2 on a long pass from Earl Robinson after Blinco started to play. His hard angle-drive from close-in gave Kerr no chance.

Scores His First Goal

Undismayed Rangers used four forwards and were rewarded when Bert Connolly shook off Allan Shields and scored. Iron Man Murray Murdoch and Patrick combined to furnish Connolly with the opening for his first goal in Stanley Cup play-offs. The former Moncton Hawk held his shot until Connell moved.

Rangers kept coming in wave after wave but the closest they came to scoring again was when Cecil Dillon struck the post from a scramble. Lionel Conacher's coolness did much to save the worried Maroons as Patrick kept five forwards on with five minutes to go then yanked his goalkeeper in the last two. Conacher's long lifts kept the puck out long enough for Maroons to organize for the surging Blue Shirts.

The Cooks-Boucher line was the best on ice. Their pivoting, criss-cross passing game was always menacing to Maroons defenders and brought the best goal of the game. Bill and Frank Boucher drew the defence while Bun parked at the goal crease in time to take Bill's pass and backflip it between his legs for the score. Alex Connell was caught cold on the play as Bun's back was to the goal when the shot was made.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Number 573

Many golfers are content to conjure up new theories through reading about the game. There's nothing the average player likes better than an opportunity to theorize.

The only way I can account for this is that it fits in with his hope that some day he'll run across the secret of the game, a short cut to success. This is just human nature asserting itself in another field, another example of the tendency to follow the line of least resistance.

Lasting success in anything is to be had only through application and a certain amount of hard work. In other words, it's all right to read about the game, but it's better to do a little work in the form of exercise which will improve your swing.

CAMPBELL WILL CHALLENGE GAR WOOD HONORS

New Boat is Under Construction Secretly on South Coast of England.

CAN BETTER WOOD MARK

LONDON, April 1.—Speed King Sir Malcolm Campbell, not content with travelling faster on land than any other human, plans to challenge Gar Wood's supremacy on the water.

Upon returning from America, Sir Malcolm will have the huge 2,500 horsepower plant ripped out of the Bluebird, racing automobile with which he established a new world's land speed record on the gleaming sand strip of Daytona Beach, and placed in a speed boat.

The boat is under construction secretly on the south coast of England. Sir Malcolm approved plans for its hull design and other structural details just before he left for the United States in January to stage the challenge of his own land record.

Sir Malcolm is confident he can better the 124.91 miles an hour record set by the gray haired Gar Wood on water. He never before has attempted a water speed test.

The British racer hopes to do 140 miles an hour with his "floating power plant." The new speed boat, it was revealed, will be more of a wingless airplane skimming along the water's surface than a boat. It will have streamlined fins on the stern to prevent it from sideslipping at terrific speeds and will be approximately one-third the size of Wood's Miss America.

PORT ARTHUR MIDGET HOCKEY HAS PRODUCED BRITISH STARS

Two Former Canuck Puck-chasers Become Internationals With Old Country Teams—Made Good Showing in World Championship Series.

By R. E. BEAMISH
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 1.—Port Arthur's corner-lot hockey rinks, which have produced more than one Allan Cup and National League hockey star in past years, achieved a new distinction this season when two youngsters, graduates of the Port Arthur Midget Hockey Association ranks, stepped out with the All-England amateur team in the world tournament at Davos, Switzerland, to play no small part in the victories rolled up by the British team before it was finally eliminated.

The two were Gerald Davey, 20 years old, member of Port Arthur Bantam and Midget teams for several years before taking up residence in England, and Pete Stevenson, 19, who played in all three midget divisions and added a year in junior hockey before tourneying to Scotland at the beginning of this season.

For Davey, member of the Streatham Ice Hockey Club since he was 17, it was the third successive year he had been chosen as an international, in as many seasons of campaigning. But for his running-mate, Stevenson, the thrill of world competition came as a novel adventure.

Davey joined the Streatham club in 1932, a youngster without so much as one game of junior hockey experience behind him, and from the very outset won the favor of English fans with his style and smoothness.

Hockey in England at that time was of a hit-and-miss-hit-again kind, a cross between "bende" played in Norway and field hockey. The players were "puck crazy" and skated all over the ice with no idea of system or position.

British Hockey Improved

By the following season, however, experienced players from Canada had come over to take places on most of the English teams and the Port Arthur boy was no longer earning a place on the team in competition with inexperienced Englishmen or mediocre Canadians. He was battling against the cream of the crop, and yet he held his place on the Streatham team and was chosen for the All-England team a second time.

As he expressed it in a letter home recently, "We cannot shout from the housetops that ice hockey in England is on a par with the game in Canada, but we can whisper modestly that any one of the teams in the English league with the exception of Manchester and Birmingham, perhaps, could enter into any senior city league in Canada and give a good account of itself."

The first year that Davey was made an international, the honor of representing England was open to any player on an English team. The second year a restriction was imposed, limiting the choice to players born in England. Davey qualified by virtue of his birth in the "tight little isle," despite the fact that he had never lived there since babyhood.

Have Produced Stars

Pete Stevenson, second member of the duo, is a much more recent acquisition in English hockey circles. Pete left for England last fall to visit relatives and remained to catch a place on a Scottish hockey team. Qualifying under birthplace ruling, and meeting the approving eye of the board of selection, Stevenson found himself accorded the signal distinction of international selection before the conclusion of his first season of play in the British Isles.

The progress of the two is naturally watched with interest by their former midget league colleagues, but the distinction is by no means the first to visit this organization of over 300 youthful hockey players. Roger Jenkins, former Chicago Blackhawk defenceman, now with Canadiens, is one product of midget hockey at Port Arthur.

Holmes Cagers Gain 30-28 League Victory

Holmes' cagers nosed out a 30-28 decision over Kitchen's crew in a House League contest in the "Y" Saturday night. The half-time count was 17-12 for the winners, but the other squad fought back hard the last session to do everything but tie it up. Ascott and Tranter were the main scorers for the losers with V. Holmes starring for the victors. The teams:

Kitchen's — Gunsolus, Ascott, Kitchen, Galley, Ellis, Cullen, Tranter and Thirnbeck.

Holmes'—Hunt, Wright, V. Holmes, A. Holmes and Ferguson.

White's team pulled out an even closer win over Sager's, just getting the nod, 28 to 27, in a thriller. The winners were behind, 16-9, at half-time but the other side rallied to sneak out a victory in the dying minutes. Hammell led them with eight points while Brady topped the losers with 12. The teams:

White's—Stanger, Latimer, Hammell, Hunter, White, Edmondson, Dundas and Martin.

Sager's—Faulkner, Morrow, Bradley, Sager, Brady and Dinesen.

Taylor's team defeated Normal, 29 to 21, in a lively squabble. They had an 11-7 edge at the breathing spell and had a tough time holding the battling Normalites in the speedy second stanza. Ketcheson was the chief scorer for the losing outfit while Hull shone with his shooting for the Taylor gang. The teams:

Normal—Owens, Ketcheson, McKee, Loukes, Telford, Walters and Holmes.

Taylor's—Hull, Reynolds, Tayler, Hunter, Stinson and Palmer.

YOUNG WOLVES GAIN 3-0 WIN

Sudbury Scores Goal in Each Period to Secure Eastern Canada Victory.

RIDEAU GOALIE STARS.

TORONTO, April 1. — Ottawa Rideaus, hailed as the team to beat for junior honors, are down a game in their fight for the Eastern Canada junior championship, and Sudbury are that much to the good, following the Cub Wolves' 3-to-0 triumph at Maple Leaf Gardens on Saturday afternoon, before a slim crowd of about 2,000 fans.

Counting one goal in each period the Sudbury youngsters swept to a well-deserved victory and need only a victory in the second game in Ottawa to-night to qualify for the Memorial Cup final with the Western championships. They expect to win to-night. Ottawa, however, have other ideas.

Goaltender Outstanding

That Sudbury were able only to get three goals in the sixty minutes is a tribute to the spectacular net-minding of Reg Thorne, stocky little goaler of the Capital team. Thorne was the outstanding star of the game and his playing kept his team from being outscored by far more than three.

The Cub Wolves outskated and outplayed the team which had previously inflicted the only defeat on them this season. Art Stuart, Al Conick and "Chuck" Shannon were responsible for the scores. Stuart netted the puck twice, but it was the play-making of Conick that allowed the speedy left-winger to twice slip around the Ottawa defence to score. Both goals came on almost identical plays and were beautifully executed.

On each occasion Conick snared the puck at centre ice, broke away with his partner and slipped wide passes over to the speedy winger. Stuart swung wide and then bore in on Thorne to beat him with hard shots to the corner of the cage.

PORTS EVEN SERIES WITH N BATTLEFORD

Bearcats Win Second Game of Western Senior Finals 4 to 3.

WINNIPEG, April 1.— (C.P.)—The comeback campaign of Port Arthur Bear Cats was in full bloom to-day. The rejuvenated Sailormen squared a three-game senior hockey series here Saturday night by scoring a 4-3 victory over North Battleford Beavers in the second game of their Western hockey title-drive.

Heralded as the fastest band of pucksters to represent the Lakeend in Allan Cup playdowns, the tri-colored Ports showed a complete reversal of form to erase Thursday night's 8-2 setback and send the series into a third and deciding game Monday night.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two DAY BY DAY

(By C. J. P.)

We are called up on the phone this a.m. It is our ex-pal Slim talking: "Say, I am informed by a reliable source that there are several new hockey players coming to town for next winter and that the Petes are jumping to Senior 'B' along with Belleville, Oshawa and a Toronto team!" We are much interested and inquire who his reliable source it. "I am extremely sorry," states he, "but a good reporter must not divulge the source of his info." We snapped: "Yuh ham, you're not a reporter!" "Well, I am reporting this to you," is the reply, "so that makes me a reporter pro tem or something, huh?" So we asks him who are the new players. "Covert, Fred Ingram, Jo-Jo Graboski and Tice are the ones I hear about," Slim says.

• • • • • •

Now, there is no doubt about it these guys are all swell pucksters and, along with the four or five best Petes, we can ice a great team—certainly as strong as any Senior 'B' competition in the Province. It is true there are some rumors or other about a senior 'B' team here next winter and maybe three or four good imports, but we have heard nothing official as yet—and, in fact, we didn't think it was at all sure. As for these players—why, Tice, Graboski, Ingram and Covert are all classy hockey players. We are thinking of this and say to Slim: "Well, we will maybe run it as a rumor one of these days and thanks a lot." His reply was: "Oh, you are most welcome, but I would suggest you run it today on account of this is April Fool's Day!" Gosh, how we hate that guy sometimes!

• • • • • •

We suggested some time ago that perhaps the local Hockey Club should hold its annual meeting this Spring in order to elect officers and managers and be prepared to do something through the summer toward building up our squads for next winter. Well, the annual meeting could be held early all right but possibly not too much in the way of building should be done till late in the summer or early in the fall, since we wont know just where we stand till then, anyway. If the Petes should decide to advance they'll have to find out about Oshawa—which is likely to go Senior 'A' or 'B', as their juniors flopped this past winter—and Belleville, which may have its artificial ice back next winter and a strong squad. Or will the Petes remain in intermediate company?

• • • • • • •

An executive meeting of the local men's softball league will be held at seven bells tomorrow eve in Duffus'. All members should attend. With several nice donations rolling in lately, things are shaping up fine for a successful annual O.A.S.A. convention here Good Friday. It is a big event and the first time held in Peterborough, either Toronto or Western Ontario usually putting the clutch on this affair. It's really a two-day event, as the Ontario executive meets Thursday evening. Next morning sees delegates taken on a tour of the city, entertained otherwise and banquetted around noon. The general meeting then follows, and the affair starts breaking up toward Friday evening. A hundred or more delegates will attend from all parts of the Province.

• • • • • • •

That's softball. Now the baseball convention—the O.B.A.A. annual meeting—will be held this year in Kitchener next Saturday. Several local men are expected to attend from here, including Bill Kay, Max Swanston and maybe Hugh Campbell. Bob Elliott of Deloro, past prexy of the O.B.A.A. will of course be on hand. The C.O.B.L. delegates to it are Newt Thompson and Max Swanston, and the latter is running for the executive this time to succeed Bill Kay. We hope to be there to see the fireworks.

• • • • • • •

Word is expected anytime now from the P.W.S.U. as to where their annual meeting will be held. The local gals' softball loop will hold its annual meeting as soon as this word is received, in order to elect officers for the season, find out about how many teams will be in, appoint and instruct the delegates to the Provincial session, etc. The circuit will affiliate with the P.W.S.U. this year, the local winner going into Ontario playdowns in September against other league victors. Those thinking of entering a team in the Peterborough and district gals' league should get busy now and make definite plans before the meeting is called.

• • • • • • •

A soccer meeting will be held tonight at eight in the Chamber of Commerce. It will be a business session to make plans for the coming season; decide upon a schedule, opening date of play and other matters. The loop will likely get started in six weeks or so, and may consist of the Packers, C.G.E., Lindsay, Deloro, Caledonians and C.C.F.—although none of these squads are positive entries as yet. Club representatives are requested to take in this soap-box session this eve.

P.C.I. Seniors finished their season in Toronto Saturday, being knocked off in the finals by the powerful Stamford crew, Ontario secondary school champs. The locals had a good season, going through their Lakeshore group without a loss and then rubbing out the highly-touted Belleville Collegians in semi-finals, 26-21. But Stamford were too strong and took a 39-16 decision in the last sudden-death titular tilt. However, 'twas a good year for the local cagers under the direction of Coach Bamforth. P.C.I., players in this final fracas included: Ward, Thorburn, MacPherson, Pulkinghorn, Sedgewick, Amys, McIntyre, Welch and Burns.

Stanley Cup Finals

MONTREAL, April 1 (C.P.).—Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Maroons will open their series for the Stanley Cup and world's hockey honors at Toronto on Thursday, April 4, and continue it there on Saturday, April 6. The third game will be at Montreal on Tuesday, April 9.

If a fourth game is necessary it will be played at Montreal on Thursday, April 11. If the series goes the full five games the last contest will be at Toronto on Saturday, April 13.

These dates, agreed to by Conny Smythe and Thomas Arnold, league governors for Toronto and Maroons, respectively, were confirmed and announced last night by President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League.

Miss Dorothy Paget Breaks With Trainer

LONDON, April 1.—(A.P.) — A break between Dorothy Paget, owner of Golden Miller, beaten favorite in the Grand National, and her trainer, Basil Briscoe, was announced in press reports to-day.

Published reports agreed that Golden Miller and other jumpers owned by Miss Paget will leave Briscoe's stables at Newmarket, to be trained elsewhere in future. They pointed out, however, this does not necessarily mean that one of the British turf's most successful owner-trainer partnerships will be dissolved.

CARDS FAVORED TO HOLD TITLE

39 Sports Writers Pick St. Louis Club to Repeat in National League.

TWO TEAM RACE.

(By Bob Cavagnaro.)

NEW YORK, April 1.—(A.P.)—The world champion St. Louis Cardinals stand out to-day as the choice of major league baseball experts to retain the National League pennant.

Of the 77 sports editors and baseball writers who participated in the ninth annual Associated Press pennant poll, 39 picked the Canadians to repeat.

The general belief, the 1935 race will be strongly a two-team affair was adequately reflected in the poll for Bill Terry's New York Giants received 31 of the remaining 38 first-place ballots. The only other clubs likely to figure in the pennant race, as the experts see it, are Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates. Four writers cast their first-place ballots for the Cubs and three for the Pirates.

Not only did the Cardinals and Giants together receive 70 of the 77 first-place ballots but they likewise monopolized the second-place votes, the Cardinals getting 33 of them and the Giants 31. Again Chicago, with six, and Pittsburgh with seven, are the only other clubs to figure in the balloting.

Y VOLLEYBALLERS IN CHAMPIONSHIPS

Local Team Easily Defeats Opposition to Win Group Title in Toronto.

The Peterborough "Y" volleyball team experienced no difficulty in taking the group title in Toronto on Saturday. They handily defeated all the other entires and qualified to play in the Provincial championships at Hamilton on April 13th.

One of the disappointments of the tourney was the weakness of the Belleville entry. Usually they play a bang-up game and are right in at the finish, but they managed to win only one game in the whole series, splitting even with the Frost Wire team from Hamilton, playing in their first competition. Incidentally, with a little more experience and a little better balance. This Frost team will be a real contender next year.

It is a good thing for Peterborough that they did not meet any very strong competition, for, although playing a steady enough game, all the players seemed slightly off top form and there was practically none of the deadly spiking which usually characterizes their play. It is to be hoped that by the time they hit Hamilton they will have snapped out of their coma. Otherwise the chances for a Provincial title coming to town will be small.

The Blue and White lost only one game on Saturday and that could have been avoided. With the tournament already in the bag and nothing at stake in the last game, Manager Daniel threw all his reserves on the floor cold. Before they could get warmed up, the opposing team (Toronto Broadview) who were already warmed up, ran up a lead that could not be handled and the game was finally lost, 15-12.

The next two weeks will see the locals out practising nightly, for they are determined to bring home the bacon from the championship series.

LEAFS BREAK EVEN IN WEEK-END GAMES

Toronto Team Loses on Saturday But Wins From Columbus Sunday.

AVON PARK, April 1.—(C.P.)—Although Ike Boone is getting nothing but promises from Larry McPhail of the Reds in lieu of the player help that he so eagerly requires and so sadly needs, his Leafs are not doing badly, all things considered.

Sunday they licked the Little World Series champions, 10 to 5, and secured revenge for their defeat Saturday by Columbus, their conquerors in the junior classic last year. The score on Saturday was 10 to 1, with all the "breaks" going against the Leafs. John Yelovic and Earl Cook were the victims of the Red Birds' 13-hit onslaught, the 6-footer from Topeka, who went six innings, deserving a much better fate. He fireballed Blade's bunch to death in five of the frames in which he worked, extinguishing the side almost in order, but the fourth proved his Waterloo.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

FUTURE TO JOB.

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

ATLANTA, Ga., April 1 (A.P.)—This would be a great day to pull the prediction that Philadelphia Athletics will win the American League pennant, then leave town, just as the A's are doing themselves. Unfortunately the joker in the calendar would be detected quickly. Besides the A's won't win the pennant and Jimmie Foxx would be irritated.

Likes His New Job.

The extra "x" in Jimmie's name marks the spot he is on this spring, doing the backstopping for the venerable Connie Mack's youthful aggregation and running the risk of checking abruptly the career of one of the greatest batsmen in the American League. After a month behind the bat during the season of the year when pitchers, especially young pitchers, are at their wildest, Foxx is unscathed and has nothing more than a mild backache to complain about. The truth is that Jimmie, despite some misgivings, likes his new job because "there's a future in it."

"It's a different proposition this spring," admits Foxx, "it's a tougher job for me behind the plate, but I'm satisfied now I can really help the club, also that we are going somewhere."

Three Fight For Lead Florida Yacht Races

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 1. (AP). — Three swift yachts were fighting for the lead in the St. Petersburg-Havana race early today with latest reports giving the edge of the Vamarie, mahogany-hulled ketch owned by the Long Island yachtsman, Vadim Makaroff.

The coast guard patrol boat Nike, convoy craft, reported the Vamarie had overhauled the Azara, 113 foot schooner entered by Commodore Hugh B. Matheson of Miami. The cutter Aweigh, owned by I. M. Bailliere of Gibson Island, Md., was the third racer tilting for the lead.

It's from St. Petersburg, Fla., and Randy Moore, of the Boston Braves, is out at the plate trying to score on the ancient squeeze play. Bill Delancey, St. Louis Cardinals' catcher, is tagging him.

CHAPTER 49

Aunt Minnie and Addison continued to find in each other the mother and son they both had missed. If Aunt Minnie sometimes giggled over him in the kitchen, it was only as a devoted courtier would giggle over the humorlessness of a monarch. The approaching baby made her additionally happy. She spared Bet pointedly all the time. Also she planned continually as to what she and Bet and Addison would do with the income from the new development. So did Addison and Bet. Sometimes Leila thought she would jump out the window if they kept on.

"When are you going to annul your marriage and live according to your principles?" she demanded of Addison one afternoon when the castles in the air were more exasperating than usual. Aunt Minnie was out somewhere making calls.

"I don't know what you are talking about, Leila. You have too much rouge on," said Bet coldly, putting her feet up on the swing seat.

"I think I remember," Addison that lover of truth, interposed. "But really, Leila, to bring up all the wild ideas of young people so long after—"

Did everybody have a faintly reproving tone when they talked to her, or was she just tired and cross? She was just tired and cross, she decided. And everyone around the house was so incredibly loving.

Life was a dulled, dimmed affair except for waves of painful, intense excitement when she was out where there was a possibility of her coming across Jerry. If, at one of these places where he might be—the Country Club or the beaches over the week-end—they met, seeing him, after a wild moment of excitement, hurt horribly. And if she didn't see him, she felt as if she had lost something very necessary and the day was lost, too. It was strange, because she hated and despised him, she assured herself, and knew what he was. Aside from this she went, with a fair semblance of gayety and enthusiasm, through the routine prescribed for Orton Johnston-Hedges' sweetheart, and sometimes enjoyed herself. She would get over it all, she assured herself, soon. She wasn't romantic.

Meanwhile the building of the pretty tinted stucco houses and the pool and the community house at Addison's improvement went on and on.

The summer swept on. The autumn began. Her marriage day which Mrs. Johnston-Hedges and Orton had set for the 15th of October, came closer and closer. Around her mounted higher and higher the aroma of an attitude that she was lucky beyond everything in the world. Orton, the most marriageable male in Fernwood and all its improvements, was going to bestow upon her the privilege of being his wife. The girls had stopped envying her; they merely accepted and were awed.

"There isn't anything else that can happen," thought Leila in a quite cowardly fashion. "At least I'll be married and away for awhile before the question of taxes and foreclosure and all that comes up, and the village meeting is after that. And maybe Orton will be so mellowed by wedlock that he'll let Aunt Minnie keep her house." But she knew better.

She should also have known better than to think nothing else could happen. That thought is always the precursor of a happening.

"We are going," said Addison grandly one night about the 20th of September, "to have a formal opening of Fernwood Waters."

Nobody, so far as she knew, had bought any of the poor little bright-tiled, bright-colored eight-room houses; nobody had taken up any of the lots as yet not built on. And Addison was going to have a formal opening. This was the beginning of the end.

"It's to be a banquet," Addison continued, brightly, sandy, neat, and virtuous beyond hearing. "And Mrs. Johnston-Hedges is helping me organize it. I shall be glad, of course, to have you at the speakers' table, Leila, with Orton."

"Why are you having her?" Leila asked. She remembered Orton's embarrassment that day—the only day—she had gone with him to Fernwood Waters. He had, by his manner, made it fatally plain that Mrs. Johnston-Hedges was doing something about it.

"Because she is deeply interested," Addison answered, his stiffness becoming more pronounced. "She has given me valuable advice over a period of time. She is a person of wide civic interest and civic experience."

She was. But also she was, her daughter-in-law elect knew of old, a fatally astute politician, and ruthless as politicians must be ruthless. No bread of hers was ever cast on the waters unless it was sure to return a three-tiered layer cake. She was unquestionably playing her hand with Addison with a view to defeating him at the village meeting, and securing the privacy of the Manor bathing beach forever and ever; and Addison was trotting along lovingly by her, a lamb to the slaughter; and Leila couldn't make out what was going on underneath.

"How has your electioneering for votes about the Manor beach come on?" she asked him.

He looked a little dazed, then cheered up. Leila wondered if he was still as keen about his civic gesture as he was when he lightheartedly threw away all their money for its sake.

"I am—ah—having to delegate some of the actual work to lieutenants," he said. "But DeFries and Redmond assume me that there is no question but that all will be well."

And that was all she could make him say. He believed what he was saying, unquestionably. And, of course, believed as he did in everybody but his father and a few people like that, in DeFries and Jerry. . . . But pleasant as DeFries was, unhappy as Jerry had looked when they had their last swift talk together, the talk that ended in the knowledge that he belonged to Mary Martin, Leila could not believe in them. It was a dreadful, a treacherous, an unfair world. Or perhaps it only seemed like that just now because she was an idiot, or because she was in a state of transition. After all, Mrs. Johnston-Hedges was a wise woman, and perhaps she was right when she talked about bridal tremors. Perhaps after she was married everything would be gay and satisfactory again; things would swing into their right perspective; she would be as happy as she had thought it would make her to marry Orton. No, not probably, certainly.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 2

A day of surprising and quite unforeseen good fortune is predicted from the governing planetary influences. There should be a definite increase of financial accumulations, either in speculative enterprises, or in investments.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of splendid good fortune with the finances increasing either through speculation, gaming or investment. An element of surprise seems to envelop such denouements. An enhanced state of popularity and prestige, with preferment from those in high places may be looked for.

A child born on this day may be efficient, versatile, ambitious and aspiring for good social and business position, which will make a happy and successful life for itself.

LERROUX BACK AS PREMIER.

MADRID, March 30 (AP).—Alejandro Lerroux was named to-day to succeed himself as Premier and form a new government in the crisis brought about by the voting of clemency for a score of men condemned to death as participants in the October revolt.

FRIENDS HONOR BENSFORD MAN

Travelling Bag is Presented to William Robb on Eve of Departure For Old Land.

CARDS AND DANCING.

BENSFORT, April 1 (Examiner Correspondence) — On Tuesday evening about fifty of the friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Pue to bid farewell to Mr. William Robb who is returning to the Old Country after spending the last four years on a farm in South Monaghan, owned by Mr. Bert Byers of Bailieboro.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing cards and dancing. Music was supplied by Messrs. Harold Moncrief, Cliff Emberson, Reg Atchison and Everett Wood.

After refreshments were served at midnight a presentation of a beautiful travelling bag, tie shirt and socks was made to Mr. Robb. Mr. Reg Perrin read an accompanying address. After Mr. Robb made a suitable reply all joined in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs Harold Moncrief, Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Reg Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pengelly, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Howson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. John Brackenridge, Mr. and Mrs. E Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brackenridge, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lord, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Finnie, Misses Helen Howson, Lulu Nurse, Mildred Hall, Wilma Perrin, Jean Stinson, June and Doris Finnie, Emma Edgerton, Grace Finnie and Messrs. George Finnie, Frank Barnard, Max Perrin, Herb Perrin, Harold Nurse, Tevor Wood, Stan Fry, Norman Fry, Lionel Perrin, Cliff Emberson, Reg Atchison, Willis Patton, Cliff Patton, Harold Patton, Arnold Cinnamon, Walter Caswell, Jack Varcoe.

Mrs. Wilbert Wood has returned home after spending a few days with her daughter Mrs. Herb Patton of Zion.

PAIN IN BACK

FOR those who suffer from pains across kidneys, heavy dull feelings, and sometimes swollen ankles or feet, Dr. Pierce's stimulant diuretic called "Anuric" brings relief. Read what Mrs. A. Stewart of 11—37th St., Hamilton, Ont., said: "When I suffer from terrible nagging pains in my back Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets always drive away the pains and regulate my kidneys. 'Anuric' acts quickly, it is necessary to take it only a short time when my kidneys are perfectly normal again." Sold by druggists everywhere.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory, Fort Erie North, Ont., for a trial package.

HEARTS
of thin-blooded people beat too fast

Test cases show that this condition is benefitted by treatment which supplies haematin (blood iron)

Heart, breath and blood work together to support life. Each has its own particular work to do. But when the blood becomes too thin and not able to carry on properly . . . the breath is drawn in quicker and the heart beats faster in order to help the blood. This, of course, should not be allowed to continue or serious consequences are likely to develop. And yet, in most cases, this condition is relieved by comparatively simple treatment.

CONVINCING RESULTS IN 30 DAYS

A number of persons all suffering more or less from thin, pale blood, were used by an authority to demonstrate the value of a certain remedy. Before treatment each one had a blood test which revealed exactly how poor their blood was. Then each person was told to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (called pink because of their pink sugar coating) for 30 days and return for another blood test. The results were even better than expected. In the case of one young woman the improvement shown was astonishing.

At the time of the first test she was run-down, devitalized and anaemic. Her blood had only 60 parts of iron-nutriment whereas it should have had 90 or 95. And her red blood corpuscles, instead of being up to 48 count, were down to 37! No wonder she always felt tired!

But look at the change at the end of 30 days! Her iron-nutriment or haemoglobin was increased to 84 parts, while her red corpuscles were up to 54 count! Actually higher than normal. What splendid evidence this is of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a tonic and blood-builder.

HOW THE TREATMENT WORKS

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supplies iron in a form which the system can change into haematin or blood iron. This enables the blood to pick up more oxygen and aids the system in the formation of more red corpuscles. As the blood becomes enriched again it does its work better and both heart beats and breathing slow down to normal and the person feels well once more.

If you or any other member of your family are suffering from rundown, anaemic conditions, look "peaked" and pale, feel dizzy at times or have a slight palpitation, don't expect the condition to get better of its own accord. Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which by actual test have proved their worth. They're safe to give to children as well as adults and have been favourably known for 40 years. Full size box 50c. 35H

VINELAND HOME RAZED BY FIRE

Valuable Furniture, Heirlooms Are Lost—Girl Leads Battle to Save House.

$10,000 LOSS.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 1.—(C.P.)— Valuable furniture and family heirlooms were destroyed and damage estimated at nearly $10,000 was done when fire of undetermined origin gutted the home of Levi Fretz at Vineland this morning. A daughter, Anna, gallantly fought the flames with firemen until overcome.

Mr. Fretz was awakened about four o'clock by crackling of flames. He aroused his daughter, Anna, and they discovered flames shooting up the dumb waiter shaft and part of the house was a raging inferno.

A telephone alarm brought 15 chemical extinguishers from Vineland's Experimental Station. Miss Fretz heroically dashed into danger a number of times, leading the fire fighters in their efforts. Finally she was over come and had to be given medical attention.

A 20-piece set of China brought to Canada at the beginning of the eighteenth century was saved. Loss was partially covered by insurance.

VOTERS' LISTS FOR REVISION

V. Eastwood, Registrar, Receives Local Lists From Ottawa.

NO SPRING ELECTION.

Official instructions for the final revision of the Federal voters' lists which are being compiled for this year's general elections have been received by Vincent Eastwood, registrar for the local riding, and their completion by July 1 precludes a Spring campaign.

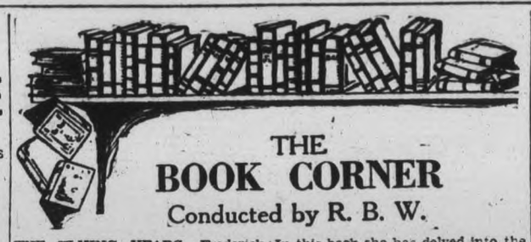
The time appointed for revisal of the lists confirms last week's reports from Ottawa, that the general elections will not likely take place before September.

Mr. Eastwood has received copies of the voters' list for the riding of Peterborough, which were published by the Dominion government's printing bureau. Throughout this month Mr. Eastwood will receive applications for the registration of voters whose names have been omitted from the list; and also objections to the retention in the list of the names of any persons who are not qualified electors.

This month, there, has been designated for the addition and also the deletion of names. Mr. Eastwood will be at 163½ Hunter street west.

Then from May 15 to June 30 revisal courts will be held at various places in the riding for the convenience of the electors of these communities. Announcement regarding this detail will be made later.

The riding of Peterborough, now represented by E. A. Peck, M.P., comprises this city, Lakefield and the following townships: North and South Monaghan, Smith, Otonabee, Douro, Ennismore, Harvey, Galway and Cavendish.



THE BOOK CORNER

Conducted by R. B. W.

THE FLYING YEARS.—Frederick Niven (Collins, Toronto).

There have been books and books about Western Canada. But it is very doubtful if any previous one has embraced the whole epic of Western Canadian development and caught the spirit of it in the way in which Frederick Niven has done in this novel. The story opens in the 1850's and closes about 1927.

It is the life of Angus Monroe, who came to the Red River Settlement as a youth with his parents, after their eviction from their home on Loch Brendan. "We'll take Scotland with us; a kingdom of the mind," they said. It could be no more than a kingdom of the mind because they found their lives were ordered very differently from the static state of Scotland. Here there was a dynamic force which changes the West in one generation from a country of buffalo, Indians and Red River carts to a country of grain fields, aeroplanes, and the radio.

Angus Monroe lived through it all. He built boats in the foothills of the Rockies; he, like others, married an Indian; he took part in promotion schemes concocted by his friend, Sam Douglas, and he lived on to see the day when all the luxuries of our time were as well known in Calgary and Edmonton as in the East.

To cover such a tremendous scope in a comparatively short novel is an achievement, and the author has done it and still been able to make it an interesting and, in places, an exciting tale. There are sidelights about the Red River and Northwest rebellions; there are pictures of Indian life, and there is always Sam Douglas who has a whole series of ideas which were "several jumps" ahead of everyone else. Mr. Niven makes his Indian characters very likeable, and one feels that the contact with the whites reduced a noble race to one of insignificance.

To be sure, Angus does not stay his whole life in Canada. Twice he answers the call of Loch Brendan. These visits seem irrelevant to the story, but the description of the loch is so excellently done that we can forgive.

SAGA OF SAINTS.—Sigrid Undset Longmans Green & Co.).

Those who have read Sigrid Undsets novels about life in Norway know how well she writes about the way of living and the customs there. In this book she has delved into the early history of her country, to a time when it is difficult to distinguish between fact and legend and when, aside from a few chroniclers, history was largely a matter of word of mouth.

The political unification of Norway was contemporary with its adoption of Christianity. This was more than a coincidence. During the 10th and 11th Centuries there was considerable interchange of ideas between Scandinavia and the British Isles and Normandy. For temporary periods, what are now the British Isles, were under the domination of Norway through the wars of the Vikings The Norwegian kings and chiefs thus came to know of Christianity and frequently such was their zeal that back home they gave the people the alternative of accepting it or being considered rebels and guilty of treason. It is true, of course, that even after the elements of Christianity were accepted in many parts of the country even until recent years the people retained their beliefs in superstitions that dated from pagan times.

Miss Undset has told the stories of the most famous saints in Norwegian history. She admits the place of legend but to a great extent these lives are authentic. Included is the life of St. Magnus the patron saint of the Orkney Islands, who lived about the year 1100. The St. Magnus Cathedral which stands to-day in Kirkwall was begun in 1137 and now is one of the oldest cathedrals in the British Isles.

Notes About Books

Willa Cather, author of that delightful book, "Death Comes to the Archbishop," has written a new book entitled "Lucy Gayheart" . . . JUSTICE DISPENSED IN PALACE

they thus coupled together to symbolize an undying and inseparable friendship as the members of some European confraternities used to do in the middle ages. No, when you see two men bound together like that with an unbreakable bond it means that the one owes money to the other. Creditors have the right to tie up their victims that way and keep them chained up till the last cent of their debt is paid.

The Abyssinians are monogamists with a qualification. Every women is entitled to five lovers. This is the rule, old as the days o the Queen of Sheba. When a lover visits his adored, he places his lance before the entrance of the hut. The other lovers or the lady's legitimate husband, when they happen to come along, know the meaning of this signal and continue on their way, or call around later. Disagreeable encounters are thus avoided, and law and order is maintained.

The Italians who now publish articles in their newspapers saying that the Abyssinians are savages, bloodthirsty brutes and uncivilized, could take an example at the way in which justice is dispensed in Abyssinia. When two men get into a dispute they promptly summon the nearest bystanders, and the processions sets off in the direction of one of the numerous booths in the streets where judges are permanently in session. There is no delay. Arugments begin at once. Every Abyssinian is a lawyer, at any rate every man undertakes his own defence before one of these open-air dispensaries of justice. The arguments pro and con go on indefinitely during which time the business of the litigants is suspended, which makes the Japanese smile....and do twice the amount of normal business.

Gold Is Popular

Every Abyssinian is loaded with gold ornaments. But when you ask where the gold mines are located, people shrug their shoulders. They say they inherited the ornaments, but do not recall where their ancestors obtained the precious metal. Judging by the crude implements and instruments in every trade, profession and occupation—a plow is still a pointed stick and the surgeon's lancet still the razor with which he shaves himself and his customers....If you take into consideration, I say, the primitive character of the instruments, the mines from which all the gold has been drawn must have been immensely rich, in fact the yellow metal must have lain there for the grabbing. King Solomon's mines?

There are four million slaves in Abyssinia. But even the church is of the opinion that they cannot be liberated all at once. "This would throw the slaves into misery," declared an ecclesiastic, "and the country into anarchy." As a matter of fact the present negus has abolished slavery by decree. But very few slaves have left their masters. In appearance, therefore, everything remained as it was. In reality all is changed. And the slaves know it. If they want to be free, they only have to present themselves at a bureau of liberation, where they can have a certificate of freedom for the asking. Of the four million, less than 10,000 have taken advantage of this opportunity.

Love Ritual

All gestures are ritual in Abyssinia. For instance, in the matter of jurisprudence to which I referred above, I noticed that when a plaintiff is about to state his case, he first bows to the judge, then takes three steps forward, next he retreats the same distance, then lifts his right hand in the manner of the fascist salute (only they didn't acquire this habit from the Italians, you may be sure) and spreads out the fingers of this extended hand. In order to launch his argument, launch is the right word, the plaintiff then performs a violent contortion of the upper body. Whenever I saw this complicated manoeuvre, and one can see it ten times a day on any street of Addis Abeba, the gestures made me think of the fancy tralalas of some baseball pitchers before they finally let go of the ball.

Then the bystanders begin to wager on the judgment. "I bet you this guy is right," says one citizen. "What do you bet that he is gonna get soaked just the same?" So they bet and the arguments before the judge grow hotter and hotter.

They bet on everything and on all occasions. The Abyssinian word for betting is "shilo." This word also stands for meeting, party, procession, crowd, congregation and audience. You hear the word on all sides, any time of the day and night, "How many carrots has this huckster in his stall?" "Twenty?" "I bet "How many carrots has this huckyou he has thirty." "How old is that girl? Sixteen you say? I bet she isn't thirteen. Whaddielyebet?"

Emperor Judges

The whole of Ethodpia is one immense tribunal and gaming house. The Abyssinians affirm that rendering justice is as necessary as defending the fatherland. That's a proverb with them. Justice, they render, I know. Whether they can defend the home ranch as well, we will probably know in a month or so.

Twice a week the emperor sits in the front room of the palace to decide vexing questions of litigation. Anybody can go up to the palace nad be present at those palavers. It is a custom which comes down from the days of his majesty's distant ancestor, King Solomon, who used to sit in the palace gate of Jerusalem to receive disputants. Every single individual present has a right to express his opinion on the case under consideration. All want to take advantage of this right if only to draw the emperor's attention to their own eloquence, appearance or wisdom.

SCOUT NEWS

A Thought for the Week:

"A stick and a smile will carry you through most of the difficulties in this life—especially the smile!

Did you ever try cooking eggs this way? Wrap the egg in several layers of wet paper, cover this with ashes and live coals and build a good fire over it. The wet paper doesn't burn much and the steam with the heat will cook the eggs quite nicely. Potatoes may be cooked this way, but it takes a longer time. —Reported by 9th Owen Sound Troop.

Final arrangements for the Rally of Guides and Scouts in connection with the coming visit to Toronto of the Chief Scout, Lord Baden-Powell, are completed by the Provincial headquarters. Owing to the large number of visiting Guides and Scouts expected to attend, it was decided to stage the rally in two sections, with the Guides taking the early portion of the afternoon, and the Scouts the later. Both rallies will be held in the Coliseum. Plans concerning local representations are about completed and they will be announced later.

Boy Scouts of America are celebrating the 25th anniversary by a great birthday national jamboree in Washington, D.C., Aug. 21-30. A cordial invitation to Canadian Scouts was accepted by the executive board of the Canadian General Council. The Canadian Contingent will attend as guests in one of the great jamboree camps. Participants must be First-class Scouts at least 15 years old; must be experienced campers; be recommended by Scout Masters; be physically fit and in good health. Cost of attending the jamboree is the railway fare and $10 for 10-day camp. Further particulars may be obtained from Prov. Headquarters, or from the April issue of the Scout Leader.

Outstanding dates for Canadian Scouts for this year are:

Visit of the Chief Scout in Toronto on May 11th;

Forestry Demonstration Camp at Angus, May 23-26;

Scouts' Training Course at Ebor Park, Gilwell Camp; Cub leaders, July 13-20; Scout leaders, July 23-Aug. 3;

World Rover Meet in Ingoro, Sweden, July 29-Aug. 5;

25th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America in Washington, D.C., Aug. 21-30.

Addtional games for recreation for the Rovers, besides ping-pong is ring or deck tennis, which proves very attractive to the Rovers. Tournaments in both games will begin Wednesday. The winner must win three games out of five.

The last meeting of the 2nd (St. Luke's) Troop besides instructions in first and second class work included a compass game also a treasure hunt. The treasure was a Turk's head.

After a long period of inactivity, members of the 6th (St. Peter's) Troop held their first meeting last Friday. The meeting, owing to the absence of S.M. E. Wolfe was in charge of the Troop Leader.

Work in 1st and 2nd class work was reviewed, and several games were played, after which all members attended the exhibition in the Vocational School.

A very interesting report was turned in by the 8th (St. Andrew's) Troop. Three members of the troop presented the first edition of a troop paper. It is called The Record, and is edited by P.L. W. Hamilton and his second. The paper contains news contributed by members of the troop. Their aims are to make it an inter-troop paper and one of the best Scout puplications.

CHANCE OF WAR IMPOSSIBILITY

More and Bishop John Fisher for approval of the cardinals, the Pope said that despite this reason for profound joy, "wherever we turn our eyes to that frightly crisis—economic, political and especially moral—in which humanity is caught, when we consider the consequences still more tragic that one fears for the future, there is indeed reason to be deeply sad."

"However, it is true that while damage from the last European war has not yet been repaired." he continued, "here again the horizon is darkened with thick clouds, pierced by sinister rays—something which keeps mind in suspense and trembling.

"The words of Jesus Christ are recalled to our minds, 'You shall hear of wars and sedition.' . . .

"There will be . . . pestilences and famine and terror from Heaven; and there shall be great signs; . . . men withering away for fear and expectation of what shall come upon the whole world'."

Divine Aid

"We are not surprised, therefore" Pope Pius said, "if people in so much consternation and so much confusion of nations, turn their eyes from every side to the Common Father in order to ask for light, relief and hope."

It was for this reason, therefore, said his holiness that he wishes to speak to-day.

"In fact, if in every time men have need of Christian virtue and of hope," he said, "it is especially necessary they have recourse to it with greater intensity in these calamitous times believing for certain they themselves and their affairs are governed by the sign of God."

The Pope urged, therefore, "that the anxiety of the mind repose in their virtue and change into ardent prayer to the Father of Infinite mercies in order that better times might finally come to human kind."

He recommended the ejacuation of the Apostles when they cried out to Christ as waves were about to engulf them, "O Lord, save us lest we perish."

Two Canonizations

The first part of the Pontiff's allocution was devoted to presentations of the two canonizations and beseeching the grace of God on the country of the two martyrs —England. He recalled the forthcoming celebration of the 25th anniversary of the coronation of King George and Queen Mary.

Twenty cardinals, gathered in the first secret consistory called in 18 months raised their hands to approve the canonization of Sir Thomas More and Bishop Fisher, who lost their heads for opposing the marriage of Henry VIII to Anne Boleyn.

The editor will appreciate the cooperation of all troops by contributing articles for this paper. A complimentary edition is expected to be given to each Scouter early in April.

The troop is to have a program of entertainment which will include a moving picture show by Mr. Fred Roy early in May. Proceeds will be used for the trip to Toronto at the time of the Chief's visit.

At an earlier date we announced that the members of the newly-organized 7th (St. Paul's) Troop will be invested as Scouts on Monday, April 1st. However, this date had to be changed to April 8th.

Eight Scouts (four from St. Andrews' and four from St. John's Troop) gave their services for an entire day to the local badminton club, when they had their play-offs recently. The Scouts served as runners and messengers.

MILLBROOK ANGLICANS ENJOY SLIDES OF WORK AMONG INDIANS

Rev. W. Simpson Gives Interesting Talk on Achievements of Bishop Bompas.

ASSISTED ESKIMOS.

MILLBROOK, April 1 (Examiner Correspondence) — "The one hundredth anniversary of his birth, and the sixtieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, were celebrated last year," explained Rev. William Simpson, B.A., as the picture of the loved Bishop Bompas was thrown on the screen at the public gathering held in the parish hall of St. Thomas' Anglican Church on Thursday evening, the slides shown being illustrative of the W.A. study book for the past year, "Stewards of our Goodly Heritage."

"Bishop Bompas was our first missionary to the Indians and Eskimos, and his life work was in the far north; he ended his days in the Yukon, and was buried where he loved to labor. He was a Cambridge graduate, and an expert in Oriental languages; only once in his long ministry did he return to England. His wife was an invaluable helpmate, and a cultured English woman."

Pictures of Indians, some in modern dress and others, especially the women, clinging to their native garb, led to the information that there are ten different tribes of Indians in Canada, and 108,000 in all in the Dominion. "They are not increasing, but rather dying off; we got this country from them, and so surely we should give them the best we can, in things spiritual and temporal, in liquidation of our debt."

An Indian Choir

The slides made quite clear the different kinds of people, and varieties of places and work, in which the Anglican church carries for the Kingdom in our own country, and amongst these was an Indian choir of forty voices, taken in front of the church at Caledonia, B.C., the surplices all were wearing having been made by the girl members, and with the caps, the whole expense had not exceeded seventy-five dollars. During his residence in the West, as travelling secretary for the young peoples' work of the church, Rev. Mr. Simpson had visited most of the places shown, and could add personal experiences to the lecture material which accompanied the slides. A number of the mission schools for Indians were shown, both day and residential, the speaker explaining that the absolute change to boarding-school life is not always as beneficial. "They may not develop so rapidly in day school, but returning day by day to their homes the boys and girls undoubtedly have an influence on their parents that gives them the benefit of the teaching the young folk are receiving."

The church at Gypsumville, in northern Manitoba, was a point of interest inasmuch as the mining of gypsum is now a very important industry and night and day trains are bringing it out from this centre. "It is a dreary, desolate place, but the Indians trap, shoot and fish in Lake Winnipeg, and manage to make a living." The splendid Blackfoot residential school also had a feature of local interest since the late Dr. Henry Turner, father of Dr. H. A. Turner, of Millbrook, was for two years connected with this school as physician ,and his two daughters, Misses Alice and Isabel, also were on its staff. The present school, as Mr. Simpson told, is the third building; the first enlarged and finally superseded by the second, which was destroyed by fire; the present school is altogether fireproof, even the window sills being of steel, and the floors of concrete. "It simply could not be burned," the speaker said, "and all our schools are now being built in this manner." It is located at Gleichen, Alberta, and the modern kitchen explained itself as to equipment and size when the slide was thrown on the screen; there are 100 pupils.

Planes In Use Now

Two Indian boys, one in rags, and the other, his brother, well dressed and clean, showed the contrast "before and after" attending the mission school. "You can see for yourselves what your money, and the contents of your bale, accomplish after looking at this picture," was the lecturer's comment. "Schools and churches in the far north are now easily reached by airplane where formerly it took two weeks with team and sleigh," said the speaker showing such a mission centre 500 miles north of Prince Albert at Lac La Range, "and it is cheaper eliminating the necessary cost of staying over night at roadhouses, and the care of the team."

The new terminal of the T.N. and O. Railway, Moosonee, on James Bay, was another interesting highlight of the story as it proceeded to tell how "across the great long marches, press the heralds of the King," its newness being aparent in the scarcity of buildings though the church was there with its work steadily going forward; also the scenic beauty, on which the government relies for the attraction of tourists, and the promise of boating and fishing, were likewise apparent. Going from the Atlantic coast with the arrival of a steamer loaded with immigrants, to the west, with the mission boats plying the Pacific coast; and to the farthest north with the change seen in the faces of Eskimo women after their contact with Christianity; again to the fine work of the Sunday School Mission, two girls living in a Ford truck, which also carries supplies, as they seek out the children of scattered settlers; or of the Sunday School by Post, with the room where the big bags of supplies are filled and made ready to go on their way, the fascinating tale was told.

The work at Harrington Harbor, in Labrador, founded by Bishop George Mountain, has been carried on now for seventy-two years, and three hundred miles of coast line makes a part of the large area served; the buildings comprise church, school and hospital. The tale by picture and lecture closed with information regarding work among Jewish children in Toronto and Montreal.

Trent River

Miss Phyllis Brown, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown, of West Seymour, pupil in attendance at High School, Campbellford, has not been enjoying good health of late, and has been ordered through medical advice to rest for a year. Phyllis entered Mrs. Cummings' Hospital on Friday for an operation for removal of her tonsils, which proved successful, and she returned to her home on Saturday.

Mr. George Wigmore, who has spent the winter in St. Catharines, has returned to the home of his nephew, Mr. W. G. Barrie and family.

Mr. and Mrs. William Preston were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson at Hastings.

Mrs. Thomas Forsyth has returned to Havelock after a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sedgwick.

Mr. Ed. Wildman had a birthday anniversary on Friday, March 29, celebrating it with his family at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Morden McMillan and family.

The Havelock Women's Institute sent an invitation to Trent River Branch to attend their regular meeting on Monday, April 1, when a special program will be featured.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vanvolkenburg and son Eldon, of Norwood Road, were Friday visitors with Mr and Mrs. W .A. Davidson.

Mrs. Harry Petherick and daughter Getra, of Rush Point, have been recent visitors at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McMillan.

New higher capital taxes are expected to slow up the investment of capital in new industries in Colombia.

"The Bridge Grudge Battle Of Century"

CULBERTSON SIMS

Supposed to be the "grudge battle of the century," Ely Culbertson and his wife took on P. Hal Sims and his wife in a bridge battle to decide something or other. It seems that Sims once accused Culbertson of "lifting" the Sims' system and calling it his own. Whereupon press agents worked up a real fight. In actual play, they started off by overdoing the praise for each other's play—to say nothing of sitting through an eight-course dinner. Play will continue for about 15 days.

GODOLPHIN COMMUNITY CLUB ENDS SEASON AT HASTINGS

Debate "Resolved Riches Greater Source of Unhappiness Than Poverty" is Feature.

MIXED PROGRAM ENJOYED.

HASTINGS, April 1 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Godolphin Community Club organized early in the fall has provided some very interesting programs throughout the winter. Each meeting has been looked forward to with pleasure but as the busy season is approaching the final meeting was held in the Stone School on Wednesday evening with a very large attendance. In the absence of the president, Percy Jones the chair was occupied by Peter Fairman. The editorial news of the community was read by Harry Brooks.

The main feature of the evening's program was a debate "Resolved that Riches are a Greater Source of Unhappiness Than Poverty." The debaters were Wilfred Stevenson and Mrs. Rae Seeney for the affirmative and Harry Brooks and Miss Marian Wilson for the negative. Percy Honey, Mrs. William Honey of Dartford and Mrs. Roy King of Hastings gave the decision.

A lengthy and enjoyable program was enjoyed by all. Following the program a vote of thanks was extended to the secretary. Mrs. R. Seeney and the editor H. Brooks, who so generously gave their time in connection with the reports. Mr. Fairman in a few remarks thanked everyone for their co-operation in the work of the club which was organized to create a community spirit. Leslie Hardy, teacher of the school announced a special invitation to the club by the Dartford Society to be their guests on April 12th in Dartford.

Roseneath

Miss Evelyn Turner came home from the hospital in Toronto to visit her mother, Mrs. Lily Turner, and was called to Peterborough to nurse her aunt, Miss Ida Turner who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Brown and family are moving to a farm belonging to Mrs. Turk and formerly occupied by Jack Ferguson, about three miles from the village of Baltimore.

Mrs. Frank Nichol received the sad news last week of the death of her sister Esther, widow of the late Edward Nichol of Strathroy, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Halstead and son, Eugene of Bewdley spent Thursday afternoon in the village with friends and her mother, Mrs. E. J. Milne.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mouncey spent Thursday with friends near Bewdley.

Young's Point

Mrs. Fanny Riley of Buffalo N.Y., who has spent the past few weeks at the home of her brother, Mr. Henry Freeburn and also among other friends and relatives in the village, returned to her home on Wednesday.

Mr. Harry Keslick of Toronto called on old friends in the village on Wednesday.

Miss Lettie Wannamaker of Lakefield spent a few days with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Young.

Miss Clara Young has returned home from a week-end visit with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rangkis of Windsor.

Mr. Dave Darling spent a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Darling, where his father is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wilson, Mr. and Wm. Lane and Miss Mary Lane attended the funeral of the late Matthew Bell of Selwyn in Lakefield on Thursday.

Miss Alice Dunsford of Douro is at present employed in the village at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston and family who have spent the past winter in the house owned by Mr. Samuel Duval, are now moving up to their cottage on Clear Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Duval of Peterborough are expected to come back to the village this week.

Mr. Frank Freeburn motored to Buffalo, N.Y. on Wednesday.

Owing to a slight error in the report of the Selwyn Cheese Factory, Mr. Gordon Fitzgerald was named as president of the factory, instead fo Mr. Gilbert McIlmoyle.

Doctors in the Canadian Arctic used airplanes in urgent cases during the winter.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE HOLDS QUILTING

Treasurer of Millbrook Presbyterian Group Reports $30.25 From Irish Supper.

MILLBROOK, April 1 (Examiner Correspondence)—The March meeting of the Women's League of Grace Presbyterian Church was held in the basement on Thursday afternoon, the thirty or more members present spending the earlier part of the time in completing two quilts; one is for the League ,and the other, made by Mrs. T. C. Ingram's group, will have a 'draw' made for it at a date to be decided later.

The president, Mrs. C. Thorndyke, took the chair for the business period, when the treasurers for the separate groups were appointed, this measure relieving the general treasurer, Mrs. F. J. Deyell, from the extra work involved in the group system. Mrs. Deyell reported $30.25 taken in the recent Irish supper.

On motion of Mrs. H. R. Williams and Mrs. T. Wilson, the visiting committee, Mrs. F. Deyell and Miss A. Johnson, were appointed for the next three months; and the flower committee, Mrs. H. C. Lord and Mrs. Fred Deyell, appointed Mrs. T. C. Ingram's group to furnish the church with flowers for April.

The next meeting will be at the president's home, with her group providing the program and serving afternoon tea. A number of visitors came in for the tea hour on Thursday, Mrs. Ingram and her group serving the dainty meal.

Beatrice McDowell was in the chair for the meeting of the Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group on Wednesday evening, the story of the flood furnishing the study theme for the worship period. The responsive readings and prayers were on "Intercession," and the business period featured a general talk on events of the day, testing the individual interest in world affairs.

The subject of "Courtesy in 'teen age girls," was taken up in the deportment talk, by the question and answer method, and the musical number was supplied by Christina Reid and Eleanor Bigelow. The usual social hour was enjoyed at the close.

Mrs. Peter Mynman, of Calcarres, Sask., visited her friend, Miss L. Orchard, this week.

A number of members from the local Badminton Club motored to Peterborough on Saturday evening and enjoyed the tournament with players of that city. Misses Ella Elson and Margaret McCarhy won the ladies' doubles, and were awarded a handsome silver cup.

BAILIEBORO.

Mrs. M. Chambers of Pontypool visited friends in the vicinity during the past week.

Mr. Norman Armstrong of Port Hope visited his mother, Mrs. M. Armstrong, on Saturday.

Mr. Keith Barnard of Toronto spent the week-end the guest of his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie and little daughter, of Coldsprings, visited Mrs. Watt on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Atchison were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Tobscott on Sunday.

LOVES TO EAT THIS CEREAL, IT CHECKED HER CONSTIPATION*

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Helped Miss Kesterke

We quote from her letter: "Three years ago, I became constipated.* I tried many laxatives. But as soon as I got used to each kind, I began to get the same trouble.

"Last summer I was on my vacation. They served Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I just loved it. I eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every morning, and ever since I have not had to take any more laxatives."—Miss Margaret Kesterke. Address on request.

*Due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle. It resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables, so it is often more effective.

Isn't this food safer than risking patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. If seriously constipated, use with each meal. See your doctor, if you do not get relief.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Strike Workers Picket London Relief Projects

LONDON, Ont.—London township relief workers are on strike today and the township relief projects are being picketed. There are two pieces of work ditching, one west of London and the other on the third concession of London township, between Adelaide street and the asylum sideroad. Sixty men are out on strike and a large majority of these are by the roadside guarding the site of the work. The workers' complaints are they do not receive sufficient relief.

DISARMAMENT MILITARY, NAVAL MUST FOLLOW

Drastic Action Stipulated as Price of British Participation in Pact.

EDEN IN WARSAW.

Poland Hesitant on Grounds Agreement Would Allow Passage of Troops Over Her Territory.

WARSAW, April 2.—(CP-Havas)—Britain is inclined toward participation in an Eastern Locarno pact, provided it is accompanied by universal and drastic naval and military disarmament, it was reported today in British circles as Capt. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, and Polish Foreign Minister Joseph Beck began their conferences at the Foreign Office.

This was the position Capt. Eden was said to be taking at the outset of the talks. Moreover, to persuade the Polish Foreign Minister to take a more favorable view of the proposed Eastern Locarno, the British envoy was understood to have said in the proposed agreement, Poland could agree to permit only the passage of planes of the signatory powers, over her territory.

The chief Polish objection hitherto to the Eastern Locarno was it would subject the nation to passage of foreign troops over her territory in the event of an unprovoked attack.

The reaction of Col. Beck to this reported modification could not be ascertained here but it was admitted in Polish circles that it was susceptible of lessening Warsaw's opposition to the projected security and non-aggression agreement.

The Anglo-Polish discussions began at the Foreign Office at 11 a.m. following a brief courtesy call by the Lord Privy Seal to the residence of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski.

SWISS PROBING NAZIS ACTIVITY

Send Strong Protest to Berlin on Alleged Abduction of Fugitive German Newsman.

INDEPENDENCE AT STAKE.

BERNE, Switzerland, April 2 (CP)—The Swiss Government today ordered on investigation of the Nazi party in Switzerland, following the dispatch of a strong note of protest to Germany against the alleged abduction of a German newspaperman who had sought refuge in Switzerland.

The Swiss Nazis, holding Fascist ideals, are organized on the exact pattern of the German Nazis. Led by their own Feuhrer, Theodore Fischer, the "Confederated National Socialists" fly the Swastika flag, use the Nazi salute, and avowedly seek to drive all Jews from Switzerland. Fischer has said he believes all Switzerland's troubles would be solved by annexation to Germany.

"If the German Government continues to refuse satisfaction," said M. Motta, "we will revoke the Treaty of 1921 drawn up between Switzerland Germany. Our right seems obvious and will not permit weakening."

632 Heads of Families Are Still Getting Relief in Peterborough.

FORESTALL WOOD YARD.

Council Grants $300 to Aid in Gardens for the Unemployed.

Peterborough's relief bill for March amounted to $15,826.82 as shown by City Clerk Armstrong's report to the council last night.

The items of disbursement were as follows:—provisions, $7,648.91; milk, $1,252.32; fuel, $2,996.28; clothing, $842.99; medicine, $44.99; rent, $2,382.83; doctors, $658.50.

There were 2634 persons on relief last month, of whom 632 were heads of families, 1934 dependents, 36 single men and 32 single women.

Orders for provisions, according to the statement from Relief Officer A. G. Metheral, totalled 2106; for fuel, 1018; milk, 421; clothing, 486; dental treatments, 44; medicine, 83; rent, 603; medical attendance, 261; indigents, 35; indigents refused, 3; ambulance orders, 4; funerals, 6.

47 Fire Alarms

Chief Gimblett reported 47 fire alarms during March, and estimated the total loss at $1,178.64, of which $628.25 applied to buildings and $550.39 to contents.

$300 For Gardens

For another's season's gardening by unemployed men, the council set aside $300 to buy seed and other materials needed for the summer's work. Ald Ellis' motion was seconded by Ald. Macdonald.

Woman Found Dead In University Library

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.).—Her knees draw up under her body, a little woman with short gray hair as yet unidentified though recognized by police as a frequent visitor down town, was found dead to-day in the reading-room of the library of the University of Toronto. She had fallen through the north window and had dropped about five feet to the floor. Foul play was at first suspected, but this theory has been discarded. It is now thought probable the woman became lost while walking through the University grounds, and followed the railing directly south of Hart House right up to the window and stumbled through.

EATONS OPPOSE INSURANCE FOR RETAIL TRADE

Banking Committee Told Contributions Would Far Exceed Benefits.

MEAN HIGHER PRICES.

Cost Must Be Added to Merchandise — Most Male Employees Opposed.

OTTAWA, April 2.—(C.P.)—Requesting the retail trade be exempted from the Dominion employment and social insurance scheme, the T. Eaton Company, through W. G. Mills, to-day gave the Senate Banking and Commerce committee figures purporting to support its contention of stability of employment in the retail business.

About 75 per cent of the company employees had been with the Eaton concern for more than two years, Mr. Mills said.

Contributions the company and employees would have to make under the plan "would be out of all proportions to the benefits which would be received," he said. In one year, Mr. Mills calculated, Company employees would receive $133,879 in benefits but would be contributing $216,340 annually.

Cost and Reforms.

The company also would be contributing $216,340 yearly. Total contributions of the Eaton employees, the Eaton Company and the Government each year would approximate $519,216 a year with the benefits received yearly by company employees amounting only to $133,879, Mr. Mills said.

He said the cost would have to be added to the selling prices of certain merchandise.

The T. Eaton Company had made a survey among its employees in regard to the Dominion plan, he said. Of those canvassed no male employees favored coming under the scheme while the women employees did not know what the plan was about and did not understand it.

Elderly Colborne Woman Is Drowned

COLBORNE, Ont., April 2 (CP)—Mrs. P. Walker, former Bowmanville resident, was found drowned to-day in a pond not far from her home at Colborne. Mrs. Walker, an elderly lady, wandered away early this morning, apparently on the way to her son's home. A few hours later her body was found partly submerged in a small pond. Coroner Dr. A. C. McGlennon decided an inquest would be unnecessary and stated in was accidental death.

Bills To Reduce Cuts In Civil Service Pay

OTTAWA, April 2 (C.P.).—Resolutions preliminary to the introduction of bills for a reduced cut from 10 to five per cent. in Civil Service salaries as from April 1 today were placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by Minister of Finance E. N. Rhodes. The resolutions will be moved in the Commons to-morrow.

The reduced five per cent. cut to be in effect until March 31 next will be provided for by two bills. One will deal with the regular Civil Service, while the second measure will cover members of the judiciary, military, naval and air forces as well as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The deduction for the regular Civil Service is treated directly as a salary increase but the second bill for the judiciary military forces and the R.C.M.P. handles the situation by imposing the cut by way of a special income tax of five per

Budget Highlights as Presented By Ontario's Premier M. Hepburn

HON. M. F. HEPBURN, PREMIER, PROVINCIAL TREASURER

C.N.R. REVENUES SHOW INCREASE OF $16,382,759

Figures Tabled By Manion in House Represent Jump of 11 Per Cent.

OTTAWA, April 2.—(CP)— Gross operating revenues of the Canadian National Railways in 1934 increased by $16,382,759, or 11 per cent over the figures for the preceding year, the annual report for the Canadian National system tabled in the House of Commons today by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals. With this increase in gross revenues, the cash deficit was reduced by $10,547,000. The cash deficit for the past year was $48,407,900.

The report, as presented to the minister by Hon. C. P. Fullerton, K.C., chairman of the trustees and F. K. Morrow and J. Edouard Labelle, K.C., trustees, cover the first year of operation under the board of trustees.

Table of Results

During 1934 the operating results were as follows:

Railway operating revenues	$164,902,501
Operating expenses	151,936,078
NNet revenue	12,936,423

Taxes, rentals and other cash requirements amounted to $5,582,577. Interest on funded debt held by the public was $56,811,745. After provision for tax, rentals and interest, the system had a cash deficit for the year of $48,047,900, a betterment of $10,547,488 compared with the preceding year.

"The Canadian National Railways," the report stated, "has ob-

Cree Indian Woman 104 Years Old To-Day

CHAPLEAU, Ont., April 2 (C.P.). — Mrs. Jacob Macowatch, full-blooded Cree Indian, celebrated her 104th birthday at the Lady Minto Hospital here Monday. Though in perfect health, she has lived at the hospital for three years. Her memory is as keen as ever, though her eyesight is failing.

Every birthday Mrs. Macowatch's seven surviving children, 46 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren hold a birthday party for her in the sun room of the hospital, and yesterday she celebrated by dancing an old Indian jig.

She was born at Moose Factory, and came to Chapleau with her husband, the Chief of the Crees, 42 years ago.

ONTARIO deficit as of October 31, 1934, $30,599,249.78, with five-month interim deficit up to March 31, 1935, of $7,449,233.61.

Government estimated deficit of $14,606,346.87 for new fiscal year beginning April 1.

Direct relief costs of $16,558,979.62 are included in 1933-34 deficit, and estimates for direct relief in 1935-36 are $15,000,000.

Estimated ordinary revenue for new fiscal year $73,705,246.38, and estimated expenditure $88,311,593.25.

Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, in budget address, charged former Premier George S. Henry "manipulated" accounts in last budget and should have reported deficit of $3,734,720.03 instead of surplus of $476,425.61.

Premier will seek conference with Dominion Government after next Federal election to ascertain what relief responsibility Dominion Government will assume.

Government announced new succession duty tax on estates of more than $1,000,000—progressive increase of one per cent. on each $1,000,000 to maximum of 14 per cent. Old tax was 10 per cent.

Syndicate units to be included under stock transfer tax; tax to be three cents for every $100 or fraction thereof.

Grant of $25,000 provided for maintenance of Lieutenant-Governor's official residence for new fiscal year.

RIOTS THREATEN CITY OF ATHENS

Troops Guard Govt Officials After 13 Rebel Officers Get Life Terms.

MOBS WANT EXECUTIONS.

ATHENS, April 2.—(AP)—Greece was seething with discontent and political turmoil again today as thousands of students and others paraded the streets attacking the government for failure to sentence to death the leaders of the Venizelist rebellion. Armored tanks were stationed before the home of Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris and public buildings. Troops patrolled the streets with fixed bayonets.

While spectators shouted "Lynch the traitors, lynch them!" 13 rebel officers condemned to life imprisonment by court martial were publicly degraded. The prisoners, their heads bowed, were brought into the public dock and sentences read to them. Officers ripped the epaulets and insignia from the uniforms and caps of the prisoners.

Two spectators, one of whom lost a brother in the uprising, struck some of the prisoners.

Hepburn's Budget Levies New Tax On Large Estates

Grant Of $25,000 Provided For Maintenance Of Lieutenant-Governor's Residence For New Fiscal Year Announced In Ontario's Budget.

HEPBURN CHARGES FORMER PREMIER HENRY WITH "MANIPULATING" ACCOUNTS LAST YEAR

Government Estimates Deficit Of $14,606,346 For The New Fiscal Year Beginning April 1—$15,000,000 For Relief In New Budget.

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.)—If former Premier George S. Henry had correctly handled the province's accounts in his Budget address last year, he would have reported a deficit of $3,734,720.03 instead of a surplus of $476,425.61, Premier Mitchell Hepburn declared to-day in bringing down the first Budget by an Ontario Liberal administration in 31 years.

At the same time the Premier announced tax changes affecting succession duties and stock transfers. Progressive increase of one per cent. on each $1,000.00 to maximum of 14 per cent. in addition to straight 10 per cent. succession duty tax. Syndicate units were brought under the stock transfer tax.

Conceal Fact.

Speaking of Mr. Henry's last Budget, the Premier said "the former Provincial Treasurer must have known there was no surplus because every effort appears to have been made to conceal the fact that, instead of a surplus of $476,425.61, the accounts of the province showed that there was a deficit of millions of dollars—to be exact, a deficit of $3,734,720.03."

Further, he charged: "The former Provincial Treasurer manipulated, switched, juggled, or whatever you call it, the accounts so that items which amounted in all to $4,211,145.64 were incorrectly handled."

In addition, Mr. Hepburn said, the former Government over-estimated revenue and underestimated expenditures and public debt charges so the deficit for the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1934 was $30,599,249.78.

Relief Causes Deficit

The deficit is created by charging relief payments as ordinary expenditures, the Premier went on, and he believed were it not for relief expenditures the province could balance its budget.

"Immediately following the Dominion general elections, I propose to ask for a conference with the new Government of Canada," he said, "at which time I hope to ascertain the exact amount of relief responsibility the Dominion Government will be prepared to assume," he said.

The present Federal Government has been paying $600,000 a month

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.).—Ontario had a deficit of $30,599,249.78 for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1934, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn reported to-day in his Budget address as Provincial Treasurer before the Ontario Legislature.

For the new fiscal year beginning April 1 and ending March 31, 1936, a deficit of $14,606,346.87 was estimated.

Presenting the first Budget by a Liberal Government since 1904, Mr. Hepburn included a supplementary statement covering the five-month period between October 31, 1934, and March 31, 1935, in line with new legislation to change the fiscal year.

The interim statement, actual to February 28, and a forecast for March, showed a deficit of $7,449,233.61.

Included in the 1934 deficit was $16,558,979.62 for direct relief, an expenditure not shown in ordinary account until this year. The five-month figure for unemployment relief was placed at $6,833,199.53.

In budgeting for the new fiscal year, the Government included $15,000,000 for unemployment direct relief and its administration. If this amount were placed in capital account, there would have been budgeted an estimated surplus of nearly $400,000.

Debt of Province.

Gross debt of the Province last October 31 was $655,769,852.70. With the five-month deficit of $7,449,233.61 and the difference of $8,880,730.40 between capital receipts and payments for the same period added, the debt on March 31, 1935, would be $672,090,816.71. The 1933 fiscal year ended with a gross debt of $594,128,301.82.

Gross ordinary revenue for the new fiscal year ending next March 31 was estimated by the Premier at $73,705,246.38 and gross ordinary expenditure for the 1934 fiscal year was placed at $80,667,091.15 and the ordinary revenue $50,067,841.37.

Provision was made in the Budget for maintenance of Chorley Park, official residence of the Lieutenant-Governor, until next March 31. The sum set aside was $25,000, compared with $29,878 voted in the last Budget.

$15,000 to Cancer Fund.

Recognition was made of the King's silver jubilee, with contribution of $15,000 to the King George V. Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund.

Total capital receipts for the new fiscal year are estimated at $15,464,774, compared with $122,913 shown in 1933-34, while capital payments are forecast at $32,410,838.43, against $33,273,102.94 in 1933-34.

Estimated expenditures for 1935-36 are lower by $7,135,498 compared with reported expenditures in 1933-34, the estimates forecasting $73,531,593.25 for the new fiscal year against expenditures of $80,667,091 for the year ending last Oct. 31.

A heavy increase is shown in the estimates for the provincial treasurer's department of approximately

EXECUTIONER'S DRESS MATTER FOR PROVINCES

Minister of Justice Guthrie Refers Protests on Montreal Hangings to Quebec.

NUMEROUS COMPLAINTS.

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

OTTAWA, April 2.—The proper dress for a Canadian hangman to wear is a matter for decision by the authorities of the province in which the execution takes place Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, told the House of Commons yesterday.

The issue assumed parliamentary importance as a result of widespread comment on the garb worn last week by a Montreal executioner. It consisted of morning coat, spats, and all the accessories of formal occasions, and press criticism in Canadian papers had referred to it as being more appropriate to a wedding or a funeral, than to the gruesome occasion for which it was worn. English newspaper editorial comment had characterized it as refined barbarism.

Flock of Protests

Hon. Mr. Guthrie admitted that the incident had been the subject of "a good many" telephone messages of protest to him. "For the information of the House," he then added, "may I say that the administration of law in Canada, both civil and criminal, is under the jurisdiction of the varous provinces, and not of the Dominion. This Dominion has nothing to do with executions or capital punishment."

All he could do in regard to the protests which he had received, Mr. Guthrie said, was to communicate them to the Attorney-General of Quebec Province.

CANADA STANDS FIRMLY BEHIND POLICY OF PEACE

Bourassa's Declaration Renouncing War Gets Unanimous Vote in House.

GUTHRIE SOUNDS WARNING.

Wonders if Dominion Could Stay Neutral if Britain Involved—Commerce at Stake.

OTTAWA, April 2 (C.P.) — War clouds may gather over Europe and armaments increase, but Canada stands firm on a policy of peace. By unanimous vote the House of Commons has reaffirmed Canada's peaceful intentions to the world. A resolution proposed by Henri Bourassa, Independent member for Labelle, declaring anew Canada's renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy and adherence to the Briand-Kellogg Peace Pact, was adopted last night.

Mr. Bourassa pleaded for the application of Christian principles in international affairs and regretted the admission of Russia into the League of Nations. To establish the brotherhood of man, begin by establishing the Fatherhood of God, was his suggestion.

Although there was dissent from some of Mr. Bourassa's remarks there was no dissent from his resolution. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, endorsed it, although technically it might have been construed as a vote of want-of-confidence in the Government. Liberal Leader Mackenzie King also approved, and J. S. Woodsworth, Labor Leader, and Miss Agnes MacPhail, only woman member, added their voices to the peace chorus.

Raps Bourassa.

Canada had supported the League of Nations from the beginning said Mr. Guthrie, and had won a high place on its councils. He thought Mr. Bourassa had damned the League with half-hearted praise, and could not agree with a suggestion Canada should withdraw from the Geneva institution.

Mr. Guthrie also entered a de-

POLAND FAVORS STRENGTHENING LEAGUE NATIONS

Officials Rumored to Make Proposal in Talks With Captain Eden.

NEW SECURITY IDEA.

Poles Lean to Two Pact Plan Fearing War Between Germany and Russia.

WARSAW, April 2 (C.P.). — A hint that Polish statesmen may propose strengthening of the League of Nations in their talks with Captain Anthony Eden was contained to-day in the Gazetta Polska, whose information is regarded as officially inspired.

The British Lord Privy Seal, whose pilgrimage in the cause of peace has carried him so far on a 2,500-mile trip from London to Paris, Berlin and Moscow, appeared fatigued when he stepped from his railway coach last night. The entire Foreign Office staff was on hand to welcome him.

Two Agreements.

Reports circulated in some quarters Eden was bringing with him from Moscow a suggestion the proposed Eastern Security Pact be split into Baltic and Danubian agreements.

Such a procedure, it was suggested, might tend to moderate Polish opposition to the security pact, based on fear the country might become the battleground of Eastern Europe in the event of hostilities between Russia to the East and Germany to the West.

April 1st Yarn?

ST. JOHN'S, Que., April 2 (CP).—Farmers here shook their heads and cocked a waggish eye at the calendar yesterday when they heard a story from Lyndon, Vt., that a bolt of lightning streaked into the barn of Gerald Smith, deafened two horses and killed the odd-numbered cows tethered in their stalls. It was reported that Smith entered his barn and found the first, third, fifth, seventh, ninth, eleventh, thirteenth and fifteenth cows in the line were dead. The even-numbers were standing placidly waiting for breakfast.

The tale was that Smith then turned to his team of horses and clucked and chirped at them without avail. The horses stood stolidly munching their oats until he told them in dumb show that it was time to go to work.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Prospective moisture in Kansas and Nebraska, together with somewhat enlarged 1935 crop estimates for the United States as a whole, led to lower wheat prices yesterday.

An authoritative unofficial summary figured the United States winter wheat crop this season, based on April 1 condition, as promising 470,000,000 bushels compared with 406,000,000 bushels harvested last year. A feature of trade was considerable selling of wheat against simultaneous buying of corn.

Wheat closed easy, ⅝c to 1⅛c under Saturday's finish. May 94¾c to 94⅞c, corn ⅝c off to ⅝c up, May 80½c to 80⅝c, oats unchanged to ¼c lower, and provisions varying from 15c decline to 5c advance.

Corn and oats, although influenced at times by wheat weakness, displayed stubborn resistance later owing largely to decreases in Chicago stocks of corn, with virtually no corn offered from the country.

Provisions averaged lower, affected by downturns of prices for cotton and cotton oil.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 2.— There was a slightly easier tone on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday, with butter and egg prices both inclined to weakness and other lines firm. On the egg market graded shipments in carlots or less were quoted at 18½c to 19c a dozen for A-large, 15½c to 16c for A-medium or B, 15c for A-pullets and C. Receipts were 1,313 cases.

Number 1 grade butter in carlots or less was generally 23½c to 23¾c a pound, with small lots to retailers bringing 24½c to 26c for prints. Arrivals totalled 447 boxes.

Cheese prices continued unchanged at 11½c to 11¾c a pound for No. 1 Ontario fall make and a cent higher for summer lines.

On the potato market Quebec No. 22 whites brought 50c to 60c per 80-lb. bag, and New Brunswick Cobblers and Quebec No. 1 Mountains 60c to 65c. New Brunswick Mountains sold for 65c to 70c, and Prince Edward Island Mountains for 67½c to 70c.

Storage Holdings.

Sharp decreases in stocks here of creamery butter, storage eggs and cheese, compared with a month ago, with increases in dairy butter and fresh eggs were announced yesterday by the Montreal Board of Trade.

Stocks held here, with comparisons, were posted as follows:

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 2. — Weakness at Chicago on one hand and strength at Liverpool on the other, wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange pursued a middle course yesterday, closing unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Traders appeared unwilling to commit themselves on either side of the market, and operations were inactive throughout the session. May closed at 85c and July 81⅝c. Export sales of Canadian wheat were negligible.

Despite unfavorable private reports of damage to the United States winter wheat crop, Chicago was weak, closing 1⅛c lower. Liverpool closed ⅝d higher, due to apparent settlement of the recent monetary crisis.

World shipments of wheat last week totalled 10,750,000 bushels, 2,225,000 bushels more than the previous week. North America's exports, however, showed a 400,000-bushel decline, totalling 2,183,000 bushels.

Cash and coarse grains trading continued dull.

Ontario To Buy Needs In Future From Gatineau

Three Other Companies Cut Off Affecting Mortgage Bond Issue Of $173,500,000—Measure Forestalls Legal Action Against Province—"Ontario's Credit Not Hurt One Iota," Says Premier.

TORIES PREPARE FOR BATTLE TO FINISH FILIBUSTER HINTED—FIRST IN 10 YEARS.

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.). — Repercussions of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn's move in introducing legislation cancelling 12 Ontario Hydro contracts with four Quebec companies continued unabated to-day in financial and political centres.

The Quebec power companies affected, which have a total outstanding mortgage bond issue of approximately $173,500,000, and whose contracts are declared "illegal, void and unenforceable," are:

The Gatineau Power Company, the Chats Falls Power Company (also known as the Ottawa Valley Power Company), the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company, and the James MacLaren or MacLaren-Quebec Power Company.

The Bill, introduced in the Ontario Legislature yesterday, under the routine title, "The Hydro-Electric Power Commission Act, 1935," brought members of the Opposition and Government excitedly forward in their seats as Premier Hepburn explained the far-reaching effects of the two-page piece of egislation.

Provision is contained in the legislation for purchase of power by the Ontario Hydro Commission "as it deems advisable," and Premier Hepburn said power would continue to be purchased from the Gatineau Company at the present contract price.

No Power From Three

No power would be taken from the other three companies, the Premier said, under present contract conditions.

An important feature of the bill is that corporate and individual holders of the bonds can not take legal action against the province in connection with the cancellation of the contracts.

In offering the bill, Premier Hepburn said:

"I rise to one of the most difficult tasks in my nine years of public life." Then, brushing his hand over his head thoughtfully, he added, "Ontario has been placed in an impossible position, bound to the acceptance of huge blocks of power over a period of 40 years, blocks of unsaleable power, far beyond the capacity of the industry of Ontario to absorb."

Later he said, in part:

"We will continue to buy Gatineau power, but so far as the other contracts are concerned when this bill passes the House, as I hope it will, they will have been terminated."

In a statement last night, Premier Hepburn declared the move would not "affect Ontario's credit one iota." The bonds, he added, were not of Ontario Government issue.

"These are bonds sold as a result of a very improvident deal between Hydro and the Quebec power companies."

No Municipal Consent

The Government based its action on the claim that the contracts were entered into by the Commission without the consent of the municipalities it served, contrary to the Power Commission Act, and without regard to the provisions of the British North America Act. Further, the contracts obligated the Commission to purchase, over a long period, "large quantities of power generated without the Province of Ontario, regardless of whether or not the said power was desired or could be used by the said municipalities."

The announcement of the introduction of the bill in the Assembly gave impetus to the downward movement of senior securities of the four Quebec companies involved in late trading here yesterday.

Bonds Nervous

As a result of the impact, nervousness developed in Province of Ontario bonds, bids for which virtually disappeared. Traders withdrew to the sidelines.

Conservatives at Queen's Park today were reported to be preparing for a battle to a finish with the Liberal forces to halt the bill. There was talk even of a filibuster, a political device which has not been used in a major way in the Ontario Legislature in the last ten years, veteran members said.

SHOOTING WIFE COSTS 5 YEARS

Judge Expresses Sympathy For Accused, Who Claims Spouse Went With Other Men.

HOME BROKEN UP.

TORONTO, April 2. — Though sympathetic with the accused, found guilty of shooting his wife, Judge Ian Macdonnell yesterday sentenced Joseph M. Kwiatkowski, 44, to five years in Portsmouth tentiary.

The accused stated for the last four years his wife had been running around with other men, neglecting their six children and even buying clothes for these "boy friends" with the money he had provided for their home. Kwiatkowski broke down repeatedly as he told how his home had gradually broken up after 15 years of marriage.

After expressing "the greatest sympathy" with the accused, Judge Macdonnell stated: "Many women in this country do what your wife did and you realize what a state of affairs we would have if every dissatisfied husband and wife started shooting each other. I therefore fear that I must inflict a severe penalty upon you for a crime of this seriousness, which very closely approaches attempted murder."

MENTION SMUTS SUCCEED BUCHAN

Suggestion Would Place South African Statesman in Scottish Universities' Seat.

POSSIBLE CABINET POST.

GLASGOW, April 2 (C.P. Cable).—The Glasgow Herald said yesterday an interesting suggestion had been made that General Jan Smuts, South African statesman, be returned to Parliament as representative of the Scottish universities.

The appointment of John Buchan as Governor-General of Canada left the Scottish universities' seat vacant.

The Herald says it is an open secret that reconstruction of the Cabinet will take place this summer. "In some influential quarters it is being asked why should not the Scottish universities rise to the heights of a great opportunity and return General Smuts?" it adds.

"If elected, General Smuts might hold such office as minister without portfolio. Thus he would be entitled to exercise his unquestionable magnetic influence in this time of international difficulty as he did when a member of the Imperial War Cabinet."

The Glasgow Herald concludes the suggestion is intriguing and well deserves serious consideration.

LANDS, FORESTS BRANCH SHAKEUP SEEN IN OFFING

F. C. Noad, Deputy Minister Forestry Reported About to be Let Out.

HEPBURN IN CHARGE.

TORONTO, April 2.—Resignation of Frederick C. Noad, deputy minister of forestry—an appointee of the new Liberal administration—is to be demanded shortly by Premier Hepburn, it is reliably reported at Queen's Park.

Mr. Hepburn, as acting minister of lands and forests, is said to be contemplating a general shake-up in that department, and the impending Noad resignation is said to be the first move toward that objective.

It would not be surprising, either, rumor has it, were Peter Heenan, Jr., secretary to the department, to be either retired or transferred to other duties in the contemplated shuffle.

Other Names.

The prime minister will, it is further reported, give serious consideration to the qualifications for office of certain other individuals appointed to the lands and forest department since the provincial election of last June.

No reason is given for the reported pending retirement fo Mr. Noad. He came to Queen's Park last Fall, and succeeded E. J. Zavitz as deputy minister of forestry, and subsequently took over direction of all forests administration. To do this, it was necessary to relieve Walter C. Cain, deputy minister of lands and forests for years, of a lot of jurisdiction which now may be restored to him.

Hon. Peter Heenan, who is in Ireland on a holiday ordered by his physicians, will reutrn to Queen's Park next week. Word of his date of sailing was received yesterday at his office. It is understood that he has been advised of the action that Mr. Hepburn, as his "pinch-hitter," is contemplating.

Quebec Power Bonds Collapse On Market

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.).—The market for Quebec power bonds practically collapsed to-day as a result of the Hepburn Government's decision to re-write the contracts for power. Some time after market-opening there were no bids except for the Gatineau 5's, which were selling around 81-83 compared with 86-87 yesterday. A rumor the Gatineau concern had reached an understanding with the Ontario Cabinet, which was unconfirmed, was the stimulus for the trade in the Gatineaus.

JAP TRADERS TAKEN CONTROL OF ALL ABYSSINIAN COMMERCE

Seven Treaties, Three Still Secret, Give Nipponese Dominating Position.

COURTED GODD WILL.

Spread Salesman Arm Across African Colonies of Great Powers.

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

ADDIS ABEBA (Airmail), April 2.—The little Japanese plays the role of big brother to the tall Abyssinian. It is not an ungrateful role, nor an unprofitable role, and he acquits himself of the task with amazing efficiency. Let me give you an example. It will help, I hope, to clarify in your mind the international significance of Abyssinia and the reason Signor Mussolini is so disappointed over having been shut out from his market that he makes a show of force at present to intimidate Abyssinia.

In return for the many concessions granted to Japan, the Abyssinians have the privilege of exporting coffee to Nippon. A fine concession . But the Abyssinians have no ships and the Abyssinians have no experience in the export business. How can they possibly carry out their part of the deal?

Japanese In Control

Quite a problem for the Abyssinians .Impossible to solve,2in fact, except for the friendly offices of the Japanese. The Japanese are to-day furnishing the jute sacks to pack the coffee, after building two modern coffee roasting plants in Addis Abeba. No experience in shipping? All right! Japanese commissionhouses have established branch offices in Addis Abeba. The Abyssinians don't need to lift a finger. The Japanese will roast, pack, ship and consume the coffee for them. What's more, why shouldn't the Japanese also grow the coffee? They have in fact started to do so. Japanese immigrant-peasants are flocking to the newly laid-out Abyssinian coffee plantations.

Now those Japanese peasants (10,000 of them arrived last month alone) cannot live on peas as the Abyssinians do. The Japanese, as everybody knows, feed on rice. Now such rice can be imported, of course, but it can also be grown in Abyssinia. So Japanese peasants, sent over by a big Tokio banking-house, are laying out rice fields around one of Abyssinia's sacred lakes. These peasants are planting so much rice that there will be more than they themselves can eat . There will be a surplus. What to do with the surplus?

Sell Across Africa

Sell it to the Abyssinians, of course, who also like rice, and to the millions upon millions of blacks in Africa. Japanese salesmen are to-day travelling in the Soudan, in Kenya, in Egypt, in French Equatorial Africa, in the Belgian Congo, selling rice and toys and belts and beads and electric batteries and gramophones and hygienic articles and perfume and furniture and ornaments for the home, and pens and fancy-colored kimonos, and high-heeled shoes and cherry blossom lipstick and a host of other knick-knacks, "Made in Japan."

The little yellow man is doing all this under the nose of England, France, Belgium, Portugal, all the colonial powers established in Africa. He goes his way unperturbed, unruffled, paying no heed to anybody. He cuts Manchoukuo off China, next Jehol, next North China, throws the Russians out of Manchuria, drives them out of Mongolia, gets ready to grab more of China which Chiang Kai Shek is handing to him. Without a blow almost he is conquering half the earth.

He swamps the British India market, so that Lancashire spinners are idle, forces Holland to allow him to supply the vast market of Java, so that the Dutch textile industry in Holland has closed down. He all but runs the Kingdom of Siam, has annexed Korea, refuses to move out of the mandated islands in the Pacific, and installs himself on the Red Sea on the "thin red line" which links Britain to her overseas empire.

All this happens, and still some patriots at home talk of Russian dumping and of the Bolshevik danger to the Indian frontier. Do these people ever look at a map?

Won Favored Place

To come back to Abyssinia. How did the Japanese ever manage to get a footing in this country? For half a century Italy has been alternately cajoling, bullying, flattering and beating Abyssinia to obtain just exactly what Japan got without asking for it. How was it done?

In the first place the Japanese did not bully. They bowed. They treated the black Ethiopians as equals, and not in the haughty, condescending manner with which European powers approach the African "native." The Japanese did not start with posting an ultimatum or by forcing the Abyssinians to accept "conditions." They smiled their way in. They insinuated themselves into the good graces of the negus, his family and his feudal barons by a show of kindness. They did not talk of annexation. They offered their friendship, their aid, their protection to an emperor who desired to institute a program of modernization.

Japan has seven treaties with Abyssinia, three of which are secret. What do the secret treaties contain? Nobody knows. But the negus smiles and Signor Mussolini gnashes his teeth. These facial expressions go a long way toward revealing what is in the treaties.

For fifty years Italy has openly menaced Abyssinia, waged two wars against Addis Abeba, wrested Eritrea and Somaliland from Abyssinian control and once even succeeded in having an Abyssinian emperor, Menelik the Great, agree on an Italian protectorate over his country. Some day Italy would be supreme in Abyssinia, some day the vast Abyssinian market would be exploited by Italian capital and industry.

Don't Want War

Slowly Italy was making ready for the big jump. Then, all at once, the Abyssinian door was banked in her face. "No admittance!" Abyssinia did not say this. The little yellow man, far away on an island in the Pacific, said so. The little yellow man grins and at the same time operates one of the most efficient battle-fleets in the world.

Will Mussolini attack? The Abyssinians shrug their shoulders. The foreign consuls in Addis Abeba arch their eyebrows, the negus goes to church and reviews parades, the Japanese build factories, banks and autostradas in Abyssinia. "War?" asked the polite Japanese manager of the Japanese Mitsui bank in Addis Abeba to whom I came to cash a cheque. "War? What's that? Why a war? We are happy. We don't want war, nor do the Abyssinians!"

Signor Mussolini informs the world that Italy is about to make a grandiose gesture and assures mankind that eight million Italians are ready to march. Italian troops are arriving every day in Eritrea and Somaliland. But Japanese cruisers are lazily drifting in the Indian Ocean, coming up to Bab-el Mandeb as if to see what is going on, and turn about, but they never get out of earshot.

The chess game with Abyssinia as the stake goes on. Japan has the king and the councillors. She has moved them cautiously, with infinite patience and precision. Will Mussolini give the board a kick and end the play in which he is the loser? Not Addis Abeba, Tokio also, Tokio in the first place, awaits the next move.

MARCH RELIEF COST $15,826

effort to return some value for what I have received. There must be some work the council can find that I would be able to do. I have been on relief too long, and I just came up to see if the council could find some means by which I can make some return to the city."

Mr. Holland's application was noted.

Forestall Wood Yard

Four residents of Ashburnham informed the council that William Tinker was piling wood on a lot at 127 Sophia street, presumably with the intention of operating a retail wood yard, which they said would depreciate the value of their property. This deputation enquired whether a business of that kind could be carried on without the permission of the council.

The members of the deputation were Vernon O'Dette, Dan Leonard, Rich. Sullivan and J. Guerin. They were told that Mr. Tinker could pile wood on the lot if he wished, but he could not operate a sawing machine without the council's approval. And the implication in the brief interview was to the effect that council would not give assent to a wood yard in that locality.

A. W. Cowling's wage as caretaker of the public rest room was increased three dollars a week to $16.

Auditor's Report

Fred J. A. Hall, auditor of the city's financial accounting, reported that he has examined the books for 1934 and found them in good order. He reported $261,948.39 taxes in arrears, an increase of $100,000 since 1932.

Permission to erect bill boards at the northwest corner of Rink and George streets, at McDonnell and Gilchrist streets, and east of 186½ Charlotte street, was given to the E. L. Ruddy Company, the work to be supervised by City Engineer Parsons.

The city's sanitary regulations for barber shops were extended by an amendment last night to include beauty parlors and all hair dressing establishments.

Application by T. C. Starr for sewer connection to his home at 662 Rogers street, requiring a fifty foot extension of the city's sewer, brought up the question as to whether any debentures would be issued this year.

Alderman Hamilton said that at least one other sewer projection was listed in the work plans, and the total cost would be about $1,000.

"I think we should absorb it in the estimates," Mayor Denne remarked. "I don't like the idea of issuing debentures at this time."

This minor item was referred to the Board of Works for further consideration.

An Appeal for Landlords

A Brantford resolution to the Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare, claiming for landlords parity with grocers in relief schedules by granting 100 per cent allowance for shelter, was endorsed by Ald. McIntyre's motion, seconded by Alderman Stocker. It also supported another Brantford proposal that bank loans for the current requirements of municipalities be fixed by the government at not more than 3 per cent.

Similar resolutions from Kitchener and Ottawa in favor of the provincial and federal government assuming the entire cost of unemployment relief were adopted in the effect of motions by Aldermen McIntyre and Cotton, seconded by Ald. Sloan.

Authority to engage the usual number of employees for the requirements of the Parks Department was embodied in a resolution by Ald. Stocker, seconded by Ald Wilson.

GEORGE STREET FATHERS, SONS HEAR SORSOLEIL

Close to 500 Fathers and Sons Attend Annual Church Banquet.

SALACIOUS LITERATURE.

Speaker Urges Audience to Read Much But Not That Which is Unclean.

"Read much, but never under any circumstances read that which is immoral or unclean, that which is but a smirch on the English language and a stain of filth," said M. A. Sorsoleil, B.A., Deputy Minister of Public Welfare, in addressing the annual father-and-son banquet of George Street Sunday School.

When Mr. Sorsoleil, who is recognized throughout the province as an outstanding educator and Christian leader, expressed his warning against immoral reading, he was stressing the importance of mental development if boys are to obtain better understanding and a surefooting in life.

He outlined clearly the four lines along which a boy should develop; doing, thinking, emotionally and in physical strength. His clear-cut, thoughtful address was brightened by a wealth of humorous, penetrating stories, drawn from his own experiences, and these aided him greatly in clinching his points.

Largely Attended

His message was heard by close to 500 fathers and sons who assembled in the large Sunday School auditorium for the banquet, one of the big features annually of the church's activities. C. S. Thompson, superintendent of the Sunday School, was chairman and was ably assisted by Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, pastor of the church. A splendid program of songs, stunts and other entertainment brightened the affair.

Mr. Sorsoleil spoke feelingly of the eight happy years he had spent years ago as a school teacher in Peterborough. "I was never happier or more successful in my work than in Peterborough," he said. He congratulated the Sunday School officers on "the magnificent gathering."

He admitted that he had ceased advising parents how to bring up their children. "I don't know how it is to be done," he said. "I can advise upon the plane that fathers should confer with sons. To my mind there is nothing worse than an estrangement between father and son. Some common ground of understanding should be found and maintained."

Owing to certain qualities of human nature, he said, there were four set lines of growth for men and boys. Man is essentially a doer and there is an inherent urge within him to make the earth a more suitable place in which to live. Men, he said, have done great things and those who would have us believe that men are but creatures of the dust give no consideration to the things accomplished.

Great in Achievement

"Man is great in his achievements," Mr. Sorsoleil declared. "Fathers, have your boys grow to believe it is a great thing to have a part in the great task in the world's progress in the great work of going forward. Let us have confidence in the future. Things will not be always as they are now."

He said that he doubted that in the future if men will work the hours they have in the past, or if work will be deified as has been in the past. He urged fathers to help their sons discover the work for which they are best intended and that sons should honestly strive to find that task for which they are best fitted and then master it. Boys must train themselves in the proper use of leisure time and this proper use of leisure was daily becoming more important.

Despite the scoffers he maintained that men are definitely thinkers. Boys should take advantage of past experiences and by thoughtful planning prepare themselves for the future. "I would like every boy to develop the happy art of thinking," he said. "Devote more time to thinking." Here he urged the necessity of much reading. "Fill yourself with that which is pure and clean and wholesome," he stated.

Joy in Simple Things

Speaking of emotional development, he advised his hearers to take joy out of simple things, nature, art and family life. He warned boys to be most careful of the companionships they form. "Your associates can raise you up or draw you down," he said.

In conclusion he emphasized the importance of strong, clean bodies. "Never permit your own sacred body to be sullied" he stated.

The supper was served by the ladies of the Sunday School who received the thanks of those who partook of the repast through the well-expressed toast proposed by E. L. Sackville. The toast "Our Fathers and sons" was voiced by Bobby Hamilton and replied to by A. F. Hagerman.

The group singing was led by A. V. Lillow assisted by the D.U.O. Club with Harry Northrop at the piano. Bobby Morton sang a solo and Charles Saunders was judge in several joyous stunts. Dr. J. E. Middleton expressed the thanks of the gathering to Mr. Sorsoliel and the others who had helped immeasurably to the success of the program.

HEPBURN'S BUDGET LEVIES NEW TAX

toward unemployment relief. He received a telegram from Minister of Labor W. A. Gordon stating that grant would be continued throughout April but Mr. Hepburn did not know whether any money would be forthcoming after that date.

After the election ,however, when he learns the extent of Federal aid, he proposes a special session of the Legislature to introduce legislation and impose such new taxation as will balance the budget.

Heavier Tax on Estates

Chief of the new taxation proposals is in respect to the succession duty tax. The Government intends an additional tax on estates where the aggregate value exceeds $1,000,000. The present tax on such estates has been 10 per cent, said Mr. Hepburn. Under the new scheme there will be a progressive increase of one per cent of each million to a maximum of 14 per cent. The Government also proposes to increase from 10 to 15 percent the surtax applicable to all taxes collected under the sucession duty act of 1934. Property transfers by way of marriage settlement will be brought under the Act also.

Syndicate units will be included under the stock transfer tax. The tax on syndicate units when transfers occur will be three cents for every $100 or fraction thereof of the value of such securities.

Referring to items in the accounts which, he said, were "incorrectly handled," Mr. Hepburn mentioned first the water rentals of $197,711.15 paid by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission in 1933-34. He contended these should have been regarded as revenue of the Parks Commission.

Charge Changed.

The former government in last year's budget charged $125,120.54, the amount paid on railway aid certificates, to capital expenditure, but the Premier contended it should have been charged to ordinary expenditure and said it was so treated in several years before that time.

Sinking fund instalments, amounting to $840,219.94 in 1933-34, were classified as capital expenditure but should have been listed as ordinary, said Mr. Hepburn, charging the amount was charged to capital in order to pull the wool over the eyes of the public and to deceive the people into believing that the Administration had a surplus.

Two items were charged to surplus account by Mr. Henry said the Premier when the charge should have been placed against ordinary account. One was $55,544 interest on sinking funds deposited with the government and the other $92,975 for adjustment of interest.

The next item, said Mr. Hepburn, represented ordinary expenditure accounts held over at the end of the fiscal year 1933-34. The sum was $1,369,333.

Finally, the Premier went on, was a payment of $2,535,275 by the Agricultural Development Board to the Treasury. Only $995,035 of that amount was interest and in taking credit as ordinary revenue for the total amount of $2,525,275 the ordinary revenue was incorrectly credited with $1,530,240, he said.

Revenues Overestimated

He said revenues were over-estimated to the extent of $1,011,258. Also expenditures were underestimated to the extent of $12,924,029.

Mr. Hepburn went on to compare the per capita debt as of December, 1904, when the last Liberal budget was brought down to the per capita debt last October. In 1904 it was 740 cents and in 1934 it reached $110.53.

At the end of the Henry administration he estimated the debt had increased by $145,699,000 since G. Howard Ferguson was Premier. Estimated net public debt charges for the fiscal year April 1, 1935, to March 31, 1936, amount to $22,300,055.

Referring to the government's intention to change the end of the fiscal year from Oct. 31 to March 31, Mr. Hepburn said the change would mean the Government could present the main estimates based on present conditions, and they could be used by the departments immediately.

Low Interest Rates

During the past year the Premier noted a steady easing in monetary conditions and said it was generally accepted the policy of the Bank of Canada would be to ensure a continuance of low interest rates. This, he considered, a necessity.

Dealing with insurance, loan and trust companies he said when one thinks of what they should and should not do, one must remember they were essentially fiduciary institutions, responsible for the safe and profitable investment of the savings of millions of citizens.

Turning to the various government departments the Premier first reviewed the newly-created Department of municipal affairs. He said the Government adopted a new form of municipal financial returns and intended collaborating with the Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa and municipal departments in other provinces to make possible the publication of statistical information in a comparative manner.

Hydro Question

The Premier said he was pleased to re-affirm the "back-to-Beck's publicly-owned Hydro policy," as the objective of the present administration.

Deficit of the Northern Ontario system for the fiscal year 1933-34 was $115,414. The eastern Ontario, Georgian Bay and Thunder Bay systems have, however, been operating profitably during the past year.

Finances of the Niagara system remained a source of anxiety to the Commission, the Premier said, attacking over-purchase of power from Quebec contractors. Revenue was increased by less than $1,000,000 during the past year but cost of purchased power alone increased more than $5,000,000.

"The present bill, entitled the Hydro-Electric Power Commission Act, 1936, now before the House, was designed to remedy the very unfortunate situation that now exists and with its final approval by Parliament and the great Hydro-Electric system, having been relieved of the crushing and impossible burden, will go forward to greater achievements," he said.

Agricultural Board.

Through the Agricultural Development Board the Government has completed 400 loans which were undertaken by the previous government and 400 applications for new loans have been received.

"We purpose to continue to make loans and to order inspections immediately," said Mr. Hepburn. "We also plan to give close supervision through our agricultural representative staff and the inspectors employed by the board to all accounts which are in arrears."

At the end of October the board had assets of $56,278,286. Chief item in this figure was provided by mortgage loans totalling $47,380,592. Farm properties taken over by foreclosure were valued at $2,204,824. Among the board's liabilities were $49,600,000 in debentures held by the province.

"If the board is given power to consolidate indebtedness which would include taxes and insurance premiums and to capitalize such indebtedness and to postpone principal payments for a period sufficient to carry debtors over a difficult season due to crop failures and calamities such as hail or frost and to reamortize the new loan for a period not to exceed 30 years, we feel that this Government is doing something of a very tangible nature and something which will relieve the heavy burden which a great many farmers are attempting to carry," Mr. Hepburn said.

No Closing Savings Offices.

"The province has no intention of closing the savings offices, in fact, as circumstances permit, the services may be extended," said the Premier, referring to the Provincial savings offices. "There is no intention of going into competition with the chartered banks, but I believe there is a place in our economic structure for the Provincial savings offices."

Amount on deposit in the offices at the end of October was $21,449,527, a decrease of $98,000 from the previous year. Since then deposits increased, and on March 22 deposits were $22,096,983.

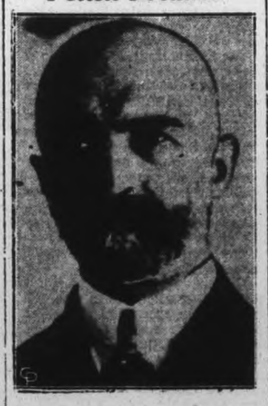
The Premier on taking office found certain employees, some of them married, received less salary than $50 a month. Adjustments were made.

Savings in the Attorney-General's department amounted to $1,000,000 a year, the Premier said, referring particularly to amalgamation of legal offices and reorganization of the magisterial system.

"Before the end of the fiscal year this Government, by added revenue obtained from new taxes, is determined to balance its budget," the Premier concluded.

Prospects of Sino-Japanese cooperation have greatly encouraged business in Japan.

Polish Premier



In a series of swift moves, Marshal Josef Pilsudski of Poland, inaugurated a virtual Fascist dictatorship over his country. The parliament drafted a new constitution, on semi-Fascist lines, stripped the cabinet headed by Premier Jansz Jedrzejewicz of its powers. The marshal is said to be planning to instal Colonel Walery Slawek (above) as his new premier. Slawek, however, would obey the dictums of Pilsudski.

HEPBURN'S BUDGET LEVIES NEW TAX

$33,000,000, but the estimates this year include roughly that figure for public debt.

In 1933-34 expenditure in the public welfare department was $21,243,088, while today's estimates placed expenditure at $4,721,045, excluding the $15,000,000 for direct relief.

Department Increases

Compared with 1933-34 expenditures, estimates or ordinary expenditure in the new fiscal year show increases in the departments of agriculture, health, highways, labor, lands and forests, northern development, provincial secretary, and provincial treasurer. Decreases were shown in these departments: attorney-general, education, game and fisheries, mines, prime minister, provincial auditor, public welfare and public works.

Included in capital expenditures estimated for the department of northern development this year is an item for $10,000,000, marked "trans-Canada highway—relief." In estimates of ordinary expenditure two items totalling $3,000,000 for construction and maintenance of roads and bridges.

Grant Of $1000 Made To Widow Of Legault

TORONTO, April 2.—(C.P.)— A grant of $1,000 was made to the widow of T. Legault, Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature, who died before the session opening, when supplementary estimates were presented in the Legislature to-day by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn. The supplementary estimates cover the period from last Oct. 31 to March 31.

Funeral expenses were placed at $349.35, making a total in the estimates of $1,349.35 in connection with the Nipissing member's death.

Expenditures Cut Peterboro' Normal

TORONTO, April 2.—(C.P.)—Decrease in the expenditure of four of Ontario's eight Normal schools is provided in estimates tabled in the Provincial Legislature to-day. The schools affected are: Peterborough, Stratford, Hamilton and North Bay.

In the case of the other four schools, Toronto, Ottawa, London and University of Ottawa Normal school the estimates make provision for more money than was expended during the fiscal year 1933-34.

Stratford suffers greatest in the maintenace reduction the government had decided upon for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1936. Maintenance of the school last year cost $42,604 but the estimates provide for expenditure of $38,880.

Peterborough's expenditure must be reduced from $39,090 last year to $38,930 in the new fiscal year and North Bay which spent $37,855 in 1933-34 is allotted $36,950. Hamilton's expenditure in 1933-34 was $39,933. For the new year estimates provide $39,750.

Cost of the Toronto school last year was $115,989 and estimated cost for 1935-36 has been estimated at $126,925. Ottawa may spend $80,500, compared with $74,929 last year. London's expenditure in 1934-35 was $41,201, but for the new fiscal year the estimates provide $41,825.

Expenses at the University of Ottawa school were $95,165 in the last fiscal year. Present estimates provide for $99,750.

Farm Schools Cost More In Coming Year

TORONTO, April 2.—(C.P.) — Expenditure for Agricultural schools throughout the province is estimated at a higher figure for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1936, than was actual expenditure in the year ending Oct. 31, 1934, according to estimates tabled in the Ontario Legislature to-day.

Cost of operating the largest of the institutions, the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, was $530,207 in 1933-34, but the estimates provide an expenditure of $674,597 for the new fiscal year.

Expenses of the Kemptville school were $54,094 in 1933-34, but this year's estimates provide for an expenditure of $68,125. The Western Ontario Experimental Farm at Ridgetown cost $17,021 to operate last year, but the government has ear-marked $20,000 for the farm in 1935-36.

Guelph's other agricultural institution, the Ontario Veterinary College, also stands to benefit. The government spent $31,794 in 1933-34. This year's estimates provide for expenditure of $48,398.

The following grants are made for demonstration farms in the north: New Liskeard, $12,000; Hearst, $2,500; Fort William, $12,000.

Estimate For Year.

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.).—Estimates of ordinary expenditure and revenue for the new fiscal year ending March 31, 1936, presented in the Legislature to-day by Premier F. Hepburn:

Gov't To Loan Half Storage Plant Cost

TORONTO, April 2.—(C.P.)—In his Budget address in the Ontario Legislature to-day Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said in view of the difficulties of farmers and fruit and vegetable growers the government will introduce a bill empowering the Administration to loan 50 per cent of the cost of constructing a modern, co-operative cold storage plant, not to cost more than $50,000.

The amount will be secured by a first mortgage on the building, the payments to be authorized over a 20 year period at four per cent. Provision will be made granting exemption from municipal taxes on the buildings themselves.

SHAM RELIGION BEING EXPOSED

Evangelist Stephens Delivers Stirring Message at Park Street Church.

With every seat taken in the main part of the Park Street Baptist Church, as well as some in the gallery, another large congregation assembled to listen to another heart-stirring address given by Rev. H. L. Stephens.

Everyone joined heartily in the song service, led by Maurice Dunkley and a beautiful duet was sung by the Pilling sisters after the opening prayer offered by Rev. G. K Tyler the pastor.

"What is there in a name?" Mr. Stephens asked in his opening remarks last night. "There is nothing as far as names go to-day," he said. "We call our children different names to distinguish the one from the other but there is no important significance in them. In olden times there was everything in a name. Abram's name was changed to Abraham which means 'the father of a multitude". God told him to leave his country and his kin and He would make his seed like the sands of the sea and the stars of heaven. That promise is still being fulfilled to-day in a special way. Just look at the great developments in Palestine and the immigration of thousands of Jews going back to the Holy Land.

"Anyone who will close their eyes to the blossoming of the "fig tree," spoken of by Jesus is certainly showing great ignorance and indifference to the march of coming events. I will have more to say about this before I finish this series of meetings.

"The name of Jesus in the New Testament is the same as Joshua in the Old. Who was Joshua? He was the one who was chosen by God to lead the children of Israel into the canaan land. Moses could not, for he represented the Law. There must be a Joshua. Moses could only go so far he could not go in.

"Keeping the Ten Commandments, doing the best we can, obeying the golden rule, and many more such things will never take any man into Heaven. We must have a Saviour who shed His blood on Calvary for our sins, to take us in. Mans' own efforts and self righteousness are as filthy rags in the sight of God. It is the bloodless way, the Cain way, the devil's way and there will be thousands find out some day that they have travelled the wong way.

"In Acts 4: 12, Peter said: 'Neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under Heaven given among men whereby we must be saved'. What fools people are to try and substitute some man-made religion in the place of the atoning blood of the Lord Jesus Christ which was shed on the cross for us. How blind the Unitarians are and all other sects who dare to ignore this plan of redemption. Why did Jesus Christ ever go to the cross and die? The Bible tells us that without the shedding of blood there is no remission. Hebrews 9:22.

"Thousands are being deceived to-day by Satan for he is an angel of light and going about to deceive, if possible, the very elect. We used to sing 'Take the name of Jesus with you: child of sorrow and of woe. It will joy and and comfort give you, take it then where'er you go, but such hymns are relegated to the past, now."

While the people sang, scores pressed their way to the front of the church—some for salavtion and others for full surrender, and the meeting closed again at a late hour with everyone thanking God for such a marvellous Saviour.

Another stirring address will be delivered to-night by Mr. Stephens.

A FINANCIAL SURPRISE.

The decision of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company to discontinue the taking of deposits and the issuing of debentures was a financial surprise that came to light over the week-end.

The deposit business of the company has been transferred to the Bank of Nova Scotia, and henceforth it is the intention of the organization to confine its activities strictly to the business of a holding and investment company.

For half a century the Toronto Savings and Loan Company has been a Peterborough institution, and its deposit business especially brought it into contact with large numbers of the residents both of the city and district, as will be readily appreciated from the fact that over 5,000 deposit accounts were held by the company.

The directors' decision to retire from this field will undoubtedly be regretted by many of those whose first savings had been deposited with the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, and who had learned to look upon the company as a faithful friend, its offices for large numbers being their only association with the banking business.

Its record throughout the many years it has been receiving deposits has been such as to inspire confidence, and doubtless many a depositor yesterday felt not only a sense of bewilderment but a feeling that so far as they were concerned an old relationship had disappeared as the notices of the change were read.

GIVE THEM A CAMP OF THEIR OWN.

Although the Relief Camp Workers' Union denies the charges of Hon. Grate Stirling, Minister of National Defence, that plots to destroy these camps have been formed, the public is likely to judge the organization from its action rather than its words, and there is no reason to doubt the fact that the strike announced for this week is the work of agitators whose only concern is to stir up as much trouble as possible.

The activities of these trouble-makers whose connection with Communistic organizations is taken for granted have been in evidence in many parts of Canada, not only among those on relief but among industrial workers and employees of lumber and pulpwood companies.

Their interest is not in improving conditions for the workers—in fact, they have blocked settlements that would have given those on strike much better terms; what they desire most is to organize strikes, keep them going and do as much harm as they can to the capitalistic system.

We believe that the Globe is quite right when it suggests that these perpetual agitators should be placed in a special camp of their own and put to work there, rather than that they should be allowed to travel round the country creating dissension and impairing progress toward better times.

Too much leniency has been accorded this trouble-making class, although they had long ago shown that they are utterly unworthy of fair treatment.

TOURIST TRADE BETTER.

At this time when the tourist business is very much to the fore, a preliminary estimate of the tourist trade in Canada last year should be timely and interesting

The figures indicate that the total expenditures of tourists from abroad in this country were $131,000,000, while Canadian visitors to other countries spent about $61,000,000, these totals being increases of $14,000,000 and $10,000,000, respectively, as compared with the previous year.

Tourists from the United States by automobile, it is estimated, totalled 2,373,648, as against 2,233,418 in 1933, staying not more than 24 hours, while those whose stay did not exceed 60 days also showed an increase.

The United States Department of Commerce estimates that the average expenditure of tourists in the one-day class was $9.23, in the 60-day class $72.32 while those who remained more than 60 days averaged $422.22, all these being much ahead of the averages for the previous year.

The total expenditure of motor tourists amounted therefore to $86,269,000, while tourists who came by rail and steamer added some $35,000,000 to this sum, giving a grand total of $131,000,000, while in 1933 tourist expenditure amounted to $117,000,000.

Preliminary estimates of this year's tourist traffic indicates another substantial increase in 1935, with beneficial results to business and industry.

It is a most profitable industry, and Canadians should be interested in developing it in any way possible.

A DRASTIC DECISION.

Ontario has received the announcement that the Provincial Government has decided to declare the power purchase contracts entered into with Quebec companies as "illegal, void and unenforceable" with mingled feelings.

Satisfaction over the prospects of being relieved of the financial strain involved in meeting these contracts will be tempered by doubt as to the ultimate effect of this unprecedented action on the part of the Ontario Government.

The contention of the Hepburn administration is that irregularities in connection with the making of these contracts render them unenforceable, while on the other hand the bondholders claim that these agreements were made by Ontario through the Hydro-Electric Commission, that they are perfectly legal, and that the bonds were bought in good faith on the strength of the contracts.

It is argued by them that if the present administration feels that there are features in these power agreements that are unfair or illegal the matter should be settled by the courts, but, as the Monetary Times puts it, "the Ontario Government cannot act as judge and jury in a case where it itself is one of the litigants."

Beyond that point and far transcending it in importance is the possible effect the Government's action may have upon the credit of the province.

Credit, as Mr. Rhodes said in his budget speech, is a tender plant, and there is a very real danger that seizing upon the illegality of these contracts as a ground for repudiation, may have very serious repercussions.

Already since the legality of the agreements was called into question the market price of province of Ontario securities has declined by $2,521,596, a significant development.

One investment house declares that the effect of repudation may involve a cost to the taxpayers of the province so great as to make the loss with regard to Hydro seem trifling.

That may be a prejudiced opinion, but nevertheless it is obvious that the drastic course decided upon by the Ontario Government may easily have very damaging effects upon provincial credit.

The people of the province, uncertain in their own minds as to the consequences involved in this decision, will hope that it may be found to be the case that the Hepburn Government's policy in this matter is the best way out of a very serious situation.

THE MAPLE HARVEST STARTS.

In the townships of the county of Leeds, where maple products second to none are manufactured in large quantities annually, all is now activity with the sap running freely and work getting under way in the sugar houses. Perhaps the Department of the Interior at Ottawa is correct when it says that not even the return of the birds is more redolent of spring than the joyous message, "Sap's running," which comes to Canadians with the soft, warm days and the frosty nights of March.

There are, it appears, some 70 varieties of maple trees to be found in the world and seven of them in eastern Canada. But only one of the 70 yields sugar in commercial quantity. This is the famous hard or sugar maple, which grows in Canada from the Atlantic to the Lake of the Woods, and whose beautiful leaf is the Dominion's national emblem. About 95 per cent. of the maple products industry in Canada is at present confined to the St. Lawrence River valley.

Nearly 50,000 farmers in eastern Canada engage to a greater or less extent in the maple sugar industry, and the total number of trees now being tapped annually ranges between twenty and twenty-five million. According to current estimates, there are between 100 and 150 million mature sugar maples in Canadian forests and woodlots. Hence there still exists a very considerable margin for the further expansion of this now important industry. How opportunely the maple harvest comes! It fills in the gap between woods work and spring seeding, and gives the farmer needed buying-power just when he is likely to require it most.

The 1934 output of maple products in Canada was fairly good, but with rather wide variations locally in yield and quality. A total production of 4,954,400 pounds of sugar and 1,842,500 gallons of syrup was reported, with a combined value of $3,046,650. This value, although less than half of the 1929 figure, is nevertheless 50 per cent. greater than the value reported for 1933.

As in the case of other lines of export, the depression reduced the trade in maple products with the United States, but there are signs of reviving activity in this field. A start has also been made toward developing a market in Europe. The domestic market is slowly expanding as the Canadian consumer acquires confidence in the careful grading now carried out under the eye of Dominion Government inspectors, which has vastly improved the quality of maple products in recent years.

It is interesting to note the gradual change which has occurred in the public taste or market demand with respect to maple products. In the early days of the industry, over three-fourths of the total output was maple sugar and the rest syrup. In 1934 these proportions had become completely reversed, 80 per cent. being syrup and only 20 per cent. sugar. In fact, in October over 90 per cent. was syrup.

The census returns for 1931 show that the total value of the maple products crop in Quebec was 27 per cent. greater than the combined value of all the fruit gathered from orchards, gardens and vineyards. The expansion of such a valuable industry is surely an objective which calls for applied forest research. In comparison with other forms of plant and animal husbandry, maple orcharding is now falling behind. For instance, in apple growing the productivity of the average apple tree in Canada was increased approximately 90 per cent. between 1910 and 1931. On the other hand, no effort has been made to increase the quantity and quality of the maple sap flow. The question is, how much longer will the intelligent producer of maple products be content with trees that yield only five to ten gallons of sap, testing but one per cent. of sugar, when experience with other forms of plant life show that by the development of more productive strains the yields may perhaps be increased greatly. It may well be that in the future the up-to-date maple sugar producer will employ certified, standardized maple tree stock, and that as a result he may increase the quantity, quality and profits in his enterprise.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Bondholders of the power companies whose contracts are being held void will probably feel they are the victims of an April Fool joke that they'll always remember.

Alberta seems determined to take a plunge right into the deep end of the social credit experiment. The rest of Canada is perfectly willing to let the western province make the test.

This Ottawa Government is getting too business-like. Radio licenses expired Sunday night, and yesterday morning's mails brought set-owners an official notice to that effect.

The extension of old age pensions to all blind persons over the age of 40 has been recommended to the Federal Parliament. Public opinion would doubtless support such a concession.

As might have been expected, a rush for books written by John Buchan is reported. Those who have not read any of his stuff are in for a treat, although perhaps people who have to wait until an author is named as Governor-General before reading his books are perhaps not capable of appreciating them.

Reports from the provincial employment service of increased demands for help are most encouraging They indicate that the relief situation may be substantially improved in the next few months.

Now that March is history a vote of thanks for an unusually mild and pleasant month would seem to be in order.

PORTRAYS WORLD-WIDE STORM

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—On Sunday night in a clear sky the reddish planet named after the God of war, Mars, shone throughout a high altitude with the red glare of blood. It is doubtful if anyone living has seen this phenomenon before. Like the angry red of a sunset it portends an atmospheric but world-wide storm. Atmospheric conditions have a strong influence upon human emotions. They pre-dispose to a like condition in that respect. Parliament for the first time in the history of Canada has been warned by the Minister of Defence of the actual threat of revolution. The mayors of all Canada meeting at Montreal have also warned parliament to the same effect. If instead of calming those stormy emotions to which I refer we cultivate "religious" hate, race feuds and party greed and if instead of binding ourselves together to face the storm, we tear ourselves apart, the mystery of the disappearance of the empires of the past is explained. They rushed headlong to their own doom. Conditions were too strong for them. Their intellects and will-power were not equal to it.

THE BROWSER

The Browser hasn't been reading much this week. He has been living so fully that books have been neither a sedative nor a stimulus to him....After a while, he knows, he will return to books and poems and essays and the other things that some men write and other men read....But during the last few days books have meant little to him. After all, in our sensible moments we know that writing is only an imitation or an approximation of living and quite needless for our deeper moments of existence... Out of those greater moments great literature is made, but we must not be confusing art and reality.

It is a strange thing, though, how in times of stress we turn. Sometimes we lean toward the trivial and the distracting; at other times we seek the comforting presence of the masterpieces that giants have made; but, again, we reject all man-made, man-thought, accomplishments and are comforted only by the stark and the real.

The Browser has no sage advice for the perilous emergencies of existence; all he knows is that on some occasions he hides himself in a book, while on other occasions he looks coldly upon books and wonders why grown-up men should bother with such things.

But last night before he fell asleep he did turn the pages of Brun Frank's biographical novel about "A Man Called Cervantes" and was lost in the story of "A certain strong man (who) fought stoutly at Lepanto, worked stoutly as an Algerine slave; with stout cheerfulness endured famine and nakedness and the wold's ingratitude; and, sitting in gaol, with one hand left him, wrote our joyfullest, and all but our deepest, modern book, and named it Don Quixote." Those words were written by the stout-hearted, cantankerous Thomas Carlyle, who loved Cervantes as much as Bruno Frank does; and this book about Cervantes, imaginatively though Frank has written it, is well worth any other man's reading.

Friends keep saying to the Browser: "Why don't you say something about Norman Archibald's 'Heaven High Hell Deep?'" Have patience, please, he will....Richard Haliburton has cabled his publishers from Batum, at the extreme eastern end of the Black Sea, promising a manuscript for autumn publication....Harry Franck keeps on walking. Stokes are publishing his 'A Vagabond in Sovietland." Not a word about jails, tractors, factories or museums of the Soviet Union. Just about people....Charles Hanson Towne is publishing a novel soon, 'Good Old Yesterday"....Harper's have accepted a complete California guide, written by Aubrey Drury of San Francisco. It will be the best yet.... Louis Paul, who won the O. Henry Memorial Award, thinks writing is one of the pleasantest ways of living by your wits "if one has the essential equipment, two eyes for observation and compassion for doubting the truth of evil we think we have observed"....It sounds like the truth to THE BROWSER.

CATTLE SHIPPING TO BE IMPROVED

British House is Asked to Set Up Quarantine Station at Glasgow.

DELAY AT LONDON.

LONDON, Eng. April 2, (C. P. Cable).—Canadian regulations covering import of cattle were discussed briefly at question-time in the House of Commons this afternoon when a member's complaint brought Government assurance steps were being taken to improve the facilities.

Sir Robert Smith called the Government's attention to recent Canadian regulations prohibiting the import of pedigreed cattle from Britain, except through the London quarantine station. He said the Canadian regulations were stricter than those of any other dominion or of the Argentine, and owing to be limited accommodation at the London quarantine station a larger number of cattle were awaiting shipment. He urged establishment of another quarantine station at Glasgod.

Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, said Sir Robert was under a misapprehension as to the Canadian regulations, which although stricter than the Argentine regulations were similar to those in Australia and South Africa, while New Zealand at present entirely prohibits imports of animals from Britain. The difficulties were due to the absence of shipping facilities direct to Quebec he added, and steps were being taken to secure an improvement in facilities. Direct exports of animals from Scotland were suspended on Jan. 17 he said, but he hoped this suspension would be removed by the end of the month.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE FROG LAKE MASSACRE

On this date (April 2) in 1885 Frog Lake in the Battleford district of Saskatchewan, was the theatre of the most terrible massacre in modern Canadian history. The news of the ambush of Major Crozier's force at Duck Lake on March 26 had reached the Indians headed by Big Bear and added to a previous determination to wipe out every white soul in the district.

It was Holy Thursday and the French priests had arranged the solemn service for that day. Big Bear himself sought to prevent an outbreak but was overruled by Wandering Spirit, who personally began the slaying. The service was allowed to finish. The whites, French, English, Hudson's Bay officials, were forced into a group at the police barracks. Suddenly a shot rang out. Others followed in quick succession and before long nine of the whites lay dead on the melting snow. They were: Thomas Trueman Quinn, a native of Minnesota, Indian agent and interpreter; John Delany, from Ontario, farming instructor; John G. Gowanlock from Parkdale, Ont.; George Dill from Muskoka; John Willicraft, from Southampton, Ont., William C. Gilchrist; Charles Gouin, a loyal halfbreed; Rev. Leon Adelard Fafard, a native of Quebec, and Rev. Felix Marie Marchand, a priest from France.

Wandering Spirit killed Quinn first and Father Fafard. There followed days of misery and terror for the survivors. Fort Pitt held out until April 15 when it had to be avacuated. The remaining white men, women and children were prisoners of the Indians until relief came from the south. Their physical sufferings were great, but their mental anguish was greater. Even today when the survivors, for there are a few of them, talk of those dreadful days they shudder. This Frog Lake massacre was the only incident of the whole sad year which had no military flavor. It was a sheer massacre of helpless civilians; but it was avenged in due course.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

THE UNITED STATES DUST STORM

Outside of the great desert areas nothing in the form of dust storms has ever before found a place in history. Mexico City is built at the center of a field one hundred miles in diameter. This field is surrounded by extinct volcanoes. Lava and dust rolled from these once active volcanoes and covered the whole field to the depth of fifty feet, and in some places deeper. This event found no record at the hand of witnesses. Science has brought to light what occurred before Mexican history.

William Allen White of Emporia Kansas sent to the Congress of the United States an account of the recent dust storm that scattered deep over Oklahoma and Kansas and Missouri and Nebraska and the western part of Iowa so much soil that a new continent, coming down from the skies, seemed to be in formation.

The sight was enough weird to cause nausea at the stomach of the onlookers. Many a person became dizzy at the sight. The sun instead of being reddish became blue. The blue shone like steel burnished. The dust was not a dirty brown black. It was lemon color. The grass is covered. The leaves on the trees are withered. The wheat fields are buried out of sight. At times there is not a least stir of breeze, but the dust keeps slowly falling.

William Allen White is a student in the finest sense. He sought out the cause. At first sight the cause he ascribes seems far afield. Maybe he is right. He traces the storm to two sources. One is historical. The other is the way of nature. The historical source is the Great War. What strange idea is his? When the European nations called the millions to arms European wheat fields were left uncultivated. But armies must be fed. Prices of flour rose abnormally. Americans broke up the sod of grazing fields to grow wheat. The demand upon the American farmer was so great that semiarid areas in Colorado and Wyoming and New Mexico and Kansas used as grazing fields were ploughed and sown. To regrass semiarid fields is difficult.

HIGH SEMIARID GRAZING AREAS

Western Nebraska is such an area. The altitude is high. The area is a succession of sand hills. To over graze is fatal. Rain-fall is infrequent. The sands become hot in summer time. The heated hills are breeding places for winds. Does not take much of a wind to move the sand into clouds. The top of the hills once bared are the prey of the winds. Soon the whole surface of the hills are torn up and blown far and near. To grass-patch the sand hill, takes long time. The semiarid areas broken up during the Great War have not been won back to grass. Sage brush and prairie grass are the redeemers. For them, to bring back such areas to their own, many years with plentiful rains, are the only favorable outlook.

For three years after the Great War, rain was abundant. But it takes more than three years to overcome the damage the plough had done. Then came three years of drought. The grass withered, and the sage brush died. Millions of acres lay barren of a blade of green. Not a flower bloomed. March winds of last year piled up the dust in little mountains. This year rain did not fall. March winds were again set loose. The little mountains were lifted and scattered all over the American continent, and some of them carried far out to sea. No crop was harvested from the Great War torn fields last summer.

All through the month of March, along the Mississippi valley the sunset has been in bronze. No sight could be more weird. The sight sent the people to bed with strange feelings. One Wednesday will never be forgotten. Between sun rise and sunset a vast cloud moved from Trinidad, Colorado, to the Mississippi River, and as it moved poured down millions of tons of dust and did not seem to grow less.

What can be done about it? Thousands of farmers have staked their all for many years in these regions. They have built homes and barns. Children have been born. The farms were stocked. Grazing and stock raising has been their one task. No longer can wheat or any other grain be grown. Cattle ranching has been ruined. And war did it all. Other fields than European were war torn.

JUST UNDER THE ROCKIES

Minor dust storms are frequent in the middle west. The cause is local. The soil in Nebraska is sandy. Sandy soil is easily blown. The blow seldom lasts more than a few hours. The various crops can be so arranged side by side as to minify the effect of these brief duration storms. A farmer by the name of Henry Hoeffner in western Nebraska has perfected the system. Many times this writer has visited his farm and viewed the practicability of his method.

But the present dust storm no human ingenuity could stem. It started on the arid plains just under the Rockies. The western part of this plain lies 4,000 feet above sea level. All the way to western Texas the plain slopes down to 900 feet above the level of the sea. The slope tapers gradually down to Oklahoma and Missouri and Kansas, to 800 feet above the sea. Nebraska is a little lower in altitude. A dust storm brewed under the Rockies rushes madly on without any obstacle to the Mississippi.

Some meteorologists forecast a prolonged cycle of arid weather. For three years the drought has lasted. For five or seven more years it may continue. March has been a dry spring month all over the middle west, and farther west, and southwest. All the western prairie states are now suffering from the lack of rain. Add to this the condition of the western fields which have had a dry winter. Snow has not fallen in any apreciable quantities. Neither has rain made music on the window panes or on the roof shingles. If rain does not fall to moisten pasture and grain fields a tragic harvest time is already on the way. William Allen White told Congress about the kind of people who live in the stricken area. They are not leaving their farms and homes. They are heroic. They propose to stay and master the situation. Some dry farming is to be attempted this season. Hardy grass seed will be sown and the government will not neglect this part of the nation.

George Pettit Quits Federal Politics

WELLAND, April 1. — George Hamilton Pettit, K.C., M.P., on the ground of continued ill health, will not contest Welland County at the forthcoming Federal election in the Conservative interests, it was officially announced on Saturday. Mr. Pettit was thanked by the executive, which he called together, for nine years of faithful service. He rescued the constituency for the Tories after the late William German had held it for over two decades. During 1934 Mr. Pettit suffered a serious illness in Ottawa and was confined to his bed for several months. A convention has been called for May 3.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

ST. GEORGES, QUEBEC

The town of St. Georges will forever hold a place in Canadian history at the first place on Canadian territory where Benedict Arnold's invading army was engaged by Canadian forces in 1775.

The village had its inception in 1736 when the first settlers arrived. Later a seigniory was granted to Mesdames Francois Aubert and Marie Therese de la Lande-Gayon. It took at first the name of Aubert-Gayon, but in time Gayon became changed to Gallion and finally to St. Georges.

Trade Decidedly Slack Toronto Bond Market

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.).—Trading was decidedly slack in the Toronto bond market to-day, the upset in the power group resulting from Premier Hepburn's move to revise contracts, causing buyers to hold off. Losses of several points were general in the list.

Gatineau 5's were the most active and this afternoon were holding at 81½ bid against 87½ ruling yesterday. The low for the day was 80¾. Gatineau 6's A were quoted at 63-4, down about 5 points, and B's at 62½-63½, off about the same amount.

Losses ranging up to 10 points were recorded for the Beauharnois and the Maclaren-Quebec issues, the Beauharnois 5's selling at 31-32, against 40 yesterday, and the 5½'s at 80½-83, and the Maclarens at 67-72, against 81 yesterday.

PLEADS GUILTY.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 2.—(A.P.)—Nine of 10 persons arraigned in Federal court to-day on charges growing out of the $300,000 kidnapping of Edward G. Brewer, St. Paul banker, pleaded not guilty. A tenth, James Wilson, pleaded guilty.

Wilson, not represented by an attorney, entered the guilty plea with the option of changing it when he had engaged counsel.

OTTAWA ACTION ON POWER BILL HELD UNLIKELY

Federal Gov't Approval of Provincial Statutes Now Very Much Matter of Form.

HAVE POWER IN B.N.A. ACT.

OTTAWA, April 2.—(C.P.)—Exercise of constitutional power of the Dominion to disallow provincial statutes was very unlikely in the case of Ontario government power legislation, so far as could be learned to-day.

Federal government approval of provincial statutes have become very much a matter of form, although power to disallow is contained in the British North America Act.

Each year the Dominion government passes an order-in-council accepting the operation of new provincial statutes and in recent years any statutes excepted from such orders have been of a minor nature.

The disallowance in the memory of one minister who discussed the matter to-day, was in the case of a provincial statute passed too hastily and found to be in conflict with existing statutes. It was disallowed at the request of the province concerned.

TORONTO, April 2.—(CP)—Mayor James Simpson announced to-day an emergency meeting of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association would be held Thursday to discuss the cancellation by the Ontario Government of contracts with Quebec power companies.

Bond Dealers Meet

OTTAWA, April 2. (CP).—The Ottawa Bond Dealers' Association has called an emergency meeting for fivee o'clock to-night to discuss the situation that has developed following the introduction of the bill in the Ontario Legislature repudiating contracts with Quebec power companies.

ACTIVE SELLING IN SAN ANTONIO

Price Decline of 35 Cents in Issue Depresses Toronto Trading.

SENIOR GOLDS SOFT.

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.).—Active selling of San Antonio at a price decline of 35 cents depressed the Toronto Mining Share Market to-day. The turnover was considerable also in Central Patricia, God's Lake, Little Long Lac, Macassa, McWatters, and Pickle Crow, but losses in these issues were of minor significance, being limited to 2 to 5 cents. Senior gold shares were mildly soft and the base metal and silver stocks firm but slow.

San Antonio fell to 3.40, Bradian, Little Long Lac, Buffalo-Ankerite, and McKenzie dropped 5 to 7 cents each. Dome lost $1.00, Teck-Hughes 5 and McIntyre 75 cents.

Noranda showed a decline of 25 cents. Falconbridge weakened 5 cents, and Sherritt was off 4 cents. The silvers held steady and Premier was up 5 cents to $1.65.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 2. (AP). — After the rails and utilities had displayed a steady to firm tone in the early stock market dealings to-day, late selling in the metals tended to unsettle the list.

U.S. Smelting suffered a decline of some points. Cerro De Pasco and McIntyre Porcupine yielded about a point each. Wilson & Co. preferred dropped 5, while Armour preferred and Case sagged nearly 2 each. American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and North American gave up their gains and Santa Fe, N.Y. Central and Union Pacific replaced small advances with similar losses. Many issues were virtually unchanged. The closing tone was easy.

COLLINGWOOD ELECTION PROBE IS CALLED OFF

BARRIE, Ont., April 2. (CP).—The investigation into the municipal election at Collingwood Jan. 7 last, sought by Seymour Cornwell Cooper, Collingwood druggist, who alleged irregularities, will not be held, it was decided.

Judge Dudley Holmes after hearing the arguments of counsel on a motion by W. A. Boys, K.C., Barrie, acting for the members of the present town council, decided to set aside the fiat granted by him on Feb. 18, 1935, owing to irregularities in the notice of motion.

AFTON MINES

QUERY: I would like to have you give me some information on Afton Mines, which is developing a property in the Temagamie Reserve. Do you consider the shares a good investment or just a rank speculation? —K.R.O.

ANSWER: Afton Mines incorporated in 1927, succeeding two predecessor companies formed to develop properties in Afton Township, Temagami Forest Reserve, 25 miles west of Temagami Station, Ontario. Preliminary work done by the present and predecessor companies indicates ore shoots in an iron formation. The present position of the company is that all of its 2,000,000 shares have been issued and it has some $35,000 in its treasury. Last fall an agreement was made with Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company to prospect the claims under a working option. Some $10,000 worth of diamond drilling was done and Consolidated Smelters is now doing lateral work from the 150 foot level. It is entirely too early to appraise the importance of the find as the only information that has been made available is four drill holes out of all the drilling done by Consolidated Smelters. These four holes showed commercial widths and values along an east to west zone 800 feet in length. The fact that Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company has a working option on the property gives no security that it will be brought into profitable production, because in the past few years this company has examined hundreds of properties under similar conditions and has not proceeded to develop one of them to production.

At the present time a new company is being formed, known as Amalgamated Golden Rose Mining Company, having a 3,000,000 share capitalization, of which Afton Mines will receive 1,000,000 shares, or one third interest, and when Consolidated Smelters has spent a total of $100,000 on the property, it will receive 2,000,000 shares. If further funds are required, should the property be brought into production, Consolidated Smelters will advance such funds as are required and be reimbursed out of first earnings from the property, if any. Under the circumstances, Afton Mines becomes a holding company and any revenue must necessarily come from dividends of the new company, if and when paid. Obviously the property is still in the prospect stage and a great deal more work will have to be done to decide Consolidated Smelters attitude towards it.

staffs of financial institutions who are excepted from the act," Mr. Flintoft said.

Employment among the clerical staffs of railways was stable and had just as much constancy as in the case of insurance companies, for instance, who were not brought under the act, the railway counsel claimed.

A Bit of Aid?

"It is stated the reason you put in some stable employments into this bill is to sweeten the pot and lessen the cost to certain classes," he added. If it were necessary to "sweeten the pot" by including a class of stable employees such as C.P.R. clerks, Mr. Flintoft continued, then employees of financial institutions should be brought under the dominion plan.

The departmental stores, Mr. Flintoft said, had suggested the cost of the company contributions would have to be passed on to the selling prices to the consumer; but railways, he said, were "tied down" and could only change rates on approval of the board of railway commissioners.

BRITAIN STUDIES FIGURES IMPORTS, DOMINION MEAT

LONDON, April 2 (C.P. Cable).—Figures on increases in British meat imports from the Dominions combined with reduction of imports from foreign nations, were understood to have been presented today by the British Ministers when the meat negotiations with Australian Ministers continued.

A communique simply said discussion took place on the question of Australian chilled beef exports to Britain and the next meeting would be held Thursday.

It was understood the British delegates said the experiments in chilled beef shipments from the Dominions had reached such a successful stage they could be considered a permanent feature, and the Dominions would be able to anticipate a steady increase in the chilled beef sent the United Kingdom.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES.

TORONTO, April 2. — (C.P.)—Barrie showed the only change in bacon hog prices to-day, gaining 15 cents while other reporting market points held unchanged at yesterday's firm levels. To-day's levels:

Barrie $7.75; Chatham, $7.75; Stratford, $7.75; Kitchener, $7.75; Brantford, $8.00; Hull, $8.25.

ONTARIO CHECK ON CAR DRIVERS

Owners Must Produce 1935 Driver's License to Obtain Car Transfer.

DEPARTMENT ORDER.

Orders to demand the 1935 driver's license number of the owner in granting motor vehicle transfer permits and licenses, from the Motor Vehicles Branch, Department of Highways. The move follows a recent announcement of a Province-wide drive against those who are operating cars without operator's licenses.

The communication from the Department follows in part:

"Effective as of the date of the receipt of this memorandum (Mar. 30), each applicant for the transfer of a motor vehicle permit must be required to furnish the 1935 driver's license number of the owner, or if the owner is not the driver, then the name and 1935 driver's license number of the person who will drive same. This information when received by you is to be entered on the back of the application for the transfer of the permit.

"This regulation is made necessary by reason of the discovery that a large number of motor vehicle operators are operating without current year's drivers' licenses.

"I would suggest that you immediately advise local motor car dealers of this regulation so that they will secure the information required before applying to you for transfers."

Mr. Dorris reported that the highway traffic officers are co-operating in the movement with a general check-up on motorists. He said the new regulation will catch many in the outlying districts who operate cars year in and year out without operator's licenses.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 2.—(CP)—Cattle movement continued active on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon with prices holding steady. Calves were firm, sheep and lambs steady but hogs failed to settle.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 1,370; calves 560; hogs 760; sheep and lambs, 1,320.

Choice weighty steers sold at $6.75 to $7.50 with plain down to $5.25. Butcher cattle went mostly at $5.25 to $5.75 with a few choice at $6 to $6.50. Good cows brought $3.75 to $4.25 while common went at $2.50. Bulls moved steadily within a range of $3 and $3.25 for boiognas to $3.50 and $3.75 for good. Fed calves were a shade easier at $6.50 to $7.50 for choice and at $5 for medium. A few light stockers brought $4 to $4.85.

The calf market was firm at $7 to $7.50 for choice vealers, and $5 to $7 for the bulk of the supply. A half-dozen choice koshers brought $8.

Lambs settled at $7 for westerns and a few Ontario feed-lot supplies. Spring lambs sold in small lots at $4 to $9 each. Sheep held at $1.50 to $4 cwt.

The hog division remained unsettled with packers' bids at $7.75 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.10 off truck and $8.50 off car.

Quotations:

Lambs, good, $7; medium, $6.50 to $6.75; bucks and culls, $5 to $6.

Scarlet Fever Beats Bailiff To Home Foils Eviction Jobless London Family

LONDON, Ont., April 2 (C.P.).—A strange rescuer came to the aid of an East London family this morning.

Faced with eviction, the family expected a visit from the bailiff. Rallying to their support a number of unemployed met at the home this morning to picket the house.

When they arrived they found a placard posted beside the door. It was not a "to let" sign. It read, "Scarlet fever in this house." The health inspector had arrived before the bailiff.

Now the family cannot be evicted until the placard comes down. One little child had to be taken to hospital and another is sick with the disease at home.

INTERLISTED LEADERS DOWN

Nickel, C.P.R., Ford 'A' and Brazilian Among Issues to Show Declines.

STEELS MODERATELY FIRM.

TORONTO, April 2 (CP) — A sharp sell-off in Bell Telephone on heavy volume and a drop from 4 to 3 for Beauharnois discouraged the rest of the Toronto industrial list to-day and lower closing prices was the rule. All the interlisted leaders were down including Nickel, C.P.R., Ford "A", Brazilian and the oils and distillery stocks. Other utilities, foods and construction shares worked lower with only the steels holding moderately firm.

Bell Telephone closed at 119½ for a net loss of 3 points. Beauharnois closed around 3¼, down ⅝, while Montreal Power lost ¾ and Union Gas ¼.

International Petroleum and British American Oil weakened, and Supertest Ordinary eased back more than a point.

Goodyear Pfd., International Metals Pfd., Ontario Silks and Hinde and Dauche moved down with the general trend.

BUCK WINCH IS GIVEN FREEDOM

Pleads Guilty to Vagrancy and Promises to Leave City.

NO BOND SOUGHT.

On his assurance that he would leave the city at once, Reginald "Buck" Winch was given his freedom to-day by Police Magistrate Langley.

Winch, appearing refreshed and rested after his week's stay on remand in the county gaol but minus the conventional shirt, walked swaggeringly into court and pleaded guilty to vagrancy.

"It's just a charge of vagrancy?" he asked, somewhat anxiously.

"Yes," replied the cadi, re-reading the charge.

Winch seemed satisfied and with a grin said, "Guilty."

Without a bond and on his own undertaking to leave the city he was granted suspended sentence and freed.

"He can come back when I give him permission," Chief Newhall said. "He understands. He may have some business to arrange here in the future."

William Calvert, of Rockcroft, pleaded not guilty to a charge of stealing $40 on February 9 from Fred Pluard of Rockcroft. He was remanded one week for trial, bail being set at two sureties of $500 each.

C.N.R. REVENUES SHOW INCREASE

tained its fair share of the additional business available.

Patronage Gratifying.

"The patronage given by the public generally is highly gratifying and we look forward to a continued improvement in the volume of traffic handled. It should be pointed out, however, the revenues in 1934 were $91,000,000, or $1,750,000 per week less than the average of the 10 years, 1923-1932, and, whilst progress was made during 1934, the low volume of business continues to be the greatest adverse factor in our transportation problem. The increase of 11.0 per cent. in gross revenue on Canadian National Railways compares with an average increase of 5.7 per cent. on United States Class 1 railroads."

Freight Revenues Up

Freight revenues, the report stated, increased by 12.3 per cent, tonnage increased in every region and in every major group of commodities. Gratifying increases are noted in the movement of automobiles, auto bodies and parts, forest products, paper and pulp, coal and coke. The less-than-average grain crop in western Canada due to drought conditions, grasshopper damage and early frost, brought about a disappointing movement from interior points, the tonnage moved being about the same as in 1933. By rate concessions the railways continued to contribute in substantial measure to the relief of distress in various parts of the Dominion.

Activities of unregulated competitors, said the report, have continued and increased. In addition to causing direct loss of traffic, these activities necessitated establishment of water and motor truck competitive rates which seriously affected railway revenues.

Passenger revenue showed an increase of 8.6 per cent, this increase being accomplished with less passenger train mileage than was operated in 1933. Improvement in business conditions generally is given as the cause of this betterment.

Excursions Satisfactory

Low-fare excursions were continued co-operatively with the Canadian Pacific with satisfactory results. Reduced fares were continued throughout the year for transportation of unemployed men to and from government relief camps and for the movement of unemployed to farms and settlement areas. As indicative of the low cost of railway travel the report states that the average for on Canadian National railways in 1934 was 2¼ cents per mile.

Because of the greater volume of traffic operating expenses of the system show an increase of $912,519 or 6.39 per cent., the report stated.

Traffic solicitation expenses decreased by 4.36 per cent. despite an increase of 11.0 per cent in the total traffic earnings of the railway.

There was a continued improvement in freight service operation. The average freight train operated during 1934 was 1,535 gross tons against 1,512 in 1933.

Dealing with net operating revenue during 1934, the report of the trustees stated the increase of $7,259,240, or 44.3 per cent. of the increase in gross revenue, may be considered satisfactory. The operating ratio was reduced from 96.16 per cent to 92.14 per cent.

After dealing with steps taken to keep down capital expenditure, the report dealt with co-operative economics with the Canadian Pacific. Joint approval has been given for the abandonment of 536 miles of functionally duplicate lines of which 296 were C.N.R. and 242 C.P.R.

DEBENTURE DEBT TOTAL SET AT $88,213,889

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.). — Total outstanding principal and interest of defaulting Ontario municipalities was placed at $88,213,889 as of October 31, 1934, by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn to-day in his Budget address before the Ontario Legislature.

Windsor had a total of $14,799,930 of principal and interest outstanding; Sudbury $3,296,000 (no overdue interest); Niagara Falls, $3,266,926 (no overdue interest), Pembroke, $932,933; Hawkesbury, $462,122; Thorold, $727,339 (no overdue interest); Fort Erie, $1,735,000.

NAVAL OFFICER PAYS WITH LIFE FOR KNIFE PLAY

Hanging is Held Despite Wealthy Widows Demonstration to Halt It.

USES PLANES, HAND BILLS.

LONDON, April 2. — (A.P.)—A naval petty officer who cut a shipmate's throat was hanged to-day in Wandsworth jail while two airplanes hired by anti-capital punishment group headed by a wealthy widow circled overhead.

The airplanes trailed huge yellow banners reading "Stop the death sentence." In the street in front of the jail trucks drove back and forth with the strains of "Abide With Me" blaring from loud speakers. Sandwich-men distributed hand bills to all who passed.

Nevertheless Petty Officer Leonard Albert Brigstock was dropped through the trap. He had killed Chief Petty Officer Deggan aboard the training ship Marshal Sault Jan. 19 at Chatham.

Leads Drive in Person.

Mrs. Violet Vanderfelst, Kensington widow who has declared war against the death penalty, organized the demonstration. Arriving at the prison in her limousine, equipped with a chaffeur and a loud speaker, she was soon in difficulty with the police.

She herself replaced the chauffeur in the driver's seat and drove back and forth shouting out of the window: "They are hanging an innocent man! We have last-minute evidence to prove it!"

The police took down license numbers and names of the demonstrators but made no arrests.

SEES POWER CONTRACT MOVE HURTING CANADA

KITCHENER, Ont., April 2 (CP) —The Ontario Government should have had the opinions of Ontario Municipalities before it moved to cancel Quebec power contracts, David Gross, chairman of the Kitchener Public Utilities Commission, said to-day.

It might have been wise, he said, to anticipate the likelihood of improved economic conditions and that such conditions might make it possible for the province to sell additional power to the public at a reasonable price.

"The cancellation of these contracts will have a far-reaching effect not only on Ontario, but on the whole of Canada," Mr. Gross said. "It may take years to live down the adverse effects of the Government's action.

Jewelry Shop Robbery Suspect Is Arrested

TORONTO.—Looking for a man with a badly lacerated hand, police to-day arrested Noel Raymond, 19, of Montreal, on a charge of shopbreaking. Police investigating a jewelry shop robbery found blood stains on the broken window pain. Nine wrist watches valued at more than $100 had been stolen.

County Jail Prisoners Given Smoking Privileges

INMATES MUST PROVIDE OWN TOBACCO FUND

Nixon Announces Order-in-Council Amending Jail Regulatoins.

FIRST LIFTING OF BAN.

TORONTO, April 2.—For the first time in the history of Ontario's district and county jails prisoners are to be permitted to smoke. Passage of an order-in-Council amending jail regulations to this extent were announced yesterday by Provincial Secretary Harry C. Nixon.

Some 49 institutions, including the Toronto and Hamilton jails, are concerned.

No Public Funds Used

Use of tobacco will be allowed only in such parts of a jail as the sheriff and jailer may designate. No weed will be paid for out of public funds. The jail authorities, and they alone, will purchase it out of a fund to be supplied and deposited at the jail by or on behalf of the prisoner. A full accounting will be kept of purchases, and all prisoners will be required to give a receipt for their supplies.

Before putting the new regulation in operation, jail officials must insure that their premises are free of inflammable materials and that proper fire protection has been provided.

Penalty for Breaking Rules

Violation of any jail regulation will mean instant cutting off of the offending prisoner's tobacco issue.

Smoking has been permissible for years in the different Ontario reformatories, but has never obtained in the smaller institutions. Pleas of prisoners are as much as anything else responsible for the present lifting of the ban.

Obituary

DANIEL EASON

KEENE, April 2. (Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred on Saturday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough of Daniel Eason after a few week's illness.

Mr. Eason was seventy-nine years of age and a son of the late Daniel Eason and Isobel Wood. His brother, James Eason, predeceased him eight months ago.

The funeral was held from the family residence with services in Bethel Church at 2 p.m. Monday, Rev. J. S Ferguson officiating.

Interment was in Fife Cemetery. Pall bearers were Howard Fife, Alex Fife of Peterborough, Kenneth Eason, Milton Eason, Joseph Morrison, and Joseph Lancashire of Otonabee.

MARSHALL WEIR

(Examiner Correspondence)

KEENE, April 2.—The village of Keene lost a well-known and respected citizen on Saturday evening in the passing of Marshall Weir who died very suddenly at his home here.

Mr. Weir was 78 years of age and had resided practically all his life in Otonabee township. He was a son of the late Andrew Weir and Ellen Marshall who came to Canada from Scotland.

Just fifty years ago Friday, Mar. 29, the late Mr. Weir left Keene with the Otonabee contingent who went west to help quell the Riel rebellion of 1885. He is survived by his sorrowing wife. The funeral services were held from the family residence at 3.30 p.m. Monday to Keene cemetery for interment. Rev. J. S. Ferguson officiating.

Pall bearers were Micheal O'Keefe, Richard Shortt, Isaac McNevan, Walter Hope, John Renwick, and Alex Thomson. Among those who attended the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Bonisteel of Trenton, Mrs. Blakely, Willoughby, Ohio, Archie McFarlane of Hamilton, Mrs. Skinkle from Warkworth.

AUTO SLIPS OFF BLOCKS AND KILLS MAN BENEATH

LINDSAY, April 2 (C.P.).—Edward James, 45, was killed at his home at Eagle Lake, Haliburton County, Sunday, while preparing his car for spring running. Death resulted from a broken neck suffered when the car, which he had jacked up on blocks and crawled underneath, slipped off the blocks and fell on him.

Mrs. James noticed her husband's plight and attempted to lift the car but could not. By the time she brought help from the nearest neighbors, about a half-mile away, Mr. James was dead.

CONFLICTING OPINIONS ON HEPBURN POWER ACT

Opinions of investors and labor on the Hepburn Power Bill, in which there is a distinct difference of views, were voiced last night by investment spokesmen and by laborites. These follow:

INVESTORS

Emulating Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck, two financial critics took to the radio last night to expound their views on the four controversial Hydro contracts.

The critics were I. E. Weldon, K.C., of the Beauharnois Bondholders' Committee, and P. M. Richards, financial editor of Saturday Night. Both speakers declared themselves speaking independently of politics.

In an interview with The Globe following his radio address, Mr. Weldon stated that, in his opinion, the loss to Ontario citizens would be greater than that suffered by citizens generally through the collapse of the Home Bank, which involved $17,000,000 or $18,000,000, if revision of the contracts was permitted.

"I earnestly believe, and I think you will believe," Mr. Weldon said to his radio audience, "that there is much more at stake than the financial welfare of these individual investors. What is at stake, in my opinion, is the credit of the Province of Ontario.

"I feel strongly that the loss of that credit is, or would be a greater disaster to the people of the Province, and to the taxpayer, than is the possibility that for the next year or two years, or five years, or even ten years, the Hydro will have bought at wholesale more electric power than it can sell at retail," he said.

Believes Ontario Fair.

He wished to be fair and he did not wish to be an alarmist, Mr. Weldon said. "I know that the peopleof this Province wish to do what is right and honorable and fair. Even if there were not more than $100,000,000 of the Quebec power bonds held in this Province, I know that the people of Ontario would not wish to rob selective Peter to pay collective Paul—in short, to repudiate one small group of obligations and at the same time pay other creditors of the Province in ful, he said.

"If at the moment some profess and think that Hydro showed unsound business judgment in 1926, it does not mean that there was dishonesty, corruption, or conspiracy in the administration of this, the finest example of public ownership in the world.

"Whether or not the Government can get out of these contracts because of a technicality, the fact remains that the Hydro, with the approval of the Government, bought a certain amount of power at a certain price, and it ill behooves any Government to attempt to resort to technicalities to get around these facts, which are known to every one.

"It will be a sorry spectacle if the Province ever descends to such tactics to get rid of a contract which is temporarily embarrassing" Mr. Weldon said.

Claims Wage-Earners to Suffer

A warning that in his opinion cancellation of the contracts would cause suffering among the small wage-earners of the Province, was issued by Mr. Richards. It was his opinion, also, he said, that cancellation would have a tremendously adverse effect upon Ontario's credit, and upon the credit of every town and municipality within the Province.

"A revision of the power contracts would simply mean that bondholders, who built the power plants because they had a solemn contract with Ontario, would be told that a pledge of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission is null and void. They will lose their money and the world will learn that a contract with Ontario is not certain of fulfilment" Mr. Richards said.

LABOR

Representing organized Labor and endorsing the stand of Premier Mitchell Hepburn Secretary J. W. Buckley of the District Trades and Labor Council, in October, 1931, protested to former Premier George Henry that the Government policy of the period in permitting the purchase of power from Montreal interests at $15 a horsepower and selling it back at $9 a horsepower without a known market for forty years was "unbusinesslike" and dangerous.

Former Premier Henry, in reply to the protests of organized Labor, according to Mr. Buckley inferred that if the contracts were unbusinesslike, as stated by the trade union spokesman, his political career was at stake. Mr. Henry, Mr. Buckley said last night ,endeavored to create the impression that the transactions now being invalidated by the Hepburn Government were good business, and would not admit at the time of the interview the selling back aspect of the transaction.

"Conspiracy of Silence?"

Commenting on the interview which he had had with Mr. Henry, then Premier, at the request of organized Labor, the report which he had presented to the District Trades and Labor Council later and the fact that there was no newspaper account of the interview and the report, Mr. Buckley remarked that some members of the trade union movement had come to the conclusion there was a "conspiracy of silence."

"I think that these transactions have been nothing more than a jamboree for the barons of St. James Street," said Mr. Buckley. "I am in total agreement with the attitude adopted by Premier Hepburn. Organized Labor believes that for some years there has been a determined attempt to place a ring around Hydro.

"We discussed the contracts being entered into by the late Henry Government," he stated. "I was instructed by the District Trades and Labor Council to interview the Premier. I wrote to him and received an appointment, but was compelled to cancel it until I returned from the Vancouver conference of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Discussed Whole Phase

"When I met Mr. Henry I discussed the whole phase of the situation with him, and told him that we thought it was decidedly unbusinesslike to purchase power on contract for forty years when there was no person who could tell what power would cost in forty years. In our opinion, there was something rotten in the State of Denmark when agreements were entered into to purchase power when we had no market for it. Mr. Henry, in reply, inferred his whole political future was at stake if the contracts were not businesslike, but appeared to be perfectly satisfied with them, although he would not admit the selling-back aspect of our claims."

Organized Labor, Mr. Buckley stated, took the view that power sources of supply should be publicly owned, and that the present revelations vindicated its stand.

Henry Picard Wins Metropolitan Open

ATLANTA, Ga., April 2 (A.P.).—Continuing the spectacular play that carried him to the heights among golf's money-winners in the winter campaigns, Henry Picard of Hershey, Penn., yesterday added the Metropolitan open championship to his collection and enriched his bank account by $400.

Trailing his nearest competitor, Lighthorse Harry Cooper, Chicago, by two strokes as the field set out for the final 18 holes, Picard clipped six shots from par 71 to add a 65 to his 144 total through Sunday's play and card a 209. Cooper came in second with 211.

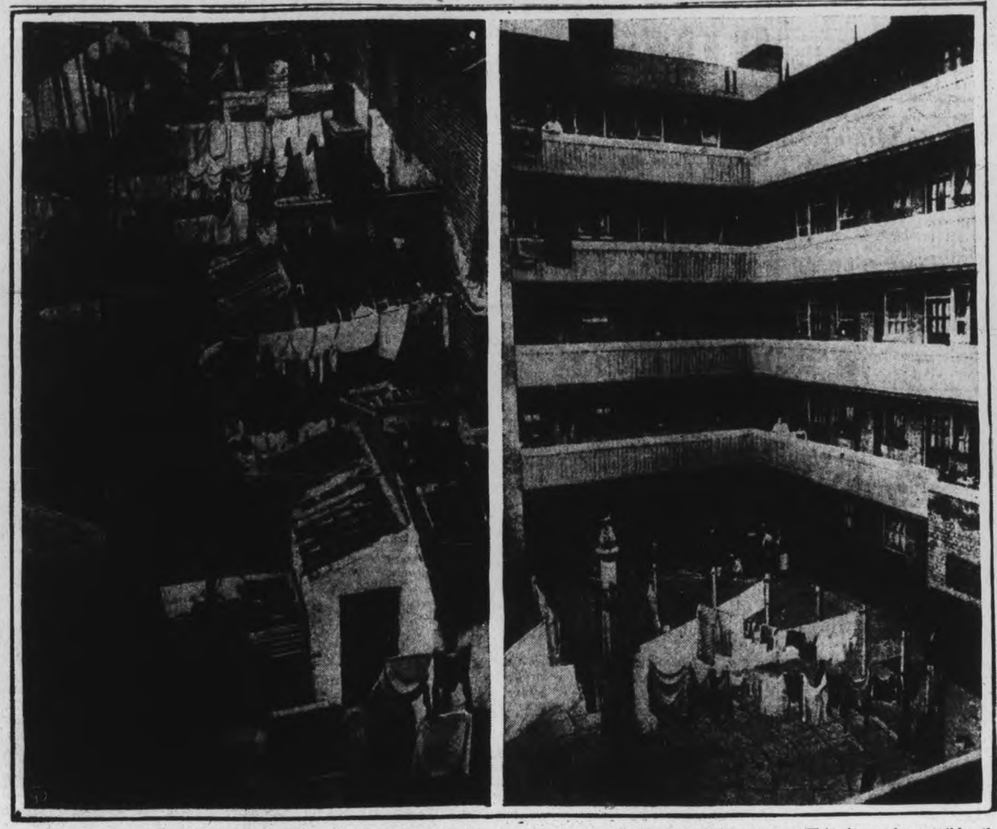
England Leads The Way In Clearing Away Slums



Slum clearance and re-housing is not all talk and no action in England, as these exclusive Central Press Canadian pictures show. The two photos illustrate graphically what can be done to alleviate living conditions in the poorer sections of large cities. No longer are families crowded into small quarters, devoid of sanitation, light and cleanliness. The picture at LEFT shows a condition that England is setting about to wipe out. Every year, for the next five years, 53,200 homes will be destroyed and 57,000 new homes and apartments will be built. The photo at RIGHT shows an apartment house, already occupied, which enjoys plenty of light and air space and which rents inexpensively enough for the lowest wage-earner. This is made possible through government subsidies. Sociological experts in England declare that crime, disease, and mortality are greatly reduced under these new living conditions. It would seem to be another instance where England leads the world in reform; for Canada and the United States, while movements of this kind are being pushed, lag well behind when it comes to actually taking action. This is the first of two layouts on this subject. Tomorrow's pictures will show the marvellous effect of releasing children from slums to clean, healthy playgrounds and home conditions.

fence of British statesmanship and British diplomacy and expressed confidence Great Britain would lead the way out of the present disturbed situation in Europe.

The Minister of Justice sounded a warning. It would be simple for Canada to proclaim neutrality in a war, but would it avail anything if the United Kingdom became involved, he asked. "The moment war is declared, notwithstanding our neutrality, our commerce would be liable to be destroyed, our shores could be invaded and our seaports bombarded by enemy ships."

An investigation of the armaments industry was proposed by Mr. King, who suggested Canada set an example to other countries in the Empire by exposing the ramifications of this business and its threat to peace. Democratic government was the surest guarantee to peace, he said, and he saw the greatest menace to peace in the dictatorships of Europe where the will of one man could place his country in a position from which it could not retract without recourse to arms.

Practice Peace Doctrines.

A plea that Canada proclaim and practice the doctrine of peace was made by Mr. Bourassa.

The 67-year-old Nationalist leader from Quebec, grey-haired now, with his fiery tongue mellowed with the passing years, proposed Canada extend to the whole world its unfortified frontier with the United States.

There are no forts, cannons or naval boats along the Canada-United States boundary, exclaimed Mr. Bourassa. "Why not make this true of the rest of the world? If it has been found that the safest defence for Canada against the only nation which may think of attacking us is to disarm, why should we arm against Germany, Italy, Russia, Japan, China or any other country?"

Canada, advised the old Nationalist, should make no entangling alliances with nations likely to jump into war. As for the United Kingdom, "we should signify politely but firmly to the British Government that we are prepared to stand by them to help the British nation carry forward all measures for peace but also that we are prepared to stay at home if England chooses to go to war for causes which are foreign to Canada."

Stand With Britain.

Geographically Canada is an American country, Mr. Bourassa said, and its major problems were bound up with those of the United States. "I suggest we should make it clear to the Americans that we stand loyally by Great Britain so long as Great Britain stands for peace. And we should intimate to the British Government that if England chooses war and the United States desires peace, then we shall decide for peace."

While an airplane droned over Parliament Hill, Mr. Bourassa urged Canada proclaim a Monroe doctrine of its own—its determination to have no entangling alliances with Europe. "In order to accomplish that, why not join for the next 10 or 15 years the Pan-American Union in which we would be far more at home than we are in the League of Nations, where we would find the representatives of all those states of South America which, in some respects, are in closer understanding with the United States, but in others have the same feeling of diffidence which is natural in small or weak nations toward a greater one which dominates this continent."

Decide Own Policies

Canada should make up its own mind on war policies, Mr. Bourassa urged. He referred to the Chanak incident of 1922, claiming when Liberal Leader Mackenzie King, who was Prime Minister at the time, announced Canada would not follow the United Kingdom into war, he did more than any other Canadian in history to promote peace as a national policy.

(The Chanak incident developed from the Graeco-Turkish war and resulted from the Turks sweeping along the sea of Marmora and threatening Constantinople then administered by an Allied commissioner. A British force was assembled in front of the Turks at Chanak and Lloyd George asked the Dominions if they were prepared to enter a war. Canada said no, in effect).

Mr. Bourassa explained that had he been guided by his own inclination he would have made his resolution stronger. But he wanted to secure support of the House and so kept some of his personal views to himself.

Two Conservative speakers continued the budget debate last night, both Westerners, W. A. Beynon of Moose Jaw and James Stitt of Selkirk. Mr. Beynon said the Conservative party was ready to fight the election in Western Canada on the government's wheat market stabilization and on the Marketing Act, both of which had been assailed by Liberal speakers. He defended the work of John I. McFarland, head of the wheat selling agency.

Mr. Stitt said the Liberal party had now become the Tory party. He was proud of being a Conservative although he had been described as a radical. Liberals were dominated simply by a lust for power and had no thought of service to the country, he said.

The budget debate continues today.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE, SUBJECT OF CLUB TALK

Rev. Harold B. Neal Gives Splendid Address at Rotary Luncheon.

NEED OF RELIGION.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 2 (Examiner Correspondence). — Rev. Harold B. Neal was guest speaker at the Campbellford Rotary Club's luncheon on Monday and chose for his subject, "International Peace." Mr. Neal was introduced by Acting President C. B. Williams, and started his address by telling his listeners that 2,600 years ago there lived a man by the name of Issiah—a man who believed in a warless world—his dream will come when nations will live together in peace and harmony. The great masses of the people believe in peace.

Said Maxim Litvinoff of the Soviet Republic, speaking at a banquet in honor of Captain Anthony Eden: "Never since the World War have there been such misgiving as now. The great masses of all countries, who when they are not subjected to militaristic dope, are friends of peace."

It is known to you that it is the munition manufacturers who controls—these men seek to promote their own selfish interests—it is a known fact that these men got protection during the war to make shells to mow down French and British soldiers. There is always some one stirring up unrest and hatred among the people. Twenty-five years ago it was a rare thing to hear a sermon on peace. People are peace-loving if they are left alone. War is a modern affair — comparatively modern. Wars of feudal, tribal, national and commercial war came about in the modern sense with the discovery of metal, because men were then able to defend themselves against their enemies. From 1496 B.C. to 1861 A.D. there are 3,357 years, and out of that 3,130 years were years of war, and only 227 years of peace—or 13 years of war for every one of peace—but a warless world is the dream of humanity to-day.

Need of Religion.

"I do not believe that we will ever have a warless world," said the speaker, "without the help of religion—only that in its finest sense will conquer. We have tried everything else but we have yet to try this. Religion is a good fellowship —every religion will have a part—friendship, lasting peace—with fear and suspicion laid aside. We must continue to hold before us a day when there will be peace and goodwill throughout the world, and I regard this Rotary Club as a great thing, which promotes peace and understanding. Sometimes we feel powerless, especially when we think of the League of Nations, but these things are only in their infancy. You gather here to talk things over and there is no better way of settling our difficulties. People of every faith, in a spirit of friendship, who have taken responsibilities so that we may dream again of a worldless war, when peace shall cover the earth, and I acknowledge with deep gratitude the great work you Rotarians are doing in bringing about and cultivating the international spirit of goodwill. Yet I believe that there is One Great Divine to which the whole of creation can look."

Rotarian A. D. Bennett moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his splendid address, which was conveyed to him by Acting President Williams. After the reading of the secretary's report the meeting adjourned.

Last Word In Modern Accountancy Found In Bank Of Nova Scotia

ELECTRICALLY OPERATED BOOK-KEEPING MACHINES PLACED IN LOCAL BANK

Increased Service to Banking Public Offered By Bank of Nova Scotia.

OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK.

National Cash Register Company of Canada Installed New Equipment.

With the object of offering increased service to the banking public, and as concrete evidence of their optimistic faith in the future possibilities of Peterborough as an industrial and mercantile centre, The Bank of Nova Scotia has just installed a machine book-keeping system that is the last word in modern accountancy and business methods.

While the customers of the bank could not help but be impressed with the entire lack of confusion with which the change from loose-leaf ledgers to the new machine system was accomplished, they are probably not in a position to fully realize the vast amount of painstaking work which such a sweeping change involved.

Night after night B. F. Chilton, the local branch manager; S. R. Morton, accountant; and other members of the staff put in hours of overtime transferring the hundreds of current and savings accounts from the old loose leaf ledgers (now thrown into the discard), to the new ledger cards.

Smooth "Change-Over"

On the first day that the electrically operated book-keeping machines went into action, the preliminary details had been so well engineered, that the change was effected without slightest inconvenience to customers.

T. A. Boyles, former accountant in the local branch, and now assistant chief accountant of the Bank, was present on the day the "change over" went into operation overseeing the introduction of the new system on behalf of the bank; while C. J. Monahan, of The National Cash Register Company (of Canada) Limited, supervised the technical details on behalf of his firm who had the contract for the installation of the machines.

Commenting on the change from the old system to the new method of machine book-keeping, which is an innovation in so far as this city is concerned, Mr. Boyles stated that the local branch is now on a par with branches in larger centres such as Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa where the machine book-keeping systems have been in successful operation over a period of years.

Discussing some of the features of the machine book-keeping system, from the customer's standpoint, Mr. Boyles pointed out that at all times the customer could be sure that the entries in his bank pass book agreed with those on his ledger card.

Triple Operation

In recording the transactions, the teller-operator now automatically performs three book-keeping operations in one—the machines being designed to simultaneously post the ledger card, pass book and teller's day book in one unerringly accurate movement, by the simple manipulation of a series of keys similar to those on an ordinary cash register. There is something almost uncanny about the precision with which the machines perform complicated book-keeping entries.

Not only has the new system involved the scrapping of loose leaf ledgers and pens and ink, but it has eliminated the familiar teller's cages establishing the teller-operators (as they are now rated), in railed-off enclosures instead.

Such a change has necessitated several other structural alterations, besides redecoration of the premises and has included also replacement of old office furniture with new desks and other equipment. As a result the combined effect is a pleasingly modern, and well-lighted office, in sharp contrast to the former arrangement under the now obsolete system.

Cards Replace Leaves

Where depositors formerly had pages for their respective accounts in the loose leaf ledger, they now have ledger cards, which are conveniently filed in metal cabinets, complete with a simple but comprehensive index.

If John Brown wishes to deposit five dollars in his savings account for example, he follows the usual procedure of handing his deposit slip, deposit, and pass book to the teller-operator, but from then on the transaction is speeded-up considerably in comparison with the old method.

Instead of entering the transaction in his day book with pen and ink, before passing the deposit slip and pass book to the ledger-keeper to be posted to the ledger, the 'teller-operator" merely picks the depositor's ledger card from the filing cabinet, and places it along with the depositor's pass book into the machine. He presses buttons on the machine appropriate to the transaction, and—presto! the three-fold entries are complete.

Another Feature

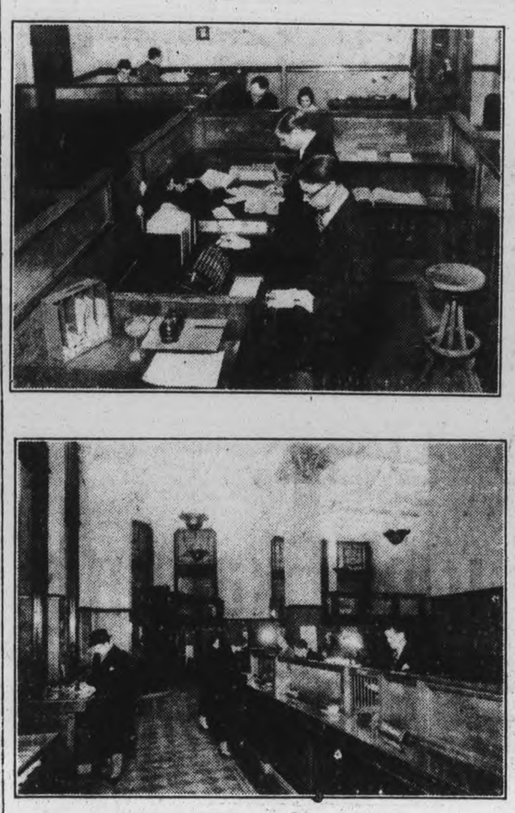
There are other features to the machines which can best be appreciated by the bank staff, one of the most outstanding probably being the fact that at the close of each day's business the accountant is able to take off his balances direct from the machines.

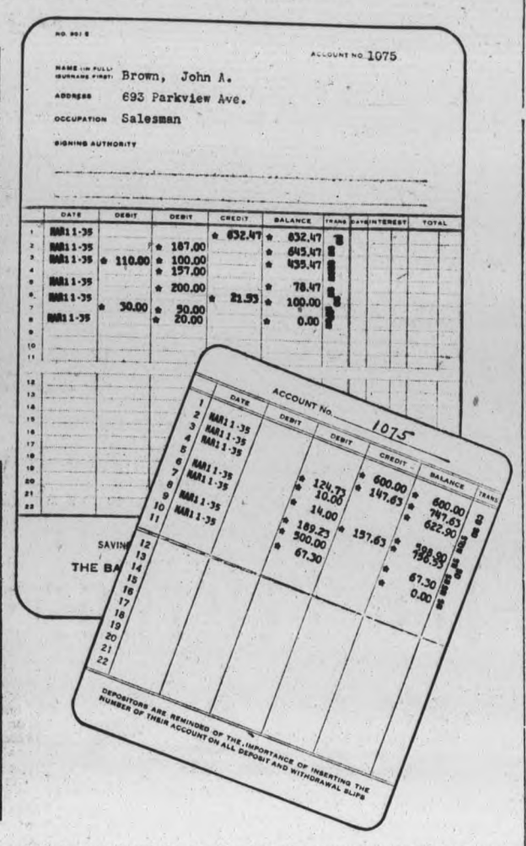
Mr. Boyles discountenanced the suggestion that the machines would result in any displacement of the staff, and stated that on the contrary their introduction had necessitated the addition of another member in the person of C. Collison, as teller-operator, who has had experience of the National Cash Register machine system in one of the Toronto branches of the bank.

Work For Local Firms

While many of the new office fittings were instaled by the Bank's Premises Department at Toronto, several local firms have benefitted as a result of the changes that have been made, the policy of the bank having been to give work for the employment of local labor wherever possible. Among local firms, who have had a hand in the alterations to the bank premises, were the following: electrical installation, Miller and Powell; marble tile for counter base, Ontario Marble Company; decorating, Coleman Brothers; linoleum, Richard Hall Limited; plumbing, Cassan and Hutchinson; "Donnacona" wall board supplied by Peterborough Lumber Company, and installed by Fred Dummitt, who also had the order for stationary cupboards and other carpentry work; tile flooring, The Frontenac Floor and Wall Tile Company, Kingston.

Illustrations of Changes Made in Bank of Nova Scotia





The illustrations above, while taken in one of the Toronto branches of the Bank of Nova Scotia, are typical of the changes that have transformed the local branch of the Bank into a pleasingly modern and well-lighted office, complete with a National Cash Register machine book-keeping system that is the last word in modern accountancy and business methods. Top (left) shows the teller-operator's enclosures which have replaced the familiar "cages", with the National Cash Register Company's machine installations in operation; while below gives an excellent idea of the general layout of the local office as seen by the customer. The Diagram shows specimen ledger card, and savings account pass book, as used in connection with the National Cash Register Company's system.

Menu Hint

Spanish Stew
Mixed Vegetable Salad
Orange Cream Pie Coffee

The acidulous fruits are always delicious served in any form for dessert, salad or as a first course in any meal, no matter how simple. This orange pie is not only delicious as dessert, but is healthful.

Today's Recipes

Spanish Stew.—Two pounds chuck or neck of beef, one-fourth cup salad oil, three small onions, sliced; two tablespoons chopped parsley, one clove garlic, three green peppers cut in strips, six potatoes, cubed; salt, pepper, flour for thickening. Cut meat in inch cubes. Put salad oil into the stew kettle, and heat. Add onion, garlic and cook gently until onion is a golden brown. Remove garlic, add meat and cook gently until meat is browned on all sides. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and add green pepper. Cover with water and simmer gently, one hour. Add potato cubes and continue cooking slowly until meat and vegetables are tender. Thicken liquid with flour, using one tablespoon flour to each cup of liquid and blending it with milk or cream, before stirring into the stew.

Orange Cream Pie—One and one-third cups (one can) sweetened condensed milk, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-fourth cup orange juice, one cup sliced orange sections, free from membrane; baked pie shell (eight-inch), two egg whites, two tablespoons granulated sugar. Blend together sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, orange juice and drained orange sections. Chill. Pour into pie shell, which was baked in eight-inch pie plate. Cover with whipped cream or meringue. Chill before serving. If meringue is used, beat egg whites until stiff and add sugar. Spread on pie and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 minutes or until brown. To prepare orange pulp, peel oranges and remove all white membrane. Remove sections, cutting free from membrane. Cut each section in half crosswise.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Drink Through Straw

Milk drinking becomes a game for children when they are allowed to sip it through a straw. Some new drinking straws are even more exciting than the usual ones or even those of glass, are of a transparent plastic, glassy in appearance. Even if there are no children in the family, these inexpensive articles are nice for the next person on the sick list.

CITY SOLICITOR ASKS INCREASE

John R. Corkery Asks City Council to Double Present Salary.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

Plans for Peterborough's celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the coronation of Their Majesties King George V and Queen Mary will be discussed at a meeting of citizens which Mayor Denne will call for next Friday night.

An invitation from Rev. Dr. Blagrave to the jubilee ceremonies at St. John's Church was received by the council last night, and Alderman Stocker moved, seconded by Alderman Wilson, that preparations for this city's program as part of the Empire's great event of honor and thanksgiving should be begun at once.

Alderman Macdonald suggested that no large expense should be incurred.

"I think I am as loyal as anyone, but I don't think that any great expense is necessary," he said.

Seeks Salary Increase

A letter from John R. Corkery, City Solicitor, asking that his present salary be doubled, was referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Corkery's salary is $1,500 a year, less the ten per cent reduction that has been applied to all civic officials. He asked for an early consideration of his request which is supplemented by the wish that his resignation be accepted if his application for an increase is not granted.

Mr. Corkery explained in his letter that during the last two years his work as city solicitor had grown to a great extent as a result of new problems in municipal matters growing out of the depression. He had been forced to neglect his private practice, and if he was to continue as city solicitor he would have to engage additional help in his office.

England now has very few strikes.

The Eye And Its Relation To General Diseases

By
DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH
166 Brock Street

INFECTIOUS DISEASES

Infectious diseases, their complications and sequela are the cause of numerous eye lesions. Such diseases may be due to a single micro-organism producing well-defined clinical manifestations, such as are seen in glanders, tetanus and splenic fever and are in each instance peculiar to the specific agency which produces them, or they may result from the more complicated processes by which different microbes may be the cause of the same group of clinical symptoms, as in the case of erysipelas and blood poisoning. In either instance the resulting eye lesions may be the direct result of the numerous complicating conditions which arise in the course of the disease.

The involved and intricate nature of this subject will be appreciated when it is remembered that with many of the infectious processes which are supposed to have a specific cause we may have in various stages of the disease complications arising from secondary processes, the mixed infection being due to the addition of two or more of the common form of micro-organisms (germs). It is often to these secondary infections, which are so common that we look upon them as a necessary part of the disease and cause so many complications which make their appearance in the eyes. The eye is in rare instances the seat of primary infection with such symptoms as intolerance of light, lacrymation (water condition) and inflammation of lids often seen during the period of incubation of measles; but more generally eye trouble, when found in association with infectious diseases is a direct effect of the disease itself or some of its complications. There is generally a marked difference in eye trouble following an acute disease than one resulting from a chronic condition. An infection may be so intense as in acute ptomaine-poisoning that the general system is completely overwhelmed, resulting in partial or complete blindness, associated with stupor, delirium and sometimes optic neuritis or partial optic atrophy, loss of accomodation and a drooping of the upper eye lid, all caused by eating decayed food, such as fish. In the more chronic form of infection the process is a slower one. Eye symptoms may not develop for years after the original lesion, and are generally the result of degenerate changes in the vessel walls, producing a gradual weakness of their structure with resulting in haemorhage.

The general power of resistance of a patient who is subjected to an infective process greatly modify the systemic effects produced. So the condition of the eye may influence the course of the disease in that organ. An old iris with adhesions or an old penetrating wound with an entangled iris may make the eye more vulnerable than it otherwise would be and lead to most serious consequences when it is subjected to the dangers of an infectious disease. A subject of interest in connection with infectious diseases in their relation to the eyes is that which concerns the route by which the eye is invaded by the germs of their morbific products. In such diseases as lupus of the skin of the lids, infection may take place by direct transmission of the germs from the lids to the lining membrane of the inner surface of lids and the eye ball.

In meningitis the route may be by way of the optic nerve or in some cases through the Spheroidal Sinus. A meningitis in its various forms gives rise to a variety of ocular lesions of the most serious character. The eye symptoms are the direct result of the exudate (secretion) pressing upon the visual centres, ganglia, optic tracts and the motor and sensory nerves. If the process is extensive, the eye symptoms in the early stage will consist of congestions and intolerance to light. If the convexity of the brain is involved, the direct effect of the exudate will involve the cranial nerves especially the 6th nerve causing quite a squint. An over sensitive or under sensitive condition will indicate an involvement of the 5th nerve and an inability to close the eye lids will indicate a paralysis of the 7th nerve. Erysipelas an affection of the skin is an infectious disease. It frequently involves the eye lids, though originating elsewhere. It may extend to the loose cellular tissue of eye-ball causing a serious infillitration, an orbital abscess with pressure on optic nerve also 3rd nerve. It may extend to the brain by way of the optic nerve causing a meningitis or an obstruction of the central vein. In its mildest form vision is affected with contraction of the visual field. The more severe types may result in optic atrophy from compression of the optic nerve resulting in blindness or death.

$8,999 PLACED IN RESERVE FUND OF DEPARTMENT

Operating Revenue $76,667.10 —Operating Expenses $49,202.

PROFIT IN OPERATIONS.

Debenture Interest Payments Totalled $14,487.50 in Past Year.

A net operating loss of $3,022.15 for last year was revealed as the annual statement of the Gas Department was submitted to the Utilities Commission by Manager Harry Beal at a meeting yesterday afternoon. The loss figure was reached, however, after the annual contribution of $8,999.00 to the reserve fund had been made.

Operating revenue for the year is reported as $76,667.10. Operating expenses were $49,202.75 and debenture interest payments totalled $14,487.50. Seven thousand dollars of debentures were retired during the year. Excluding the reserve contribution of $8,999.00, a profit of $6,667.10 on operations was indicated.

Machinery and equipment, city mains and the general property assets of the Department at the end of the fiscal year were revealed as $354,389.04. The machinery and equipment item amounted to $113,650.48 and the city mains to $129,187.10. Current financial assets were cited as $46,612.15.

Totalling $401,946.66, the liabilities exceeded the assets by $945.47. Items in the liability account are debentures outstanding, $298,000.00; accounts payable, $1,546.85; reserve for renewals and contingencies, $65,399.81; and debentures paid, $37,000.00.

In last year's annual statement an operating profit of $842.09 was shown.

To Seek Increase

The Commission decided to ask for increased remuneration for collecting power accounts in the Peterborough rural power district. A letter to the Hydro by the secretary of the Commission will point out that when the present contract for a remuneration of $2,500 per year was made in 1930, the rural district had between 800 and 900 power customers. At present the Commission is billing 1,117 customers with a proportionate increase in billing costs. Three thousand dollars a year, an increase of $500 will be sought.

The annual 13th Bill was received from the Hydro Electric Commission, indicating the manner in which the credit of $11,802.88 to the local Commission, previously announced, was arrived upon. The bill read as follows:

"By difference between the actual cost of power (as detailed) delivered during the fiscal year ending October 31, 1934, and the amounts received as per power accounts rendered:

Cost of power purchased	$49,513.02
Share of operating costs and fixed charges:
Operating, maintenance and administrative expenses	$37,706.01
Interest including exchange	57,041.60
Renewals	9,936.17
Obsolesence and contingencies	3,473.91
Sinking fund	11,608.41

TWO FIRE ALARMS

Two minor blazes within a few minutes of each other required the attention of the Fire Department yesterday. At 12.04 p.m. an alarm brought one unit to 472 Driscoll Terrace where a defective chimney had set fire to a partition. The damage amounted to about $10, covered by insurance. Four minutes later a telephone call warned of an awning blaze in front of the M. J. Roche optician shop at 188 Charlotte street. A cigarette butt is believed to have started the blaze. The awning was partly destroyed and paint on the shop front singed, damage amounting to about $25.

Trans-Canada Road Waits Dominion Aid

TORONTO, April 2.—(CP)—The trans-Canada highway from Pembroke to North Bay and from Schreiber to the Manitoba boundary is practically complete to trans-Canada standards, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn told the Ontario legislature today in his budget address.

Much improvement is needed he said between North Bay and Schreiber while about 200 miles of new construction is held in abeyance "until a definite agreement is reached with the Dominion government as to its share of the cost."

He said the trans-Canada in Ontario extends more than 1,100 miles, much of this through sparsely or unpopulated territory and "it is manifestly impossible for the province to justify further construction along this road without substantial aid from the Dominion".

Pulp, Paper Situation Now Being Reviewed

TORONTO, April 2.—(C P)—Uncertain conditions continue to exist in the pulp and paper industry of Ontario, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said in his budget address in the legislature today.

"A large number of mills in Ontario are closed," he said, "and others are running on a partial basis. The solution of this problem may be found only after a careful survey of all the facts and an intelligent study of these. A number of pulpwood agreements have expired and these, along with others where the obligations have not been met are being reviewed, having in view the reopening of certain of the old mills now idle and maintaining the production of going concerns.

"The revenue last year from lands and forests amounted to $1,837,000, while the estimated revenue for the coming year is $2,323,000 or an increase of one-half million dollars."

4,000 More Mental Patients In 16 Years

TORONTO, April 2.—(CP)—Population of mental hospitals in Ontario has increased more than 4,000 since 1919, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said in his budget address today while speaking of the hospitals branch of the Department of Health.

In 1919 patients numbered 7,448; in 1923, 9,489; in 1930, 10,060; in 1934, 12,068.

Obituary

DR. GEORGE H. BURNHAM.

George Herbert Burnham, M.D., F.R.C.S., Edinburgh, a native of Peterborough, died at his home in Toronto yesterday. In his 85th year. He succumbed unexpectedly to an attack of pneumonia.

Dr. Burnham was the eldest son of the late George Burnham, M.D., of this city, and leaves a brother, J. Hampton Burnham here. His wife Frances S. Burnham, survives in Toronto. A private funeral is to be held here to-morrow with services at the Little Lake Cemetery chapel and interment in the cemetery.

ELIZABETH ROWE.

The death of Elizabeth Rowe, wife of the late William Rowe, occurred at the home of her son, Fred Rowe, in Toronto, on Sunday. She was 83 years of age.

Funeral will leave the Toronto home Wednesday at 8 a.m., for services at Zion Church, Petherick's Corners, at 2 p.m. Interment will be in Zion Cemetery, Campbellford.

CONVICT TOTAL SHOWS DECLINE

High of 21,421 Prisoners in 1930 Drops to 13,509 in 1934 Hepburn States.

WOMEN'S FARM CLOSED.

TORONTO, April 2. —(CP)— In his budget address in the Ontario legislature today Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn noted a "steady decrease" in the number of convicts in Ontario prisons and reformatories.

The high point was reached in 1930, he said, with a total of 21,421 prisoners. In the fiscal year 1933-34 the number was 13,509.

He announced closing of the women's farm at Concord, North of Toronto, on April 15 because of fewer prisoners who will be sent to Mercer reformatory.

Mr. Hepburn said consideration is also being given to closing the industrial farm at Fort William where in recent months there have been only 35 or 40 prisoners.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED WIRED FOR DYNAMITING

WINDSOR, Ont., April 2 (C.P.). —After recovering his motor car which had been stolen during the night, Aurele Doyle, 20, drove it more than a mile to where he worked to-day, and then discovered three sticks of dynamite, wrapped in black friction tape, under the hood of his car.

Muddy marks on the left front fender led Doyle to investigate and resulted in finding the dynamite lying in the pan beside the motor. At police headquarters about 20 yards of tape were stripped from the sticks. Two fuses, about 16 inches long, bound together at intervals, were attached to the dynamite. The fuses had been hooked to spark plugs, but became disconnected. The ends were brown, as if the first starting of the motor had burned the powder at the tips.

Doyle was unable to give any clue as to who might be responsible for the act. Police estimated there was enough dynamite to blow up "a city block."

PRESENT PLANES BE OUTCLASSED IN NEW CONFLICT

Armored Stratosphere Types of Aircraft Will Change Whole Picture, Says British Expert.

IN FEW DAYS OR WEEKS

Believes This is Reason for German Opposition to Proposed Locarno Pact.

By ROBERT SCHUMANN
(Copyright, 1935, by The Havas News Agency)

MOSCOW, April 2 (C.P.-Havas)— A new war would catapult such advanced types of airplanes into battle that existing air forces would be outclassed in a few weeks or even a few days, an authoritative British expert told this correspondent yesterday. This he maintained is the reason for Germany's opposition to the proposed "Eastern Locarno" pact.

He also declared Germany's reputed fears of the Soviet Union's air force are "groundless."

"The only arm on which a sudden surprise offensive could be based is aviation. The Soviet Union has a well-equipped air fleet, which would suffice to play a defensive role in putting collective sanctions into force, however, that alone would not be enough.

"We know, in fact," he continued, "that all air forces are at present protective arms that would be outclassed a few weeks or even a few days, after the outbreak of hostilities."

Plans Ready

"In every country, designers have in their workshops plans for more advanced types—armored planes, stratosphere planes, motors with turbo-compressors—which because of the expense they have not begun to build, but which would be undertaken on the day war broke out.

"That is why Germany is so opposed to the 'Eastern Locarno' pact. She knows that the nation capable of carrying on war single-handed is not the nation with most planes in the hangars, but the one able, through its industrial organization, to build a new air force in the shortest time.

"Russia alone would not be at the mercy of the Reich, but would be unable to play a decisive part in keeping order in Europe. The mutual assistance system, on the other hand, would enable their forces to enter the war quickly enough to punish and discourage the aggressor."

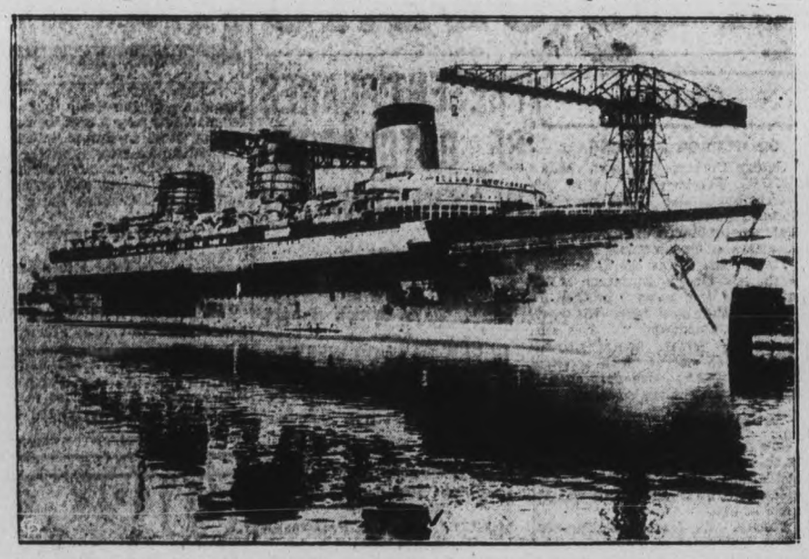
Gigantic French Ocean Liner Nears Completion



The new pride of the French mercantile marine navy, the liner Normandie, is picture at St. Nazaire, France, where it is nearing completion. Everything is almost ready now for the ship's trial run between St. Nazaire and Le Havre, that will take place some time between April 20 and May 20. The big ship will make its maiden voyage to New York, starting May 29th.

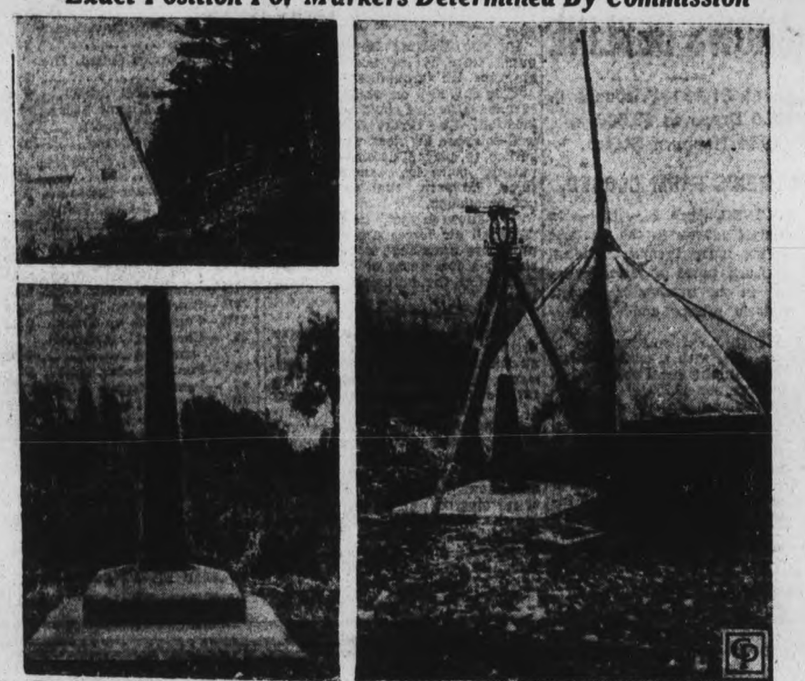
Exact Position For Markers Determined By Commission



Boundary markers of many different designs designate the international line between Canadian and American soil. Whenever a dispute occurs as to the exact location of the line an international commission which represents both countries decides the point. Above are shown some of the boundary markings: TOP LEFT, the range mark which designates the international line in Passamaquoddy bay in the Bay of Fundy. LOWER LEFT, a hollow cast-iron monument which has marked the boundary on the St. Croix river in New Brunswick since 1844, RIGHT, a bronze marker being set at the exact spot on the 141st meridian on the Alaska-Yukon boundary.

Thousands Flock To Bier Of Ontario's "Miracle" Girl

Thousands of people gathered from all over Ontario, to the humble little cabin at Navan, near Ottawa, where Marie Anne Gravelle lived and died. Her funeral was attended by a vast throng. For the word that Miss Gravelle had worked "miracle" cures through the power of prayer, and the report of the sign of the cross said to have been seen by several nearby residents, that hovered over the house the night after the girl died, have been spread far and wide. Several people testified that Miss Gravelle cured them of ailments; a child who had not been able to move her arm since birth is reported cured; a man with a throat ailment, another deaf man reports complete cures. Miss Gravelle was nineteen when she died. The power to perform these "miracles" did not become apparent until about two weeks before her death. She had been in poor health for past four years. The layout ABOVE shows the late Miss Gravelle (in circle). At RIGHT, the house with crowds of people anxious to pass before the dead girl lying in state in her coffin. LEFT the altar at which Miss Gravelle prayed. LEFT BELOW, the girl's parents, Mr. Olivier Lavergne, stepfather, Miss Rita Gravelle, sister, holding the statue of the Virgin Mary given to the "miracle girl" shortly before her death, and Mrs. Eugenie Lavergne, mother of the girl. LOWER RIGHT, the girl seen lying in state in her coffin. Note the crutches in the background, left by those who were apparently cured by the blessing of Miss Gravelle. The photo of Miss Gravelle was taken about four years ago.

Woman Hater

This business of "woman-hating" seems a profitable policy in politics. Canada's leading statesmen, Premier R. B. Bennett and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King are both bachelors. Contesting the presidency of the University of Alberta Students' Union, Ted Bishop (ABOVE), head man in the campus Woman-Haters' club, stepped to bat with his avowed distaste for feminity in no manner diminished, despite the fact that more than one-third of student voting power is wielded by co-eds. He was elect-

Turkey Seeks 240,000 British Helmets

This armful of steel helmets are part of the 400,000 made for the British army 17 years ago. An agent, called a "master mind" by the newspapers, has been scouring London in an effort to buy them. Bringing to a close the series of whist drives and dances which have been carried on throughout the winter months, the members of the Sergeants' Mess of the Peterborough Rangers were hosts on Friday evening to a large number of their friends who have participated in these enjoyable monthly events. Twenty-eight tables of whist were played, supervised by R.S.M. J. Gaskell. The officers of the Peterborough Rangers, supporting the non-commissioned officers of the regiment in making a banner event of the affair, kindly donated prizes which were won as follows: Mrs. F. Marshall and C.Q.M.S. S. Kitchen (first); Mrs. J. Douglas and Mr. A. Simmons (second); Miss Jean Cumiskey and Miss Ward (consolation). The door prize went to Mrs. Downer and the raffle was won by Mr. A. Mason. The prizes were presented by R.Q.M.S. H. Chate, president of the Mess. Later, refreshments were served, prepared by Mrs. H. Chate and dispensed by Mrs. J. Gaskell and Mrs. S. Kitchen. Led by the Master of Ceremonies, R.S.M. J. Gaskell, a varied program of dances was also enjoyed by over one hundred guests, to music played by Mr. Reg Dyer and his orchestra. The members of the Mess, through the president, thanked all who had supported them this season and extended a hearty invitation to partake in next year's social events.

Frends here of Alice Roger Collins of Walkerton, a native of Peterborough, as is her husband, will be interested in the following excerpt from last week's "Saturday Night": "And, by the way, it was one of the loveliest sonorous notes of March that brought to us the composition of Alice Roger Collins, "The Sons of Martha." It is a song dedicated to the Engineers of the world. Mrs. Collins of Walkerton has marshalled Kipling's virile poem to music in a manner that must thrill that Empire visionary. Indeed he has sent her congratulations. And what a sense of completeness he must feel to have sent his words winging and find them caught up in rhythmic measure at an outpost of Empire—little Walkerton in Canada! And it developed a thought in my own minds—a song to the world's engineers! If more music were written as an incentive to the progress of manual labor, martial tunes would perhaps fade in the distance. Someone once said that it was Le Marseillaise that won the French Revolution. Why not music to give pargeantry to peace—to march to the tune of work instead of war. An appropriate thought for this week! An "old girl" of Havergal and Glen Mawr, Mrs. Collins' poems on "Real People' 'and a sesame to treasure—thoughts called "The Key of Gold." "put the grace of a cultured woman's heart in poetry as Mrs. Browning did,' 'to quote a critic. So "old girls" of the schools she attended will be especially interested to hear of Mrs. Collins' latest achievement and will look forward to hearing Edward Johnson present her song to the public, which he has promised to do. The Engineering Institute gave the song an enthusiastic reception at their recent annual dinner-dance which Mrs. Collins and her husband attended. He is a Bank of Montreal man, but their daughter was unable to be present as she was away on a Mediterranean cruise."

The Easter Thankoffering meeting of the Helen Roger Auxiliary of Knox Church, was held on Monday evening at the Manse, King street, and was in charge of Mrs. Ernest Johnston and Miss Mary Morton. The meeting opened with the playing of quiet music and the call to worship read by Miss Morton, followed by an Easter hymn, "Christ the Lord is Risen To-day." A season of sentence prayers was then engaged in by the members. A very beautiful solo was rendered by Miss Marion Ralston, which was most suitable for this season, and was much appreciated and enjoyed by those present. Mrs. Ross Williamson, finance secretary, read a paper on "Balancing Our Budget." A special prayer of consecration was read by Miss Morton following the offering. A most interesting and informative paper was read by Mrs. Ernest Johnston on our Study Book "Builders of the Indian Church," covering three chapters on the work of the early pioneers in missions, in India. Mrs. Binks then read an article on the evangelistic work in India, and a story of an Indian wedding was given by Mrs. Gourlay. The meeting was closed by the president, Mrs. Howard Clegg, repeating a prayer sent in by Miss Annie Crocker, a valued member, who has left for her new home in Fort Erie. A social half hour followed.

NOT A RHEUMATIC PAIN FOR 4 YEARS

70-Year-Old Man Praises Kruschen

A man who once suffered severely from rheumatism writes:—

"For a long time I suffered with rheumatism, and at one time was laid up for about nine weeks. About five years ago I was advised to try Kruschen. I did so, and have continued using them ever since. Kruschen did the trick, as I have not had a rheumatic pain for over four years. I am nearly 70 years of age, and feeling fine, and always abl. for my day's work—thanks to Kruschen."—A.S.

Kruschen dissolves away those needle-pointed crystals of uric acid which are the cause of all rheumatic troubles. It will also flush these dissolved crystals clean out of the system. Then if you keep up "the little daily dose," excess uric acid will never form again.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard
"Teacher of Teachers"

PLAYING FOR TOP SCORE

One might think that identical tactics should be employed in rubber bridge and duplicate bridge. As a matter of practical fact this is not always the case. In duplicate games there is no such thing as bidding to the score. Each hand is in itself an individual match. A few points in rubber bridge usually fail to alter the score, but in duplicate games a few points may mean top score for the hand. The two hands given below illustrate this point.

The above hand appeared in the first session of 8, for the Lochridge trophy. Fifteen tables contested. An absolute top score of any hand meant 14 match points, as it could be obtained only by defeating the scores of 14 other pairs sitting in the same positions. Two pairs sitting East and West ceased bidding before reaching a small slam. Nine pairs bid small slams at no trumps, and made grand slams. Each of them scored 6 match points. Two pairs bid and made grand slams at no trumps, when not vulnerable. Two pairs bid and made grand slams at clubs, scoring 100 points for honors, which just tied the score at no trumps (1,540 points total). Each of the 4 pairs scored 12½ match points.

In another match the above hands of North and South afforded an opportunity for a swing of scores, according to whether hearts or no trumps were played, and the nature of the opening lead. About half the tables played and made 4-hearts, when vulnerable, yielding a score of 620 points.

Four pairs played 3-no trumps, with North the declarer. Whether the opening lead was a heart or a spade, 4-odd were scored ,the extra trick counting as if it had been bid. This gave a total score of 640 points, thus beating those pairs who bid 4-hearts.

At two tables South played a contract of 3-no trumps. One West player made an opening lead of the 5 of diamonds, yielding 4-odd at no trumps. At one table an opening lead of the 3 of clubs yielded 5-odd and top score.

Need Of Missions, Told In Study Book

WARSAW, April 2. — (Examiner Correspondence).—There was a good attendance at the Presbyterian W. M. S., which met at Mrs. Mary Thompson's home on Thursday, March 28. Mrs. Richard Tedford presided. Mrs. David Rose read the Scripture lesson.

Mrs. George Moore read from the Glad Tidings the account of the death and funeral of Miss Mamie C. G. Fraser, who died in Wellesley Hospital, Toronto. Mrs. W. H. Clements took the study book lesson, "The Need of Missions in a Chaotic World."

Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. W. H. Clements presided at the Ladies' Aid, which followed. Several matters were discussed, but not finally settled. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Milton Drain's home.

Miss Valetta Drain came home on Saturday, March 29, for a week's vacation at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller, Toronto, were week-end guests of Mrs. Thomas Miller, Cedar Brae.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

A social evening was held by the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association on Thursday in the kindergarten room.

Mr. Munroe was chairman of the evening and the program was as follows: Musical selection, H. H. Graham and his Pioneers; solo, C. Telford, accompanied by Mr. Telford; lantern slides, "Beautiful Gardens", Dr. Madill; stories and songs by Jack Smith with C. Telford playing the accompaniments; a short skit entitled "Something or Other" by C. H. Saunders and J. E. Smith; community singing and games in charge of J. C. McClenaghan. J. Telford played the accompaniments.

Mr. Munro expressed the thanks of the Association to those taking part in the program. The National Anthem was then sung, bringing to a close a most enjoyable program. Dainty refreshments were served by the social committee.

Nickel is used to brighten many an afternoon dress. A rough crepe dress in black had nickel clips high on the shoulders and a nickle buckle on the belt. Tiny buttons of the same were used on the cuffs. It was very effective.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Blood pressure, as we saw yesterday, is the pressure maintained on the blood stream to keep the circulation going. It is kept up, first, by the beat of the heart, and second, by the squeeze of the elastic arteries on the blood column.

As years advance, the blood pressure of an individual tends to rise. In some it rises much higher than in others. In some races of people, the increase in blood pressure due to age is considerably lower, on the average, than in others. The Chinese have notably lower blood pressures than other races. Some students ascribe this to the fact that they lead a more placid existence. Others to the fact that they live upon a vegetarian diet. Since within recent years their strategic position in world affairs has forced a more strenuous life upon them, and commercial contacts a more varied diet, we will be able to test both of these theories by a resurvey

Many Theories

Many theories have been advanced to account for rise in blood pressure. The nervous tension of American life has been brought forward to account for its prevalence among our citizens. High pressure living makes high pressure of the blood. On another theory, there is a spasm of the arteries due to too much secretion from the adrenal glands. Their secretion is adrenalin, and we know that it does raise the blood pressure by constricting the arteries.

But none of these explanations completely covers all the facts. The only thing which does cover them is that as age advances the arteries lose their elasticity—they harden, in common terminology. It is easy to see that a pump must work harder and maintain a higher pressure to keep fluid evenly distributed in tubes that are stiff than it would if the tubes were elastic.

This change, then, which we have come to regard as deserving the dignity of a new disease, is nothing more nor less than one of the changes advancing years puts upon the body. Those changes are familiar and are not frightening. The eyes become harder and we cannot see without glasses. The hearing is gradually dimmer. The skin loses its elasticity and become dr. Coarse hair grows in the ears. We tire a little more easily, our muscles are not so respondent, and our brains do not hold out. Inconvenient, all these things, but not frightful or alarming. Why should high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries be any more so?

Nature Is Kind

Nature is very kind. She is gently ushering us from the scene where we have played our part. And it is a painless process. But the time we reach the last stages, our senses and our perceptions are dimmed and it is nothing more than the twilight. Most of our companions have gone, and a man has learned about all there is to the world at 60. Anyhow, one might as well be cheerful about it. There is nothing we can do about it.

But, one says, in some the process is more rapid and severe than in others. Yes, but that has always been a familiar fact also. Some go sooner and younger than others.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

The golden-voiced Jeannette MacDonald, who is every bit as grand an actress as she is a singer, claims than when she was only a tot, she was trained always to keep her head up and gracefully carried. And she believes that this is one reason why her chin-line has thus far retained its perfect lines. The MacDonald chin-line, you know, is firm, clear-cut and youthful. There is no sagging or double-chinned effect to mar the flawlessness of its contours. And I doubt if there ever will be, so long as Jeannette continues to retain her present head posture.

If you've acquired a double chin, the first thing you must do is to attempt to improve your posture. For improper carriage of the head is most destructive of a youthful chin-line. Don't ever let your chin sag forward on your chest. Keep your head up and properly carried at all times. And practice neck exercises every day, in order to keep your neck and chin muscles strong and supple. The following ones are most effective:

Stand erect, hands on back of your head, chin dropped forward on your chest, and shoulders relaxed forward. Then slowly pull your head upward, resisting the pull with your hands and rear neck muscles, until your head and elbows are pulled well back. Repeat this 15 or 20 times.

Take a position on your hands and knees, your back flat. Then raise your head as far backward as possible and hollow your back, while still on your hands and knees. Next, let your head fall downward, completely relaxed, and hump your back upward. Repeat this exercise 15 to 20 times.

A nightly astringent pack is also helpful for the lass who is trying to prevent or eradicate a double chin. An excellent astringent for this purpose can be made of five ounces of elderflower water, two ounces of cologne water, 20 drops of tannic acid and one teaspoon of tincture of benzoin. The face, chin and neck should, of course, first be thoroughly cleansed. Then a generous amount of the astringent should be patted on the chin-line. And if desired, a little mesh chin-strap may be dipped into the lotion, adjusted about the chin-line, and permitted to remain on overnight. These steps are all most helpful in keeping the chin-line firm, clear-cut and youthful.

WARNING TO EXAMINER READERS ABOUT "B.O."

ONE of the most common mistakes made among men and women is the belief that "white collar" people are never guilty of "B.O." (body odour). It is often assumed that only manual workers, or those who are active physically, can be victims of body odour.

But this belief is decidedly untrue. For any doctor will tell you that everyone—regardless of the work he does—perspires at least a quart a day, even during the winter when the perspiration may be invisible.

The guilty rarely know the truth

The tragedy of "B.O." is the fact that the first one to offend is usually the last one to know. For we soon become used to an ever-present odour and don't realize it's there. That is why so many people in every walk of life offend unknowingly.

Millions of men and women have come to realize how foolish it is to take chances when there is a soap like Lifebuoy. For Lifebuoy's purifying, deodorizing lather ends "B.O." quickly—protects you against offending.

Wonderful for complexions, too

Lifebuoy's bland, abundant lather agrees with the skin as no other soaps do, say millions. It penetrates deep into the pores, coaxing out dirt and clogged waste. It stimulates, soothes and refreshes.

And it's so mild and gentle the most delicate complexion thrives on it. Scientific tests made on the skins of hundreds of women show that Lifebuoy is more than 20 per cent. milder than many so-called "beauty soaps." Use Lifebuoy and watch your skin gain healthy radiance.

Baer Not Popular Idol

Hasn't That Something That Endears Sports Champions to Hearts of Fans.

LACKING IN COLOR.

STRANGE THINGS happen in hotel lobbies, writes Warren Brown who happens to be a sports scribbler for Chicago daily and while on a recent trip to Los Angeles he brings this interesting little yarn.

IT CAME TO PASS that one morning a large man entered the hotel, walked past the desk, past ever so many gentlemen who had the cares of the state (and their own) at heart, and moved toward an elevator.

I saw the large man when he came in, and recognized him at once. He wasn't wearing black glasses and he didn't have his over coat collar turned up and his hat brim pulled down. He looked just about the same as when I had last seen him in Chicago.

HE MOVED through that crowded lobby, and if any one else besides me recognized him they gave no sign.

I chased after the guy and caught him right at the elevator, which happened to have in it, besides the large man, a couple of Cubs, who have been around a little bit.

WE SPOKE for a couple of minutes, the elevator boy obligingly holding the car, much to the irritation of a big legislator who was probably on the way to a three-hour conference that would pave the way for another three-hour conference that would result in nothing being done either.

The large man was Max Baer, the heavyweight champion of the world.

LATER ON the Cubs who were in the elevator asked me two questions. One of them wanted to know who that big guy was, and the other wanted to know IF that was Max Baer.

It struck me that, colorful character that he is, champion of the world though he may be, Max Baer lacks that something which made Jack Dempsey a figure that hasn't been erased even yet.

MAYBE it is because they see so much of Max Baer around Sacramento that the lobby crowd didn't give him a tumble. I wouldn't know about that.

Maybe it was because—so the Sacremento papers said — Max Baer was on his way to call on a lady, and was regarded as travelling incognito. I wouldn't know about Sacramento standards of deportment on this proposition, either.

I DO KNOW this, however.

If it had been Jack Dempsey who entered that lobby, all discussion would have ceased.

People would have been pointing him out, and some of them would have followed him.

The couple of Cubs wouldn't have had to ask who that was, if it had been Jack Dempsey. They would have known.

IT COULDN'T BE that Max Baer was temporarily out of the spotlight. Quite the reverse, as a matter of fact; for, at that time, the Sacramento papers were giving free rein to their speculations about Max Baer and the lady.

I'd like to be able to report that I waited around patiently until Max Baer came through the lobby again, but I didn't.

And it wasn't especially because I wanted to be out to see the first (and probably last) appearance of "Flagpole" Andrews, who was scheduled to pitch for the Cubs that afternoon.

MAX BAER, great fighter that he is—and I know of none better in the land at the moment hasn't that something that Jack Dempsey has, that Babe Ruth had, and that Bobby Jones had.

Nobody in Sacramento, hard by his home, seemed to be excited over his going or his coming. And I don't think it was because Sacramento folks, or Sacramento's guests, are able to restrain their emotions any more than any other group of people.

SMYTHE PREPARES HIS SQUAD FOR THE STANLEY CUP FINALS

Toronto Leafs Will Rest Up and Exercises at Preston Until Thursday.

NICK METZ WILL REMAIN.

(By Elmer Dulmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, April 2 (CP)—Astute Conny Smythe, whose Stanley Cup challengers for the most part do their voting as well as hockey-playing here, seems to have solved one of his major playoff difficulties. He keeps the Leafs away from their friends and neighbors.

In the manner of an English soccer team preparing for a Cup tie, the champions of the National Hockey League have disappeared from the metropolitan scene to lay plans for combatting Montreal Maroons later this week.

No one may telephone to ask about tickets for Thursday night's opening clash with the Maroons. They are removed from the excitement of Maple Leaf Gardens which hasn't nearly enough tickets to go around. They take skating practice in the Galt Arena, not far from their hotel.

The mental attitude of his athletes began to concern Maestro Smythe a year ago after Detroit Red Wings came here and thumped the Leafs one-two in the N.H.L. finals; eventually winning the series. He noticed, among other things, how much better the club played in Detroit, out of range of telephoning friends.

When the Leafs qualified to play Boston Bruins in the league title series this Spring, Smythe hurried them off to Syracuse, N.Y., for a couple of days. Since the four-game triumph over the Bruins, the Toronto boss wasted no time seeking some more quiet for his team.

More than 14,000 fans are expected to see the first Leaf-Maroon game here Thursday with close to 15,000 in attendance at the second game Saturday night. After that the teams move to Montreal for two games, if two are necessary to decide the best-of-five series, and Toronto will get the fifth if they divide the first four.

The Leafs last won the Stanley Cup in 1932, defeating Chicago Black Hawks in the final. In 1933 they won the N.H.L. title at the expesne of Boston, and were beaten by New York Rangers in the classic cup series. They won a 104-minute-overtime fifth game from Boston here and started the Ranger series 18 hours later in New York.

Since only two teams have ever won the N.H.L. and Stanley Cup series consecutively under the existing arrangement—Boston in 1929 and Canadiens in 1931—the odds against any brigade scoring the double have been high until this year. But the Leafs suffered scarcely an injury in the Boston series, and will have four days' rest before taking on Maroons.

Retain Metz on Line

There was little reason to believe Smythe and Dick Irwin would decide to make any change in the line-up, leaving young Nick Metz to play on the third-string forward line with Pep Kelly, hero of the fourth Boston game, and Harold Cotton. Buzz Boll will be on hand for general duty.

Unless King Clancy, fiery defence veteran, should meet with an injury or Metz should fail to play as well as he did against Boston, Andy Blair seemed unlikely to get into the series.

OTTAWA LOSES EASTERN FINAL TO CUB WOLVES

Northerners Earn Right to Meet Western Champions for Memorial Cup.

FINAL SCORE 7-4.

Rideau Defense Inadequate to Hold Repeated Rushes of the Pack.

AUDITORIUM, OTTAWA, April 2 (CP)—The mighty Sudbury Cub Wolves, who have in a systematic fashion bowled over all former opposition, last night finally overcame the last obstacle in Eastern Canada, when they gave Rideaus, Ottawa and District champions, a 7-4 setback in the second game of their Memorial Cup semi-finals before a crowd of 6,000 here. The Cub Wolves will journey to Winnipeg to engage the Western Canada champions in the Dominion final.

The youngsters from Northern Ontario, who had also won their first start over Rideaus in Toronto, 3-0, never left a doubt with Ottawa fans as to their superiority over the Ottawans. Time and again the Cub Wolves went up three men abreast, and the Rideau defence had to give way before such onslaughts.

The Sudbury defence of Chuck Shannon and Roy Swanson ,on the other hand, proved virtually impregnable. On numerous occasions the two youngsters handed out stiff bodychecks that left their mark on the Rideau squad.

TORONTO STARS BEAT ROYALS 5–2 IN SECOND RUGGED GAME

Win Forces Third Tilt in Montreal Wednesday—Winner to Meet Halifax.

HARD CHECKING TANGLE.

TORONTO, April 2.—(CP)—Toronto All-Stars, who have lost just one game in the 11 played since Big Bob Ecclestone took over the managerial reins, were back on the Allan Cup path today after balancing precariously on the edge since last Friday.

From little 'Shorty' Robinson on the forward line to big 'Pud' Kitchen on the defence, the All-Stars, still smarting from a 9-2 beating in Montreal Friday, stepped into Montreal Royals here last night and, after a smashing, hard-checking struggle, skated off the ice with a 5-2 win. Victory evened the best-of-three games series at one each and forced a third tilt in Montreal Wednesday with the winner to meet Halifax for the Eastern Canada senior championship.

Became Balanced Unit

Back in February and early March when the Stars were fighting for a place in the group play-offs, the team elected the elongated Ecclestone as manager when their first mentor resigned. From that time on the Stars did not lose a game until they met Royals. They showed more spirit and instead of performing as individual stars, as had been their habit, they played as a well-balanced unit. The 'Moose' Ecclestone is called, because of his his size and bellowing from the bench in urging his hockeyists on, was given credit for getting co-operation and a team spirit in the squad.

BOONE HIT IN HEAD BY A PITCHED BALL

Toronto Manager Not Seriously Injured, However; Wings Win.

TAMPA, Fla., April 2 (CP.).—The Leafs lost a ball game here yesterday and almost lost their manager, Ik Boone, as well. Rochester won 8 to 7, and Ward Cross, a second edition of three-fingered Brown, of Cubs' fame, beaned the champion batsman as nicely as you please. Ike took the wicked shoot on the back of his cranium and also took time out to get his bearings. In the meantime, Mayo Smith ran for him, but at the close of the inning the veteran was in his usual place in the field and on his next appearance at the plate evidenced that the injury hadn't affected either his stance or his courage by doubling cleanly to right centre. He retired after that, and with his withdrawal the Leafs lost much of their power, finally losing by 8 to 7 in a game that they should have won away off.

NORTH BATTLEFORD FALLS TO BEAR CATS

Ports Reach Allan Cup Finals By Capturing Deciding Game, 4-1.

WINNIPEG, April 2 (CP)—Picking the challenge where their predecessors left it five years ago, Port Arthur Bear Cats last night outspeeded North Battleford Beavers 4 to 1 to win the Senior hockey championship of Western Canada and the right to represent the West in Allan Cup play.

The Bear Cats proved their right to a newly acquired team name by winning two out of the three-game title-series. They dropped the first game, 8 to 2, but staged a whirlwind comeback to win the remaining two by score of 4 to 3, and 4 to 1, respectively.

KEN STRONG

When the Brooklyn Dodgers begin their spring training gestures at Orlando, Fla., Ken Strong, all-American football player of 1928, will try once more to win the place in the big leagues injury kept him from three years ago.

When Strong finished his collegiate career at New York University in 1929, he was a prize prospect for the majors. He was signed at once by the Yankees and sent to New Haven for professional experience. New Haven sent him to Hazelton, where he hit .373 in 114 games, and was purchased b Toronto.

Meets Mishap.

In 1931 in the International he was hitting .340, a fine figure for that league, when he crashed into a wall chasing a fly ball at Buffalo. His wrist was badly shattered. The bones did not knit properly, and it appeared his athletic career was ended.

Detroit gave him a trial in 1932, but he had difficulty swinging a bat, so he was sent back to Toronto. Strong had the bones in his wrist reset, and won a suit against the surgeon who had first set them.

Back to Football.

Last fall he came back as a professional football star. He says he finds that his wrist has won back normal strength and suppleness. Casey Stengel invited him to try out with the Flatbush flock this year.

Strong is a native of Connecticut, and will be 29 years old April 21. He is tall and powerful, weighing 210 pounds. He has remarkable speed, considering his size.

CHATHAM MAROONS WIN LEAGUE TITLE

Maple City Sextet Captures Round-robin Series on Points.

DETROIT, April 2.—(C.P.)—Before a crowd of 6,100 fans, Chatham Maroons battled Holzbaugh-Ford of Detroit to a 2-2 tie to capture the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Hockey League championship by one point here last night.

The game marked the end of the round-robin series to decide the title, and left Maroons with nine points against eight for the Detroit club. Chatham, coached by the veteran "Puss" Traub, succeeded to the crown won by Windsor Mic Macs last year. They were finalists this year in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "B" series, losing out to Brockville Magedomas for the championship.

Plenty Of Buyers For St. Louis Club

OTTAWA, April 2.—Four different parties are negotiating for the purchase of the St. Louis Club of the National Hockey League, Frank Ahearn of Ottawa said here yesterday. "We are not moving definitely before May 1 with any of them," he added. He declined to divulge the names of the parties.

The St. Louis club, which finished in the cellar of the Canadian section of the circuit this year, is controlled by the Ottawa Hockey Association.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Number 574

I've been asked to give my opinion on the various grips. Clubs are now being turned out with all kinds of irregularities under the leather. Some have flat sides, others have raised sections.

All are supposed to enable the player to hit the ball better. Many of them do when first tried. But, sooner or later, these irregularities, particularly where they affect the right hand, result in an attempt to steer the club.

Nine times out of ten, when the player feels that he has a secure hold on the club, his wrists are locked. His secure hold collapses by the time he reaches the top of his backswing, or he sweeps through the ball without the necessary wrist action.

A perfectly round grip with the size so arranged that the portion held in the left hand is appreciably larger than that held in the right is best for all purposes.

Baer to Defend Heavy Title Against Louis or Carnera

CHAMP AGREES TO TITLE MATCH

Makes Verbal Contract to Meet Carnera-Louis Winner in September.

MAY BE JUNE SHOW.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Promoter Mike Jacobs announced last night that champion Max Baer had agreed to defend his title for the Twentieth Century Club in September against the winner of the June match between Joe Louis and Primo Carnera.

Jacobs explained that a verbal agreement was made in Chicago on Sunday by Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman. No contracts can be signed with Maxie until his present contract with Madison Square Garden expires in June. Baer's agreement with Jacobs is contingent also on the fact that he is still champion in September.

Jacobs has offered to release James J. Braddock to the Garden as a June opponent for Baer, in case the Garden is unable to get Max Schmeling to challenge for the title. But the Braddock release would carry the provision that if he defeated Baer, he would give Baer a return crack at the title under Twentieth Century promotion in September.

Hoffman and Baer will arrive in New York Thursday to complete plans for the summer.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C. J. P.)

Yesterday, we talked to quite a few fans who had gone to Toronto to see the game Saturday. They all told us that Boston should have won. Said Seibert should never have drawn that penalty with only two and a haf minutes to go and Boston in front 1-0. Both teams got away with murder all through. They tripped, slashed, charged and boarded. Okay, you expect that in pro playoffs. Its no pansy game and with penalties so costly in the big series, referees let a lot go. Then, Seibert is penalized for a minor trip outside the blue line. And he gets another when he leaves the box when a fight starts. Yet Buzz Boll also leaves the bench and gets no penalty. It left a bad taste in the mouth, local fans tell us.

• • • • • • •

Now, we figure the Leafs could have copped that series on their merits and without any assistance from Referee Smith. We in Canada know that no matter which team won, it would be made up of Canuck players. Yet the U.S. fans forget this and now the Boston sports writers are yelling about being jobbed by a Canadian referee in Toronto. The fact that they quote the Bruin players and manager to the same effect lends credence to their cry. It's really too bad as the Leafs seemed the better team anyway. And this sort of thing doesn't look good in international sports—whether it be in yacht racing or hockey.

• • • • • • •

Showing how these conventions advertise a town, we find this in the Buffalo Courier: "Busy days are ahead for the amateur officials in Ontario. In addition to the O.B.A.A. meeting in Kitchener April 6th, the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association annual meeting is in the offing—being scheduled for Good Friday in Toronto. On the same day, the Ontario Amateur Softball Association will meet in Peterborough. In addition, meetings of numerous member leagues of those associations will be held." The article also boosts the O.B.A.A. for its work in fostering minor baseball in Ontario.

• • • • • • •

The Intercounty Baseball Assoc., is bringing this resolution up at the O.B.A.A. annual session: "That the Intercounty Association request the O.B.A.A. executive to exercise every influence or effort to arrange a game or series for the 1934 bantam championship as between the Waterloo and Peterborough clubs within a reasonable time in the early part of the summer." The reason for this is that Waterloo and King Edward School team here both lost out in semi-finals to Toronto Columbus boys. Then later on, Columbus Boys were thrown out of the title for using an over-age player. Waterloo wants a crack at the crown now with the local team.

• • • • • • •

The Belleville scribe has failed to answer any of our questions concerning the Napanee "resolution" at the last C.O.B.L. meeting. So the matter may well be dropped. We weren't battling him just for the fun of it but to correct an erroneous impression the O.B.A.A. and others might get of the Central League through a faulty report in the Belleville paper. But now the O.B.A.A. and Ernie Gibbard have been officially informed that the Quinte report was incorrect and others interested have learned it through this column. We didn't want the Ontario ball moguls asking: "What the heck do they want in the Central League, the world with a fence around it?" And so we close a chapter that might be entitled: "Lives of a Belleville Lancer!"

Tis whispered about that Auburns will be in the Tri-County Lacrosse League this Spring and with a right smart squad. They may have these players, along with others: Meyette, Miller, Goodfellow, Shaw, King, Scriver and Dundas. This would make a powerful outfit and, with five good players leaving here to play in Lindsay and two to go to Millbrook—well, the Dinty's Inn crew had better look lively or they'll find themselves out on a limb. And not only out on a limb but holding a bag or two out there, at that.

Annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club will be held at 7.30 tomorrow (Wednesday) evening in the Chamber of Commerce. It's an open session and all officers, players and others interested are invited. Reports will be read, officers for next winter elected and various matters dealt with. This is the time to speak your piece if you have anything to say in connection with the handling of the Hockey Club. Personally, we think it's been run okay and would like to see few changes in the executive. But that's up to the meeting tomorrow.

From Kayak Sailing To Back-Stopping

This Eskimo boy with sporting blood finds he can "no catchum seal" at this time of year so he decides to "catchum baseball." He is a rookie catcher (perhaps) of the Wakeham Bay Sealers in the Eskimo league. They are not expected to displace St. Louis Cards as world series heroes this year. The team has no high-falutin' ideas about expensive training camps, down south, their idea of south being limited to somewhere north of the international boundary.

Who May be Who in 1935

Linus Frey Has All Marks of Great Major Pastime Shortstop.

Casey Stengel, desperately hunting for a shortstop a year ago, has found his man. He is Linus Reinhard Frey, 22-year-old St. Louis sandlotter, who begins his sophomore year with the Dodgers with every promise of greatness.

Frey, who was "just another rookie" when he reported at the Dodger training base in Orlando, Fla., last spring, now is being hailed as another Dave Bancroft after a sensational freshman year in Flatbush.

Though playing professionally only since 1932, Frey has overcome one of the greatest handicaps. During training last spring he was hit on the head by a pitched ball. Many ball players have been spoiled by such an experience. It was just an incident in the career of Frey, and that he overcame it is attested by his batting average of .284 for 125 games in 1934.

Many Leaguer

Frey first played ball in the municipal league, a sandlot organization in St. Louis, city of his birth, August 23, 1912. In 1932 he joined the Nashville club in the Southern Association. Sent to York, he hit the ball so hard Nashville recalled him. Brooklyn bought him 1933.

Frey closely resembles Bancroft, one of the greatest shortstops known to the game, in action and style. He has mastered that difficult trick at short—taking the ball on the half hop, which many great major league shortstops have been unable to perform.

Easy Grace

His style is natural. He is graceful in an effortless way, making hard chances look easy. There is no lost motion. He has a sound arm, and whips the ball to first easily from all angles. Old timers compare him also to Hugh Jennings and Johnny Ward.

Brooklyn has developed amazingly under Casey Stengel, and Frey is one of the units in a building program that is taking the Dodgers steadily toward the top.

WINS HAVANA YACHT RACE

HIGH MEMBERSHIP IN LAKEFIELD CLUB

Lady Curlers Elect Officers for Year—Enjoy Successful Season.

LAKEFIELD, April 2.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The annual meeting of the Ladies' Curling Club was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Leonard with Mrs. H. E. Moore in the chair. The report of the past season was given by the secretary, Miss Elsie Kidd, and showed a favorable year, increased membership and interest, and a fine prospect for next year.

During the season a couple of club bonspiels were held and an open bonspiel, and several inter-club tournaments with the Peterborough Ladies' Club, and a couple of mixed bonspiels with the Men's Club.

It was decided that the club appoint a social committee, but the actual naming of a committee was left till a later date.

The spring had come early and left the inter-club mixed bonspiel for the Dawson Cup undecided.

The following were elected officers for 1935-36: President, Mrs. E. H. Northey; vice-president, Mrs. G. E. Renwick; secretary-treasurer, Miss E. Kidd; executive, Mrs. D. H. Charlton, Miss C. Kidd and Mrs. Leonard.

A vote of well merited appreciation of last year's officers was given heartily, and it was decided to join with the men in giving a card party to pay for the gravel used in the curling rink this year.

The ladies reported receipts for the year of $50.

PHOTOGRAPHERS' FEUD BLAMED FOR UPSET IN GRAND NATIONAL

Old-fashioned Flash Gun Startled Golden Miller as He Was About to Make Jump.

TRAINER BREAK CONFIRMED

LONDON, Eng., April 2. (C.P.)—A statement to-day confirmed reports of a break between Miss Dorothy Paget, owner of Golden Miller, and her trainer, Basil Briscoe.

Meanwhile a new reason was advanced for the unexpected stumble of Golden Miller in the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree Friday.

A photographer's old-fashioned flash gun startled Golden Miller as he was about to make a jump, it was said. The horse balked and Wilson fell off.

British interests, which had secured exclusive picture rights for the event, were annoyed when the United States men began to set up platforms for pictorial purposes on the outside course. In what was apparently a strategical move to foil the Americans, a flare bomb exploded just as Golden Miller and the rest of the field were approaching the point where American cameras were set up.

Disagreement over whether jockey Wilson was to bame for the sensational failure of the hot favorite in Friday's Grand National caused the break between Miss Paget and Trainer Briscoe.

Briscoe said he would only conclude the failure of the favorite was due to faulty handling but Miss Paget would not hear of this and as a result the two have come to the parting of the ways.

German Papers Demand Schmeling Shake Jacobs

MUNICH, April 2 (A.P.).—Much irked because Joe Jacobs "Hailed Hitler" with a smoking cigar between the fingers of his saluting hand after the Max Schmeling-Steve Hamas fight at Hamburg, the Bavarian press calls on Schmeling to give Jacobs the sack in the "interests of German-hood."

The Fraenkische Tageszeitung points out both Schmeling and Walter Neusel still have Jewish managers in defiance of the 'Aryan clause' and flays the rest of the German press for its "benevolent silence regarding these shameful conditions in the German sport world." The paper declares a bout between "German Schmeling and the Jewish headliner of the Jewish world boxing racket, Max Baer, would be intolerable to Germany."

CHAPTER 50

One more thing Leila did do before shep stopped concerning herself about it all; she asked her mother-in-law elect point blank.

She only elicited a "Now, my little bride musn't worry herself. What are big strong husbands and fussy old mothers-in-law for but to keep little brides from worrying?"

When her mother-in-law elect went playful that was that. Well, it couldn't be worse. It might be better. Leila braced herself, and went on with her daily round; occasionally running into an informal committee meeting in one house or the other where Mrs. Johnston-Hedges, like the dog in Alice, was judge and jury. Even Addison seemed a little dazed finally at the lady's interest.

"You are sure," Leila heard him say meekly one September evening, "that you don't forget my possession of enough votes to swing open the Manor beach to the Improvements? Because, much as I appreciate your kindness toward me, I'm still trying to free your beach for all the Fernwoods."

"Quite sure," said the lady, with a motherly pat of Addison's hand, lying on the long old living room table where they were all grouped around. He had plumper hands than before Aunt Minnie had taken his feeding in charge. 'We are friendly enemies, that's understood, dear boy."

"You're wonderful," said Addison. "I—" he looked round him at Bet, Aunt Minnie and Mrs. Johnston-Hedges—"have never felt so completely understood and sympathized with as since I came here. I—I feel I have flowered." His earnest, frowning young face turned to the three women, grateful and flushed. Aunt Minnie and Bet each reached for a portion of him to squeeze; Aunt Minnie pressed the hand nearest her, Bet patted his knee.

"I think," said Leila, "I'll see how my dogs look by moonlight."

As she left the room she heard her aunt's concerned voice say, "Poor child, she seems so strung up."

And Mrs. Johnston-Hedges, tolerantly, "Just girlish tremors."

"She seemed a little self-absorbed," said Addison, who may have felt that her pats or squeezes also were necessary to a perfect score. "Not so interested in right and wrong as in her own concerns."

"Ah, well, the jazz age isn't long over, we must expect most of you young people to be a little wild," said the lady with still more tolerance. "Leila is a dear girl at heart."

For some reason none of it seemed as funny as it used to.

"I'm silly, that's what it is. I've been so used to being the good girl of the family, I can't stand competition," Leila tried to tell herself. "If I really was selfish and frivolous," she said to herself, "I'd throw them over and be perfectly happy. I'd think it wasn't my affair, because I was married and had to think of Orton. Whereas—"

She stopped. She did not go to see any dogs. She undressed and went resolutely to bed, which was probably a good thing. She was prettier than ever these days, at least, because she was thinner.... Well, this banquet was the next hurdle to take. Then the wedding. That was that. She spent four useless hours trying to plan some way of supporting herself and Aunt Minnie if she broke with Orton and the house was gone. But there was none. You couldn't keep even such a modest kennels as hers with no place to have dogs.

You couldn't do anything but marry Orton and try to be a good and grateful wife.

Jane sneaked into the room, waggling cheerfully. She wanted to spend the night on the foot of the bed.

Leila jumped out of bed and caught her in her arms, and cried and cried. Jane loved her and she loved Jane. In a whirling world Jane was the one security. Jane crawled close beside her, and Leila threw an arm over her and went to sleep.

The fortnight passed inexorably. Amid a sense of excitement that got thicker and thicker day by day, the evening of the banquet came.

The rest of the family went early. They were putting on the actual banquet in the big house on the shore that was Addison's most glorious extravagance, and which Leila had heard called variously the community house and the casino and the white elephant. She had tried not to listen when it was talked about. It was difficult.

She was to wait, of course, for Orton, who fortunately disbelieved in being early for anything. She dressed slowly, but even so, she was ready from her hair to her slippers before he came. She finally went down to the veranda to wait.

"We're a little late," Orton said, appearing rather flushed in his dinner coat, where she waited for him on the verandah in her new yellow trousseau satin that she had gone reckless on. It threw up all her deepened summer tints, the browns and reds and ambers of her skin, the chestnut crest of her hair, the amber-brown of her long live eyes. Its lines slunk and swirled about her in a quite simple way that spelled "import" to everybody who knew. The rest of the banqueters might be taken from the highways and byways, Leila had thought in one last spurt of feeling, but Mary Martin at least would see her perfectly dressed, from the old amber-topped comb she had managed to stick sideways at the back of her swirled short curls, to the new little slippers. Orton stopped short, impressed, on the lower step.

"You'll knock 'em," said he, with a kiss marital in its possessive approval.

"Worth while wrecking the family charge account for?" asked Leila, laughing brightly.

"Sure," said Orton absently, packing her in the car with the care for her skirt that a good home training had given.

They drove over silently. She wanted to scream at him, "Why on earth are all of you taking this mad banquet so seriously? What have you got back of it? Why do you do it?" But it would do no good, she knew. She was simply in that isolated mood in which one sees—removed from the rest of a delirious world—that the emperor is in his shirt, not his customary coronation robe.

They were there; a curved sweep, with a low sea wall at its edge, was wheer the marsh used to be.

"They've made a good looking place of it," Orton said, as he parked.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, April 3

A day of excitement, agitation, commotion, recklessness, with some gain made through diligence and possibly by the support of elders, is presaged by the prevailing lunar and mutual aspects. Much depends upon the management of inclinations to quarrels, tumults and passions.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves beset by a year of difficulty, strife litigation and turbulence generally unles they rigidly curb an inclination to impetuous and provoking conduct.

A child born on this day may be efficient, energetic, constructive and hard working, but it must be given early discipline in the matter of self-control.

SPLIT UP.

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.) — Frank Cunningham, who held an Irish Free State Hospitals sweepstake tickets on Reynoldstown, winner of the Grand National steeplechase, will not be richer by $143,000, the total winnings of the ticket. He admitted to-day he had shared the ticket with others, but would not give the names of the other lucky persons.

Hastings

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Johnston and little son John Robert of Hamilton are spending a two week's vacation with their parents in the village. On Wednesday afternoon, March 27 an important event took place at the home of the latter's parents, when the four grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston witnessed the Christening of their eight months old grandson, John Robert Johnston, by the Rev. F. W. Newell of Trinity United Church.

Mrs. Albert Brooks opened her home on Thursday afternoon for the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church. Eighteen members were present and the president, Miss Mae Huycke presided. Mrs. Brooks gave the scripture reading with comments from the 10th chapter of St. John. Mrs. Arthur Fleming read an interesting poem entitled "The Spare Room." A pleasing duet, "When peace like a river attended my way" was rendered by Mrs. Samuel Beamish and Mrs. J. M. Baker. A reading by Mrs. J. Johnston was followed by a delightful luncheon served by Mrs. H. Oliver's group, assisted by the hostess and Mrs. M. Venters. A miscellaneous sale was supervised by Mrs. F. W. Newell, president of the Mission Band, which helped towards obtaining their allocation.

To do honor to the Elgin Hockey team who were successful in winning the silver cup at Norwood, the members of the Elgin Sunday School tendered them a banquet in the form of an oyster supper on Friday evening, March 29th. Mrs. John Scott and family extending the hospitality of their home for the occasion. A color scheme in which the hockey colors, red and white, were prominent was fittingly chosen for decorative purposes. Four long tables seated the eighty-six present, including the guests of honor, the members of the Sunday School and a number of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross McCracken, Ila, Audrey and Theodore of Roseneath were Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy King.

Master Walter Edwards motored to Toronto on Saturday.

Miss Edna Brooks, Mr. Clifford Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. John Dick and two children were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitred, Mr. A. Thompson and Miss Madeline Bonds were in Toronto on Saturday.

Marie Ranks Third In Teething Race

CALLANDER, Ont., April 2 (CP). — Marie, tiniest of the Dionne quintuplets, proved to-day she was not behind her famous sisters when it came to progress. When Madame Louise de Kiriline, head nurse at the hospital home for the 10-months four-days old babies, examined the tanned infants she noticed a little tooth peeking through Marie's lower gum. It was a left central incisor and glistened against the tot's rosy-red gums.

Still last in order of weights, Marie now ranks third as to teething, Yvonne and Annette already boasting incisors. Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, physician to the babes, was enthusiastic as he announced "the big event." Marie's progress has attracted attention of the country doctor for some time, and he has predicted she will soon close in on her sisters in the poundage lists. The little one shows no ill effects of the tumor on her thigh.

TORONTO MAN GIVES STATEMENT TO NOTARY

Suffered Agonies from Indigestion. Tells in Sworn Statement How Fruit-a-Tives Brought Him Quick and Lasting Relief.

Mr. Sansone, 44 Front St. West, Toronto, suffered badly from indigestion for a long time. Now he is entirely well and wants others to benefit as he did. That is why he generously consented to give the statement of his experience under oath before a notary so that everyone can be sure of its absolute truth. Mr. Sansone's statement reads:—

"For a long time I suffered badly from indigestion. I tried everything to get relief. I even stopped smoking to see if it would help but I continued to get worse.

A friend of mine recommended Fruit-a-tives and after taking them for a short time I began to feel much better. It was not long before I was entirely well and could eat anything without pain or after effects. My indigestion and constipation left me.

I cannot give enough praise for your wonderful medicine and have recommended it to all my friends."

To those of you who suffered from indigestion as Mr. Sansone once did, his experience must be the best of news. To understand it fully you should know that Fruit-a-tives are not an ordinary remedy but, on the contrary, are really very different. They are the scientific prescription of a famous Canadian physician and for over a quarter of a century have brought lasting relief to thousands of men and women from indigestion, constipation, biliousness, sick-headaches, etc. That is why, today, Fruit-a-tives is the largest selling remedy of its kind in Canada.

Try Fruit-a-tives right now. See how their tonic effects will give you new health, new youth, new happiness.

Copy of Mr. Sansone's complete sworn statement will be sent on request. Write Fruitatives Limited, Ottawa, Canada.

ASK COMPENSATION H. W. McMASTER

Petition to Council Refers to Accident in February, 1933.

A largely signed petition supporting a request on behalf of Hugh W. McMaster for adequate compensation for injuries and loss suffered by his falling on an icy street here February 21, 1933, was referred to the Legal Committee last night. Hospital, medical and nursing expenses had cost Mr. McMaster $500, it was said.

Peterborough's appeal to the federal Government for the construction of a public building that has been proposed here for years will be brought before the committee again if any further allotments are made by the government, the Public Works Department informed the council in a letter read last night.

Tax Powder Magazine

The city's old powder magazine in North Monaghan is being assessed for the first time by the township. The valuation is $300.

No action was taken on a suggestion from the Unemployment Relief Branch of the Ontario Department of Public Welfare that from 25 to 50 men from this city might be trained for tree planting, pruning and "surgery".

Replying to enquiry regarding insurance of taxis, Mayor Denne said a bylaw had been prepared requiring insurance for the protection of taxi passengers, but it was still in the hands of Magistrate Langley. No further action has yet been taken.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

"Honi Soit Qui Mal Y Pense"

RETURNED at last to England early in January, 1912, King George and Queen Mary were able to get down to the serious business of being King and Queen.

And such a business is no easy task.

State functions formal occasions, numerous appointments every day, official visits and tours—all these form a part of the duties of a King and Queen.

There are documents of state that must be studied and signed—and King George was never one to sign without first making a thorough study of the situation. Constitutionally, of course, the King is supposed to rely on the advice of his ministers, but during the 25 years of King George's reign, it has many time been the reverse—when statesmen took the advice of the King.

One recent notable case is told, of when the Labor government headed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was tottering. It is declared that the King sent for his minister and proposed to him that he should head a new National government party. MacDonald acceded to His Majesty's wishes, and the National government was swept into power.

Right from the start, the reign of King George was predestined for trouble and strife. In 1912 there were disturbances in Ireland and the throwing out by the House of Lords of the home rule bill; in the same year there was the Balkan League war with Turkey, to be followed in 1913 by the disastrous attack on Serbia by Bulgaria. These were forerunners to the threat of civil war in Ireland and eventually the world war.

Our picture today shows the King and Queen in a historic ceremony—leading the procession of the Knights of the Garter at Windsor Castle. The Order of the Garter and its motto—"Honi soit qui mal y pense"—is famed the world over.

Tomorrow: The visit of King George and Queen Mary to Berlin in 1913.

METROPOLITAN BIDS FAREWELL TO IMPRESSARIO GIULIO GATTI

New York Turns Out in Tribute at Surprise Party of Gaiety and Burlesque.

REGIME OF 27 YEARS.

(By R. H. Hippelheuser)

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—The likeness of Giulio Gatti-Casazza was flashed on the screen. Cheers and applause roared through the Metropolitan Opera House. The ovation merged into the strain of "Auld Lang Syne." The audience stood and sang.

It was the farewell tribute of New York to the impresario of the "Met"—the giant, gray-bearded Mr. Gatti, whose regime of 27 years came to an end with last night's "surprise party." The curtain went down on Mr. Gatti's career with the orchestra still playing . . . "Should auld acquaintance be forgot."

Half a Century in Opera

In a few weeks, the aging impresario will go to his villa in Northern Italy, into retirement after almost half a century in grand opera.

His farewell show was one of gaiety and burlesque, jigtime and jazz.

Rita de Leporte, the premiere danseuse, did a fan dance. Gladys Swarthout and Edward Johnson glided through a ballroom waltz. Helen Jepson and Lily Pons sang "Minnie the Moocher."

"Pagliacci" was put on amid football surroundings with Lawrence Tibbett making a flying tackle to bring down Charles Hackett.

Six-Minute Howler

The "Nibelung Ring" operas of Richard Wagner were given a "stream-lining." Billed as the "Nibelungen Ringling Brothers - Barnum, Bailey and Goetterdaemmerung," the entire series was presented in four circus rings in the record making time of six minutes and 17 seconds.

Beatrice Lille, as guest artist, turned Carmen the tragedienne into Carmen the comedienne.

But the howls of the crowd, which packed every bit of standing room, reached their peak with the vaudeville team of Pons and Melchior in "Allez-oop."

Tiny Lily Pons and 250-pound Lauritz Melchoir brought down the house with their acrobatics, climaxed with the stupendous feat of Mlle. Pons, with one arm, lifting the mountainous Dane high above her head—with the aid of an unseen wire.

CONSTRUCTION COUNCIL URGES HOUSING BUREAU

OTTAWA April 2 (CP)—Establishment of a national housing bureau operating under the Dominion Minister of National Health was recommended to-day to the housing committee by spokesmen of the National Construction Council. This bureau would "direct, regulate, control and promote the assisted financing of housing."

The council's representatives, Gordon M. West, James H. Craig, and W. L. Somerville of Toronto, also dealt with matters relating to the rehabilitation of improved properties and new housing for other than the lowest wage earner, and to slum clearance and lowest cost housing.

CHOIR PRESENTS FIRST CANTATA

Music Lovers of City Enjoy Trinity Church Choir Presentation.

MUSICAL PRELUDE.

During the Lenten season, the thoughts of the musical world turn to the glorious sacred cantata commemorating the death and resurrection of our Lord or the events of the Passion week.

Music lovers of Peterborough are no exception and last night was heard one of the first of the Lenten cantatas to be presented in the city this spring.

Characterized by beautiful tone and reverent feeling, the cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," by Maunder, was sung with fine effect by Trinity United Church Choir, under the efficient direction of Miss Mabel Clarry, organist.

The well-trained choir of thirty-six voices was also heard in soli, anthem and hymn, singing with Faux Bourdon and in two-part canon.

Following the organ prelude, the entire choir sang "O Worship the King," to the tune Hanover, and excelled in the difficult Faux Bordon arrangement by Healey Willan. With bowed heads, the Lord's Prayer (with setting by Vogt) was chanted with deep devotional expression. "God is a Spirit," an anthem by Sterndale Bennett, was the next softly sung number that was followed by the solo, "Repent Ye" (Prindle Scott) in which John's impassioned call to repentance was well delineated by Miss Margaret Wolstenholme in charming, soft-toned contralto.

The next choral number, "All Praise to Thee, My God This Night," was a superb and dramatic two-part canon by Thallis (16th century).

In sweetly appealing mezzo-soprano voice Mrs. G. Richmond sang the slow, dignified measures of "The Soul at Heaven's Gate" in the 17th century arrangement, by Dickinson.

Exceptionally well played by Miss Clarry were the organ accompaniments throughout, and one of the most attractive selections on the program was the majestic organ number, "Adagio Mendelssohn."

Sacred Cantata.

With this prelude, the appreciative audience was in a spiritual attitude for the premier selection of the three-fold cantata proper, the first division being entitled "Penitence." Again the choir was heard in splendid choral work in the poignant cry, "How Long Will Thou Forget Me."

The cantata's soloists were Mrs. R. Cowan, soprano, and Mr. G. Coleman, baritone. The former's soaring flute-like soprano was heard in advantage in her first number, "O That I Knew Where I Might Find Him." Her clear enunciation and depth of feeling made this a plea of passionate yearning.

As if in reassurance came the triumphant tone of the hymn, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," in which the full choir joined, and which closed this section of the cantata.

Following penitence comes "pardon", the theme of the second part, which was introduced by the solo, "O Cast thy Burden on the Lord" in Mr. Coleman's powerful and sympathetic baritone. Joining in this expression of pardon came the sweet soft tones of the choir in "Look Unto Him and Be ye Saved". Like the cry of a lost soul in despair was the soprano solo "I Sink in Deep Mire", sung with Mrs. Cowan's beautiful and forceful interpretation.

In response came the solacing message "As One Whom his Mother Comforteth", sung by Mr. Coleman and the chorus. Like a trumpet call came the glorious strain "Behold: Now Is the Accepted Time" in which Mr. Coleman's magnificent voice led the ensemble. "Lord In this Thy Mercy's Day" with its hushed melody sounding like a prayer was the closing hymn of part two.

As a consummation to penitence and pardon comes the promised "peace" which concludes this cantata, so full of rich and beautiful meaning. The sombre and massive chords of the chorus "When the Son of Man Shall Come" told the awesome story of the day of judgment, which was relieved by the loving, compassionate tones of the saviour as sung in the baritone solo "Come Ye Blessed of My Father" by Mr. Coleman. Mounting toward the climax came the joyful tones "These Are They Which Came Out of Great Tribulation" in the finely blended voices of the entire group, followed by a veritable paean of praise led by the soprano in their "Alleluia, Alleluia". This reached its climax in the grand chorus "Now Therefore Our God, We Thank Thee". The sweet qualities of Peace were expressed in the finale "How Bright These Glorious Spirits Shine", when the mass choir sang in restrained power and gradually increasing volume to the final amen, softly sung with bowed heads.

The choral work throughout was marked by expressive feeling and reverent appreciation of the composition while the solo parts were sung with rare ease and sympathetic interpretation. Much credit is due Miss Clarry and her brilliant choir for this excellent presentation of vocal art in Trinity United Church last night.

North Bay Welcomes New Bishop Of Soo

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 2 (CP)—Greeted by an assembly exceeding 3,000 persons, Rt. Rev. Ralph Hubert Dignan to-day, came to North Bay, the See of the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, as Bishop of which he was consecrated at London, March 19.

Felicitations and fidelity were conveyed to the new Bishop of Mons, J. A. Lecuyer, V.G., Sturgeon Falls, immediately he stepped from the train. He was next extended a civic welcome by Mayor W. G. Bullbrook and then greeted by the clergy of the diocese and prominent laymen.

ADDRESS HEARD ON ISLE OF MAN

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr Gives Splendid Talk to Pupils of Grove School.

ADULT VISITORS

LAKEFIELD, April 2. — (Examiner Correspondence).—Rev. A. T. Barr gave a very interesting illustrated lecture at The Grove on Thursday night which took the form of a travelogue on the Isle of Man, a small but interesting island lying in the Irish Sea, equally distant from England, Ireland and Scotland, and forming part of the British Isles. Its people are of Celtic origin and St. Patrick visited the island in his lifetime. The island is mountainous with scenery which is remarkable in its beauty. Douglas is the chief town, and it has many fine buildings and presents a solid and prosperous appearance. The tourist trade is large, and each year the island is visited by hundreds. Judging by Canadian standards, it is very thickly populated. The promenades at various coast towns are attractive in scenery and are very popular.

At one time the island was a part of the estate of the Earl of Derby, and at another time it was owned by the Duke of Athol. Several fine castles, well preserved and beautiful, are to be found, and there is evidence in plenty of the part played by this island in Britain's history. Cromwell, the autocratic dictator of the seventeenth century, when for ten years the island cast off monarchial rule, visited the island and had a fortress there.

The Manx people are loyal to their traditions, and are most interesting, hospitable to visitors and very proud of their little country. There are several churches, built of stone and with a history dating back centuries.

The rivers are tiny, but the glens with their picturesque bridges invite. Among the celebrated castles are Peel and Greta. An interesting building is the Douglas tower of refuge, near the town of Douglas. In the northern part of the island is Ramsay, also a thriving city.

The tailless Manx cats are famous the world over, and that the reason for the lack of tails is that they were the last into the ark and that Noah shut the door on them. This is a popular joke with which to regale curious tourists.

Dr. A. W. Mackenzie thanked Dr. Barr for his interesting talk, which had so much of interest to both the boys and the adult visitors.

HUPP EMPLOYEES LOCKED OUT

DETROIT, April 2 (A.P.). — All office employees of the Hupp Motor Car Company, including the entire engineering staff, were dismissed to-day and locked out of the plant. About 300 persons were affected by the order.

William B. Hurlburt, assistant to Archie M. Andrews, chairman of the company, described the action as a "purge."

Weddings

EDBAR—McCUE.

LAKEFIELD, April 2.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Doris Duella McCue, of Curve Lake, and George Victor Edgar, of Scugog Island, were joined in matrimony on Wednesday, March 27. Rev. Mr. Archer, of Lakefield, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McCue were attendants.

HENNRICH—GOW.

TWEED, April 2 (Examiner Correspondence). — Miss Reta Gow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gow, Plainfield, was married recently to Herman C. Hennrich, New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Hennrich, Rochester, N.Y. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Paul Schmieder in St. John's Lutheran Church, Rochester, N.Y. The bride wore navy taffeta, with hat to match, and corsage of gardenias. The bridesmaid Miss June Dote, wore aquamarine crepe, with matching accessories, and corsage of tea roses. The groomsman was Henry Bowers. Mr. and Mrs. Hennrich will reside in New York City.

SCOTT—BAILEY.

STIRLING, April 2.—(Examiner Correspondence). — At St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, by the Rev E. Rowland, last week, the marriage was solemnized of Myrtle Irene Bailey, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bailey, and Keith Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manley Scott, of Picton.

The bride as she entered the church on the arm of her father was a vision of girlish loveliness in a most becoming dress of Fuschia crepe with gold buckles. Her hat was a turban of gold cloth, gloves of Fuschia shade with golden cuffs, and the slippers also matched in Fuschia shade. She wore a corsage of white gardenias.

Gerald Clute played the wedding march, also presiding at the organ during the signing of the register. Witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Post.

A reception was afterwards held at the home of the bride's mother. Mrs. Bailey wore raisin colored triple crepe. Mrs. Scott was dressed in flowered blue and white crepe. A buffet luncheon was served, the dining table looking very pretty with cloth of lace and floral decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott left by motor for western cities. Mrs. Scott travelled in a navy suit with matching accessories. On their return they will reside on Albert street, Belleville.

HOSPITAL INSURANCE PLAN COSTS 3 CENTS DAY

NEW YORK, April 2 (C.P.). — "The three-cents-a-day plan" for hospitals was ready to-day to become effective in 153 hospitals in the metropolitan area.

The service, providing group hospitalization insurance for gainfully employed persons under 65 years old, will probably begin about April 15, Dr. Karl Eilers, president of the Associated Hospital service, announced.

Payroll deductions will be the method of payment for the service which provides three weeks a year of semi-private hospital care if it is needed. The cost will be 90 cents a month or a flat rate of $10 a year.

PRESENTATION FAREWELL SOCIAL

Miss Knapp Has Been Faithful Members of Omemee Women's Institute.

OMEMEE, April 2. — (Examiner Correspondence).—A very pleasant time was had at the home of Mrs. W. Magee on Friday night when the members of the Women's Institute met to bid farewell to Miss Knapp.

Miss Knapp has been a faithful institute worker during her short stay in the village. During the evening Mrs. MacPherson read an address and Mrs. Cornwall presented Miss Knapp with a pretty silver cake plate.

The evening was spent at playing cards and games. Several short speeches were made by the ladies in which they expressed their regrets on loosing such a popular member.

Obituary

MRS. MARTHA BIRD.

TWEED, April 2 (Examiner Correspondence). — Sidney Township lost one of its most respected residents on Saturday in the death in Belleville General Hospital, after an illness of three weeks, of Martha Marshall, widow of George Bird, who passed away in her seventy-second year, was born in Belleville, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall. She was a devout member of Marsh Hill United Church, where the funeral was held on Sunday afternoon. Left to mourn her passing are two daughters, Mrs. William Wilson and Mrs. Charles Kelly, Holloway; three sisters: Mrs. Julia Ross of Holloway, Mrs. Bertha Ross of Foxboro, and Mrs. George Wilson of Peterborough, and one brother, Jerry Marshall of Oak Hill Lake.

MRS. MARY GOWSELL.

TWEED, April 2 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. Mary Matilda Gowsell, of Foxboro, died at her home on Saturday after a lengthy illness. She was born in Foxboro 84 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Miller, and had continuously resided in that village. She took a very active interest in community work, and especially the activities of the Foxboro United Church, being a life member of the Women's Missionary Society and its president for many years. Her husband, the late John Gowsell, predeceased her some years ago. Surviving are one daughter, Ethel, of Foxboro, and one sister, Alwilda, also of the same place.

CHARLES CONLEY.

MADOC, April 2 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Thursday, Mar. 21, Charles Conley, Sr., died after a short illness. He was born in Huntingdon Township 68 years ago, and was the son of the late William Conley and Phoebe Weese. He farmed on the homestead and had been a resident of Huntingdon all his life.

Deceased was a quiet, unassuming man, devoted to his home and family, a good citizen and neighbor. He was a member of Trinity United Church and a member of Madoc L.O.L. No. 160.

Left to mourn his loss, besides his widow, are two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Bird and Mrs. Carl Bird, of Madoc; one brother, Peter Conley of British Columbia, and a sister, Mrs. Thomas Bailey of Madoc, and a niece, Mrs. Karl Stockloser, who was a member of his family for a number of years.

The funeral, under the auspices of the Orange Lodge, was held in Trinity United Church at 2.30 p.m. on Sunday, March 24, and was largely attended.

Beautiful floral tributes, including some from L.O.L. 160, Madoc Black Chapter, and Oakdale Rebekah Lodges, testified to the esteem in which deceased was held.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Roy Taylor, W. H. McBain, John Smith, George West, Percy Holland and Roy Walker.

The flower bearers were all members of the Orange Lodge.

Interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery.

SALARIES RESTORED.

WASHINGTON, April 1 (A.P.).—Salaries of United States Government employees were restored today to their pre-depression level, adding an estimated $80,000,000 annually to the Federal pay-roll.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY EXAMINER

MRS. N. M. STINSON IS GUEST SPEAKER

Mission Band of Lakefield United Church Holds Easter Thank-offering.

LAKEFIELD, April 2.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A very successful Easter thank-offering meeting of the Mission Band of the Lakefield United Church was held on Thursday evening in the schoolroom of the church with a good attendance of members, parents and friends present.

Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., opened the meeting with prayer, and then the president, Donald C. Yale, took charge, and the following program was rendered very acceptably:

Duet, Jean Tanner and Grace Millage; solo, "Spring Song," Mary Milburn; recitation, "A Little Child Shall Lead Them," Gladys Allen; duet, Mureita Hull and Lillian Calberry; duet, Mary Alice Renwick and Winifred Murphy; offertory prayer, Mrs. Bullock; recitation, "My Dad," Jimmie Webster; solo, June Burrows; duet, Donald and Tommy Milburn. A playlet, "A Swarm of Bees" (scriptural), given by members of the Mission Band. An obvious and excellent moral in this sketch made it acceptable as an inspiration to the children for a higher and purer standard.

Mrs. N. M. Stinson was the guest speaker, and she gave an address on the work of the Mission Band, which was most helpful, combining instruction with entertainment in a masterly manner. She closed her address with prayer.

Mrs. D. H. Charlton, leader of the group, thanked all who had aided in any way in the success of the entertainment. Rev. Mr. Archer complimented the chairman, Donald Yale, on his manner of presiding and the other children on the quality of their performance.

The hand with its leader, Mrs. Charlton, and her assistant, Mrs. Rollie Bullock, have reason for great satisfaction in the result of their work in preparing the program.

MRS. MARJORIE COPELAND AWARDED $4,000 DAMAGES

Judgment confirming the settlement between Thomas Bell and Ida Bell of Campbellford and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has been entered for damages caused by the death of Mr. and Mrs. Bell's son, Delbert Bell at Port Hope on the 23rd of July, 1934, when he was in charge of a Martin Transport truck which was struck by a C.P.R. through freight and Carl Coupland of Colborne was also killed.

The Martin Transport Company and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company paid Mrs. Marjorie Coupland $4,000.00 and arranged an undisclosed settlement with Mr. and Mrs. Bell.

John D. Spence, K.C., acted for the C.P.R. and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., acted for Mr. and Mrs. Bell.

Orillia Curfew Rings First Time In Years

ORILLIA.—Curfew bells rung in Orillia last night for the first ttime in years, Town Council has ordered the curfew sounded each night at nine o'clock. The action was taken on the request of the Orillia Women's Institute for "the best interests of the young people of the town."

—:—

Toronto Construction Works Halted By Strike

TORONTO.—Mounted and motorcycle police looked on today as 40 bricklayers and other workers picketed seven duplexes under construction here. The men were called out on strike by the Building Trades Industrial Union in protest of alleged "slave wages of 25 and 30 cents an hour."

—:—

Screen Star Of 1910 Back At Work As Extra

HOLLYWOOD.—Florence Turner, whose name, movie archives indicate, was the first ever to appear on the screen, to-day was back before the cameras, as a $7.50 per day extra-player. In 1910, two years before the name "Mary Pickford" first reached the silversheet, Miss Turner appeared in a one-reel film with the late James J. Corbett, former heavyweight boxing champion.

"It's Ill Wave That Washes Nobody Good"

HALIFAX.—In purest Castilian, Antonio Elenga will tell you it's an ill wave that washes nobody good. And he should know. The first wave washed Antonio off the deck of the Spanish trawler Mistral and left him yards from the ship on the stormy Atlantic. The second wave washed him right back again. It dumped him on deck with a broken collar bone, but thats all right with Antonio. He was taken to hospital when the Mistral docked here to-day.

COLOMBO, Ceylon. — Official figures issued to-day showed that deaths from the malaria epidemic which swept the island totalled 16,000 in February. In all, 54,000 persons have succumbed to the disease since November

Hitler's Peace Plans Unsatisfactory

British Officials Claim German Proposals Offer Less Security.

SIMON IN HOUSE.

Admits Nazi Chief Stated His Military Air Force Equalled Britain's.

BY GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 3.—(C. P. Cable)—Britain does not regard Adolf Hitler's "peace plans" as adequate.

The feeling in British circles, it was revealed today, is Hitler's schemes as laid befort the British ministers in Berlin do not afford any solution for Europe's troubles.

The objections are so far from offering more security, they do not go even as far as the existing agreements, notably the covenant of the League of Nations, strengthening of which is understood to be now France's immediate aim.

Coincidentally a lot of discussion over the astrength of the new German air force brought from Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, the revelation Hitler told him in Berlin the German air force was now equal to that of the British. Previously, this assertion met with denials.

"In the course of the conversations Herr Hitler stated in general terms Germany had reached parity with Britain in the air," Sir John told a questioner. But further ques-

BISHOP DIGNAN SAYS HIGH MASS

Dignitary Conducts First Pontifical Ceremony in Sault Diocese.

Bishop O'Connor Attends.

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 3 (AP).—The newly installed Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie Roman Catholic Diocese, Most Rev. Ralph Hubert Dignan, D.D., formerly of the Immaculate Conception Parish, Windsor, said his first pontificial high mass in St. Mary's Cathedral today.

Sermons for the event were preached in English by Most Rev. P. J. Monahan, Calgary, and in French by Most Rev. F. Couturier, Alexandria. The Cathedral was crowded with laity of the diocese and clergy representing the dioceses of London, Toronto, Pembroke, Peterborough, Haileybury, besides those of Sault Ste. Marie. The Bishop's mother, Mrs. R. H. Dignan of London, Ont., was present, accompanied by another son, Edward.

Dignitaries Attend.

Mons. J. A. Lecuyer, Sturgeon Falls, Vicar-General, acted as assistant priest. Other members of the Hiararchy in the sanctuary included Most Rev. M. J. O'Brien, Arch-

Pincher Pinched

WILDWOOD, N.J., April 3 (C.P.)—The Police Department was called out to make a big 'pinch' at the home of Mayor Doris Bradway.

A 14-pound lobster, something of a pincher himself, got loose from the basket in which he was presented to the mayor after her inspection of the fishing fleet. The mayor's cook looked, fled, and screamed for help.

The police made the pinch without getting pinched.

SHANGHAI TRIES MASS MARRIAGE

57 Couples Wed at Once as Gov't Strikes at High Cost of Weddings.

$7 FEE INCLUDES GIFT.

By Morris J. Harris
(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press).

SHANGHAI, April 3.—The Chinese Government to-day delivered a telling blow at the high cost of weddings when 57 couples marched to the altar together and were married in a simple ceremony, with General Wu Teh-Chen, Mayor of Shanghai, officiating.

Aimed at setting an example of economy to the nation in accordance with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's "new life" movement, the ceremony was devoid of all the frills and extravagance characterizing the traditional Chinese wedding.

Brass Band Attends.

To the labored strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," played by a Chinese brass band, the marriage candidates paraded down the crimson-carpeted aisle while a crowd of 1,200 persons, largely relatives, looked on.

The couples ascended the platform in groups of four, bowed three times before the statue of Sun Yat Sen, "father of the republic," bowed twice before each other and once to the Mayor.

They then received brilliantly decorated certificates which made them man and wife. Each marriage was completed in two minutes. The Government charged each couple the equivalent of $7 for the ceremony, the price including the certificate and a gift to the bride.

This was in startling contrast to the customary Chinese wedding which sometimes throws the young couple into debt for life.

Kingston Court Sees First Woman Lawyer

KINGSTON, Ont., April 3 (CP)—To-day for the first time in the history of Kingston's legal circles a woman barrister made her appearance in a court action. Mrs. Henry L. Cartwright was trail blazer in this regard when she assisted her husband in an action brought by C. Wilby against E. W. Vanluven over proceeds of sale of an automobile.

Mrs. Cartwright appeared for the plaintiff in the action before Judge E. McLean of Picton. While the husband conducted the case before the Bench, Mrs. Cartwright was busy looking up records, making notes and otherwise assisting in the plaintiff's action. The plaintiff was awarded $97.80.

Before marriage to Mr. Cartwright early in February, Mrs. Cartwright was Vera Alexandra Robinson, formerly of Sault Ste. Marie. She passed her Bar examinations some years ago.

LAST MINUTE NEWS FLASHES

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., April 3.—(C.P. Cable)—A glum crew of sealers came into port today aboard the Imogene, first of the Newfoundland seal-killing fleet to get back with only 31,000 pelts—just 21,000 less than he had brought into St. John's in the big ship last year. Bad weather and ice struck hard at the fleet.

TORONTO, April 3.—(CP)—Two lots of 10,000 shares of Gatineau Power bonds were sold short on the New York curb exchange several days before Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck made his Hydro speech attacking Quebec power contracts, Col. W. H. Price charged in the Legislature today.

ADEN, Arabia, April 3.—(AP)—Precautions for any eventuality were being taken today by British authorities here and at Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, in view of the growing tenseness of the situation in Ethiopia. A number of troop-carrier airplanes have been assembled here, ready to evacuate about 100 British subjects.

DUCE WILL HEAD ITALIAN GROUP AT STRESA MEET

Three Powers to Aid at Security Pact With Enforceable Provisions Against Aggressor.

EDEN IN PRAHA.

France Will Increase Forces to 500,000 Equalling German Army.

ROME, April 3 (AP)—An indication of the importance Italy attaches to the forthcoming three-power conference at Stresa was given to-day with the announcement she would send a delegation of 20, headed by Premier Mussolini, to participate in the conversations.

The delegation will arrive April 10, the day before the conference with Britain and France on the European situation is to open.

New Security System

(By Harold P. Braman. Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 3.—Plans for a pan-European security system with enforceable provisions against aggressor nations were stated by a British Government spokesman today to be a requisite goal of the forthcoming conference of Great Britain, France, and Italy at Stresa.

The spokesman said preliminary study of talks by British ministers in Berlin, Moscow, and Warsaw had convinced the Government that a non-partisan plan open to the signatures of all nations including Germany was the only way to insure the future peace of the European continent. Reports of Captain Anthony Eden's visits to Berlin, Moscow and Warsaw were studied by the Cabinet to-day.

FRANCE INCREASES FORCES.

PARIS. — The Government having secured an overwhelming confidence vote was believed ready if necessary to keep the expiring conscript class in uniform, increasing the forces by 150,000 men, bringing them up to about 500,000 or equal to the still uncertain figure at which the new German army is to be.

LONDON. — British comment stressed peace must be preserved by collective action, and if Germany does not adhere she must be confronted by a "League of Force" so powerful as to deter aggression.

EDEN IN PRAHA THURSDAY.

PRAHA, April 3 (C.P.-Havas). — Captain Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, is expected to arrive here to-morrow morning.

After his interview with Foreign Minister Eduard Benes, he will leave for London by plane in the early afternoon.

The Weather

TORONTO, April 3 (C.P.).—An area of high pressure extends from the lower Mackenzie valley southeastward across Manitoba to the Middle States, while a deep low area is centred off the Labrador coast and another is passing north-eastward across the Grand Banks. The weather has been mostly fair and cold in the western provinces and cool from Ontario eastward with light showers and snowflurries in some districts.

Lower Lake Region and Georgian Bay: Moderate north-west to north winds; fair to-day and Thursday; rather cold to-night.

Northern Ontario: Fair and cold to-day and Thursday.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley: Moderate north-west winds; fine to-day and Thursday; rather cold to-night.

FREE ENTRY OF BISCUITS BEING SOUGHT BY BRITAIN

OTTAWA, April 3 (CP)—Free entry into the Canadian market for British biscuits was sought before the Tariff Board to-day when K. S. Greene of Ottawa argued the formal application by the National Association of Biscuit Manufacturers of Great Britain. At present sweetened biscuits are admitted at a 20 per cent tariff (less 10 per cent when entered through a Canadian port) and 15 per cent for unsweetened. The application was opposed by a large array of Canadian manufacturers.

Gatineau Will Still Supply Power to Ontario

ETHIOPIA BUSY MASSING ARMY ALONG FRONTIER

Movement Described as Solely Defensive Step—Clashes Forbidden.

ITALY WATCHES.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, April 3. (AP).—Ethiopia is moving troops up to her frontiers, authoritative sources revealed to-day, to meet what her government regards as a threat from Italy's East African forces. Solely defensive steps is how the new move is described.

Described as being organized on a more efficient basis than ever before, the troops were under strict orders from Emperior Haile Selassie to avoid contact with Italian border garrisons.

Italy Well Informed

ROME, April 3. (AP). — Italian military authorities said to-day Italy has been aware for some time Ethiopia has been massing troops on both the Eritrean and Italian Somaliland frontiers and has made extensive purchases of war materials abroad.

Italy now has about 75,000 Italian and native troops ready for action in East Africa, these sources said, a force they regarded as capble of coping with any Ethiopian attack.

T. P. Lancaster Shows Slight Improvement

HAVELOCK, April 3 (Examiner Correspondent).—Being too anxious to get back in the public harness so soon after a serious operation almost cost T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., Peterborough County, another operation on Monday. After a very strenuous session at Queen's Park he arrived at his home here Saturday morning with Mrs. Lancaster. He was completely exhausted and suffering great pain.

Only a slight improvement was noticed Monday, and a second operation to determine the trouble was thought advisable, but a Norwood doctor called in consultation advised waiting. The complete rest and quiet prescribed however seemed to improve the condition on Tuesday and much of the pain ceased.

Roebuck's Police Bill Go Through Amended

TORONTO, April 3 (C.P.). — Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck's police centralization bill, designed to co-ordinate all Ontario police under a special director in time of emergency will be amended before it finally passes the Provincial Legislature, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said to-day.

"The bill is going through, possibly not in its present form, but it is going through," the Premier stated.

After severe criticism from Conservatives who opposed the measure on the grounds it interferes with municipal autonomy, the bill received second reading two weeks ago but has yet to be discussed in committee.

Lucky Smack

AVENPORT, N.S., April 3.—(CP)—Elias Nieforth, 70, says it was a great day for him when he struck his head on a snow shovel. After being blind for years he can see again, and he believes the accident did the trick. He felt the blow just above one eye. Gradually the sight of that eye improved until he was able to read the large type of a newspaper.

LABOR OPPOSES NEW EXCEPTIONS INSURANCE LIST

Moore Believes Employes of Financial Houses Should Be Included.

FAVORS FLAT RATE.

OTTAWA, April 3.—(CP)—Labor today through President Tom Moore of the Trades and Labor Congress opposed granting further exceptions from the Dominion Employment and Social Insurance scheme requested by departmental stores and the railways for head office and division clerical staffs.

"Our position," Mr. Moore told the Senate Banking and Commerce committee, "is there are too many exceptions now. In place of giving further exceptions employees of financial houses should be brought within the scope of the measure."

Mr. Moore condemned as "impractical" the proposal of the Canadian Manufacturers Association firms should be given different assessments based on their volume of unemployment.

Agrees On Flat Rate

The British scheme of "flat rate" contributions incorporated in the bill was acceptable to labor, he said.

If this business of contribution were changed to one of a percentage of pay-rolls and earnings, alterations also would have to be made in the benefits to one of a percentage of earnings in place of a "flat rate."

"There seems to have been a wrong impression given that inclusion of large departmental stores and distributive trades would add materially to the cost of articles sold," Mr. Moore declared. What justification could there be for increasing prices in the several hundred dollars sales a clerk made each week to provide for his 25 cent contribution to the insurance fund? he asked.

Exemption Reduction?

"Would you favor reducing the exemption for non-manual workers from $2,000 as provided in the bill to $1,500?" Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Senate leader, questioned.

The Labor head disagreed. Workers earning between $1,500 and $2,000 had probably suffered as much from the depression as others and required the benefit of unemployment insurance, he said. Many of them had lost their homes and life savings because of inability to benefit from relief given to those entirely destitute.

TRUTH WITHOUT OATH.

UNIFORM SALE PLAN ASSURED FOR POTATOES

Five Provinces Now in Marketing Scheme With Joining of Quebec.

SET PRICE NEXT GOAL.

OTTAWA, April 3 (CP)—Uniformity of potato marketing in all five Eastern provinces was assured to-day with formal approval of Quebec's membership in the Eastern Canada Potato Marketing Board, a spokesman for the board stated previous to an executive meeting here later to-day.

The board met the Dominion Marketing Board for Governmental approval of changes in regulations being considered at the request of Maritime and Ontario members.

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island growers and shippers ask the wholesale price spread between their product and Quebec and Ontario grown potatoes be narrowed. Home grown potatoes were underselling the Maritimes five cents a bag in Montreal and 20 cents in Toronto, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Board members said.

Progress on Prices

"We made considerable progress in Toronto yesterday with Ontario dealers in the matter of price differential," G. C. Cunningham, Fredericton, said.

"This is the important question at the moment for Maritime potato producers and shippers," H. L. Mulherin, Grand Falls, N.B., added. "It is expected to-day's meeting will clear the matter up."

Toronto members representing Ontario wholesalers also presented various resolutions to the Board.

They asked removal of restrictions on the retail price to consumers and that the minimum wholesale price

Stolen Dafoe Car Found In Ottawa

OTTAWA, April 3 (C.P.). — The automobile of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, physician of the world-famous Dionne quintuplets, which was stolen from Callander, Ont., last November 6, was recovered in the garage of a cottage at Britannia, just outside Ottawa.

Provincial Constable L. E. Throop was notified and the automobile was towed in to await word from Callander of the recovery of the car last night.

The automobile was not damaged with the exception of two flat front tires. There was still some gasoline in the tank, and with the exception of the two flat tires the car seemed to be in good running order.

HEPBURN GIVES HIS ATTITUDE ON POWER MOVE

Don't Need the Power, Not Going to Take It Says Premier.

QUEBEC SENDS PROTEST.

Godfrey Begins Investigation of Information Leak — Query 59 Dealers.

TORONTO, April 3 (C.P.).—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said to-day he "couldn't see any possibility" of reaching an agreement with holders of bonds in Quebec power companies whose contracts with the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission are to be terminated by the Government.

"We don't need the power, and we are not going to take it," said Mr. Hepburn.

"But if the bondholders get together and come to you with a proposition to cut the price of power or to reduce the amount to be purchased, would you consider their proposals," the Premier was asked.

"I won't say as to that," replied Mr. Hepburn. "We'll wait to see what move they make if any."

"I know they have been hollering," he continued, "but if to-morrow we reversed our policy and increased the cost of power by $6.00 a horsepower, as we would have to do if we continued these contracts, there would be a howl from the other direction. We have to choose between the two, and Ontario industry can't pay more for power."

If power rates were increased sufficiently to pay for the energy from Quebec, Mr. Hepburn said, it would impose a total increase of more than $1,000,000 in Toronto's power costs alone.

The Premier said debate on the Bill providing for termination of the contracts will start on Friday.

Cheers for Budget Address

TORONTO, April 3 (C.P.) — The Quebec power contracts were not discussed directly at to-day's Ontario Government caucus, it was learned, but members expressed confidence in the Government's announced stand on cancellation.

Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said cheers that greeted him in caucus had no connection with the cancellation, but were for his budget address yesterday.

"They said they wanted to cheer

Great Britain, And Poland Are In Agreement

WILL MAINTAIN CLOSE CONTACT WAR SITUATION

Officials Indicate Pan European Security System Likely Proposal.

EDEN ENDS VISIT.

British Envoy Leaves For Praha and Further Peace Conferences.

BY A. D. STEFFERUD

Copyright, 1935, by the A. P.

WARSAW, April 3—Great Britain and Poland today agreed to "the desirability of maintaining close contact" on the European situation, with authoritative quarters indicating a Pan-European security system as a likely proposal.

The agreement was reached with Polish statesmen by Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, as he concluded two days of conversations concerned with the general peace of Europe and prepared to depart for Praha and more conferences.

As the conferees parted, they gave each other mutual assurances described officially as concerning "the desirability of maintaining close contact in regard to future developments in the European situation."

German Influence Waning.

Informed quarters saw in recent developments indications of Poland's withdrawal from the sphere of German influence and a revival of close relations with France. This tendency was emphasized by an announcement by the foreign office Pierre Laval, French foreign minister, would be invited to visit Warsaw late this month.

New Peace Plan.

PARIS, April 3.—(C.P.)—A vast, new flexible plan to organize the peace of Europe within the framework of the League of Nations is the latest project to preserve Europe from war, sources close to the government disclosed to-day.

The new proposal is described as being based upon the idea of mutual aid, such as was contemplated in the Eastern Locarno pact. It is designed, however, to avert the formation of two hostile blocs of powers.

The scheme now under consideration is based on strengthening and extending the effect of Articles 10, 15 and 16 of the League about a decline in wheat futures prices yesterday.

Opening higher, May later reversed its early trend following announcement of the forecasts. The average of five experts' figures placed this year's winter wheat yield at about 490,000,000 bushels, or 85,000,000 more than production last year, but 142,000,000 less than the ten-year average.

Wheat closed ½c to ⅝c below Monday's finish; May, 94½-94⅝. Corn developed independent strength in connection with figures showing low farm reserves and finished ¼c off to ½c up; May, 80⅜c-81c. Oats were ⅝c lower to ¼c higher, and rye lost ¼c.

The crop condition was estimated at an average of 70.8 per cent. of normal compared with the Government figure of 74.3 per cent. a year ago, when the forecast was 492,000,000 bushels. Final yield last year was 405,000,000 bushels. Yesterday's estimates of abandonment ranged from 18 to 21.1 per cent. while farm reserves of wheat as of April 1 were placed at 75,000,000 bushels compared with 115,000,000 the Government figure a year ago.

Buying of corn against sales of wheat was reported, with May corn displaying strength that indicated short covering.

Oats largely followed the action of corn. Provisions were easy.

ONTARIO GRAINS.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 3. — First unofficial forecasts on the new United States winter wheat crop, awaited by the grain trade for weeks, appeared yesterday, but failed to create expected bullish fervor.

Wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange idled through a dull session with traders apparently unwilling to take a position on either side of the market. Prices closed ⅝ cent higher, May at 85⅞c and July 85c.

Private reports estimated the 1935 American crop would total 490,000,000 bushels, based on April 1 conditions. The estimates, compared with last year's harvest of 405,000,000 bushels, and 618,000,000 bushels, the five-year average.

The forecasts were higher than many traders had expected, Chicago closed ⅝ cent lower, its effect on the local market offset by a ⅝d advance at Liverpool. Buenos Aires also was strong, up a cent at noon.

Cash and coarse grains trading again was slow.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCE AND CHEESE QUOTES

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Butter, egg and potato prices were weaker on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday, while cheese held unchanged. The butter market was generally 23¼c to 23½c a pound for No. 1 regraded in carlots or less with fresh butter a cent a pound less. Small lots to retailers brought 24½c a pound for solids and 25½c for prints. Receipts were 109 boxes.

On the egg market graded shipments in carlots or less were quoted at 18c to 18½c a dozen for A-large, 15½c for A-medium or B and 15c for A-pullets or C. Arrivals amounted to 1,506 cases.

Cheese prices continued at 11½c to 11¾c a pound for late fall or current receipts of No. 1 Ontarios and a cent more for summers. There were no offerings.

Quebec No. 2 white potatoes brought 45c to 55c per 80-pound bag, and Quebec Mountains 55c to 60c. New Brunswicmk Cobblers were 55c to 60c; New Brunswick Mountains 60c to 65c and Prince Edward Island Mountains 65c to 70c.

NEW MEMBERS ARE RECEIVED

"Diet Needs of Sick Room" Subject of Madoc Institute Address.

INTERESTING PROGRAM

MADOC, April 3. — (Examiner Correspondence).—The March meeting of the Madoc Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George Huffman, with an attendance of 30, Mrs. R. Bristol presiding.

Reports were received from the Valentine reunion held at the hall of the Eastern Star. Total receipts, $32.50, and of the demonstration lecture class held in the Town Hall the last two weeks in February, under the instruction of Miss Jean McDermid. The class numbered 34 with an average attendance of 23 Seventeen new members were received. A vote of thanks and appreciation was moved, to be forwarded to the Town Council for the use of the Town Hall.

Current events were reviewed very capably by Mrs. J. Rutherford. The roll call was well answered by Irish stories. A very enjoyable piano solo was rendered by Mrs. E. Howell.

Mrs. J. Irwin, as convenor of the committee on health, introduced the speakers of the afternoon. Mrs. Manchester, R.N., who gave an interesting and instructive address on "Diet Needs of the Sick Room," and was followed by Miss M. Cochrane, who capably demonstrated "Trays for the Sick Room" by five different trays and spoke of the use and value of each.

Mrs. G. White, seconded by Mrs. A. Smith, gave expression to the thanks and appreciation of the members for the valuable address and demonstration given by the efficient members of the nursing profession.

The National Anthem closed the program, and the social half-hour was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. G. Huffman and Mrs. R. Wellman, who were assisted by Mesdames G. Wellbridge, W. Miller, R. Wickham, J. Irwin and W. Stewart.

MADOC.

Little Patricia Nicol, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nicol of Madoc village, was rushed to Belleville General Hospital about ten o'clock Monday morning for an operation. Miss Jean Hamm, Reg. N., the child's cousin, accompanied her and will remain on the case. Later reports are that the child is resting easily.

Mr. David Kernohan, who some months ago suffered an accident in the talc mine, went to Belleville on Saturday for an examination by Dr. Stobie. He will still be unable to work for several weeks as his hands and feet are very slow to heal, owing to electrical burns.

Mrs. Jesse M. Reid is ill in bed, suffering from pleurisy. Miss Jean Hamm, Reg. N., is in attendance.

Mrs. Nayler, Sr. had the misfortune to fall on Saturday morning sustaining a fractured arm. She is resting easily at the home of her son, Mr. E. T. Nayler.

Masters George and Melville Stringer of Bancroft are week-end visitors at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Bassett and are also visiting their cousin, Billy McBain.

Being the fifth Sunday of the month, service at St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc was held in the afternoon. The attendance was smaller than usual.

VOTE POSSIBLE TO-DAY.

Quebec Member Blames Many Present Ills on Loss of Old-fashioned Virtues.

OTTAWA, April 3 (C.P.).—Overwhelmed with the praise of Government supporters, the Budget makes slow progress in the House of Commons.

With speaker after speaker from the Conservative benches lauding the Empire trade pacts, reform policies, protective tariffs, and other phases of the past performance and future program of the Bennett Government, the vote by which the House of Commons must adopt the taxation program for 1935-36 recedes into the distance.

It may be taken to-day and it may not, but in any case it will come before the end of the week.

DROP INQUEST VERMILYEA CASE

Government Alienist Expected to Examine Prisoner During Week.

REMAINS CALM.

BELLEVILLE, April 3. — Automatic abandonment of the adjourned inquest to investigate the death of Mrs. Aurealia Vermilyea on October 4 last year, was announced by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan yesterday. The adjournment was made on October 26, until April 8, but in view of the verdict given by the jury at the trial of Harold W. Vermilyea, the inquest will not be resumed.

The five-month adjournment of the inquest caused considerable comment last October, but this was explained at the time by Mr. Donnan as following English court procedure in similar cases. Since the inquest last October, one of the nine jurymen, Samuel J. Wedden, has died. The word "abandoned" will be written across the inquest report, however.

Vermilyea, sentenced to hang one month from yesterday, remains calm as the day draws near. He is receiving regular visits from Mrs. J. Schorr, of Ontario, Calif., and his spiritual adviser, Adjutant A. W. Martin of the Salvation Army. He has been visited at intervals by his brothers and sisters, since his incarceration here. Before the end of this week, it is expected that a Government alienist will examine the prisoner to present a report on his sanity before the day set for his hanging.

NAPANEE, April 3. — An inquest jury, after an hour's deliberation yesterday, returned with a finding that William McGreer, four years old, killed in front of his home on March 25 while standing on the sidewalk, was struck down by an automobile that mounted the curb, driven by E. G. O'Brien of Belleville.

The verdict stated also that James Deacon and Walter Allore, also of Belleville, were occupants of the front seat of the auto O'Brien was driving.

O'Brien is at present under arrest on a charge of manslaughter and the other two are out on bail as material witnesses. The preliminary hearing is to be held here on April 4.

Allore, in his testimony, said he was under the influence of liquor, and did not know what happened between the time he left Shannonville, 15 miles from where the accident happened, until he arrived back in Napanee from Kingston, after his arrest, along with O'Brien and Deacon.

Deacon said he had little to drink prior to the accident, and that the auto jumped the curb to avoid hitting an old woman. He said he saw no children on the sidewalk and the auto was completely out of control. He could not explain the latter circumstance.

15 YEARS' REWARD

HAMILTON, Ont., April 3. (CP). Mayor George Wilton thinks the persons who sent him a threatening letter recently will soon be caught and imprisoned "for 15 years". "I think we could send that fellow down for 15 years," said the mayor. "We have an excellent description of him and I hope the police will soon lay their hands on him."

ONTARIO HOUSE BUSY STUDYING BUDGET DETAILS

Hepburn to Order Probe Into "Leak" on Gov't Power Decisions.

INVESTIGATE BOND SALE.

Budget to be Balanced Before End of Year—New Taxes Forecast.

TORONTO, April 3.—(C.P.)—Aftermath of another "budget day" in the Ontario Legislature found members studying the statistical record tabled by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn in the first budget presentation by a Liberal government in the province in 31 years.

The budget brought down yesterday by the Premier in his capacity as Provincial Treasurer, showed a deficit of $30,599,249.78 for the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1934. Ordinary expenditure in that period was $80,667,091.15 and ordinary revenue $50,067,841.37.

Because the Government plans changing the end of the fiscal year from Oct. 31 to March 31 the Premier tabled a supplemntary statement for the five months ending March 31, estimating a deficit of $7,449,233.61.

While Mr. Hepburn forecast a deficit of $14,606,346.87 for the new fiscal year which started April 1, he indicated steps would be taken to balance the budget before that time. The remedies proposed were: Increase or revision in certain taxation, a fall session of the Legislature to take other action necessary to achieve a balanced budget.

Price Charges 'Leak'

Before the budget address the House heard allegations of "a leak" concerning the government's intention to terminate Quebec power contracts. Col. W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto-Parkdale) contended late trading in the power bonds even before the Premier introduced the bill to invalidate the contracts indicated someone had inside information.

The former Attorney-General demanded an investigation into the sale of the bonds and Mr. Hepburn replied he was prepared to order an investigation.

Deficit in next year's operations will be shown because of the $15,000,000 allotment for direct relief, said the Premier. After the next Federal election he plans to confer with the Dominion Government regarding what relief aid Ontario can expect and after that he will summon the special session of the Legislature.

"Before the end of the fiscal year this government by added revenue obtained from new taxes is determined to balance its budget" said Mr. Hepburn.

Col. Price, opposition financial critic, will continue the budget debate to-morrow.

Let Them Alone

LANGHORNE, Pa., April 3.—(CP)—Forcing normally left handed children to write with their right hands and vice versa often causes trouble in the children's reading, the spring conference on education and the exceptional child at the Woods school here, was told today.

Dr. Paul Dozier of the New York medical center, said such children often completely reverse words, writing 'was' for 'saw' and 'doog' for 'good.'

PLENTY OF OFFERS

PETROLIA, Ont., April 3. (CP). When it became known here yesterday that George 'Cutty' Burgess, well-known football player of this district, had suffered a hemorrhage and a transfusion would be necessary, six of his former team mates turned up at his home to offer blood. After tests, Jack Burgess, George's brother, was chosen.

FRENCH ARMY TERM IS DOUBLED ON ACCOUNT GERMAN STRENGTH

Extend Period of Compulsory Service to Overcome Lack of Recruits.

PACIFISTS OPPOSED

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

PARIS, April 3.—This is the first of the so-called "hollow years." This year there are less recruits available for the French armies because from 1914-1918 one million six hundred thousand possible fathers of sons died on the battlefields and in the hospitals. One million French children who would have been born under normal circumstances, have never seen the light of day. Of this one million about half would have been available for military service to-day, seventeen, eighteen years after the war.

There are 325,000 boys in the barracks of France at present. Nearly all are raw recruits, who serve a period of one year's training and go home again. Across the border in Germany the Reichswehr, an army of professional military men, has just been increased from 100,000 to 400,000 men. In October this year the strength of the Reichswehr will be carried from 400,000 to 600,000 men, according to an official announcement from Berlin.

Since the governments of Europe have given up coming to an agreement on general disarmament, or have been prevented from disarming by the powerful internationale of the cannon merchants, the only hope left of preventing an immediate outbreak of war is to increase their respective armies. The armament race is therefore in full swing and the shareholders of the steel and munition trusts are rubbing their hands, while millions of mothers look on with fear and anxiety at their growing boys, who will soon be called upon to enter military service with the serious possibility that they will be the cannon-fodder in the next great war.

Will Extend Service Term

The French government, on the advice of Marshal Petain, is proposing to extend the period of service in the army from one to two years. This is to fill the gap caused by the "hollow years." It is further proposed to proceed with an intensification of the mechanisation of the army to replace antiquated material and to strengthen the fortifications on the eastern frontier by another line of steel and concrete.

The proposals, which are under discussion in parliament, where they will almost certainly be accepted, have thrown the city of Paris in an uproar. The walls are plastered with appeals to the people to support the demand of Marshal Petain on the ground that Germany is ten times better equipped and almost ready to invade France once more.

"Hitler is waiting for a civil war in France," says one of the posters, "to send his gigantic new army across our borders and to begin a bombardment of our cities with his powerful new air fleet." The poster quotes former Prime Minister Gaston Doumergue as having said this.

Pacifists Ridiculed

German newspapers arriving here, on the other hand, interpret agitation for increased armament in France and the lengthening of the term of military service as "evidence" that France is preparing for a war of invasion against Germany at an early date and they point to Hitler's pacifism and Germany's helplessness in the face of a threat from both sides, meaning that the Soviet Union is getting ready to join France.

Counter posters put up by the socialists and pacifist leagues in France against the proposals of Marshal Petain declare that answering the German armament drive with a French armament drive does not lessen the chance of war in the least, but heightens the nervous tendency in Europe and greatly increases the danger of war. For this opinion the opponents to the new military measures are roundly denounced, of course, and in the most violent terms as pro-Germans, traitors to the fatherland, Moscovite scum, henchmen of Hitler, paid agents of German armament trusts and other lovely things.

Street-battles around the posters are quite frequent, each group trying to prevent the others from tearing down what they consider offensive publications. The battle pro and con is raging with bitter violence in the newspapers, but it is a foregone conclusion that the marshal's proposals will pass, as only the one hundred and twenty Socialist members, the ten orthodox Communists, the twenty pupists (Parti d'Union Proletaire) one or two Trotskyists and perhaps some left-wing liberals, who have recently formed a small group under leadership of M. Gaston Bergery, will vote against the measures.

Take England as Example

The attitude of the Communists is subject to particular criticism and hectic debates in streets and halls, since Moscow seems to favor a strengthening of the French army against Germany, which is Moscow's most dangerous opponent in the world to-day, next to Japan.

The French government's position in pushing through the far-reaching military reforms has been immensely strengthened by the publication of the White Paper in England. One of the government's newspapers, l'Intransigeant, states: "If the English, who are always slow to move, see the danger of a chauvinist, war-like Germany, how much more ought we Frenchmen to be on the alert." A note of nervousness was injected into the debate which is raging from the one end of France to the other by the affixing of one red-hued placard on every hoarding throughout the length and breadth of the land by the national-republican party. This poster starts out with the words: "Vite, les Deux Ans!" (Quickly the two years' service). The German armament is much more formidable than even the illustrious marshal thinks. We have secret information on Germany's plans which we dare not publish for fear of creating a world-wide panic....Silence the pacifists. Death to all traitors!"

The pacifists though, still talk, some in England, some here. But their words are lost in the thunderous roar of steel-ovens which are pouring out cannons and tanks as never before in the last fifteen years. Business is picking up in that quarter. The merchants of death have won the first round.

WHY WORLD TRADE FALTERS

Babson Says Trade Troubles Real Background for Current European Headlines.

BABSON PARK, Florida, April 3. European politics have once more flamed into danger signals set against world peace. In order to understand the real significance of the startling and conflicting headlines from every capital in Europe, we must turn to the less sensational, but more important, evidence offered by the trade reports of the world's leading nations. Hence, to equip you to understand what lies behind these sensational political events, I want to give you in this article brief snap-shot reviews of trade and business conditions throughout the entire world.

GREAT BRITAIN has made great strides towards recovery since mid-1932. Basically a trading nation, further progress now depends upon a revival in world trade. Japanese competition is ruining the textile industry at Lancashire. Uncertainty over stability of the "gold bloc" currencies has currently interrupted England's revival.

IRISH FREE STATE has adopted a strong protectionist policy, particularly against British goods. New industries, both sound and unsound, are mushrooming up everywhere. However, foreign trade is falling; unempoyment is rising; and farm buying power is dropping. Ireland's future is cloudy as long as she tries to be self-sufficient.

AUSTRALIA has had a tremendous recovery from the depression low in 1932. Her bucget is approaching balance and unemployment has dropped considerably. However, taxes are still heavy and the drop in wool prices in the last year has given her a sharp set-back. Future recovery depends upon the price trend of this world commodity.

NEW ZEALAND'S domestic recovery is a fine example of the result of conservative readjustments in public finance. Industry is reviving and her budget is nearing a balance. From here on, future recovery of the island depends on world dairy and wool prices.

SOUTH AFRICA has made the greatest progress toward recovery of any nation due to the boom in gold prices and mining. Two hundred new mining companies have been formed: trade with England is on the increase; all industry is picking up. The budget shows a surplus; taxes are being reduced; and the public debt is being paid off.

WEST INDIES: Progress has been made in all West Indian colonies in recent months. Prices of cocoanuts and bananas are higher but quotations on most other products are still low.

INDIA: Economic conditions in India are more hopeful now than at any time in the last five years. With the exception of jute manufacture and coal, most industries are in a healthier condition than last spring. Both external and internal trade is increasing.

FRANCE: Of the major nations, France has shown the least recovery to date. Frances' troubles, like those of most of Europe, arise from the almost complete shutdown of German trade. Prosperity in Europe is tied up very closely with improvement in the Reich. Right now gold uncertainties are provoking an economic crisis.

SPAIN: In spite of strikes and revolutions in 1934, business is slightly better than last year. While most of the world suffered from drought in 1934, Spain had bumper crops of wheat, barley and beets but poor yields of olive oil. Increasing relief rolls and rising living costs are Spain's big issues at present.

PORTUGAL: Under the regime of a very competent finance minister, Portugal, for six years in succession, has paid her bills and had a surplus at the end of the year. Portugal has her problems, but her trade is increasing and her recovery seems real and sound.

ITALY is fighting desperately to balance her budget and stay on gold. Mussolini says taxation has reached its limit and the public deficit must be met by economies. Business is slightly better than last spring and employment has increased moderately.

SWITZERLAND is facing a domestic crisis. Unemployment is rising while business is at the depression low. By staying on gold, she has hurt one of her biggest industries—the tourist trade. Hotelkeepers are forced to offer big concessions to tourists.

BELGIUM—another of the "gold bloc" countries—is in the depths of depression. The number on dole is rising, prices are sinking, trade is declining. It is doubtful if public clamor to go off gold can be resisted.

GERMANY'S great problem is her poor credit abroad. Her exports are declining consistently, making it more and more difficult for the Fatherland to buy and import those raw materials vital to her economic life. Nazi economic experimentation has missed the core of Germany's problem,—to re-establish her foreign trade.

HUNGARY.—Sentiment in Budapest is better than in most European capitals to-day. Hungary has made modest progress toward recovery. Her problem is to narrow the tremendous spread between the price the Magyar farmer pays and the price he receives.

AUSTRIA.—The past year in Austria has been filled with political agitation and change. But, as in Hungary, the trend at present appears to be upward. The budget deficit and public credit in Austria, as in most countries, is the biggest issue to-day.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA, like her Central European neighbors, made noticeable progress late in 1934. Her improvement is due principally to devaluation of the crown about a year ago. Her exports have increased sharply, but unemployment is still a major problem.

RUSSIA is making steady progress toward recovery. Her industrial production increased substantially despite a poor farm year in 1934. Growth of her gold-mining industry and her excess of exports over imports are the features of her progress.

SWEDEN, along with Canada and South Africa, probably has shown the greatest recovery in industry and trade of all nations. Her big problem is reducing relief and balancing the budget.

NORWAY made modest progress during 1934, as shown by stock prices on the Oslo Bourse. Higher freight rates have passed two-thirds of her laid-up tonnage back into use. Norway's troubles are tied up with the poor credit of Germany—her biggest whale oil customer.

DENMARK'S industrial recovery, due to protective tariffs, has come along much faster than Norway's, not so fast as Sweden's. Improvement in world butter and egg prices has helped Danish farmers.

JAPAN.—The big factor in her tremendous expansion in industrial activity in recent years has been the depreciation of the yen. Restrictions placed on her products by competing nations have recently slowed down her exports and she is now suffering over-production. Her budget, unbalanced for years, is a very serious problem.

CHINA is suffering from deflation due to high silver prices just as the gold bloc is suffering from high gold prices. Her foreign commerce is declining steadily and domestic prices are falling as a result of our silver purchase policy.

EGPYT.—Nearly every barometer indicates an improvement in business conditions along the Nile. Egypt is fast becoming a leading cotton producer, thanks to our cotton curtailment program.

ARGENTINA'S export recovery is due to two factors: (1) depreciation of the peso; and (2) our short crops of last year. Public finances are improving and Argentina's bonds have made a strong comeback.

BRAZIL'S business depends upon the coffee industry whose statistical position has been vastly improved by the burning of millions of bags. Coffee prices continue low, however, and unsatisfactory foreign exchange is still handicapping recovery on the Amazon.

CHILE has enjoyed considerable recovery in the past year and both her export and import trade has increased sharply. Further progress depends almost entirely on revival of world trade and restoration of world markets for her chief exports—nitrate of soda and copper.

In studying conditions in these nations I was struck by four factors which were apparent in nearly every nation, namely: (1) cheap money rates; (2) havoc wrought by higher tariff barriers and depreciated currencies; (3) unbalanced budgets; and (4) flooding of the world with cheap Japanese products. Because business is below normal here (19 per cent. this week), we are too apt to over-emphasize our own troubles and to forget that the depression is world-wide. Remember our own prosperity depends upon the prosperity of every nation.

COMBINES ACT BEFORE SENATE

Amendment to Amplify Provisions as to What Constitutes Combine Will Be Made.

RELIEF BILL PASSES.

OTTAWA, April 3 (CP)—Motion for second reading of a private bill to amend the Combines Investigation Act and the Criminal Code so as to amplify provisions as to what constitutes a combine will be made to-day in the Senate. The sponsor, Senator J. P. B. Casgrain (Lib., Montreal) will explain objectives of the measure.

Final reading was given in the Upper House yesterday to the Relief Bill, extending existing provisions for another year, and three supply measures. The Eight-hour Day Bill passed second reading and went to the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee; while the resolution approving the Minimum Standard of Wages Convention originated in the International Labor Organization at Geneva in 1928, was adopted.

Grain Holdings Secret

Holding of John I. McFarland in the grain market and the amount of existing government guarantees on these operations were not revealed when the Relief Bill was before the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee earlier yesterday. Senator Arthur Meighen, Upper House leader, told Senator Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, that he was not prepared to give those particulars.

If the present wheat holdings of McFarland could be sold at present prices in Canada, the Federal Treasury "would not suffer," the Senate leader believed.

Prices maintained in Canada on wheat above the world level had been to the advantage of the producer in this country, he said. Until the result of market operations was known position of this country in the wheat situation might not be deermined, but Canada was very much better off than Australia, Senator Meighen said.

He understood the carry-over in Canada of visible wheat at the end July would not be more than 100,000,000 bushels.

Swiss Are Aroused Over Nazi Abduction

BERNE, Switzerland, April 3.—(AP). Little Switzerland was united almost to the last man to-day in it determination to demand from Germany exemplary satisfaction for what she regards as a violation of her sovereign rights in the kidnapping of Berthold Jacob, anti-Nazi journalist.

Unanimous support for the government's protest to the Reich and its demand for Jabob's return was voiced in the press. Similar expressions of approval were repeatedly uttered by Swiss citizens.

The incident was regarded as having particularly grave implications in light of the statement in the Swiss note: "A similar incident was not settled as the German Government gave us to understand it would be."

Indignation was fanned to white heat by Berlin press advices indicating the Reich will refuse to return Jacob and is in no hurry to settle the incident.

Your Home—does it face the future in security?

Would the mortgage be provided for—should you pass on unexpectedly?

You and your family are accustomed to say "our home." You are proud to think of the home as your own. But if anything should happen to you, would your family be able to meet those semi-annual payments on the mortgage?

A home is a fine thing, but a mortgage is a poor legacy for a widow.

Why not let an Imperial Life Policy cover the amount of your mortgage?

The wise and thoughtful man will cover his mortgage dollar for dollar with an Imperial Mortgage Protection Policy.

Then, in case he should die, there will be cash immediately available to discharge the mortgage and leave the house clear of debt for his family.

The yearly deposits are small — just like adding about two or three per cent. to your mortgage interest.

If you live, this money is not spent, but is saved, and thereby builds up a cash fund for your own later years to help you maintain your home and those who may still be dependent on you.

Ask for particulars to-day about this remarkable Imperial Policy. There is no obligation.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk, and the world looks punk, don't think that a large cleaning out of the bowels will make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

It can't do it! You know it can't give you any lasting relief. For a mere cleaning out does not get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

To take these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get them two pints of bile flowing freely. Then you feel "up and up." Carter's Little Liver Pills contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1935 C. M. Co.

WHAT IS THE JURY Thinking ABOUT?

A SUCCESSFUL advertiser, like a successful lawyer, must know, for the people who read the ads are the jury that sits in judgment upon every advertising effort. Not to know what type of people they are, what influences their opinions, what they think about, is to run the risk of failing to impress them. AS FATAL AS WAR.

The seriousness of the fatal automobile accident record may perhaps be realized when it is stated that there were 35,500 motor car deaths in the United States last year, the heaviest casualty list in the history of that country, and only 412 below the total of American soldiers killed in the Great War.

That an invention used for peaceful purposes and one that should be a source of comfort and convenience to humanity should become an instrument that in one year is killing as many people across the border as Uncle Sam's army lost in the bloodiest war the world has known, is a development that mocks American common sense.

In the last four years nearly 130,000 Americans have lost their lives in automobile accidents, with last year the worst on record, and 1931 with 33,675 fatalities the second highest on the list.

That is a terrible record, and the most unfortunate part about it is the general tendency to accept such killings as inevitable, a tendency that if persisted in will make it hopeless to look for any marked improvement in conditions.

It is most certainly true, to quote the Christian Science Monitor, that "only aroused public sentiment can keep steering wheels out of the hands of the drunken, the reckless, the physically unfit," and, sad to relate, there is not the slightest evidence that public sentiment either in this country or in the United States is being aroused in protest against a slaughter that is worse than the casualty lists of a war.

A BETTER SHOWING.

The annual report of the Canadian National Railways for 1934, as presented in the House yesterday by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, made more cheery reading than this statement has for a number of years.

Although there was a substantial cash deficit for the year of $48,407,900, there is satisfaction in the fact that this deficit was reduced by $10,547,000, while the gain of 11 per cent. in the gross operating revenues over the 1933 figure is even more gratifying as it reflects not only efficient management but better business conditions throughout the country.

Altogether the Government-owned railways compiled a gross operating revenue of $164,902,501 in 1934, an increase of $16,382,759 over the figure of the previous year and making possible an operating profit of $12,936,423.

It is noteworthy that the 11 per cent. gain in gross revenues was much better than the showing made by United States railways, who reported an average increase last year of 5.7 per cent.

The report makes it clear that the success of the Canadian National depends upon business conditions in Canada, as the statement expresses it, "the low volume of business continues to be the greatest adverse factor in our transportation problem."

Thus while a substantial gain in revenue was registered last year, 1934's revenue was nevertheless $91,000,000 less than the yearly average of the ten-year period between 1923-1932.

Until it is possible to get the yearly earnings back to that average, the railway situation must contiue to remain serious.

FEW TAXATION CHANGES.

Mr. Hepburn's first budget contains few taxation changes, but his speech left little doubt that the imposition of new levies is a development that may be looked for before the end of the present year.

The principal taxation change announced by the Premier is an increase in the succession duty tax on large estates by which it is provided that where the aggregate value exceeds one million dollars there will be a progressive increase of one per cent. on each million to a maximum of 14 per cent. Hitherto the succession duties have been levied at the rate of 10 per cent.

The new budget also proposes to include syndicate units under the stock transfer tax at the rate of three cents for every $100 or fraction thereof of the value of such securities.

Obviously, so far as taxation is concerned, this is merely a temporary budget.

It is Mr. Hepburn's intention to wait until after the federal election, obtain a statement from the Government that may happen to be in power after that event as to the amount of direct relief it will be prepared to pay Ontario, and then call a special session of the Legislature to pass the taxation changes the Ontario Government decides will be needed for the purpose of balancing the provincial budget.

Fresh taxation is deferred for the time being, but the Premier has made it clear that new levies are likely, their extent depending upon events in the federal arena, and the amount of relief that may be forthcoming from Ottawa after an appeal has been made to the Dominion electors.

A FRANK STATEMENT.

Probably the most important and the most welcome feature of the budget presented by Premier M. F. Hepburn in the Legislature yesterday was that it apparently was a frank and clear exposition of the financial position of the province, with no attempt being made to gloss over unpleasant phases of the situation.

In that respect Mr. Hepburn's presentation was in striking contrast to that made by ex-Premier George S. Henry last year, for, according to the present Premier, his predecessor "manipulated" the accounts, and should have reported a deficit of $3,734,720.03 instead of the surplus of $476,426.61 he claimed at that time.

"The former Provincial Secretary," charges Mr. Hepburn, "manipulated, switched, juggled, or whatever you call it, the accounts so that items which amounted in all to $4,211,146.64 were incorrectly handled."

The Premier reported that Ontario's deficit at the end of October 31, 1934, the old fiscal year, was $30,569,249.78, while for the five months between that date and March 31, 1935, there has been a deficit of $7,449,333.61.

For the new fiscal year, which began yesterday, Mr. Hepburn budgeted an estimated deficit of $14,606,346.87, which is approximately the estimated cost of direct relief for the period, relief payments to be charged to ordinary expenditures instead of to capital account, as was the practice of the old Government.

The estimated ordinary expenditures for the current year are estimated at $88,311,593.25, to meet which, it is expected, that there will be ordinary revenues to the amount of $73,705,241.38.

Incidentally it should be noted in connection with these figures that estimates of ordinary expenditures in the new fiscal year show increases in the departments of agriculture, health, highways, labor, lands and forests, northern development, provincial secretary and provincial treasurer, while decreases are effected in the departments of the attorney-general, education, game and fisheries, mines, prime minister, provincial auditor, public welfare and public works.

Mr. Hepburn's financial statement covered the whole field of provincial expenditure, and in its clarity and evident desire to reveal the actual state of affairs to the people of the province must be classed as a masterly performance.

Nothing—not even political advantage—is gained by attempting to cover up weaknesses, although it has long been a favorite method of politicians.

The Premier has apparently got away from that practice, and that, in the opinion of The Examiner, is the outstanding feature of the first Liberal budget in Ontario for 31 years.

WHY NOT DEFER THE CUT?

With regard to proposals that have been made for a cut in the capital amount of the funded debt of certain Ontario municipalities, there is a strong feeling in some quarters that such action would be too drastic and would not, in the long run, serve the interests of either borrower or lender to the best advantage. There are undoubtedly cases where the municipality cannot meet more than a part of its maturing capital and interest charges. In cases where the whole situation has been gone into thoroughly and bondholders are acquainted with the facts, they may be relied on to show a reasonable attitude towards the debtor. The debtors, on the other hand, have their future to consider as well as the present, and apart from all sentimental or moral considerations, their ability to borrow in the future will depend to a large extent on the way lenders have fared at the present juncture.

It is felt that most debtors would like to pay off their indebtedness in full, but if the principle amount is definitely and permanently cut there is no incentive left for them to try to clear their record.

If, however, in cases where a municipality seems at the present time to have no chance of ever paying off its funded debt at one hundred cents on the dollar, would it not be a wise procedure rather than cutting the funded debt permanently to reduce the amount to be considered in the next five years by a fixed percentage. Interest charges could be based on this and the remainder of the face value of the debt would be a deferred charge for, say, five or ten years as far as both interest and principle payments are concerned. At the end of that time the matter could be brought up again, and such adjustments made as might then seem desirable. If at that time there seemed no chance of the municipality paying off its debt, some measure such as cutting the principle amount could then be again brought forward and considered.

The one procedure makes the loss to bondholders permanent, the other gives them a chance to get their money back at some future date.

If the municipality was able to pay up in the course of a few years in full, then it would obviously have a much better effect on its credit than if the amount were arbitrarily cut now.

The reason behind such a suggestion is that two or three years of good business would make a tremendous change in the financial position of most municipalities if they exercised a proper supervision over their finances, and in the case of a municipality in default such supervision could be carried on by the province as long as there was any need.

A deferring of the date of the cut in principle would give an opportunity for better business to do its part in improving the situation. There has been some improvement shown in the last year in some cases, due partly to better business and partly to more efficient administration and more stringent economy.

A continuation and extension of these conditions might alter the whole outlook entirely.

Bondholders thus would get what the municipality can pay in the meantime and alternately, and the municipality by paying what it can would be reducing its outstanding indebtedness.—Monetary Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

At all events, Ontario's Lieutenant-Governor will be sure of his groceries for another year.

According to Premier Hepburn, Mr. Henry in presenting his last budget put on an exhibition of figure juggling that made W. C. Fields look like a novice.

Higher succession duties on large estates will leave all newspaper men cold—none of them hope to qualify in that field.

The present Ontario Government has at least one new record to its credit. It is the first administration that has had to budget for the care and maintenance of quintuplets.

WITHOUT A HUMANE SOCIETY

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Perhaps the work of the Humane Society is very much underestimated.

This work has been carried on from year to year in the interests of dumb animals and also in the interests of every citizen. This organization has been faced with discontinuing its work from lack of financial assistance. A bare outline of conditions that would exist if it ceased to function might be of interest to your many readers.

The question of the overplus cat population is a serious one in all cities. These animals multiply so quickly and are found all over the city homeless, quartered in cold outbuildings and sheds, existing upon scraps from garbage cans, thus contracting disease and become peddlers of such. This is indeed a menace to the health of any city, if not removed.

Also the great number of stray dogs running at large with lack of food and shelter, easy victims to influenza and distemper and are found in lanes and driveways in a state of convulsions when this disease goes to their brain. A number of these unfortunate animals are picked up every day in winter months by the society's inspector, who is constantly called to remove them and are conveyed to the society's kennels, where they are humanely put out of misery, and later taken to the incinerator for cremation.

The inspector is also called out on other angles of work. The dogs or cats are struck by a careless motorist, injuried or killed, this unsightly spectacle must be removed, and taken to where the animal will be treated or put out of misery. Then there are the dogs that are constantly biting children and the police call the inspector to place such dogs in a separate apartment under surveillance for an alloted time, fearing that they might be peddlers of rabies.

Then there is the protection of horses and cattle, it is difficult to understand how men become so careless in the care, comfort and feeding of these animals, which are such an important asset to the owners.

Inspector Thos. Johnston, V.S., has been constantly engaged for years looking after this work, bearing the expense of operating his own car with a very small remuneration from the society. Owing to economic conditions the city gives just a small grant towards this work. But should the society cease to function, a much larger expenditure would be necessary to give this work over to the police and provide a place for these unfortunate animals and disposing of them.

The society is at present appealing for increased membership and the fee required is just one dollar per year and it entitles the holder to a membership card and to attend the monthly meetings of the executive board. E. Stratford Martin, 273 Hunter street, the society's treasurer would be very pleased to receive membership fees and issue cards to contributors.

Thos. E. Sargent,
President.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns?

by FRANK H. WILLIAMS

VERCHERES, QUEBEC

This little town, situated on the south bank of the St. Lawrence, 22 miles from Montreal, perpetuates by its name the heroism of a fourteen-year-old girl, whose name will forever have a place in Canadian history.

Madeline de Vercheres, you will remember, with two younger brothers, two soldiers and an old man of eighty, held the tiny fort against the Iroquois for eight days until relief came.

There has been a settlement practically ever since that never-to-be-forgotten day, almost two and one-half centuries ago, when a schoolgirl wrote her name in Canadian history.

I OBJECT

Ive just read an article on puns and punsters, those low human creatures who delight in finding hidden relations between words... and I ought to feel crushed. I ought, after reading this blast against puns, to abjure them forever. But I'm not crushed. I don't intend to give them up. Because I know the author of the article, whose name I do not know, is jealous. He may be a very fine fellow who helps his friends and is kind to his family, but he can't make puns. If he could, he wouldn't write such paragraphs as these:

"The punster may think he is the life of the party, but he is considered a pest and avoided when possible."

(So that's the reason for the sudden hush when I come into the room? And that's why cats and dogs flee my presence?)

"It is not difficult and does not indicate mental capacity to 'pun'."

(I make puns when I feel happy, and a good pun increases my happiness. I make puns and sometimes I have thought I was rather bright. No Einstein, you understand, but not entirely simple.)

"Those who indulge in punning seem not to know when they are squelched. In fact, they seem to possess a particularly thick hide and an attempt to silence them whets their appetite for more puns."

(All this poor punster's life he has been a sensitive soul that reddens to the ears at the slightest criticism, a poor worm under the heavy heel of life.)

"None laughs so heartily as he at his own pun."

(Admitted....A Grade A, thirty-third degree punster is surprised and delighted by his own puns.)

"In his punning he has no respect for age or position."

(There MAY be something in this accusation.)

"Usually it is the only accomplishment that the fellow has by which he can attract attention."

(That's not true. I have other accomplishments. I can sit six feet away from a hat on the floor and toss 52 playing cards in succession into a hat. And I can make babies laugh.)

"It matters little to him whether it be favorable or adverse, just so he can be noticed."

(Oh, what a fib! and what poor English. Nothing crushes a punster more than to make a good pun, a glorious and inspired pun, and hear it drop on barren soil, without appreciation, without even the polite tribute of a smile....Seems to me a fellow could find something nobler than picking on us poor punsters. What heartless creatures there are in this world! How sad to live and not to know what power lies in a gracious and sudden pun to unravel the sleeve of woeful care!)

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

OCEAN SHIP BUILT AT TORONTO

On this date (April 3) in 1855, eighty years ago there was launched at Toronto the first vessel designed in Canada for ocean trade. She was built by Hayes Brothers and had a deck length of 168 feet, depth of hold 18 feet 6 inches, beam of 32 feet 6 inches and carrying capacity of 1200 tons. She received the usual baptism of the contents of a bottle of champagne broken over her bows and no permit was required for that use, there being then no liquor control board; for it was a hard drinking age.

Three months after her launching the City of Toronto sailed from Toronto for Liverpool, via Quebec, with a cargo of walnut and she took her time going down, for it was not until September 6 that she left Quebec. She reached Liverpool on October 4th, after a voyage of 20 days, which was considered quite good time for a sailing ship in those days. After landing passengers, taken on at Quebec, and her precious walnut she went back to Quebec where she engaged in the timber trade. But her life was short for she was cast ashore on the coast of Nova Scotia in the autumn of 1856 and was a total wreck.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that this date is memorable in Canadian history also for the fact that the enthusiasm of the Toronto folk at their first big ship launching was itensified by the receipt of the news of the fall of Sebastopol in the Crimea a month before. So that the pubs were kept busy all day and long into the night and there were bonfires and torchlight processions.

RENEW MINING OLD DISTRICTS

Abandoned Areas Favorably Situated for Economical Mining in Present Day.

SOUTH-EASTERN ONTARIO

South Eastern Ontario is again attracting considerable attention from those interested in the mining industry, and more particularly from those interested in the production of gold.

Gold was first discovered near Madoc, in Hastings County, in 1866, and since that time other discoveries have been made with very encouraging results. Geologically this district is overlaid with rock formation classed as pre-Cambrian, the most prolific of the mineral bearing formation on the continent, and the same formation from which the mines of Northern Ontario, Quebec, and the Sturgeon River districts have been and are being developed.

The question may be asked: Why has South Eastern Ontario not developed a profitable gold mine?

The profitable production of gold depends on the relation of mining and milling costs to the recovery of the gold from the ore. Free gold is present in the ores of South Eastern Ontario, and when mining operations were being carried on in this district, this was the only value recovered, as the milling methods in vogue at that time could not recover the full values contained in the sulphides except at a cost greater than the recovered value. For this reason this district was abandoned, as were the gold mining districts of the Lake of the Woods and Michipicoten discovered some few years later.

The development of the cyanide process for the recovery of gold from the sulphides has revolutionized gold mining in Canada, the second largest gold producer in the world, as over 95 per cent of the gold content of the ore can now be recovered by this process, whereas under the older methods as much as 50 to 60 per cent of the gold values were lost.

Great strides have also been made in increasing the efficiency of milling machinery, as well as in the underground mining equipment.

Cheap Hydro-Electric power has been another factor of importance towards economical mining.

Almost complete recovery of gold by modern methods of extraction, coupled with greater efficiency in milling and mining machinery, plus unlimited supplies of cheap power available, has brought about renewed interest in the older mining districts of Canada, and many properties which have been abandoned for upwards of fifty to sixty years, are now being re-opened with every prospect of profitable development.

South Eastern Ontario is most favorably situated for economical mining under present day methods, and during the past few months the possibilities of this section have been brought to the attention of the mining world by some of our Northern Prospectors. The feasibility of profitably producing gold in this district has been established beyond question of doubt. All the essentials for profitable mining are present: large bodies of ore, cheap Hydro-Electric power, transportation facilities for the economical haulage of supplies and equipment, and a plentiful supply of labor.

The gold has always been there and still is, but lack of knowledge prevented its profitable extraction. Science and mechanics have overcome the difficulties of the past, which must now be forgotten. The opportunity is now available for those of faith and vision to develop a mining industry in South Eastern Ontario that will be second to none in Canada.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, April 3 (CP)—Some of the broadest prices changes to be recorded on Montreal Stock Exchange in several weeks were registered to-day.

Montreal Power lost ⅛ at 27½ and Shawinigan half a point at 15½ while B.C. Power lost ⅛ at 24 and Canadian Hydro Electric Preferred 3 points at 39. Southern Canada Power was narrowly higher.

Associated Breweries rose 1½ at 12, Western Grocers 3 at 35, Bell Telephone 1 at 120, and Canadian Cottons Preferred 2 at 100. On the other hand Dominion Glass Preferred eased 1¾ at 136½, Penman's 4 at 57, Canadian Bronze 1¾ at 26¾ and Consolidated Smelters 4¼ at 27¾.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—At the beginning of the final hour of trading, the stock market continued along the reactional lines patterned in early dealings to-day.

Although the general run of shares stiffened somewhat during the early part of the afternoon, losses ranging from minor fractions to a point were well scattered among leaders, including U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Consolidated Gas, J. I. Case, Du Pont, and American Telephone. U.S. Smelting retrieved about half of its early decline but Coca Cola extended its loss to more than 3 points. The late tone was easy. Sales aggregated 530,000 shares.

JOB SELLING RACKET.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 3 (C.P.).—Witnesses at the trial of Elias Veigh, 29, to-day testified they had paid from $60 to $75 each on the understanding they were to get jobs while Charles Prestwick, alias Farrell, 36, also testifying and at present waiting sentence on charges of operating an unlicensed employment bureau, revealed he received as much as $466 on a single day.

QUEBEC BONDS SOFTEN TO 10

Gatineau Issues Hold Up Better To-day Due to Hepburn Announcement.

TRADE NERVOUSNESS.

TORONTO, April 3. (CP)—Points were knocked off the Quebec Power Bonds in to-days trading on the Toronto bond market, losses reported till 12.30 ranging up to 10. As in yesterday's selling, the Gatineau issues held better than the others, due evidently to the announcement by Premier Hepburn that in revising the power contracts, any needed power would be taken from the Gatineau concern.

Trades to-day were at losses of 2 to 5 points for the Gatineaus, three to five for the Beauharnois issues and 10 to 11 points for the MacLaren-Quebecs and the Ottawa Valley issue. The lower quotations on the latter issues were only nominal, firm bids failing to appear. Ottawa Valleys were offered yesterday at 80½ and to-day they were offered at 70½ with no bids.

Trade Nervous

The crash of power bond prices has caused nervousness throughout the bond trade and there is practically no business passing in the Provincial and Dominion issues even at the lower prices that are being quoted.

MacLaren-Quebec 5½ sold around the end of February at 103¾ compared with to-day's offerings at 60, the Gatineaus around 95 to 98 compared with to-day's prices of 60 to 80 and the Beauharnois 5½'s at 103 against to-day's price of 76 to 78. The Beauharnois 5's are off from 68 to 29.

MINES STRONG LATE TRADING

Secondary Gold Issues and Silvers Trade in Better Volume During Afternoon.

SENIOR YELLOWS QUIET.

TORONTO, April 3.—(CP)—Following a ragged morning performance the mining section of the Toronto Exchange showed a little more action towards the end of the session with prices displaying more firmness. Senior golds were unable to ginger up any but secondary gold issues and the silvers traded in a better volume and prices were holding around the previous closing level.

Heavy trading in San Antonio was the feature of the medium price golds and the price closed at 3.50 for a net gain of 10 cents.

Bralorne, Dome, Pioneer, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves eased down 10 to 25 cents each and Hollinger held unchanged. Little Long Lac dropped 35 cents to 5.50 and recessions of 2 to 3 cents were boarded for Sylvanite, Pickle Crow, Central Patricia, and McWatters.

Noranda, Hudson Bay and Sherritt had losses ranging up to 50 cents. Silvers were mainly unchanged.

PAYMASTER CONSOLIDATED MINES

QUERY: What information have you on Paymaster Consolidated Mines? Do you consider the shares in the company a fair speculation at current market prices?—L.B.N.

ANSWER: Paymaster Consolidated Mines was incorporated in 1930 and got into production again last October and since then has been giving a good account of itself. To the end of 1934 production amounted to $69,522 from 13,824 tons of ore treated. This is equivalent to an average recovery of just over $5 per ton. The last report was that the mill was treating 140 tons daily.

The present company represents a consolidation of several old properties, including the West Dome Lake and United Mineral Lands. Both properties are equipped with a mill, the latter with a 500 ton plant. The unfortunate history of the predecessor companies is not a true guide to the merits of the property. Not only has the present price of gold greatly enhanced the outlook, where the old companies failed to show profitable operation, but new ore has been found in the vicinity of the Heinze shaft. This shaft is adjacent to the Dome Mine boundary, the easterly boundary of the company's extensive holdings embracing in all some 2,000 acres. Developments have been carried to a depth of 1325 feet on the Dome Lake property, while the Heinze shaft is about 425 feet deep. The statement of ore reserves in September last was 6,000 tons on the dump, averaging .1 ounces of gold per ton and 35,000 tons, averaging about .315 ounces in the Heinze shaft area.

The last financial statement of the company, dated June 30 last, showed current assets of $56,391 and current liabilities of $7,373.

A phase of the company's corporate structure that has not been favorably regarded is its high capitalization, namely 9,000,000 shares authorized, of which 6,316,318 were outstanding in November last. This is not an alarming feature, as the shares at present prices are apparently discounting this high capitalization. Having regard for all phases of the companys' activities, it would seem to indicate that at the current market prices it offers speculative attractions in an undertaking that might easily assume considerably more important proportions.

Ontario Planning Hatchery For Trout

TORONTO, April 3.—(CP)— The Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries this year plans establishing a trout fish hatchery and a commercial fish hatchery in Ontario but as yet he could give no idea as to the location, Provincial Secretary H. C. Nixon today told a Grey county deputation which asked a trout hatchery be placed in Sullivan township.

Grey county, however, will be one of the first places considered, continued Mr. Nixon after Dr. Norman Douglas of Owen Sound had placed before him proposals for establishing the hatchery at a spring 13 miles south of Owen Sound.

Along with D. J. Taylor, the provincial secretary received the deputation which included: Dr. Norman Douglas, Frank Slater, Hamilton Merritt and D. A. Christie, all of Owen Sound; Quay Kilbourne and J. J. Tyson, Wiarton, and C. H. Witcher, Colboy's Bay.

LOSSES GENERAL IN INDUSTRIALS

Bell Telephone, Consumers Gas, Page Hersey Work Higher in Late Trading.

VOLUME LITTLE BETTER.

TORONTO, April 3.—(C.P.)—The old familiar sag was still operating on the industrial market of the Toronto Exchange to-day, losses showing in practically all groups at the close. A few isolated points of strength appeared, two utilities, Bell Telephone and Consumers Gas working higher and Page Hersey in the steels also advancing, but 75 per cent of the listing recorded declines. Volume was a little better than the recent average.

Recessions of ⅛ to ¼ were boarded for Nickel, Brazilian, Ford A and C.P.R. and Smelters dropped 1.

Distillery and Oil issues weakened about the same fractions, only Imperial of the leaders holding level. Consumers Gas improved a point. All the Quebec power issues eased down. In the foods the features on the weak side were the Westons issues, the common dropping 2½ and the preferred ¼. Some of the canners issues, Canada Bread, Canada Packers and Loblaw B trailed to lower levels.

FINANCIAL NEWS BRIEFS

CENTURY BREWING EARNED $1.99 A SHARE IN 1934

Century Brewing Association, Seattle firm in which Associated Breweries of Canada, Ltd., holds a substantial interest, reports net profits of $103,403 for 1934, after writing off all initial and organizing expenses, income and property taxes and other charges, including $70,000 for depreciation. This was the first full year of operation.

Profits were equivalent to $1.99 per share on the basis of the 51,888 shares outstanding at the end of 1934.

The company spent $103,000 in advertising during the year, the initial outlay being greater than will be necessary in subsequent years.

Working capital is reported at $108,860, exclusive of an investment in Olympia Brewing Company which has an indicated market value of over $220,000.

The Olympia company is reported to have shown a substantial surplus for the year, but that this will be retained as working capital with the result that there will be no immediate return in the form of dividends to the Century Brewing Association.

The Century Brewing Association reports that the volume of business has been well maintained through the winter months, but in order to supply the increased demand in the summer, additional storage will be necessary at an estimated cost of $115,000. In view of this expansion, the company decided to defer payment of dividends at the present time. Officials expect that summer business will restore the working capital position and warrant adoption of a dividend policy.

CORPORATION STATEMENTS—1935 STYLE

In years past it was considered a cause for much pardonable pride when a corporation was able to report a favorable earnings showing. In particular to show income at or close to a new record in a company's history was hailed as a creditable achievement of the management and the attendant publicity was limited only by the relative articulation of public relations departments.

However, corporations are now beginning to realize that the present order warrants great restraint on optimism. Logically, one would expect that an attempt would be made to emulate the glowing publicity stunts of the various branches of the U.S. Government purporting to prove the progress of the New Deal. But the contrary is proving the better part of wisdom. Several companies did clothe the bare 1934 earnings statistics with some rather cheerful interpretations and made favorable comparisons with other periods considered satisfactory. And these corporations learned to their great regret of an innumerable amount of isolated political subdivisions which seized upon the statements as an opportunity to replenish exchequers by levying discriminatory taxes on their earnings.

Evidence are coming to hand that some corporations are profiting by the experiences of their less guarded contemporaries. One of the large chain store units made the best showing in its history last year; yet the press releases were intentionally phrased in generalities which offered no definite clue as to actual results unless the statistics were studied. One of the large metal companies in the United States was also quite moderate in commenting about highly satisfactory 1935 operations in the present period of profitless-prosperity. In no instances were deliberate understatements made; yet the circumscribed manner of the reports was in striking contrast to the treatment of former periods.

NICKEL FOR SURPLUS FUNDS

At a well-known club in Toronto the other day, a discussion took place on what is one to do with his money under conditions as they are at present. Where is it safe from inflation, deflation and such like? A very shrewd business man spoke up immediately and stated that he had been faced with a similar task and after seeking all sorts of advice from various quarters, he decided that a committment in International Nickel would be as good as any place. Continuing, this executive pointed out that the shares are listed on four important markets and therefore, the holder of Nickel can secure London, New York or Canadian funds should he wish to dispose of his shares at any time. As a protection against inflation or deflation, these common shares should be a safe repository for funds. Any general tendency towards inflation would likely stiffen coppen prices and provide the company with a substantial income from this source, as copper production has not been very profitable in recent months, due to low world prices.

NATIONAL BREWERIES

The financial statement of National Breweries Limited for the year 1934 will be mailed to shareholders on Tuesday next. As previously stated by Financial Service, it will make cheerful reading for the shareholders. This company has been able to pay the regular dividend of $1.60 a share on the common stock right through the depression, at the same time increase the net working capital position by over $1,000,000 during the last four years. The National Breweries' plants are modern in every respect. The shareholders should reap a further benefit before long.

CANADIAN BUSINESS

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics states that the marked gain in productive operations was the chief feature of the Canadian economic situation in February. As the high points of 1934 were exceeded the level of February after season adjustments, was more satisfactory than in any month since March, 1931. Following the marked gain in January, the further betterment in the month under review, contributes to an excellent showing for the elapsed portion of the present year. The gain in productive enterprise is the most tangible evidence of the continuance of the recovery. The index of the physical volume of business based on 45 factors adjusted for seasonal tendencies was 100.6 in February against 97.5 in the preceding month.

UNIFORM SALE PLAN ASSURED to retailers be reduced from 67 to 65 cents per bag.

Power To Fix Retail Price

"The retail price was set voluntarily at the request of the board," Chairman L. F. Burrows explained. "There is authority in the Marketing Act to fix the retail price, but it has not been invoked. However, the request of the Toronto dealers will be considered later to-day, also the two-cent reduction in the wholesale price asked."

The board chairman had no comment on the Toronto dealers' proposal that farmers' sales to retailers be restricted to 10-bag lots on any one day.

Underselling on the Toronto market by truckers would also be discussed by the board, Mr. Burrows added. Ninety per cent of potatoes moving to the Toronto market at present were carried by the truckers. The board was taking steps to see its regulations to prevent "bootlegging" below the minimum wholesale price would be strictly enforced."

Two Cars Collide Both Are Overturned

Two cars upset after a crash at the corner of Charlotte and Reid streets at 11.30 this morning but drivers and passengers escaped injury.

A coupe owned by Frank Cheyne of North Monaghan and driven by his niece, Beryle Cheyne, was proceeding west on Charlotte past the intersection when the collision occurred. Rufus Newbatt of Bancroft was driving a light touring car south on Reid street and is alleged to have entered Charlotte street without coming to a stop. His vehicle hit the rear end of the Cheyne car and both rolled over.

Passengers and drivers crawled from the cars uninjured but badly shaken. With the top completely crushed, the Newbatt car showed most evidenceof damage. A large crowd of noon-hour pedestrians and motorists was attracted to the scene.

yesterday, but the rules of the House prevented it," said the Premier.

Protests From Quebec

QUEBEC, April 3 (CP)—A group of bondholders and investors of this city and district to-day forwarded to Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn a strong protest in the form of a telegram against the former's contract cancellation bill which has just been placed before the Ontario Legislature.

The message of protest charges the Power Contract Bill would abrogate one of the fundamental principles of social justice and of Canadian jurisprudence. The sanctity of contract, it says, is in jeopardy and the proposed act is contended to be discriminatory.

The telegram, signed jointly by J. A. Lageux and Adrian Law is an aftermath of a meeting of financial groups held yesterday to study the proposed Ontario legislation. Copies of the protest are being forwarded to Dominion Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec.

Probe Under Way

TORONTO, April 3 (C.P.) — The Ontario Securities Commisson to-day opened an investigation into charges in the Legislature of W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto Parkdale) there had been a leak of information that enabled a number of brokerage houses to unload their Quebec power bonds some time before the official announcement of cancellation was made.

"The 59 dealers of the Investment Dealers' Association are to be interviewed," said J. M. Godfrey, K.C., Ontario Securities Commissioner. "The department's investigators were ordered to start immediately and J. J. Kingsmill, secretary of the Association, is co-operating with the Commission."

Commissioner Godfrey said if the department obtained evidence that anyone sold a number of bonds within recent date, he would be brought before the commisison and questioned under oath to see if there had been a leak.

DO NOT AFFORD

tions brought from Sir John nothing more than the assertion his answer was correct.

Hitler's peace proposals were revealed during the discussions on the proposed Eastern European Security pact—the Eastern Locarno to which Germany, and Poland, in a lesser way, object.

Refuses To Join Pacts.

Germany then declared her unwillingness to join either the eastern pact with mutual guarantees, or the central European pact containing a proviso for non-interference in Austria. She was also not prepared to consider returning to the League under present conditions.

Germany proposed, however, a series of bi-lateral non-aggression pacts with her neighbors, except Lithuania. If necessary she was prepared to embody these non-aggression pacts in a single document and couple the pledge of non-aggression with a further pledge not to give economic and financial assistance to an aggressor.

She has already concluded non-aggression pacts with Poland, Russia and Czechoslovakia and all the Baltic states except Lithuania. Under Hitler's scheme this system would be reaffirmed and extended.

Debate Barred

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald again rejected a request the House of Commons be afforded opportunity for a debate on the arms situation.

Winston Churchill asked the Prime Minister whether in view of Sir John's revelation he would provide an opportunity for a debate "on these urgent and serious matters," but Mr. MacDonald said the state of Parliamentary business was so pressing at the moment the Government was unable to set aside any special day for discussion. He suggested the opportunities might arise for questions on motions or adjournment from time to time.

Mr. Churchill retorted Sir John's statement was a direct contradiction of previous Government statements on the relative strength of British and German air forces, which he had previously challenged, and said special arrangements should be made for the Commons to take stock of the existing situation.

George Lansbury, Labor Opposition Leader, suggested a discussion might be arranged on certain financial votes without providing any special day, and Mr. MacDonald said he would consider this suggestion.

HAVELOCK RELIEF RECIPIENTS WARNED THEY MAY LOSE AUTOS

Council Plans Organization Meeting For Silver Jubilee Celebration.

WOOD CUTTING HALTED.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, April 3.—Recipients of relief in the village are likely to find themselves without their automobiles if they continue abusing the priviledge extended them in this respect, it was intimated at the regular meeting of the town council held in the town-hall Monday evening.

All members were present with the exception of Councillor F. J. Hooper, absent on account of illness. It was made known the parcels of property were all bought by Reeve Leeson at the statutory land sale held during the past month.

Under communications the department in Toronto advised the council to observe the Silver Jubilee of Their Majesties on May 6. The Provincial Secretary suggested a children's sport program.

Advice in connection with the newly appointed medical relief committee for Peterborough county was duly received. The various officers were named and the third day in each month is the day set for meetings.

Mr. G. N. Gordon had written the clerk in connection with the arrears of some village property. Nicholls' Hospital wrote concerning village's responsibility of a patient recently treated there. McQuinn sisters, professional entertainers wrote the council in regarding entertainments on commission basis. Letters were read from the Club Film service who recently rented the hall for a couple of "talkies". Canadian Performing Rights Society warned the council about infringments of 1931 Copyright Act. They said they would have an inspector make a visit to check on the works used by them and not permit the use of same without a fee.

On motion of Councillors Seeney and Spencer the correspondence as read was ordered fyled.

Jubilee Arrangements

Rev. P. M. Coquhoun asked the council to assume full responsibility of their Majesties' Silver Jubilee observance in the village. The ministry will help in any way they can, but would like the reeve to be chairman and suggested Mr. Lancaster be asked to speak and that John Kinniard would be their choice of marshall for the parade. Rev. E. W. G. Worall will be the clergymen's representative in future. It was decided to leave the calling together of the various organizations to Mr. John Kinnaird. A public meeting will be held to plan for the observance in May.

Michael Isaacs asked permission to place some shade trees along the boulevard opposite his property on Oak street near the corner of George. On motion of Councillors Gordon and Seeney his request was granted.

Relief Officer J. Kinnaird reported a lower relief bill for past month. In all $1,051.90 was spent. The officer asked all those on relief to turn in all white vouchers on hand at the end of each month to facilitate the village's bookkeeping.

On motion of Councillors Spencer and Seeney the report was accepted. C. F. Roberts, chief constable reported a garage broken into with the provincial force being called to assist. Four township youths were arrested on Ottawa street for being drunk and disorderly early Sunday morning. He laid the charges. $1.99 was the total relief bill for transients during the month. The chief remarked the good sized wood-pile and buck-saw proved excellent deterrents.

Tax collector Roberts reported an improved condition of tax arrears, which he was hopeful of rounding up at an early date. 1934 arrears stand at $2,765.72; while all previous years total $3,297.65. Motion of Councillors Spencer and Gordon the report was received and time for returning roll extended until April 30.

Trustee Chas. Taylor of the village school board waited on the council for the free use of the hall April 10.

Ratepayers Session

The East Peterborough Trustees and Ratepayers' Association will hold a district meeting here on that day and he pointed out it was in the interest of the village to have the members meet here. He added the provincial secretary of the organization would be present. On motion of Councillors Seeney and Spencer the rate for the association will remain unchanged at $3 for the council chambers. Reeve Leeson said he was not in favor of establishing a troublesome precedent by allowing the free use of the hall for outside parties.

On motion of Councillors Seeney and Spencer the revised list of accounts for the month was ordered paid. Work on the village's woodlot ceahed Saturday, when the government stopped paying their share. The council figure they have 800 cords out and 200 in the woods. Mr. Leeson asked if there was any one in the audience who would take the job of "bobbing" the remaining wood to the road. Those present were dubious until they look the situation over and they will accompany the reeve and measure the wood some time this week.

A wood shed was talked of for the town hall, but nothing done.

Twenty-eight men left for the provincial highway camps on Sunday. They were married for the most part.

On motion of Councillors Seeney and Spencer the cutting of wood will be discountinued for the present.

On motion of Councillors Spencer and Gordon the chimney on the west side of the town-hall will be repaired immediately.

A motion by H. Gordon and A. Spencer said the council would not pay for any further transportation to the relief projects.

A motion by Spencer and Gordon appointed Mr. Kinniard to handle the correspondence in connection with the jubilee committee organization, April 8 at 8 p.m. in the town hall.

On motion of Spencer and Gordon the reeve will see that Chief Roberts gets a new summer uniform.

A letter of sympathy was ordered written T. P. Lancaster on account of his recent relapse due to overwork following his recent operation.

To avoid interfering with the king's celebration, May 6th the council decided to adjourn to meet May 1st.

WINDSOR GIVES GERMAN FILM HOT RECEPTION

WINDSOR, Ont., April 2 (C.P.).—Against the combined might of members of the Lengue Against War and Fascism, the Veterans' Open Forum and the Communist Party, an attempt of German Fascists to show a film, "Germany Awakens," developed into a bedlam.

Six hundred men, women and children jammed their way into the little frame building known as the Polish Hall, last night, and when the curtain swung back to reveal the speaker's rostrum decorated with a huge swastika, bedlam broke loose.

Led by Reg Morris, ex-alderman of East Windsor, a group of men, said to be Communists and war veterans, rose as one from the audience and headed stagewards. A brief flurry of fisticuffs ensued with six German patriots, and the group from the audience swept upon the platform and tore down the swastika emblem.

Obituary

MATTHEW J. BELL

LAKEFIELD, April 3 (Examiner Correspondence) — The funeral of the late Matthew J. Bell took place from the residence of William Tully, Reid street (his grandson) on Thursday afternoon with a large attendance of friends, relatives and neighbors. Rev. W. B. Walker officiated and paid a tribute to the sterling qualities of the deceased.

Mr. Bell had lived at Selwyn for most of his life and was well known in the community.

Interment was made in Lakefield cemetery.

The flowers on the altar of St. John's Church on Sunday were placed there by Mrs. Le Feire in memory of her mother, Mrs. F. J. Tate.

MARY SULLIVAN

DOWNEYVILLE, April 3. (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Miss Mary Sullivan was held from the family residence, Lot 19, Con. 12, Emily, Monday morning, to St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, where Requiem High er McFadden who also preached the funeral sermon.

In the course of his remarks the reverend gentleman made reference to the life of the deceased who was taken from a happy home, a happy family and from a happy community and her untimely death at such an early age has cast a gloom over the whole parish and she will be greatly missed by a large circle of relatives and friends.

The funeral was one of the largest ever at Downeyville and the church was filled, showing the high esteem in which she was held. The pall-bearers were six brothers of deceased—Robert, Thomas, Austin, Stephen, Urban and Albert.

The late Mary Sullivan was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, was born here 28 years ago. Deceased was ailing about three weeks and it was thought at first her illness was not serious. She was removed to St. Josephs Hospital, Peterborough, and her death came as a shock to her friends and relatives on Saturday, March 30.

Left to mourn her loss, besides her sorrowing parents, are seven brothers—John, Robert, Thomas, Austin, Stephen, Urban and Albert and one sister, Lucy, teacher at Kirkfield.

MRS. ELIZABETH ROWE.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 3.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Word received from Toronto, tells of death of Mrs. Elizabeth Rowe at the age of 83 years, on Monday, April 1st. Mrs. Rowe was the widow of the late William Rowe.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday, April 3rd, at 2 p.m. Services will be conducted at Zion church, Seymour East. Interment will be made in Zion cemetery.

BUDGET MAKING SLOW PROGRESS

scribing him as speaking for St. James Street and the big interests, rather than for the Western farmer.

Dumping Only Alternative.

The only alternative to the McFarland policy was dumping Canadian wheat on world markets in competition with Argentine wheat which was selling 20 cents a bushel lower. Canadian farmers would not appreciate the benefit of a policy which would mean 20 cents a bushel less for their wheat. They were hard enough up now without being sacrificed to suit the convenience of financial interests, the Western Conservatives contended.

A voice for the farmer was also raised by a member from Quebec, Dr. F. H. Pickel of Brome-Missisquoi. He blamed many of the farmers' troubles on interference from Government, Provincial, municipal, and Federal. Laws and regulations were made for the benefit of the middleman and the consumer at the expense of the farmer, he said.

Frivolous Youth

Dr. Pickel also had ideas about the cause of the troubles of the world, attributing them to the automobile and the rebellious and frivolous spirit of modern youth. He admitted he might be accused of becoming childish in his old age, but insisted on his opinion the disappearance of the old-fashioned virtues was in a good measure accountable for modern economic ills.

The automobile had created a speed-mad world and had sent men scrambling for money with which to buy gasoline in order to travel further and faster, all to little purpose.

Then young people of the country thought of nothing but sport, dancing and pleasure. They were the future rulers of the country and would read nothing but the sports page. The girls were as bad as the boys. Home life was gone.

"Who is going to discipline the youth of to-day?" asked the country doctor from rural Quebec. It would be a tremendous task. The churches might tackle it, but he doubted if they would succeed. And yet there was no hope for young people without discipline and the sense of responsibility which could only come from discipline.

Prices Dropped

Col. James Arthurs (Cons., Parry Sound), said the Liberals were wrong when they predicted high tariffs in 1930 and 1931 would raise consumer's prices. Textiles, for instance, dropped in price and in addition, millions of dollars was spent on new factories.

A general defence of the relief policy of the government was entered by Col. Arthurs. In 18 months 600,000 Canadians were taken off relief due to increase in business under the Government's impetus.

Other accomplishments of the Government listed by Col. Arthurs were the Ottawa Trade Agreements Bank Act Revision, Unemployment Insurance, Farm Loan and Marketing Legislation, and creation of an Economic Council.

Victor Porteous (Cons., North Grey) said the Bennett Government had passed more progressive legislation than any other Canadian administration in the same number of years.

He defended the Tariff record of the Government, claiming the imposts were used to correct trade balances. In 10 years Canada bought $2,500,000,000 more goods from United States than it sold. To overcome this import balance Canada was forced to borrow American money, he said.

Although he had no objection to helping the unemployed, Mr. Porteous said it should be kept in mind the unemployed were not the only or the greatest sufferers from the depression. Many of the unemployed enjoyed a higher standard of living than those who were paying taxes to support them. Many persons who had to carry water from wells for their own homes were compelled to pay taxes to provide running water in the home of the unemployed and persons who had no electric light were taxed to pay the light bills of the unemployed.

No Merger Backers

Frank White (Cons., London), said the propaganda of the Liberals in connection with amalgamation of the railways was without foundations. No member of the Conservative party and no member of the Government was on record in favor of amalgamation, and Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, had declared the Government opposed to a merger. On the other hand leading Liberals were on record in favor of amalgamation or unification. Yet Liberal spokesmen were trying to convince railways employees the Government was contemplating a merger.

Prices of farm implements were lower since the Bennett Government took office than under the Liberal regime, said Mr. White. This was a conclusive answer to the Liberal argument that the increased tariffs imposed since 1930 had been used by the manufacturers to raise prices.

Frank Boyes (Cons., East Middlesex) said he wanted to thank the Government for the erection of a public building in the City of London. He was pleased some repairs had been made to the Westminster Hospital but believed further should be made.

The East Middlesex member listed the tariffs on agricultural goods imposed under the Conservatives, claiming they had been beneficial to Canadian farmers and "I am sure they are thankful for it."

GENERAL ROSS GIVES STEVENS REFORM CREDIT

Kingston Member Ranks Ex-Minister and Bennett as Great Reform Leaders.

CHOICE OF CONVENTION.

Reform Measures Are Stevens' General Ross Tells Conservatives.

KINGSTON, April 3.—A crowded Conservative nominating convention last night ranked Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Hon. H. H. Stevens side by side as the two greatest reform leaders in Canada.

Unanimous Choice.

The convention gave a unanimous vote to Brig.-Gen. A. E. Ross to again head the Conservative ticket in the Kingston-Portsmouth riding in the forthcoming Federal general election.

General Ross pledged himself to the reform program of Prime Minister Bennett, but simultaneously he named Mr. Stevens as "the founder and father of these reforms," and heatedly declared that if his audience did not agree with him they could withdraw their support and he would withdraw his name from the convention.

Political significance was attached to his speech because it is the first time a Conservative member of Parliament has publicly linked the two names together as reform leaders—and publicly declared himself a supporter of one equally as much as the other, since the former Minister of Trade and Commerce withdrew from the Cabinet after a brisk exchange of words with Prime Minister Bennett on exactly that issue—reform.

"Those (reform) measures are his (Stevens), and I'm right behind those measures, whether they suit you or not," he declared.

Prime Minister Bennett has entered office and promised to blast a way into world markets for Canadian trade, and had promised to place Canadian workmen on an equal footing with competing nations.

"Now," he said, "you find him (Bennett) a man broken in health. He had the most castiron physique a man ever had. To-day it's nearly a wreck. Why? Because he used every ounce of power God gave him to help his country," General Ross said.

"I know there are men who wish to take away the credit from the founder and father of those reforms," he said, speaking again of Stevens. "There are some who think he'll withdraw and start another political movement, but he won't," he declared.

Large corporations and industries had taken advantage of the depression to "cheat and chisel." There were too many large salaries and there were too many girls working at $3 per week, he said.

Fair to Workingmen.

Now that was being changed, he said, but to whom was credit due? "To Mr. Stevens" he declared. "I am behind the working class whether it comes from Stevens or not," he continued. The Conservative Party had always been behind the working class, he stated, and had "always given them the fairest break."

Returning to the reform plans of his leader, Mr. Bennett, he pledged unqualified support to the eight-hour day legislation, the Minimum Wage Act, the Social Insurance Bill. "I stand for all that Mr. Bennett has done and for all that he will do," he stated.

Before the year was over the Conservative Party would have a definite policy which would place the youth of Canada in a better position, he said, referring to relief camps. "We have not adopted the right attitude toward youth," he declared.

"If I'm wrong, tell me, and I'll throw it (nomination) back, but if I'm right, tell me to go on," he said, and his listeners burst into cheers.

Critical of Liberal Leader.

Liberal Leader King, he charged, had done nothing but state "that he did not believe the reform measures could be enforced because of the B.N.A. Act," General Ross said. The next election would be "fought on books," he thought, and the Prime Minister's book would be the social legislation he placed on the statute books.

"But there's a greater book than all these—the Bible," the speaker said. When gravely serious affairs of men were being considered men turned to this book, he stated. That, he thought, had been responsible for the world's troubles—that men had not conducted their lives as honorably as they could have.

"I will support the reform measure that comes closest to this book," he said.

GOOD ATTENDANCE IN SEYMOUR SCHOOL

Routine Business Done at Regular Meeting of the Council.

Answers to Objections.

The new pact was expected in informed circles to answer objections raised especially by Poland and Germany to the Eastern Locarno agreement. It would provide an avenue for Germany's participation through her return to the League of Nations and also for conclusion of the proposed defensive air alliance under Geneva auspices.

With an immense link of defensive works France has written "they shall not pass" in steel and concrete along her eastern frontier. This system stretches from Switzerland to Luxemburg and includes a vest net work of deeply sunk chambers, galleries, magazines and communication lines, studded at intervals with heavily defended block houses.

Measures have been taken for maintaining French fortifications in a "perpetual state of defense" Premier Flandin told the chamber yesterday.

At the same time Air Minister Victor Denain revealed that France's air bombing fleet will be tripled, its cruising radius doubled and its newest squadron equipped with "a gun that foreign aviators will envy, making the force one of the most modern in the world."

5,038 Bottles Of Milk For School Children

CAMPBELLFORD, April 3 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — There were 5,038 bottles of milk delivered to the Public and Separate Schools between January 1 and March 29 by the Campbellford Rotary Club. Along with this donation, 135 pounds of biscuits were supplied by a private citizen, which helped to make a nice light lunch at recess time for numbers of the children.

Dr. Alban Girault, the French Specialist, says: "Almost unbelievable how well it works!"

Dr. Girault (at right) has been chief of clinic of the Paris Faculty of Medicine—is a leading member of distinguished medical societies. He says of this new yeast:

"I was amazed at its results when used on large numbers of patients. Instead of acting harshly and temporarily as cathartics do, it stimulates secretion of digestive juices and restores bowel action naturally... It is a notable discovery."

Patients in clinics are getting remarkable relief from this new food.

Almost unheard of..these results in a well-known hospital

IN important hospitals, astonishing results are being obtained with the new Fleischmann's Yeast: 93% of constipation cases corrected in one clinic; 83% of indigestion cases relieved in another; 89% of skin cases of digestive origin in another. Typical cases from one hospital's actual records are:—

CASE OF T. E. MAN. AGE 30. Suffered from chronic constipation. Used strong cathartics habitually. Tongue coated. Showed obvious symptoms of autointoxication from bowel wastes. Eating the new Fleischmann's Yeast daily gave improvement by the end of the first week of the treatment. Easier bowel movements daily without laxatives. Felt better.

CASE OF K. M. MAN. AGE 62. Had used strong cathartics and enemas for chronic constipation for 10 years. Discomfort from gas. Pale, weak. Was on a special diet. Treatment with Fleischmann's new Yeast improved his digestion. Patient was able to discontinue cathartics and enemas as a result. Feels better. No discomfort from gas. Now has natural daily bowel evacuations.

CASE OF K. Q. WOMAN. AGE 51. Had used strong cathartics for chronic constipation for years. Appetite poor. Frequent headaches. Very nervous. Complained of abdominal heaviness. After eating Fleischmann's new Yeast, appetite improved. After one week, had daily evacuations without cathartics. No more headaches. Nervousness relieved, no more discomfort from gas.

CASES OF CONSTIPATION

A new food supplies "Protective Substances" stomach and bowels need to work properly. No other food", even fruits and vegetables, supplies enough of them!

IT is a fact that hospitals are now correcting even stubborn cases of constipation—simply by adding one food to the diet!

For some time it has been known that "protective substances" were needed in the dipt for the stomach and bowels to work properly. When these "protective substances" are undersupplied—digestion slows up, people become constipated.

"Ordinary foods—even fruits and green vegetables—do not supply enough of these substances.

But one food now supplies them in abundance. This food is the new Fleischmann's Yeast—their richest source!

This new Fleischmann's Yeast builds up a healthier condition of the whole intestinal tract. As soon as it reaches the stomach, it starts an increased flow of digestive juices. It tones and strengthens nerves and muscles all through your intestines. Digestion improves. Bowels work better. The skin clears. Energy increases.

Begin to eat the new Fleischmann's Yeast. Eat it regularly—don't stop when you begin to feel better, but go on eating it! Do this for your own health.

THIS IS THE WAY YOU SHOULD EAT IT:

Eat 2 or 3 cakes of the new Fleischmann's fresh Yeast each day. People vary in the amount they need—some eat 4 or even 5 cakes a day, although 2 cakes daily are usually enough. A little experimenting will show you just the amount you need.

Eat it just plain, or dissolved in ½ glassful of water . . . or in milk, fruit juices or fountain drinks. Or spread on a cracker.

Eat it one-half hour before meals. This gives it a chance to start your digestive juices flowing before other food enters your stomach.

If you're taking cathartics, discontinue them gradually. As the new Fleischmann's Yeast strengthens your digestive system, you can stop using laxatives and cathartics entirely.

THE NEW FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST is a food—not a medicine. Eaten regularly, it can make and keep your bowels completely "regular."

You can get the new Fleischmann's Yeast at grocers, soda fountains, drug stores, restaurants—in the foil-wrapped cake with the yellow label.

TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION:

In recent tests, Fleischmann's new Yeast increased peptic activity up to 30%; speeded up stomach's "emptying time" 30%; increased gastric secretion and motility measurably.

Its most important substance resembles a digestive hormone. It also supplies four vitamins: Vitamin A, for health of epithelial tissue, B for proper nerve functioning, G for growth, and D to aid in assimilation of lime.

Constipation may be serious, especially if due to an organic disorder. To be cure, see a doctor.

YOUNG MAN IS GIVEN 5 YEARS

Son of British M. P. Guilty of Attempting to Kill Sweetheart.

THREW HER INTO RIVER.

LEEDS, England, April 3.—(C. P. Cable.)—Five years' penal servitude was the sentence passed at the Assizes to-day on John Russell, 28, son of Hamer Russell, M.P., convicted of the attempted murder of his fiance, Carol Leadbeater, by throwing her into the River Trent.

The prosecution alleged the couple had been secretly engaged for two years when last July, the girl being an expectant mother, they drove to the river side. The accused, he charged, led the girl down the bank and the next moment she found herself in the river. She shrieked for help but none was forthcoming, but fortunately she escaped drowning.

Suggested Suicide.

Russell sad the girl had suggested committing suicide and threw herself into the river. "I followed but got entangled in a branch and lost sight of her," he said. "I drove back to Sheffield."

The girl herself denied Russell had attempted to murder her and said she still loved h im and wanted to marry him.

Russell pleaded not guilty to the attempted murder charge, but pleaded guilty to two others, of aiding and abetting the performance of an illegal operation, for which he was sentenced to 12 and nine months, to run concurrent with the five year term.

The prisoner's father, a prominent industrialist and Conservative M.P. for four years, fainted in court when the verdict was pronounced.

Two different poses of June Clayworth

By LISBETH

The gay little nose veil which has been holding sway for the past season or two is no more the darling of fashionable headgear. Veils have grown "bigger and better"—or bigger anyway!

Look at the one worn here by June Clayworth, film star. It is long and circular, with large chenille dots in fanciful design on center and edge. The dots crown the top of the natty little crepe hat, which is suitable for afternoon or evening wear with the tailored white blouse and dark skirt.

A snappy little shepherd's check is used for the spectator sports suit worn by June at the left of our illustration. It has a decidedly trim and mannish air, and the jacket is worn over a smart satin blouse with pleated front and long, pointed collar and a tiny bow tie.

With this June wears a pert little hat of navy felt made of scalloped strips cleverly shaped by stitching.

These chic chapeaux are charming when worn by certain women, but more are wearing the brimmed models that point forward.

London formal daytime frocks are distinguished by slightly shorter skirts.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

The regular monthly meeting of Confederation Home and School Association was held in the school on Monday evening. There was a good attendance, presided over by the President Mrs. R. King. An invitation to attend an, open meeting and social evening at May's School the next evening Tuesday, was read by the secretary. The treasurer, Mrs. T. Monk reported regarding relief cases where shoes and stockings had been provided, and at the suggestion of the convenor of the visiting committee, it was decided to carry on the regular supply of milk for the present. Mrs. Hughes gave particulars of the quilt contest, the quilts to be judged on Saturday afternoon next at the Queen Mary School where they will be on display during the afternoon tea under the auspices of the Queen Mary Home and School Association. Mrs. F. White was appointed as representative to the monthly meetings of the Home and School Council. The president was nominated as delegate to attend the convention during Easter week. The matter of other members attending the convention in addition to the president was discussed, but left open until certain particulars have been ascertained by the secretary. An offer from Mrs. C. Wilson, King George street to kindly lend her home for a card party to augment the funds of the association, was accepted, the date set being Friday, April 26. The May meeting will take the form of an open evening, when reports of the convention will be read, and a varied program will include items by some of the school pupils. The attendance of mothers present showed that the banner would remain in Miss Garbutt's room.

Women Delegations Protest Nazi Seizure

LONDON, April 3 (CP-Havas)—A delegation representing seven member nations of the International Women's League for Peace and Freedom called yesterday upon Price Furst Von Bismarck, First Counsellor of the German Embassy here, to ask explanations of the alleged kidnapping by Nazis of Berthold Jacob, German journalist.

The Manchester Guardian said delegates represented Britain, United States, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, France, Sweden and Holland.

The Counsellor replied, according to The Guardian, he could give no further explanation than the declaration given to the press last week, stating Jacob had been arrested by German officials when found on German territory without correct papers.

AUSTRIA UNEASY OVER FRONTIERS

Fear German Versailles Action May Move Hungary to Seek Revisions.

WANTS MORE TERRITORY.

BY WADE WERNER

Copyright, 1935, by the A. P.

VIENNA, April 3.—Acute uneasiness over the integrity of Austria's eastern frontiers, resulting from Germany's sudden repudiation of the military restrictions of the Treaty of Versailles, was manifest today.

Anxiety prevailing in some quarters and officials say Germany, by "Wrecking" the structure of the Treaty of Versailles, has strengthened immensely Hungary's hopes of territorial revisions. Such hopes are most likely to be realized at the expense of Austria because Austria is the weakest of Hungary's neighbors.

By the peace treaty of St. Germain, which scissored the great empire of the Hapsburgs down to a little country of 6,500,000 in habitants, Austria lost large German-speaking districts to Czechoslovakia, but was given certain western districts of Hungary.

Hungarian patriots say they will never recognise the Versailles settlement as final.

"When the moment comes for the first practical move toward territorial revision," a prominent Austrian told the writer, "You will see Hungary will make it and Hungary will be forced by practical considerations to make it in the direction of least resistance."

Nepotism Charged Against Taschereau

QUEBEC, April 3 (C.P.).—There was conjecture among members of the Quebec Legislative Assembly as to whether or not Premier L. A. Taschereau would answer an assertion of Maurice Duplessis, K.C., Conservative Opposition leader, the province was "thoroughly sick and tired of the nepotism and family spirit evident in nearly every insurance transaction in which Premier L. A. Taschereau has a say."

Mr. Duplessis levelled his attack in the House last night when credits totalling $128,500 were voted for the Public Works Department.

The House in committee of the supply was considering an item of $32,000 for insurance on court houses and gaols. Mr. Duplessis supposed "most of this insurance has been given to Mr. Fages (Col. Cortland Fages), son-in-law of the Prime Minister."

CANADA'S BARLEY MART IN BRITAIN THREATENED

WINNIPEG, April 3.—(CP)— Unless immediate steps are taken to defeat arguments of United Kingdom malsters, Canada stands in danger of losing the market for malting barley she now holds, Dr. J. A. Anderson, division of biology, National Research Council, told the associate committee on grain research here today.

The barley Canada ships to the British market, the malsters there claimed, was deteriorating instead of improving. He said the malsters complained the barley was badly threshed, included damaged kernels and the buying of Canadian barley for malting purposes was a gamble.

SEATTLE PAYS HONOR TO BAHR

Great Crowd Welcomes Hero of 5 Year Reindeer Drive in Arctic.

Takes Losses Cheerfully.

SEATTLE, April 3 (A.P.).—With feet shuffling along in unaccustomed new, stiff shoes, and with a wide and toothless smile for his welcomers, Andrew Bahr, 61, has come home a hero to everyone but himself.

He is the Seattle Laplander who recently completed the epic feat of driving about 3 000 reindeer nearly 2,000 miles across Alaska, a five-year trek which ended when he delivered his herd to the Mackenzie delta for the Canadian Government.

Bahr will be honor guest to-day at the Knights of the Round Table luncheon and at the Chamber of Commerce "Andrew Bahr day" luncheon Friday. The little man was taken to a suite in an uptown hotel. He looked about it—then:

"Sho' makes a nice shelter cabin," he chuckled.

He looked at the crowd come to welcome him, blinked and grinned:

"Worse'n wolves at my heels."

"Everything's so warm down here," he remarked. "Warm and green."

In fact, on his return ti civilization, he found nothing frozen except his assets. But he was philosophical about the news his two apartment houses were sold by the sheriff March 16 to satisfy a $60,000 mortgage.

"Sometimes things happen to a man," said Bahr. He said he was getting old—"maybe 60, maybe 70. I don't know. I lose my teeth"—(as a matter of fact he was 61 in December). He said he would be quite content to stay in Seattle.

TIRED all the Time —she thought it was "NERVES"

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves", she thought—but it was her kidneys, the filters of her blood, that needed attention. Delay meant danger. She took Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. Restored to healthy, normal action, her kidneys soon cleared away blood impurities. Energy returned. Fatigue, headache, backache, and all signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. Again life seemed worth while.

"NOW IF I WROTE THE ADS . . ."

"HERE ARE SOME OF THE THINGS I'D ADVERTISE!"

"If I wrote the ads" says our advertising manager, "the first thing I'd do is find out what my customers need and tell 'em about it."

And what do people need and want in the merry month of March? Pul-lenty! we'd say, judging by the things that were sold last March with the sly help of an ad in The Peterborough Examiner. Easter bonnets marched out of the stores in droves. Splendiferous neckties melted off the racks like snowmen in July. Sunshine and spring breezes made gasoline sales go upsadaisy.

Far be it from us to tell you how to run your business. Deciding what to sell this March is your problem, not ours. But just to get you started we're showing you some of last year's "best sellers." Of course, you may have better ideas on what to advertise—we aren't merchandising sharks. But we do know you can't beat our ideas on where to advertise if it's quick sales and lots of them you're after.

Because people who make a habit of buying the best things and getting more for their money also make a habit of reading the Peterborough Examiner. And you just can't reach these buyers for so little expense in any other way but through The Peterborough Examiner. Use it anytime— most advertisers do. But for goodness' sake, do it now—for when spring is in the air, profits aren't far behind!

Bulbs and Seeds

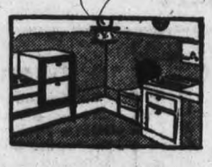
Everyone who digs isn't an earthworm. Examiner readers saw a few little ads last year and bought bulbs and seeds by the thousands—as well as garden tools to handle 'em with!

Curtains Laundered

Plenty of winter soot on the curtains in March. One bright laundry knew it and cleaned up last year with a twelve-inch ad. Who'll be first this year?

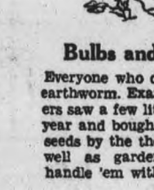
Used Cars

March is used car time! The whole family is aching for a bus. They'll be looking for one in The Examiner . . . and it might just as well be one of yours.



Decorating

Spring is the season for house cleaning—time for re-decorating the home inside and outside. An ad or two in The Examiner will prove a business puller.



Milk

Swellest Spring tonic in the world! You might shout the fact in a few Examiner ads and give your milk sales a boost.

Flowers

St. Patrick's Day means green carnations . . . and anyway it takes little argument to sell flowers in the Spring. A little ad did it last year...it will to-day.

Super-Service

New cars, old cars, used cars all need servicing in March. Try a "club offer" on washing, greasing, brakes, etc. . . . tell the world with an ad and then watch the business roll in!

Advertise in the EXAMINER
The Paper that's welcome at Home!

Furniture

People buy furniture all the time but Spring seems to speed up the process. Last year many a nifty chair and table was sold . . . and it didn't take much space to sell 'em either!

Dry Cleaning

Winter clothes are going to sleep . . . Spring togs are saying "Hello." Both kinds need cleaning . . . here's extra business for some bright advertiser.

STILL ON WATER AFTER 70 YEARS

Veteran Lake Boats Doing Their Bit as Navigation Opens on Lower Lakes.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 3 (CP)—Prospective early opening of navigation on the lower Great Lakes recalls that two ships, both about 70 years old, are still doing duty in, out and around this lake port.

The steamboat Kingston, which carried the Prince of Wales (afterwards King Edward VII) on his trip from this city to Belleville and Toronto in the year 1860 is still in service, having of late years been part of the wrecking outfit of the Donnelly Company. It has been moored in Portsmouth Bay, many years ago the scene of great marine activity and vessel construction.

Nearly three-quarters of a century has elapsed since the eldest son of Queen Victoria visited Kingston, one-time capital of Upper and Lower Canada. One who when a schoolboy helped to welcome the prince is still active in Kingston, Captain James Dix, at the age of 85.

The Kingston, formerly known as the Cornwall, was one of the former Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company's passenger vessels. In 1860 she was regarded as the latest thing in steamboat construction. Along with the old steamer Passport, she was owned by the Hon. John Hamilton of Kingston, grandfather of Mrs. E. J. B. Pense of this city. The vessel ran from Hamilton to Toronto, Kingston and Montreal, carrying passengers and freight and stopping at various ports en route. Her commander in 1860 was Captain Clark Hamilton, son of the owner.

Still in service also is a steamboat built in 1866, seven or eight years after the Kingston entered the lake and river service. She is the Britannic, running between Montreal and Kingston and which is in fine condition after nearly 70 years on the water. The Britannic is an Old Country-built boat and one of the few side-wheelers now seen in Ontario waters.

In May, 1927, an English counsel for the Grand Trunk stockholders filed a claim in Ottawa but it was not entertained. He returned to London where it was said legal proceedings would be initiated. Hon. Charles A. Dunning, then Dominion minister of railways, in confirming the report of the visit of the stockholders' representative to Ottawa declared: "The arbitration body found the stock was worthless. If any action is possible it must be against the directorate of the Grand Trunk who negotiated the sale and not against the government."

Finally Mr. Lovibond appealed to the courts. At the hearing before the Privy Council the other day the petitioner was represented by Wilfred Greene and Cyril Radcliffe. W. N. Tilley of Toronto, appeared for the respondents, the Grand Trunk, the Canadian National and the attorney-general of Canada. Mr. Tilley was assisted by Sir William Jowett, former attorney-general of the United Kingdom.

A. PARTRIDGE WILL HAVE ACTIVE POST

New Vice-President of Goodyear Tire Co. Comes From Great Britain.

Active participation of Mr. A. G. Partridge, recently appointed Vice-President of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Canada, Limited, in the management of the Company is announced by President C. H. Carlisle in a letter to shareholders accompanying dividend cheques for the first quarter of 1935. Mr. Carlisle's letter reads:

"One of the essentials of permanent success of a business is competent management. Every important position should be fortified by two or more persons.

"Prior to January, 1933, I held the position of President and General Manager. At our annual meeting in January, 1933, Mr. R. C. Berkinshaw was appointed General Manager. He had training in the Company for fourteen years. During his period of two years of General Manager he has been successful in his work and has the entire support of the organization.

"At our annual meeting on March 4, 1935, Mr. A. G. Partridge, of Wolverhampton, England, was elected a member of your Board and later was elected Vice-President of your Company. Mr. Partridge will become immediately active in the affairs of the Company. He is a man of exceptional business ability and has had an extensive experience in the rubber industry, at one time Vice-President and General Sales Manager of The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio. He has been for the past six years Managing Director of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company (Great Britain) Limited. I consider the management of your Company is now as strong as its financial and trade position. I frequently called to your attention as shareholders the opportunities which you have of increasing the sales of the products of your Company, aiding the Company by building goodwill and offering constructive criticism and suggestions to your management. We have 3,498 Canadian shareholders, a powerful, potential sales force. Would you ascertain if you are wearing Goodyear rubber heels on your shoes or if you are wearing rubber soles on your shoes are they Goodyear? If not, upon your request your merchant will supply them. We are coming into the Garden Hose season. Would it not be well for you to ascertain if the hose you are using is Goodyear? And if you have to make a purchase of hose this spring to see that you purchase Goodyear hose? Examine your car or tires to see that they are equipped with Goodyear tires. In two respects it is your interest to do these things. First, you are getting the best rubber products of their kind that can be made, and secondly, it will be creating additional business for your Company. You could bring these matters with mutual profit to the attention of your friends and acquaintances. Goodyear prices are always competitive and in twenty-five years the products of your Company have been proven on the Canadian market."

IRELAND OPEN FOR NEW TRADE

England Included if Deals on Basis of Equality Says Dublin's Lord Mayor.

AT TORONTO CLUB.

TORONTO, April 2 (CP)—Ireland is anxious to trade dollar for dollar with other countries—England not excluded—if she may do so on a basis of equality Rt. Hon. Alfred Byrne, T.D., Lord Mayor of Dublin, said in an address here today.

Mayor Byrne spoke bitterly of the line dividing North and South Ireland as a permanent barrier against peace and prosperity while it was the desire of the whole of the Irish people to see that barrier removed. The Lord Mayor was addressing a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club.

Ireland, he said, would welcome any influence which would bring the people from the North and South together voluntarily in a spirit of co-operation. Such an influence might come from an outside country.

"The Irish people have the wish to meet with and deal with all countries on a basis of equality," the Lord Mayor said. "But only on those terms will they deal with any country. When they feel that is theirs they will enter into trade agreements with their nearest neighbor—England—and will show nothing but good feeling and good will."

SHOWED BATH MILK INSTEAD OF SALTS

Modern Ideas Given an Airing at London Olympia Recently.

LONDON, April 3 (C.P.)—Modernity was the keynote at Olympia Exhibition. Science and modern invention were applied in a thousand ways, such as the production of streamlined baby carriages, mass produced tennis racquets, bath milk instead of bath salts, non-spillable face-powder boxes.

An interesting stand was that of the Lancashire Indian Cotton Committee showing yarns and fabrics as well as garments of Indian cotton. The committee promoted the consumption of Indian cotton by the British cotton industry, thus fulfilling a promise made to India as part of the agreement made at Ottawa between India and the United Kingdom.

Bridgenorth

The sale at Mr. Warren Nicholas of Smith, which was held on Thursday, March 28, was considered a very good success. The sale consisted of farm stock and implements. Horses ranging from $75 to $85; milch cows from $25 to $50, and the young cattle were all prices. The implements sold very good, practically a new spreader going for $90. There was a very large crowd. Mr. Miles of Lakefield was the auctioneer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mann were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pratten in Peterborough on Sunday.

Major Shouch of Toronto will be the special speaker at Gilmour Church on Sunday morning, April 28th.

Brighten up with ALL-BRAN!

You've had days when you've felt discouraged and low. Nothing seemed to go right. Frequently these dreary days can be traced to common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in your meals.

This ailment may cause headaches and loss of energy. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and food-iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables. It is gentle—and often more effective. Isn't this natural food better than taking potent medicines—often harmful?

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Brighten days with ALL-BRAN! Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

PRIZE LIST NEARS COMPLETION

Hoping to be able to submit the prize list to the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa for its approval during the next few days, the Exhibition board's prize committee is proceeding swiftly with its work. A number of meetings have been held during the past month. The lists for heavy horses, beef cattle, dairy cattle and sheep and swine were gone over at recent meetings of the groups and other sections are now being shaped up. Four meetings of different groups were held last Saturday.

LANTERN SLIDES SHOWN

Lantern slides of the life of Christ by Hoffman were shown in St. John's Parish Hall last evening under the auspices of the Teen Age girls' group of the Women's Auxiliary. The program included a reading by David Melton, vocal solo by Wallace Crouter with Miss Bacon as piano accompanist, and piano solo by Grace Marshall. The president Rosamond Castle expressed the meeting's thanks to those who had aided in making the program so successful.

TEACHING STAFF UNDER PRINCIPAL IS STRONG ONE

Inspector Makes His Report to the Board of Education.

WRITING BELOW AVERAGE.

Classes Are Large But Equal Distribution of Pupils.

Highly satisfactory conditions in general in the academic department at the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School were indicated in a report received from the Department of Education by the Board of Education last night. Particular commendation for Principal H. R. H. Kenner and his staff was included in the report.

Compiled as the result of an inspection by A. G. Hooper during February, the report read in part, "The teaching staff is a strong one. Most of the lessons observed were good and some were excellent. I have discussed the work of each teacher with the principal who is well informed as to the capabilities of his staff.

"Principal Kenner continues to direct the affairs of his school in a capable manner. He has the loyal co-operation of a capable teaching staff, some of whom are outstanding in their departments.

"The well conducted daily morning assembly is a commendable feature of the life of the school. The usual extra-curriculum activities are carried on under competent supervision. The general tone of the school is decidedly good. The work of the classrooms is progressing favorably and I see no reason why the school should not enjoy another successful year.

"The enrolment shows a slight increase over that of last year. There are 553 pupils for a staff of 17 teachers—an average of about 32 pupils per teacher. While nearly all the classes are large, there is a fairly equal distribution of pupils among them."

Writing Poor

The inspector pointed out that there has been no change in accommodations since the last inspection, and therefore the former grading will be continued. He commented on "very satisfactory" additions to the school library. An improvement in spelling in the first year classes since the last inspection has brought the standard up to the Provincial, he wrote. Reading standards are good but the school is below the Provincial average in writing.

Re-appointment of V. J. McElderry, K.C., as representative of the Separate School Board in the Board of Education was announced in a communication from the Separate School Board. Mr. McElderry was welcomed to further service by Chairman Dr. A. Moir.

Reporting that there are still many cases of throat infecion in the public schools, Dr. A. W. McPherson recommended that children in the primer grades with coughs be excluded immediately on appearance of the coughs as a precaution against possible general danger.

Whooping Cough

The doctor's report indicated five cases of whooping cough in the schools last month with one case of scarlet fever and two of measles. A total of 318 children were examined and 40 defect slips were issued. The classification of defects in part was: Enlarged tonsils, 10; enlarged thyroids, 10; defective vision, 9; and malnutritoin, 4. Tonsils of four children were removed and vision of eight was corrected.

Attendance at the Collegiate and Vocational School during last month was reported as 97 per cent with an average daily attendance of 951 compared to the enrolment of 981. Attendance at Prince of Wales, Central, King Edward and Queen Alexandra schools averaged 91 per cent while 90 per cent was the average for Queen Mary, King George and South Central schools.

A committee was chosen to represent the Board at the meeting regarding jubilee celebrations in the Council Chamber Friday evening.

Weddings

PHILLIPS—STONES.

A quiet wedding took place at All Saints' church, Peterborough, on Tuesday, April 2nd, at 2 o'clock, when Lillian Amy Stones, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to William Barrett Phillips, late of Liverpool, England, Rev. THIEVES ABANDON GOODS

TORONTO.—Apparently frightened by the approach of Police Constable Tremble thieves to-day abandoned $1,500 worth of clothing in the St. James clothing store here and escaped through a rear door. The thieves broke into a warehouse directly above the store and cut their way into the store through the flooring.

Dance Fever

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 3—(CP)—Dances at Massachusetts Institute of Technology are fast becoming more than just dances—ask the girl who attends one.

In the past few years the Tech students have devised numerous scientific tests, upon the results of which they base the admission price for the proms.

For the spring informal dance next week, they have invented a "precisithermocalorimeter," an instrument to measure the "spring fever temperature" of the young women who will attend. The students escorting girls with a "high spring fever rating," will be charged lower rates.

Obituary

ISAAC L. KERR.

Isaac Langrell Kerr, a former resident of Bemfort, passed away at his home in Lawson, Saskatchewan, on March 19. Although he had been in failing health for some time, he succumbed unexpectedly to a paralytic stroke.

Mr. Kerr was the youngest son of the late Edward Kerr of South Monaghan. He farmed near Bemfort and engaged in farming in the West after his removal to the Lawson district twenty-eight years ago. Lately he had been in retirement.

Three sons, Norman, Raymond and Scott, and a daughter, Margaret, all residing in West, survive. His wife predeceased him eleven years ago. The funeral was held in Lawson.

MRS. ANN McMARTIN

The funeral of Mrs. Ann McMartin, widow of the late Patrick McMartin who predeceased her in 1920, took place from the residence of her son-in-law, Albert Crowley, on Monday morning and proceeded to the Church of the Sacred Heart where Requiem Mass was offered by Rev. C. J. Moloney, assisted by Rev. C. J. Carroll as deacon and Rev. Dr. Masterson as sub-deacon.

The exceptionally large gathering at the home during the week-end, the long cortege which followed her remains to the church and cemetery, and the abundance of spiritual offerings gave silent testimony of the high esteeme held in the community where she had spent practically all her life.

Rev. C. J. Moloney at the conclusion of the Mass, gave a very inspiring sermon on death and impressed upon the congregation present the example set by deceased as a good Christian mother.

Mrs. McMartin leaves to mourn her loss seven daughters and two sons, all of whom were present at the funeral—Michael McMartin of Otonabee, John McMartin of Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. Albert Crowley and Mrs. Pierce Powers, Otonabee, Mrs. P. Cavanagh, Indian River, Mrs. W. J. Stiles, Toronto, Mrs. G. Foley and Mrs. A. Ingalls, Rochester, and Mrs. Joseph Christie of Norwood. Sister St. George of Montreal and Sister Camita of Boston, Mass., are nieces of deceased. Sister Dorothy of Edmonton, Alta., is a grandchild.

The pallbearers were Walter and Eugene Anderson of Rochester, nephews; and Clarence Stiles of Toronto, Edward Powers of Otonabee, and Thomas and James Cavanagh of Indian River, grandsons of the deceased, who tenderly laid her to rest in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery. Rev. C. J. Moloney conducted the services at the graveside.

Among the large number of relatives and friends noticed from a distance who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Faux and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lynch, William and Edward Lynch, Mrs. Wilkins, Timothy Coughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gibson, John Gibson, and William and Leo Armstrong, all of Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. P. Corkery and son, Mrs. Minifee and son of Harwood.

Magistrate's Court

Remanded for a week for trial yesterday on a charge of stealing $40 from Fred Pluard, William Calvert, of Rockcroft, came before Magistrate Langley to-day at his own request and pleaded guilty.

Addressing the court he explained that he and Pluard had been in Peterborough together in February. "We were both drinking and I took the money from Pluard to take care of it for him," he said. "I spent some of it and hired a car to go home. When he asked me about it I could not return it to him, but I agreed to pay it back in instalments."

He was remanded until Friday for sentence.

COME TO CANADA

TORONTO.—Mrs. Martin Insull, wife of the former utilities magnate arrived here to-day from Chicago and was met by her husband. She said they intend to proceed to Orillia where they will take up residence for a time. "I am satisfied that the hearings cleared my husband in the mind of the public" Mrs. Insull said.

LIBERAL WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. M. J. Perry is Re-elected President of Women's Liberal Club.

PLEDGE SUPPORT.

Mrs. M. J. Perry was re-elected as president of the Women's Liberal Club, at the annual meeting held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. D. Deyell, Park Street.

There was a large attendance at the meeting, and annual reports were presented, which showed an encouraging period just ended with a substantial balance on hand.

E. L. Sackville took the chair for the election, and, in a short address, commended the ladies for the spirit of co-operation and fidelity manifested by the members. After reading the constitution of the Liberal Women's Association, the following officers were elected:

Senator Cairine Wilson, honorary president; Mrs. G. N. Gordon, Mrs. R. Harstone, Mrs. J. J. Duffus and Mrs. A. Moir, honorary vice-presidents; Mrs. M. J. Perry, president; Mrs. J. D. Deyell, first vice-president; Miss Nellie Brady, second vice-president; Mrs. R. Bugg, third vice-president; Mrs. C. R. Banks, treasurer; Mrs. Elliott, recording secretary; Miss Isabelle Legrow, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. Lush convenor social committee; Mrs. D. White, press secretary.

Mr. Sackville then turned the meeting over to the president, and as Mrs. Perry took the chair, all united in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

A resolution, moved by Mrs. Banks, and seconded by Mrs. Elliott, follows: "Be it resolved, that the members of the Women's Liberal Club at this, their annual meeting, do pledge their loyal support to the candidate who will be nominated for the coming Federal election.

Mrs. Watson was appointed as a delegate to the Toronto convention this month.

Brief addresses to the ladies were then made by J. J. Duffus and T. J. Carley, K.C., after which, with Mrs. Bugg at the piano, community singing was heartily enjoyed by all, also several Scotch solo numbers by Mrs. Bugg.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter Mrs. Ray Brown, and the social convenor, Mrs. H. Lush.

MISS L. HURLEY HEADS LEAGUE

Catholic Women's League Holds Annual Election of Officers.

Miss Lillian Hurley was elected as president of the Catholic Women's League, at the annual meeting held on Monday evening in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum.

Other officers are as follows: The Rev. P. Costello, chaplain; Mrs. E. Law, past president; Mrs. J. W. Geraghty, first vice-president; Miss Mamie McCarthy, second vice-president; Mrs. J. J. Lynch, third vice-president; Mrs. V. S. Rutherford, recording secretary; Miss Marita Collins, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. J. McGrath, treasurer.

Annual reports were presented as follows: Mrs. F. J. Overend, Membership; Miss Lillian Hurley, Education and Program; Social Welfare, Mrs. J. J. Lynch; Girl Guides, Mrs. M. L. Henry; Miss Nora Shevlin, Recording Secretary; Miss Mamie McCarthy, Treasurer. The financial statement showed all obligations met and a substantial balance remaining in the bank.

The past president, Mrs. B. Law thanked the executive and members for their co-operation and assistance during her term of office, and bespoke the same support for her successor.

The Rev. P. Costello spoke briefly, congratulating the officers on their splendid work.

The gratitude of the members to the retiring president was expressed by Mrs. F. J. Overend, who moved a vote of thanks, seconded by Mrs. T. J. Ryan.

The Nominating committee members were Mrs. F. Eano, convenor; Mrs. F. J. Overend, Mrs. J. F. MacKenzie, Mrs. T. J. Ryan and Miss Emma Corkery.

Very pleasing music formed an interlude in the business deliberations by the ladies. A piano solo by Miss Doris Strickland and a vocal solo by Miss Mary McCarthy, were much enjoyed.

DIED

BARR.—At Cottesloe, on Tuesday, April 2, 1935, Michael Barr, in his 84th year.

The funeral will be held from his late residence, Lot 7, Con. 4, Dummer, on Thursday, April 4, at 2 p.m. Service at Cottesloe Church at 2.30 p.m. Interment Warsaw Cemetery.

The Royal Society of British Sculptors' gold medal has been awarded to Captain Adrian Jones, who recently celebrated his ninetieth birthday.

One Too Many

CHARLESTOWN, W.Va., April 3 (AP)—The bewildered juror looked at 12 filled seats in the jury box and then at Judge Collett Littlepage.

"Just where, Your Honor, am I going to sit?"

The judge ordered the jury polled.

"John Morgan," called the bailiff and from two seats came the answer, "present."

One of the John Morgans got a vacation.

Prairie Old Home To Bishop's Wife

REGINA, April 3 (C.P.).—Born in England but a resident of Western Canada for more than 40 years, Mrs. E. H. Knowles, wife of Archdeacon Knowles, of the Church of England diocese of Qu'Appelle, enters on the work of her husband's bishopric in a month or two, with an intimate knowledge of the problems and responsibilities of a prairie charge. "She is my right hand man," the bishop-elect says.

Lives of Archdeacon and Mrs. Knowles are wrapped up in a long series of coincidences. Their families were acquainted in England. Members of their respective families have been either lawyers or clergymen for generations as they are to-day. Mrs. Knowles was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Mapleton, who left Farnham, Surrey, England, to become the first settlers in the Shillingthorpe, Sask., district in April, 1892. In the meantime, upon death of his father in Ceylon, Archdeacon Knowles, his mother, brother and sister moved to England and later to Canada.

While seeking land in the Shillingthorpe area, the Knowles and Mapleton families met—and it turned to a reunion when they learned of family friendships in England. In 1898 Archdeacon and Mrs. Knowles were married in St. Augustine's Church, Saltcoats. They moved to Regina in 1911 when Archdeacon Knowles became secretary of synod.

Friends here of Mrs. J. S. Dignam of Toronto, who has been in the city on several occasions in connection with activities of the Women's Art Association, will be interested in the following account from the Toronto press:

"If we have laid a corner-stone there is so much bulding to be done."

"With these forward looking words, and with the true humanity and modesty which has characterized her many years as an artist, and one who wanted the beauties of life made accessible to every one, Mrs. J. S. Dignam yesterday acknowledged the tributes of two hundred representative women. This great Canadian woman was the honored guest at the luncheon arranged by the Arts and Letters Committee of the Toronto Local Council in the Granite Club, but as various speakers outlined her noteworthy and unique achievements in the past fifty years Mrs. Dignam listened quietly, but with interest, as though she had no part in it all. When it came her turn to reply, she said, simply that "it was good to hear about it all," that much of it she had forgotten.

"I have been so busy doing things and planning for the future that I haven't had time to think much about the past," remarked Mrs. Dignam with a smile.

"We never hear of Mrs. Dignam's achievements from Mrs. Dignam," said Mrs. William Weller, the able chairman of the committee and of the luncheon, "so we had to get some one else to tell us."

"Three phases of Mrs. Dignam's work were discussed impressively by three well-known women. Mrs. J. A. Wilson of Ottawa, Past President of the National Council of Women, told of her valuable contribution to the work of the Council locally, nationally and internationally in its Arts and Letters Committees. Mrs. Charles B. Nasmith, President of the Lyceum Club, Women's Art Association, in a vivid manner showed the part Mrs. Dignam had played in the founding and building up of the association. Mrs. Boris Hambourg chose to speak of Mrs. Dignam as a painter of whom too little is known in Canada.

"Her exhibition in New York City in 1935 was acclaimed as the finest one she has ever given," said Mrs. Hambourg, who stated that Mrs. Dignam was considered to be one of the finest landscape painters of the day. "We should go down on our knees, with gratitude in our hearts that the beauties of our autumn are recorded for all time in such a gorgeous manner" she said. "We in Canada are indebted to this modest woman whom we have the privilege of meeting to-day," and she referred to her as a real "Empire builder."

"She is a great soul, ever looking forward—to-day just as she did fifty years ago" said Mrs. Nasmith, who told of Mrs. Dignam's founding of the Women's Art Association half a century ago and of her unswerving loyalty and devotion to it and its purpose.

"In these forty-nine years we have not departed from Mrs. Dignam's original purpose in forming this association; we have only enlarged the departments."

"When the International Council of Women appointed its first convenor of the Art Section in 1927 these women of many nations chose a Canadian, Mrs. Dignam, for that office," said Mrs. Wilson, who felt that through her work Mrs. Dignam had brought great honor and distinction to the Council, both at home and abroad.

"Mrs. Newton Magwood, President of the Toronto Local Council of Women, paid her tribute to Mrs. Dignam and to Mrs. Weller for her work as Arts and Letters convenor."

An interesting social evening was held last night in the Paragon Hall under the auspices of the Young People's Liberal Club, with a good attendance. At the close of the business session, the meeting was turned over to the lady members, with Miss Ernestine McDonald in the chair. The program included a piano duet by the Misses Veronica Scollard and Josephine Lynch; Scottish songs by Master Jimmy Sands; an address on "Railways" given by Mr. Howard Quinn, who was introduced by Mr. J. J. Duffus; a piano and guitar duet by the Misses Dorothy Whatley and Helen Ludbrook; and a step dance and song by Mr. Andy Tyndall. Later, refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Appreciation was expressed of the kindness of the Coca-Cola Company in donating a quantity of their product for the occasion.

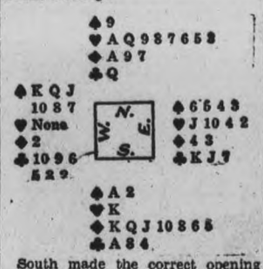
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard
"Teacher of Teachers"

TWO FREAK HANDS URGE CAUTION

Mr. Frank L. Tole, Berkeley, Calif., sent in the deal shown below. It well illustratess the fact that freak holdings held by both partners often mean at least one freak hand held by opponents., as was the case here. Such freaks must be played with caution, as Mr. Tole shows in his handling of the South holdings.



South made the correct opening bid of 2 diamonds, even if many players will consider the call too optimistic. West showed his spades twice, and North did the same with his very long heart suit. South once bid no trumps, to show spades stopped and something in clubs. Finally the contract soared to 7-diamonds. Had West shown his second six-card suit probably his partner would have supported spades. It would have paid well to bid a grand slam in spades.

The opening lead was the K of spades. South's ace won the trick. Dummy ruffed a return lead of spades, and the ace was used, as every trump held by both declarer and dummy was higher than all three missing diamonds.

West's strong bidding of spades and the large number of clubs missing showed plainly that West must hold a hand composed almost wholly of black cards. He might or might not be void of one of the red suits. In any event South played the hand with the latter possibility in mind. He kept away from hearts, as that suit seemed to be the single danger spot in playing the hand.

Dummy's lone club was led. The ace won the trick. Dummy ruffed a return lead of that suit. Not until the fifth trick did South dare lead trumps. He had to rid his hand of some of its losers before touching trumps.

Having rid the South hand of every side card except one heart and one club, the declarer led dummy's last trump. He overtook the trump in his own hand and took two rounds of diamonds, clearing out all opposing trumps. The K of hearts was then led, only to find that West had been chicane in the suit. Dummy's ace overtook the K. Upon dummy's good Q of hearts South discarded his last club, making the balance of the hand a spread, as nothing was held except trumps in the declaring hand. South played the hand with unusual care and deserved what he made.

Normal defence would have defeated a spade grand slam three tricks, which would have been a great loss for North and South.

Household Hints

Menu Hints

Tomato Juice
Creamed Baked Veal — Noodles
Orange Salad — Ice Cream
Cake — Milk or Cocoa

This menu is suggested for the child's party. The ice cream may be omitted if you do not want to go to the expense of buying it, or the trouble of making it

Today's Recipes

Creamed Baked Veal — Two pounds veal, one-half cup butter, one-half cup margarine, two cups milk, four tablespoons green pepper, chopped fine; one teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, two cans chow mein noodles. Cut veal into one-inch cubes. Heat butter and margarine in heavy skillet, add meat, steam 20 minutes, then fry to light brown. Add flour, stir until mixed, then add milk and cook until smooth. Add green pepper and seasonings. Place in greased casserole and bake in 350-degree oven for about an hour, until veal is tender. Heat noodles and serve veal over them.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Molasses Coconut Chews

Two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk, one-fourth cup molasses, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup shredded coconut. Cook sweetend condensed milk, molasses and salt together in a heavy pan. Stir over low heat until hard ball forms when tested in cold water. Add coconut and stir until well mixed; drop by spoonfuls on buttered pan. Makes 24 pieces. Nice to send to the college lad or lass.

Setting the Table

The fundamental rules that govern table setting are based on convenience, utility and balance. The rules are the same whether the table is set for a simple breakfast, quick luncheon, family dinner or for a formal party.

Follow these rules: 1. Set the dishes so the table is not crowded in one spot, no end or side being overbalanced with dishes.

2. All lines of the table should go across or lengthwise of the table. A diagonal line attracts attention and should be avoided. Handles of dishes, bread and butter spreader, oyster forks, salt and pepper sets, all must follow this rule. If round doilies are used the threads should also be placed parallel to the table edge, not on a diagonal. All dishes, linen and silver should be placed to follow this rule, or the effect is careless.

3. Dishes and serving silver should be placed for handiness. Do not put a dish of jelly or pickles so far toward the middle of the table that no one can reach it.

4. The silver, china, linen and glass put in place for one person at the beginning of a meal are called "a cover". Each cover is supposed to have 20 to 24 inches of length and 15 inches of depth. The cover should not be crowded, yet it must be a definite unit. This does not permit sprawling silverware and straying glasses and plates.

5. Set the table according to the type of service that is to be used. If there is no maid, set the table to make the service simple and easy. Avoid unnecessary steps. The service table is set with silver and dishes for the courses to follow. This is more simple than to go to the kitchen for everything.

6. All silver, china and dishes for a cover are placed where they are most convenient, and so that the cover is a balanced one.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Whether you're a bride who scans each new cake recipe with fearful eyes or an experienced cook who has baked the same cakes so many times that you'd like something new, you're certain to welcome the delicious nw cake recipes that were perfected recently using sweetened condensed milk as one of the basic ingredients.

* * * * * * *

You may have made marble cake in your day, but have you ever veined the cake with frosting rather than another kind of cake batter? It's novel and delightful. The Molasses Marble Cake is made in this way. Chocolate Frosting may be used instead of the molasses mixture.

* * * * * * *

MOLASSES MARBLE CAKE

1 1-3 cups flour; 3 teaspoons baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; ½ cup sweetened condensed milk; ½ cup water; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 tablespoons melted shortening; 2 egg whites, stiffly-beaten; molasses mixture: ¼ cup molasses, 2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Add sweetened condensed milk and water. Add vanilla and melted shortening. Blend thoroughly. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Place a thin layer of cake dough in buttered pan (8 x 8 x 2 inches). Blend molasses and sweetened condensed milk in top of a double boiler and cook over boiling water for five minutes or until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Place the molasses mixture and remaining cake dough in pan by tablespoonfuls, alternating the light and the dark mixture until all are used. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes.

* * * * * * *

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

2 squares unsweetened chocolate; 1 1-3 cups (can) sweetened condensed milk; 1 tablespoon water. Melt chocolate in double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk, stir over boiling water five minutes until it thickens. Add water. Cook cake before spreading frosting.

* * * * * * *

Chocolate Coconut Loaf Cake is perfect for bridge luncheons or teas as it is delicious and unusual and can be served in dainty slices. It is so easy to make and requires so few ingredients that you can't possibly fail with it.

* * * * * * *

CHOCOLATE COCONUT LOAF

2 squares unsweetened chocolate; 1 1-3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk; 1 cup chopped walnuts; ½ pound (4 cups) shredded coconut; 1 teaspoon vanilla. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk, stirring over boiling water five minutes or until mixture thickens. Add chopped walnut meats, shredded coconut and vanilla. Blend well. Line a loaf cake pan (8 x 4 x 3 inches) with wax paper and butter thoroughly. Spread mixture evenly and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Remove from oven, turn from pan and remove paper at once.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

When the lovely Miriam Jordan arrived in Hollywood from England, she was quite different from what she is today. Miriam had long hair then, and was very conservative in her gowning, make-up, and general appearance. But the movie moguls did their best to change her. They shortened her name to Mimi. They shortened her hair. They changed her make-up and designed more extreme gowns for her. And while the Miriam we know today still is conservative, she is a more glamorous individual now.

You'd be surprised at how often Plain Janes today transform themselves into potent charmers merely through a knowledge of make-up, coiffure arrangement, gowning and all like items that contribute to attractiveness. Even the facial contours can be influenced, you know. And that's what I shall dwell upon today, for many women have written to me recently complaining that their faces are too round and too full for loveliness.

Round Face Annoying

It's true that sometimes a round, full face can prove a source of annoyance. For while softly-rounded contours are most youthful, an over-plump, moon face can make a slender girl look much heavier than she really is. But, fortunately, there is a great deal that a girl can do to make her face at least appear thinner. In the first place, the way she arranges her hair is certain to affect the contours of a girl's face. If she has a round, full face, she should stick to a side part. In addition, she should keep her hair off her forehead, should bring it softly forward on her cheeks, and should keep it flat over her ears. She also should avoid bangs of any sort, as bangs only tend to shorten the face and make it appear fuller than it actually is.

The way she applies her rouge also has some influence on the contours of her face. The moon-faced lass should blend her rouge softly in toward her nose, when applying her make-up. If she applies it heavily just on her cheek bones, it will increase the apparent width of her face. While if she blends it in toward her nose, it will create the illusion that the centers of her cheeks are closer together, and will thus make her face appear slender and more oval.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Coco Butter

Dora: Massage your face nightly with warmed coco butter. This will help to fatten the tissues and round out the facial contours.

Superfluous Hair

Josephine: The superfluous hair bleach you refer to consists of two teaspoons of peroxide and half a teaspoon of ordinary household ammonia.

Colors

Marie L.: I think that you will find shades of tan, brown, gray, blue, dark green, dark red and black most becoming to you.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The important element in the management of a patient with high blood pressure is to persuade him that he will have a good time while the treatment is going on.

Because the important element consists in giving up things. And most high blood pressure patients are not of the temperament that they submit gracefully to giving up things.

The whole basis of any plan for management in these cases is to prevent strain on any part of the body. And that means rest and even more, it means relaxation. It means giving up responsibilities and worries and hard work. And the majority of the people with high blood pressure have spent all their lives accumulating responsibilities. Not only their own, but lots of those quite strange to them. It is a wrench to give them up. They have gone so long complaining about their responsibilities—there is that son of a former business partner that is being put through college, and the clergyman who has the bad winter cough, and the local Institute of Commercial Art—it comes as a great surprise to them to find that they are not glad to give up these loads at all. When they are gone, there will be nothing to complain about—except the weather.

When Relief Comes

But when the tooth is out, there is really a great feeling of relief. When the relaxation comes, they realize that they haven't really done it for years.

Did you ever read Charles Lamb's "Superannuated Man"—written the day he came home forever? Well, that is the treatment for high blood pressure. Charles Lamb enjoyed it. But then he was a genius, and he didn't give up tobacco.

There are other people who have been cheerful about it. Do you remember the introduction to A. Edward Newton's delightful book of literary essays, "A Magnificent Farce?" "In the midst of renewing old associations," he wrote, "I discovered I was not in very robust health. This is not my discovery. I paid a physician a handsome fee for making it. His advice was 'Go slow. You have been pelting along for 40 years; it's time to relax. How about smoking,' he continued, 'how many cigars?'

Moderate Smoker

"To this I replied: 'Doctor, there are some things too sacred for words, and there are some things men do not even tell their wives. But, in point of fact, I have always smoked in moderation; never more than one cigar at a time; three after breakfast, four after lunch.'

"'That will do. We will omit the cigars after breakfast entirely—your limit will be one after lunch and one after dinner. Take up reading. Didn't someone tell me you had written a book? Write another one, and then go to Europe, where the criticisms of it will not annoy you. My prophecy is that you will live to be a disagreeable old man.'

"I sat back. 'Let someone else do your work. What music was in these words! 'Writ a book.' What fun! 'Go to Europe.' More fun! I always said I was lucky."

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

B. J. W.: "I have a child eight years old, who has a habit of always chewing gum. Would the excess saliva formed through the continuous chewing tend to bring on heart burn?"

Answer: No, it would tend to have just the opposite effect; to relieve heart burn if it were present.

L. S.: "I have an adenoid in my throat and am 30 years of age. Am I too old to have it removed? Does it affect the heart and kidneys?"

Answer: An infected adenoid can be removed at any age. An infected adenoid may possibly do damage to the heart and kidneys.

LISTARIO IS BEST CHOICE FOR GUINEAS

Historic King's Plate Renewal Draws 41 Canadian-Bred Entries.

LARGEST SINCE 1860

ENTRIES for the 76th renewal of the King's Plate, oldest continuously run stake on the North American continent, released by Palmer Wright, secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club, show that 41 of the best Canadian-bred thoroughbreds in many years have been nominated by different owners throughout the province. The King's Plate, which will be run at Woodbine Park, opening day, May 19, carries the highest purse value of any stake on any track in Canada. The purse not only carries the high value of $5,000 added, but also a gift of 50 guineas donated by his majesty the King.

Not since the race was first run in 1860, when Mr. Jas. White's Don Juan came romping home the winner at Carlton (now West Toronto) have so many outstanding Canadian-bred thoroughbreds been nominated as have been named for this year's running.

The nominations include Listaro, who will run coupled with Calico Miss and Eileen D., owned by Mr. R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Ont., unbeaten in all her starts, which included the Clarendon Plate, as a two-year-old and who went into winter quarters last fall with the racing fans saying: "Beat Listaro and you win the Plate."

THEN there's Lipton, who will flaunt the colors of Ryland H. New, winner last year of the Coronation Stakes at Woodbine Park and Long Branch Special at Long Branch. Much interest was robbed of these two events owing to the absence of Listaro through a training injury which necessitated him declining these two stakes. They'll meet in the Plate. Lipton will also have running mates, being coupled with Fly Miss and Hillcoin for the same owner.

Mr. E. F. Seagram, popular Waterloo sportsman, has nominated five—Gay Sympathy, Judge Rock, Langstaff, County Court and Sally Fuller. The best of the Seagram string being Gay Sympathy, though still a maiden ran some very creditable races during his first year under colors.

Others nominated and their owners, are: Beach Stable, Crystal Beach; T. S. Cochenour, Papalloo; M. R. Cowell, Parma Violet; R. W. R. Cowle, Discount; S. B. Crawford, Goggles; G. H. Ellis, Bandman; J. G. Fair, Rural Shower and Big Bus; Alexander Fraser, Dimark and Big Dollar; C. E. Furry, March Breeze; Robt. Graham, Beechview; George Hardy, Oltation and. Galthea;. M.. E. .Hardy, Prince Fleet; Hastings Stable, Sweet Edwin; H. C. Hatch, Chickpea and Demstick; G. A. Northgraves, Whichprig; P. E. Pedlar, Easteroam; Mrs. Charles Robson, Vingt Cinq and Epicurus; Mrs. W. Russell, Linesman; J. E. Smallman, Rightfoot and Andante; South View Stable, Natal; W. H. Wright, Worthing, Tax Free, Boom Days and Speygold.

ONE HAS only to glance over the list above and he can readily see that the 1935 running of the King's Plate will be one of the most contested stakes seen in the Dominion in many years. See if we're not right.

BOSTON CUBS COP 1–0 WIN FROM REDMEN

Alex. Moter Passes to Besler For Only Goal of Tight Contest.

CAN.-AM. PLAYOFFS.

BOSTON, April 3 (A.P.).—Boston Cubs and Providence Reds opened their fifth play-off clash for the Canadian-American Hockey League championship before 7,500 at Boston Garden last night, with the home sextet gaining a 1-0 shut-out over the defending titlists.

Boston's winning goal came in the second period while the Reds played with Art Lesieur resting in the penalty box. Three Cubs drove into the Providence ice, with burly Joe Jerwa carrying. He ploughed through his short-handed rivals and drove a close-up shot that Goaler Paddy Byrne batted out to Alex. Motter, who played a sterling game for Boston Bruins in last week's title series with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Motter was forced behind the Providence net by one of the rival defencemen, but he managed to pass out to Phil Besler and the right-winger scored a sizzling 15-foot shot from the boards.

Cubs a Bit Stale.

The Cubs, who appeared a bit stale, probably due to the long layoff they were forced to take while the Reds overcame the second-place Quebec Beavers in the preliminary series, missed many easy scoring chances during the not-too-exciting game. The Reds had few opportunities, even while the Cubs played short handed for almost six consecutive minutes in the final period.

The three-out-of-five series for the title and the Fontaine Cup will be resumed in Providence on Thursday night and the third contest will be played here on Saturday.

New York Stewards Establish Precedent

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—The Jockey Club broke down the walls of precedent yesterday, when it granted Mary Hirsch, 22-year-old daughter of Max Hirsch, famous United States horseman, a license to train thoroughbreds in New York State.

It was the first time in the history of the organization, founded in 1866, that the stewards had approved of a woman's application to be officially recognized as a trainer. Heretofore such a permission was considered an infringement of a tradition as old as racing itself.

Kerr Saves Sensationally For Rangers

Though they fought themselves into a 3-3 tie on Montreal ice in the second game of their two-game series, New York's blue-clad Rangers were unable to overcome the one-goal lead the powerful Maroons had gained on New York ice and went down five goals to four on the round. The series selected a finalist for Stanley Cup honors, and Maroons now go on against Toronto Maple Leafs, who bested Boston for the N.H.L. championship. Desperate in their efforts to score, the Rangers threw three, four and five man rushes up the ice, leaving Goalie Davie Kerr to protect the nets alone. Here he is dropping to the ice as he staves off a maroon-clad wave heading goalwards. His style of play brings him far out of the nets when opposing attackers are coming in.

Who May be Who in 1935

By BILL BRAUCHER

Chickasaw Indian is Valuable Aid to National League Phillies.

A Chickasaw Indian who overcame the handicaps of illness and a broken pitching arm in his march to the major leagues is counted on by Manager Jimmy Wilson to help lead the Phils out of the baseball wilderness.

He is Euel (Chief) Moore, purchased last summer from the Baltimore Orioles. After coming to the Phils, a seventh-place club, Moore won five games and lost seven, not an impressive record, but showed plenty of big league stuff every time he went to the mound.

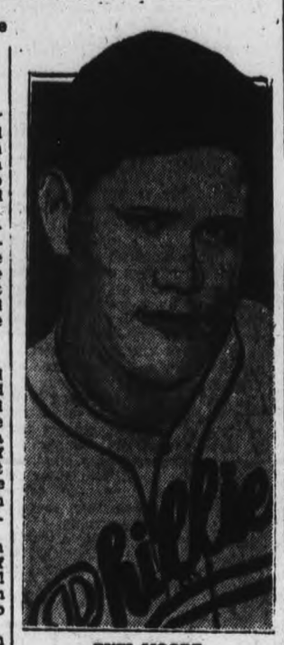
Like Carlisle Guard

The Chief has the same bulk and heft as those bucks Pop Warner used as guards on the Carlisle football teams featured by Jim Thorpe. He puts his weight gracefully behind a great fast ball. His smoothness of delivery is a pleasure for all but batsmen to watch. He has a fine curve, and in his brief career with the Phils has shown poise and courage in the pinches.

The story books tell of Indian dignity, indifference and bearing of superiority. Chief Moore has all of that. There have been times in his pitching life when he had to have it to survive.

He was born May 27, 1910, in Tishomingo, Okla., the town a blues song once was written about. He started pitching when 18 years old, travelling from town to town to hurl for semi-pro teams of the southwest. He wasn't captured by organized baseball until 1929, when signed by Abilene of the West Texas League. In midseason, he broke his pitching arm (he's a right-handed hurler) while sliding into a base.

Before the accident he had shown a lot of stuff. So upon his recovery,



EUEL MOORE

Wichita Falls gave him a contract, but the Chief fell heir to a flock of illness and was released.

Comes Right Back

It seemed his career was ended, at least so far as the Texas League was concerned, but he came right back with Muskogee in the Western Association, and won 13 games. Next he exercised his penchant for pitching for last place clubs by signing with San Antonio, back in the Texas League again. In 1931 he was the only Santone pitcher to finish with better than a .500 average.

After a good season at Galveston, he was brought north to Baltimore. Last year, after he had won eight of the 18 games won by the Orioles, during the first two months of the season, the Phils dug down and bought him.

The Phillies greatly improved by Jimmy Wilson in his year of management, appear certain to climb in 1935, an effort in which the Chief is pretty sure to be a big help.

70-Year-Old Bowler Makes Perfect Score

PARRY SOUND, April 3,—(Special.) — A. E. Reekie, 70-year-old veteran of Parry Sound, to-day made bowling history locally when he scored a possible of 450 in the third string of a five-pin game for highest individual weekly score. His score for the three games was 1,047, consisting of 252, 345 and 450. Mr. Reekie has bowled two years and has often come near, but never accomplished, his rare feat. He was a member of the Canadian champion sculling four some years ago, and his home at Point Pleasant is decorated with a great variety of cups, medals, shields, pennants, etc., won in his long athletic career.

WINNIPEG, April 3 (CP)—Winnipeg Monarchs, a battling band of sturdy youths with skating speed aplenty, defeated Saskatoon Wesleys 5-4 here last night in the first game of a two-out-of-three game series for the Western Canada Junior Hockey title. The second game will be played here Thursday night.

Thrilling Finish

The Manitoba-Thunder Bay zone champions flashed winged skates in the face of the Far West titlists to take the lead-off game in the series that will determine opposition for Sudbury Wolves, Eastern titlists, in the Memorial Cup final here next week.

A crowd of 3,500 saw the Manitobans come from behind in the dying minutes of the game to take victory. Monarchs were down 3-1 at the end of the first period. There was no scoring in the second period. Then, with a burst of speed, the Winnipeggers tied the score at 4-4 and snatched the last goal with only a few seconds to go.

Johnny Proaski's three goals in the final period earned Winnipeg a 4-4 tie in the dying minutes, and Joe Krol, winger, scored the winning goal from a scramble with two seconds left to play. Burr Keenan scored Winnipeg's first period goal.

Pete Leswick and Bill Kerr split the Wesley scoring honors, each counting twice.

ONUS ON 'GARDEN' TO SECURE MATCH

Commission Gives Promoters Until April 16 to Produce Contracts.

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission yesterday tossed the heavyweight boxing championship problem back into Madison Square Garden's lap.

A week ago the Commission took charge of the situation by designating James J. Braddock, Jersey City veteran, the leading contender for the title, and decreed that before Max Schmeling could meet Champion Max Baer in this State, at least, he must first meet and defeat Braddock.

Yesterday the Commission ordered the Garden's matchmaker, James J. Johnston, to produce a signed contract for either a Braddock-Schmeling bout or a championship Baer-Braddock contest by April 16, at which date four important outdoor shows will be apportioned by the Commissioners.

Montreal Announcer To Aid Foster Hewitt

Hockey fans from coast to coast who will follow the play for the Stanley Cup via the General Motors hockey broadcasts will hear a new voice at the microphone for at least one of the games. Charles Harwood, who is regular announcer during the season for General Motors broadcasts of games in the Montreal forum, will give the play-by-play for the Maroons-Leaf Cup games to be played there, which will be over the national network.

First two games will be in Toronto. The first being Thursday, April 4, and the second on Saturday, April 6. The latter will be broadcast coast-to-coast, with Foster Hewitt at the microphone.

The first games will be in Toronto if needed) will be in Montreal, and if the series goes to five games, the fifth will be from Maple Leaf Gardens and Hewitt will again be announcing.

(Note.—All the Stanley Cup games will be broadcast by General Motors over a nation-wide network, except the first, which will be broadcast in the Toronto and Montreal areas).

Leafs, on Other Hand, Promise Airtight Defense With Hainsworth in Nets.

By Elmer Dulmage
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

TORONTO, April 3 (C.P.). — Tommy Gorman, who hasn't made any Stanley Cup mistakes in the last 12 months, has called the turn for at least the first round of hockey's biggest series here Thursday night—mental freedom for Toronto's "kid line." That's the only freedom he intends they should have.

The former Ottawa newspaperman, racing executive and hockey coach, who took the Stanley Cup to Chicago a year ago and took it away with him a week ago, brings his Montreal Maroons here to-morrow with absolutely no designs on Charlie Conacher and Harvey Jackson, other than to leave them to the defence.

His announcement that the twin bombers of the Leafs would receive no more attention than any other Toronto wingers, encouraged hopes of fandom here that the series would not develop into a mid-ice checking duel. The word is out that the speedy Maroons are coming to town for goals.

High-Strung Forwards.

The result may be that Gorman's two high-scoring forward lines — Herbie Cain, Gus Marker and Bob Gracie on the one hand, and Earl Robinson, Russ Blinco and Dave Trottier on the other—will try to beat down Toronto's secondary front divisions while the Leafs attack directly with one line, Conacher, Jackson and Joe Primeau.

Statistically speaking, Maroons can send out two prolific scoring lines to Toronto's one. Unlike Boston Bruins, who had only Eddie Shore and Babe Siebert for the heavy defensive end, Maroons have four first-rate rearguards. From end to end they rate higher than the Bruins—who were tough enough for the Leafs in the National League finals.

Here is an end-to-end statistical rush, covering both league and playoff games and avoiding individuals as such:

Teams	W	L	T	F	A
Maroons	26	19	5	129	96
Leafs	33	16	5	164	113

Goal	G.	Allowed	Av.	Shut-outs
Maroons	96		1.85	11
Leafs	113		2.17	10

Defence	G	A	GA	P. in Mins
Maroons	16	30	96	185
Leafs	21	45	113	266

Forwards	G	A	Pts	P. in Min.
Maroons	113	69	182	219
Leafs	143	76	219	214

Regardless of the figures, few critics concede that Alex Connell will provide the Maroons with any better goaltending than George Hainsworth will supply the Leafs. And, too, regardless of the figures, the Leafs have protected Hainsworth in the play. As quite as capably as the Maroons have protected Connell.

Better Scoring Record

Toronto's defence has a better scoring record than the Montreal quartet, but they compiled it during the regular season when the Leafs did little else but attack. Since the playoffs started Hap Day, Bill Hollett, Red Horner and King Clancy have been paying strict attention to work around their own blue line.

Montreal's rear division men, Lionel Conacher, Allan Shields, Marvin Wentworth and Stew Evans, may break on a rush to relieve pressure but otherwise they are expected to sit tight. If this is to be a series where the rival forwards will shoot it out, the defences will likely work within a small area.

Last week I gave some demonstrations which found me swinging a club and hitting balls for the first time this year. The effort to hold the club firmly in my left hand resulted in blisters and considerable soreness.

This is more or less bound to happen to any player who has not been able to play during the winter. Starting the new season with high hopes and soft hands means punishment somewhere along the line. The next time I swing a club I'm going to wear a glove on my left hand. I'd advise all those going out after a winter's layoff to do the same.

The glove not only will protect this hand, but will strengthen it in the swing. Any loose fitting glove will do.

Friends here of Mrs. J. S. Dignam of Toronto, who has been in the city on several occasions in connection with activities of the Women's Art Association, will be interested in the following account from the Toronto press:

"If we have laid a corner-stone there is so much building to be done."

"With these forward looking words, and with the true humanity and modesty which has characterized her many years as an artist, and one who wanted the beauties of life made accessible to every one, Mrs. J. S. Dignam yesterday acknowledged the tributes of two hundred representative women. This great Canadian woman was the honored guest at the luncheon arranged by the Arts and Letters Committee of the Toronto Local Council in the Granite Club, but as various speakers outlined her noteworthy and unique achievements in the past fifty years Mrs. Dignam listened quietly, but with interest, as though she had no part in it all. When it came her turn to reply, she said simply that "it was good to hear about it all," that much of it she had forgotten.

"I have been so busy doing things and planning for the future that I haven't had time to think much about the past," remarked Mrs. Dignam with a smile.

"We never hear of Mrs. Dignam's achievements from Mrs. Dignam," said Mrs. William Weller, the able chairman of the committee and of the luncheon, "so we had to get some one else to tell us."

"Three phases of Mrs. Dignam's work were discussed impressively by three well-known women. Mrs. J. A. Wilson of Ottawa, Past President of the National Council of Women, told of her valuable contribution to the work of the Council locally, nationally and internationally in its Arts and Letters Committees. Mrs. Charles B. Nasmith, President of the Lyceum Club, Women's Art Association, in a vivid manner showed the part Mrs. Dignam had played in the founding and building up of the association. Mrs. Boris Hambourg chose to speak of Mrs. Dignam as a painter of whom too little is known in Canada.

"Her exhibition in New York City in 1935 was acclaimed as the finest one she has ever given," said Mrs. Hambourg, who stated that Mrs. Dignam was considered to be one of the finest landscape painters of the day. "We should go down on our knees, with gratitude in our hearts that the beauties of our autumn are recorded for all time in such a gorgeous manner" she said. "We in Canada are indebted to this modest woman whom we have the privilege of meeting to-day," and she referred to her as a real "Empire builder."

"She is a great soul, ever looking forward—to-day just as she did fifty years ago" said Mrs. Nasmith, who told of Mrs. Dignam's founding of the Women's Art Association half a century ago and of her unswerving loyalty and devotion to it and its purpose.

"In these forty-nine years we have not departed from Mrs. Dignam's original purpose in forming this association; we have only enlarged the departments."

"When the International Council of Women appointed its first convenor of the Art Section in 1927 these women of many nations chose a Canadian, Mrs. Dignam, for that office," said Mrs. Wilson, who felt that through her work Mrs. Dignam had brought great honor and distinction to the Council, both at home and abroad.

"Mrs. Newton Magwood, President of the Toronto Local Council of Women, paid her tribute to Mrs. Dignam and to Mrs. Weller for her work as Arts and Letters convenor."

Miss Rose Sexsmith, of the local Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, entertained a number of the members at her home on Monday evening, in honor of Miss Anne Wilson of Water Street, whose marriage to the Rev. Courtland Salisbury of Williamstown, Vermont, takes place this month. A pleasant social time was enjoyed, with card games, followed by the service of dainty refreshments. The Worthy Matron of the Chapter, Mrs. Florence Beggs, read a short address which accompanied the presentation to Miss Wilson of a handsome lace table cloth, the gift of the members to their associate, made by Mrs. B. B. Snelgrove.

An interesting social evening was held last night in the Paragon Hall under the auspices of the Young People's Liberal Club, with a good attendance. At the close of the business session, the meeting was turned over to the lady members, with Miss Ernestine McDonald in the chair. The program included a piano duet by the Misses Veronica Scollard and Josephine Lynch; Scottish songs by Master Jimmy Sands; an address on "Railways" given by Mr. Howard Quinn, who was introduced by Mr. J. J. Duffus; a piano and guitar duet by the Misses Dorothy Whatley and Helen Ludbrook; and a step dance and song by Mr. Andy Tyndall. Later, refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Appreciation was expressed of the kindness of the Coca-Cola Company in donating a quantity of their product for the occasion.

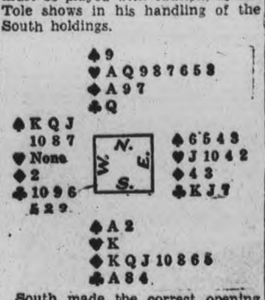
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard
"Teacher of Teachers"

TWO FREAK HANDS URGE CAUTION

Mr. Frank A. Tole, Berkeley, Calif., sent in the deal shown below. It well illustratess the fact that freak holdings held by both partners often mean at least one freak hand held by opponents., as was the case here. Such freaks must be played with caution, as Mr. Tole shows in his handling of the South holdings.



South made the correct opening bid of 2 diamonds, even if many players will consider the call too optimistic. West showed his spades twice, and North did the same with his very long heart suit. South once bid no trumps, to show spades stopped and something in clubs. Finally the contract soared to 7-diamonds. Had West shown his second six-card suit probably his partner would have supported spades. It would have paid well to bid a grand slam in spades.

The opening lead was the K of spades. South's ace won the trick. Dummy ruffed a return lead of spades, and the ace was used, as every trump held by both declarer and dummy was higher than all three missing diamonds.

West's strong bidding of spades and the large number of clubs missing showed plainly that West must hold a hand composed almost wholly of black cards. He might or might not be void of one of the red suits. In any event South played the hand with the latter possibility in mind. He kept away from hearts, as that suit seemed to be the single danger spot in playing the hand.

Dummy's lone club was led. The ace won the trick. Dummy ruffed a return lead of that suit. Not until the fifth trick did South dare lead trumps. He had to rid his hand of some of its losers before touching trumps.

Having rid the South hand of every side card except one heart and one club, the declarer led dummy's last trump. He overtook the trump in his own hand and took two rounds of diamonds, clearing out all opposing trumps. The K of hearts was then led, only to find that West had been chicane in the suit. Dummy's ace overtook the K. Upon dummy's good Q of hearts South discarded his last club, making the balance of the hand a spread, as nothing was held except trumps in the declaring hand. South played the hand with unusual care and deserved what he made.

Normal defence would have defeated a spade grand slam three tricks, which would have been a great loss for North and South.

Menu Hints

Tomato Juice
Creamed Baked Veal — Noodles
Orange Salad — Ice Cream
Cake — Milk or Cocoa

This menu is suggested for the child's party. The ice cream may be omitted if you do not want to go to the expense of buying it, or the trouble of making it.

Today's Recipes

Creamed Baked Veal — Two pounds veal, one-half cup butter, one-half cup margarine, two cups milk, four tablespoons green pepper, chopped fine; one teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, two cans chow mein noodles. Cut veal into one-inch cubes. Heat butter and margarine in heavy skillet, add meat, steam 20 minutes, then fry to light brown. Add flour, stir until mixed, then add milk and cook until smooth. Add green pepper and seasonings. Place in greased casserole and bake in 350-degree oven for about an hour, until veal is tender. Heat noodles and serve veal over them.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Molasses Coconut Chews

Two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk, one-fourth cup molasses, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup shredded coconut. Cook sweetend condensed milk, molasses and salt together in a heavy pan. Stir over low heat until hard ball forms when tested in cold water. Add coconut and stir until well mixed; drop by spoonfuls on buttered pan. Makes 24 pieces. Nice to send to the college lad or lass.

Setting the Table

The fundamental rules that govern table setting are based on convenience, utility and balance. The rules are the same whether the table is set for a simple breakfast, quick luncheon, family dinner or for a formal party.

Follow these rules: 1. Set the dishes so the table is not crowded in one spot, no end or side being overbalanced with dishes.

2. All lines of the table should go across or lengthwise of the table. A diagonal line attracts attention and should be avoided. Handles of dishes, bread and butter spreader, oyster forks, salt and pepper sets, all must follow this rule. If round doilies are used the threads should also be placed parallel to the table edge, not on a diagonal. All dishes, linen and silver should be placed to follow this rule, or the effect is careless.

3. Dishes and serving silver should be placed for handiness. Do not put a dish of jelly or pickles so far toward the middle of the table that no one can reach it.

4. The silver, china, linen and glass put in place for one person at the beginning of a meal are called "a cover". Each cover is supposed to have 20 to 24 inches of length and 15 inches of depth. The cover should not be crowded, yet it must be a definite unit. This does not permit sprawling silverware and straying glasses and plates.

5. Set the table according to the type of service that is to be used. If there is no maid, set the table to make the service simple and easy. Avoid unnecessary steps. The service table is set with silver and dishes for the courses to follow. This is more simple than to go to the kitchen for everything.

6. All silver, china and dishes for a cover are placed where they are most convenient, and so that the cover is a balanced one.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

When the lovely Miriam Jordan arrived in Hollywood from England, she was quite different from what she is today. Miriam had long hair then, and was very conservative in her gowning, make-up, and general appearance. But the movie moguls did their best to change her. They shortened her name to Mimi. They shortened her hair. They changed her make-up and designed more extreme gowns for her. And while the Miriam we know today still is conservative, she is a more glamorous individual now.

You'd be surprised at how often Plain Janes today transform themselves into potent charmers merely through a knowledge of make-up, coiffure arrangement, gowning and all like items that contribute to attractiveness. Even the facial contours can be influenced, you know. And that's what I shall dwell upon today, for many women have written to me recently complaining that their faces are too round and too full for loveliness.

Round Face Annoying

It's true that sometimes a round, full face can prove a source of annoyance. For while softly-rounded contours are most youthful, an over-plump, moon face can make a slender girl look much heavier than she really is. But, fortunately, there is a great deal that a girl can do to make her face at least appear thinner. In the first place, the way she arranges her hair is certain to affect the contours of a girl's face. If she has a round, full face, she should stick to a side part. In addition, she should keep her hair off her forehead, should bring it softly forward on her cheeks, and should keep it flat over her ears. She also should avoid bangs of any sort, as bangs only tend to shorten the face and make it appear fuller than it actually is.

The way she applies her rouge also has some influence on the contours of her face. The moon-faced lass should blend her rouge softly in toward her nose, when applying her make-up. If she applies it heavily just on her cheek bones, it will increase the apparent width of her face. While if she blends it in toward her nose, it will create the illusion that the centers of her cheeks are closer together, and will thus make her face appear slenderer and more oval.

You may have made marble cake in your day, but have you ever veined the cake with frosting rather than another kind of cake batter? It's novel and delightful. The Molasses Marble Cake is made in this way. Chocolate Frosting may be used instead of the molasses mixture.

* * * * * * *

MOLASSES MARBLE CAKE

1 1-3 cups flour; 3 teaspoons baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; ½ cup sweetened condensed milk; ½ cup water; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 tablespoons melted shortening; 2 egg whites, stiffly-beaten; molasses mixture: ¼ cup molasses, 2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Add sweetened condensed milk and water. Add vanilla and melted shortening. Blend thoroughly. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Place a thin layer of cake dough in buttered pan (8 x 8 x 2 inches). Blend molasses and sweetened condensed milk in top of a double boiler and cook over boiling water for five minutes or until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Place the molasses mixture and remaining cake dough in pan by tablespoonfuls, alternating the light and the dark mixture until all are used. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes.

* * * * * * *

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

2 squares unsweetened chocolate; 1 1-3 cups (can) sweetened condensed milk; 1 tablespoon water. Melt chocolate in double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk, stir over boiling water five minutes until it thickens. Add water. Cook cake before spreading frosting.

* * * * * * *

Chocolate Coconut Loaf Cake is perfect for bridge luncheons or teas as it is delicious and unusual and can be served in dainty slices. It is so easy to make and requires so few ingredients that you can't possibly fail with it.

* * * * * * *

CHOCOLATE COCONUT LOAF

2 squares unsweetened chocolate; 1 1-3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk; 1 cup chopped walnuts; ½ pound (4 cups) shredded coconut; 1 teaspoon vanilla. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk, stirring over boiling water five minutes or until mixture thickens. Add chopped walnut meats, shredded coconut and vanilla. Blend well. Line a loaf cake pan (8 x 4 x 3 inches) with wax paper and butter thoroughly. Spread mixture evenly and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Remove from oven, turn from pan and remove paper at once.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The important element in the management of a patient with high blood pressure is to persuade him that he will have a good time while the treatment is going on.

Because the important element consists in giving up things. And most high blood pressure patients are not of the temperament that they submit gracefully to giving up things.

The whole basis of any plan for management in these cases is to prevent strain on any part of the body. And that means rest and even more, it means relaxation. It means giving up responsibilities and worries and hard work. And the majority of the people with high blood pressure have spent all their lives accumulating responsibilities. Not only their own, but lots of those quite strange to them. It is a wrench to give them up. They have gone so long complaining about their responsibilities—there is that son of a former business partner that is being put through college, and the clergyman who has the bad winter cough, and the local Institute of Commercial Art—it comes as a great surprise to them to find that they are not glad to give up these loads at all. When they are gone, there will be nothing to complain about—except the weather.

When Relief Comes

But when the tooth is out, there is really a great feeling of relief. When the relaxation comes, they realize that they haven't really done it for years.

Did you ever read Charles Lamb's "Superannuated Man"—written the day he came home forever? Well, that is the treatment for high blood pressure. Charles Lamb enjoyed it. But then he was a genius, and he didn't give up tobacco.

There are other people who have been cheerful about it. Do you remember the introduction to A. Edward Newton's delightful book of literary essays, "A Magnificent Farce?" "In the midst of renewing old associations," he wrote, "I discovered I was not in very robust health. This is not my discovery. I paid a physician a handsome fee for making it. His advice was 'Go slow. You have been pelting along for 40 years; it's time to relax. How about smoking, he continued, 'how many cigars?'

Moderate Smoker

"To this I replied: 'Doctor, there are some things too sacred for words, and there are some things men do not even tell their wives. But, in point of fact, I have always smoked in moderation; never more than one cigar at a time; three after breakfast, four after lunch.'

"'That will do. We will omit the cigars after breakfast entirely—your limit will be one after lunch and one after dinner. Take up reading. Didn't someone tell me you had written a book? Write another one, and then go to Europe, where the criticisms of it will not annoy you. My prophecy is that you will live to be a disagreeable old man.'

"I sat back. 'Let someone else do your work.' What music was in these words! 'Writ a book.' What fun! 'Go to Europe.' More fun! I always said I was lucky."

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

B. J. W.: "I have a child eight years old, who has a habit of always chewing gum. Would the excess saliva formed through the continuous chewing tend to bring on heart burn?"

Answer: No, it would tend to have just the opposite effect; to relieve heart burn if it were present.

L. S.: "I have an adenoid in my throat and am 30 years of age. Am I too old to have it removed? Does it affect the heart and kidneys?"

Answer: An infected adenoid can be removed at any age. An infected adenoid may possibly do damage to the heart and kidneys.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Coco Butter

Dora: Massage your face nightly with warmed coco butter. This will help to fatten the tissues and round out the facial contours.

Superfluous Hair

Josephine: The superfluous hair bleach you refer to consists of two teaspoons of peroxide and half a teaspoon of ordinary household ammonia.

Colors

Marie L.: I think that you will find shades of tan, brown, gray, blue, dark green, dark red and black most becoming to you.

DIZZY DEAN PICKED BY FOUR IN CHICAGO CLUBHOUSE CONFAB

Paul Waner, Outfielder Joe Moore and Southpaw Carl Hubbell the Chosen Four.

ROUND-TABLE OF SIX.

LOS ANGELES, April 3. — Between batting practice and fielding drill the ball players usually go to the club house to change their sweat shirts before the game starts.

A group of Chicago Cubs was in the club house exchanging wet undershirts for dry ones when a discussion started about the most valuable players in the National League. Six players named what they considered the ten most valuable players in the National League.

The Chosen Few.

They agreed on only three of them—Paul Waner, Pirates' outfielder and National League batting champion, and Outfielder Joe Moore and Southpaw Carl Hubbell of the Giants.

Dizzy Dean, Cardinals' ace who was named the league's most valuable player last season, was named by only four of the six. Chuck Klein, National League batting champion in 1933, named Leroy Parmelee, Carl Hubbell, and Lon Warneke as the three best pitchers in the league.

Freddie Lindstrom, who has an all - time major league batting average of .314, agreed with Klein on Hubbell and Warneke, but picked Schumacher instead of Parmelee.

The high regard of the players for Joe Moore was one of the surprises of the discussion. In the voting for the National League's most valuable player last season by sports writers, Moore received only two points.

A Star Overnight.

"Moore developed into a star overnight," said Kiki Cuyler. "He was just an average player in 1933, but last year he came all of a sudden and was one of the best outfielders in the league, all things considered, at the end of the season."

Mel Ott, Moore's team-mate, was picked on five of the six lists. Wally Berger, Braves, was named by four players. So six representative ball players on the Cubs regard Moore Berger and Ott as the league'sthree best outfielders.

Only Infielder.

Jimmy Collins, Cardinals' first baseman, with 3 votes, was the only infielder to get mention more than twice. Gabby Hartnett, Cubs' catcher ,was named by four players.

Lon Warneke selected P. Waner, Ott, Collins, Berger, Dizzy Dean, Hubbell, Cartnett, Joe Moore, Billy Herman, and Medwick.

Chuck Klein named Parmelee, Hubbell, Warneke, Jimmy Wilson, Frisch, Grimm, Joe Moore, P. Waner, Jackson, and Lopez.

Freddie Lindstrom picked P. Waner, Ott, Terry, Frisch, Urbanski, Martin, Joe Moore, Hartnett, Hubbell, Schumacher, and Warneke.

Billy Herman listed P. Waner, Joe Moore, Hubbell, Berger, Collins, Medwick, Frisch, Dizzy Dean, Jurges and Hartnett.

Woody English named Hartnett, Lopes, Hubbell, Dizzy Dean, Warneke, P. Waner, Joe Moore, Berger, Ott, and Billy Herman.

Tex Carleton selected Warneke, Jurges, Collins, Dizzy Dean, Berger, Joe Moore, Hubbell, Derringer, P. Waner, and Ott.

Beats Stella Walsh

Above is shown Miss Helen Stephens, a high school lass from Fulton, Miss., who recently astounded track experts of the United States by taking the measure of the redoubtable Stella Walsh. She whipped the great Olympic runner in the final of the United States National A. A. U. 50-metre sprint, stepping the distance in 6.6 seconds to equal the world mark. Miss Stephens also won the eight-pound shot put event, with a heave of 39 feet 7¼ inches.

MAX BAER CALLS CARNERA TO WIN

Champion Claims Lewis is Overmatched and Lacks Ring Experience.

THIRD RATE SCRAPPER.

CHICAGO, April 3.—It came out to-day what Maxie Baer thinks of Joe Louis as a contender for his heavyweight crown and it isn't much. To him the weaving, slashing Detroit Negro is just another inexperienced youngster, who had better mind his training manners between now and June 19, or else.

The or else, Baer thinks, will be a nifty and instructive punching lesson from Primo Carnera, whom he meets in New York on that date.

"Why," Baer scoffs, "Louis is a third or fourth rater and no better than my brother Buddy. Who has he fought? His best knockout victim was Charlie Massera and you wouldn't call Massera a contender. He's a good puncher but not a murderous one."

After demonstrating what he would do to Louis if they ever met in the ring, Baer turned to the Carnera fight.

"Louis was overmatched for that one," he said, "and I don't think he can beat the Italian. You can take it from me that nobody's going to knock Carnera out with one punch. The big spaghetti juggler will keep getting off that floor.

"And say, I'm not so sure that a short puncher like Louis can do much with Carnera. Primo's so big he can wear a smaller guy down and Louis will have trouble shooting through his long flailing arms.

"I beat Carnera last summer because I could guess every move he was going to make with that long paw of his. Louis isn't that experienced."

Ready For Anyone.

But the million dollar gate that Mike Jacobs of New York's Twentieth Century Sporting Club predicts for a Baer-Louis title match if Louis flattens Carnera sounds just dandy to Max.

Baer, he'll be frank with you, is having a slight touch of pecuniary embarrassment and right now the money's the thing. If Louis wants a title match, he can have it with Baer's compliments, providing Max gets the bigger cheque.

Arcil Hoffman, Baer's manager, makes it plain that he likes the sound of the $250,000 offer that Walter Rothenberg, German promoter, has forwarded for a Baer-Max Schmeling match in London, August 17. But he's marking time on a contract with Madison Square Garden, which is empowered to name a "suitable" opponent by April 15 or invalidates its agreement.

SPORTS — Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two — DAY BY DAY

(By C. J. P.)

The Peterborough Hockey Club is holding its annual meeting at 7.30 this evening in the Chamber of Commerce. Officers for the coming year will be elected and other matters handled. As we pointed out yesterday, this is an open session and now is the time to do the talking—not next Fall. The intermediate and junior players, officers and others interested should all be on hand for this important meeting. Both Manager Eddie Wright and Manager Frank Buckland, as well as President Charlie Curtis, Secretary Ernie Wolff and Freddie Scates are likely to be returned again, and we hope so. And the same with the other executive officers. Why change a machine when it's operating okay?

One more game will be played in the Ladies' Basketball League finals before it's all cleaned up. Westclox have won the senior championship, but Wohelo Club and Murray St. Church are tied with a win each in the junior playoffs. They'll tangle again at 7.30 in the Y.W.C.A. this Friday e'en. Admission is a dime and it should be well worth it. Wohelos booted over the dope bucket when they copped the second tilt to sew up the series and now the title is just a tossup. You pay your money and you take your choice. The girl cagers are worth seeing.

We feel much better now that we've found out that Alex Kasaboski—former popular mat villain here—has not deserted his sidekick, Frank Hart, but is also rasslin' over around Detroit. A dispatch yesterday said: "George Dusettte will seek revenge against Alex Kasaboski, the Pitiless Pole, next week. Dusette, who usually is smiling as he wrestles, has made it known he is going after Alex from the first gong with malice aforethought which bodes no good for the rotund Canadian matman. He realizes he will be facing a mat gladiator who stops at nothing to gain his ends and is intent on keeping intact his good record of beating every man who has beaten him, in a return engagement."

Regarding that playoff for the bantam baseball title which the Waterloo guys want the O.B.A.A. to order between Waterloo and the local King Edward School team, little is likely to come of it. Don Crawford of King Edward says his team would like the game but will not go to the expense of travelling to play it. Waterloo no doubt feels the same way. And it's too much to expect either team to guarantee expenses for the other. Since the winners—Columbus Boys of Toronto—were thrown out, both the local team and Waterloo have equal rights as semi-finalists. But both Prexy Jack Deannard of the City League and Mr. Crawford feel that if Waterloo wants the title so doggone badly, why let 'em claim it! After all, it's the 1934 crown and a bit tainted anyway. And we've won a number of O.B.A.A. championships while Waterloo has yet to cop an Ontario baseball title.

The men softballers got together again last eve and went ahead on their entertainment program for the O.A.S.A. convention here Good Friday. They also decided upon a dollar-per-plate banquet with the visiting executive members and other prominent men guests before the general meeting. And last year's champion Orphans will be given merchandising prizes by the league. The gang will meet again next Monday eve at seven in Duffus' and this session should pretty well clean things up before the big brawl. Meantime a couple of dozen or more personal invitations are being sent out to various centres in Eastern Ontario, places usually conspicuous by their absence at these conventions.

The Tigers of the Junior City Hockey League sent us this note yesterday: "How about putting it in tomorrow night's paper that the Tigers will claim the City League shields if Lakefield does not agree to play on or before Thursday night in Norwood. The players all agree that the shields were put up for competition this year and it is not right to leave them go till next year as some of the players will be over age. Normal should not be still in there as the Tigers put them out in a sudden-death game."

Annual meeting of the Church Softball League will be held April 15th in the 'Y' at seven p.m. All city churches and nearby villages like Lakefield, Keene, Norwood and Millbrook should have at least two representatives on hand. Plans for the coming season will be made, reports read and a committee of five elected, this committee consisting of the chairman of the Inter-Church Sports Committee of the Peterborough Boys' Work Board and four others. Last year they were Len Agnew, Whitty Thirnbeck, Bill Anderson, Reg Kingdon and Don Charlton. This is a good league and those interested in having another successful season should get busy now.

Doug Brennan, Havelock's contribution to pro hockey, arrived home from Vancouver yesterday on the C.P.R. He works for the C.P.R. every summer as a brakeman. Doug not only was one of the fastest big men in the Pacific Coast League this winter but he knocked down a much bulkier pay envelope than his teammates. He was worth it. The Lions were in third place when they got Brennan and promptly pulled up to the top of the heap and then copped the title. Edmonton, Calgary, Seattle and Portland are other teams in this loop. The Havelock husky is glad to be home, though he likes the British Columbia town. He went west last winter following suspension from the Canadian-American League while with Philadelphia Arrows. But he is still the property of N'Yawk Rangers and takes orders from the Madison Square Garden big shots who released him temporarily for Western Canada hockey.

Hither and yawn: Barrie Lions Club will banquet their juniors, who brought Barrie its first O.H.A. title, tomorrow; looks like no junior 'A' and 'B' playoff series can be arranged . . . . Just try to get a ducat for that Maroons-Leafs' game in Toronto Sat'day—there's no such animal . . . . No word from Lindsay on their lacrosse decision yet . . . . The City Baseball League should have a delegate or two at the O.B.A.A. convention in Kitchener Saturday . . . . Only 266 more days till Christmas!

UPTON SINCLAIR SCORES VICTORY

Epic Party Elects Councilman in Los Angeles City.

CHICAGO RETURNS KELLY.

WASHINGTON, April 3 (C.P.).—Progressives strengthened their position in Wisconsin and Upton Sinclair's epic party achieved partial success in California to highlight elections in various parts of the United States.

Two more Progressivas were elected to the Wisconsin State Senate yesterday, bringing the Lafollette-sired party within one vote of the Democratic majority in a show of force interpreted in some quarters as a vote of confidence in the third party that put Governor Philip Lafollette into office three months ago.

A Republican Assemblyman was elected from a normally Republican district, but Progressives maintained their wide margin of power in the Lower House.

In Los Angeles, one city councilman was re-elected by the Sinclair forces, whose "end poverty in California" campaign failed to elect the former Socialist Governor a few months ago.

Apparently from 10 to 15 epic council candidates were assured of positions in the run-off election on May 7th.

2 of 10 Candidates in Race.

The epic movement, however, placed only three out of 10 candidates in the municipal judgeship race.

A striking display of strength was exhibited by Chicago Democrats who rolled up 796,150 ballots to retain Mayor Edward J. Kelly at the head of the city, snowing under Republian Emil Wetten, who gleaned 166,571 votes, and Newton Jenkins, Independent, with 87,726.

Some observers saw the Chicago display as a bid for attention from National Democratic leaders who, some Cook County party members said, have ignored the Chicago democracy. Kelly's vote broke all Chicago mayoralty records.

HARROGATE, England, April 3.—(C.P.)—H. L. Brook, British airman, who completed a record-breaking flight from Australia Sunday, had no apogogies to-day when he was welcomed to his home town here to-day because the un-franked letters he carried from Australian Lord Mayors had been confiscated by British customs autho rities.

It is expected the letters will be delivered by a mere postal carrier in the ordinary way.

Sims Down 11,349 At End 59th Rubber

NEW YORK, April 3 (A.P.). — P. Hal Sims is almost ready to believe aces and kings are not so very important in the great game of contract bridge.

At the end of 59 rubbers in the 160-rubber bridge match between Hal and Dorothy Sims and Ely and Josephine Culbertson, the Culbertsons are leading by 11,340 points, yet the honor count shows them trailing in the number of aces and kings.

The count shows the Simses leading in aces 743 to 726, and in kings 752 to 716. The Culbertsons have held more queens, 764 to 704.

The Culbertsons have now won 39 rubbers and the Simses 24. The point score standards 54,160 to 42,820.

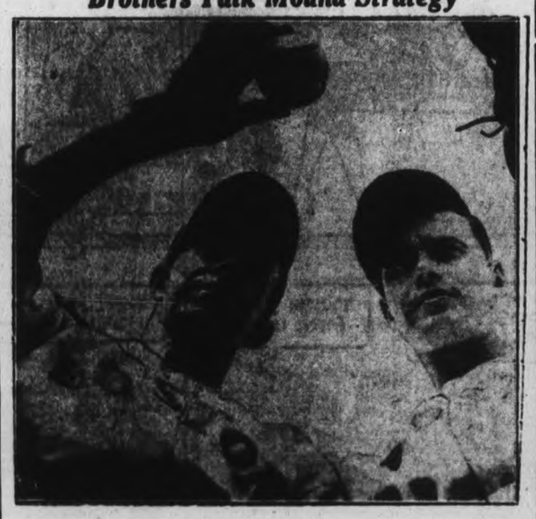
Brothers Talk Mound Strategy



The only first string brother battery that will be seen in action in the major leagues this summer, is shown above at an unusual angle, as they talk things over before stepping on to the diamond. Apparently they are deciding on pitching strategy during the training season of the Boston Red Sox. Together they are Dick Ferrell, (Left), catcher, and brother Wesley Ferrell, a fireball hurler of a few seasons back, who figures this is his year for a comeback. Joe Cronin's Red Sox will be only too pleased if the brother battery clicks in a big way.

Gatti Still Hopes For Another Wagner

NEW YORK, April 3.—(C.P.) — Giulio Gatti-Casazza, retiring director of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, broke his silence to-day.

Gatti sails for Italy and retirement April 27, but with reporters he left such comments as these:

"Without imagination there is no strength to move and interest the public and it is useless to thumb your nose at the public....

"We need a Verdi, a Wagner. A Wagner? That is asking too much, perhaps, but one must pray . . .

"The really great artist is always the artist who can conquer the public, who has magnetism . . .

"A good voice is worthless without the communicative force which every great artist has . . .

"All artists have a feminine side and they must be managed . . .

"I think, perhaps, that I was born a director . . ."

"I fully expect to be down to ridnig we ight by the time I go through the first program."

On the program he is listed as: Earl Sande, singer and master of ceremonies.

SUSPECT ALLOWED BAIL

TORONTO, April 3 (CP)—Bail of $5,000 was set yesterday for Noel Raymond, Montreal, charged with breaking and entering the premises of H. Rose, jeweler, and stealing a quantity of watches. Police were able to trace Raymond by a cut on his hand that was caused when he broke the glass in the store window.

APRIL 27 LAST DAY FOR NOMINATIONS

Canadian-owned Stables and Classes on Thorncliffe Grand Circuit Card.

A most attractive race program for Toronto's Grand Circuit harness horse six-day meeting, July 18-24, at beautiful Thorncliffe mile track, is announced by Secretary Marvin Smith and President Will Woollatt. Entries close April 27.

The elaborate program is also well studded with individual Canadian-owned stakes and classes. Toronto is the third Grand Circuit city in the yearly big time circuit. The circuit opens at Toronto, then on to Cleveland and from Cleveland to Toronto, July 18, then on to Boston, Mass. Other major cities follow and in September the curtain drops at Lexington, Ky.

This year's Toronto Grand Circuit, which follows on the heels of last season's success, will be one of unique and varied race features never before presented hereabouts on one race program. Three forms of race conditions are embodied in the set-up for this season. The standout race prgoram of over $20,000 in stakes and open class purses will find 24 class races and stakes representing 72 individual competitive race events for both Canadian and American trotters and pacers.

The Progressive Stakes for trotters, value $2,600, and the Progressive Stakes for pacers, value also $2,600, will be raced according to speed records of the entrants. Each class stake will have three divisions. First division for trotters of extreme speed, world's champions, with race records faster than 2.04; second division for record trotters from 2.04 to 2.08, and third division for record trotters slower than 2.08. The Progressive pacing stakes also will have three divisions.

First for the world's fastest pacers, second division, of records 2.03 to 2.07 and the third division for pacers slower than 2.07. These progressive stakes raced on three-heat-mile plan. All nominees named at closing time, April 27, will be again classified the day before their race date at the Toronto Grand Circuit and should any April named Progressive starter attain a faster race record previous to the Toronto start, will be placed in respective stake division as per new record at no additional entry cost.

Americans Leading 'Grapefruit' Series

NEW YORK, April 3 (A.P.).—A seven-game winning streak for New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox' improved showing against Pittsburgh Pirates, have enabled the American League to take a wide edge over the National in the race for the mythical "grapefruit league" baseball championship.

Of the 68 games so far played, the American League has won 39; the National 29. Fifty-nine games remain to be played, but the American loop's 10-game edge is not likely to be overcome.

The Yankees, cleaning up at the expense of Boston Braves, are carrying most of the American League burden. They have won nine of their 13 games with National League opponents.

France may outlaw all overtime work.

CHAPTER 51

Leila looked at it. The sound lay gray-blue and gleaming in the moonlight, with little boats and larger boats of the nearest boat club rocking at anchor. A big autumn moon was pushing redly up the sky. The four acres of Fernwood waters lay orderly and pretty beyond them; the quaint colored houses, a full dozen by now, ready for occupancy with their green lawns, their landscaping, their lighted porches, had an air of completeness and security and youthful prosperity. The big community house was all alight, and the parking space to one side of it was nearly full of cars already. The bathing beach had been completely reclaimed, and the cabanas were complete, too—this was a late autumn, there would be at least a fortnight, perhaps a month, more of bathing—red and yellow awnings, big bright umbrellas, had been set up or left up this night to show how the shore would be by day. She looked back to the dozen defiantly bright houses again, and saw beyond them again excavations, cellars, half-built houses. The place would be all done before frost came....and before spring came it would be desolate.

"Good-looking, eh?" said Orton again.

"Good-looking as a mirage," she said.

"We're at the speakers' table," said Orton complacently, as he led her in. He rarely listened when Leila used words he didn't know.

"What's this? The phalanstery dining room?" she asked, as he led her into a long bright room dotted with the conventional little flower-trimmed tables, with the usual amount of darting waiters, up to the customary long white table on an elevation, with the usual men and women in evening dress eating the usual canned crab hors d'oeuvre along it.

"Phal—what? Say, Leila, don't go highbrow on me. Got a speech to make, strain enough on the old intellect. It's the casino's ballroom. The regular dining room wouldn't take all the tables. The best people from all the Fernwoods are here. Civic occasion and all that."

"Addison," said Leila, a little dazed, "called it the community house."

"Well, that's all right, funny chap, has funny names for things," said Orton. "It's just his Fernwood Waters Casino just the same. And a very good one. Nice cabanas, good pool—I forgot, you were funny about coming over to look at it. Just shows what a chap without any business sense can do if he lets bright people pull him through. DeFries is good. I find he belongs to my fraternity. And, of course, the mater's one of our big minds, if I do say it."

Leila silently attacked her canned crab. There was a very nice orchestra, the one from the Manor Country club, indeed, playing airs from "Roberta" and "All the King's Horses." Above it, the satisfied chatter of an eating populace roared. She scanned them. Yes, most of the Manor people. A lot of the Fernwood Gardens people. All the younger ones she did not know must be the new Fernwood Waters purchasers. She looked along the table at which he was sitting; there in a tailcoat was Red DeFries, beside him the honey-blonde, comely, tall girl in green, his Marge. There were Jerry and Mary Martin, Mary in a maroon velvet with no back and no shoulders and long skin-tight sleeves, possessively gay with Jerry. There were the older Martins, of course, he paunchy, capable, aggressive-jawed, she glitter-haired, small and diet-thin, a little more lined, more than a little rouged and transformationed, a memento mori, for anybody with eyes, of what Mary would be in twenty years. There were Mayor Gregg, of the Fernwoods, and his wife, adequate, pleasant, tired. In the center of the table behind the fern piece sat, of course, Addison and Bet. Addison had made one last gesture for the people in the only business suit in the house. Bet hadn't. Bet, too, had gone reckless on the family charge account, and was expensive, if madonna-like, in blue and white with pearl trimmings. On Addison's farther side sat little Aunt Minnie in the black silk and old honiton Leila had helped her get into an hour before happy, flushed, and quivering. Beyond her was the president of the Manor Beach club and Mrs. Johnston-Hedges. On the far side of her was a vacant chair. There was no proletariat. None at all.

She turned to Red.

"Where is the proletariat this place is for?" she demanded of him point-blank.

"Good-evening. Oh, that's coming. Is this a festive occasion, I ask you? Marge and I are getting married almost the same time you are, though not so haughtily. Margie, old lamb, observe the only girl that never fell for our Jerry."

Leila and Marge were agreeable to each other; then somebody on the other side of Marge talked to her and Leila went back to silent consumption of the usual large tired half-chicken, the tepid beans and pink sherbet. She occasionally tried to talk to Orton as she wearily worried her lettuce leaf apart. But Orton was preoccupied. He was muttering over and over a humorous anecdote with which he was probably about to begin the speech he had been allotted. He was not a fluent public speaker.

Red DeFries, even, on her other side, was in the same condition. He was doing shorthand on the back of a pack of catalog cards. Occasionally he shuffled them desperately and rubbed out their numbers and renumbered them. Leila wished she had a speech to make herself, in order to have a reason for not paying attention.

The ice cream came and was eaten. The black coffee came and was drunk. Mrs. Johnston-Hedges arose, toastmistress as usual for all the civic doings for miles around the Fernwoods. After the usual humor and the usual compliments to her auditors, she began to admire Addison.

"He has," she finished archly in her deep voice, "in the words of Gilbert and Sullivan, 'pricked that annual blister,' our little neighborly argument between Fernwood Waters and Fernwood Manor about bathing beaches. It was now automatically at an end. For with a casino, cabanas, a pool, and a beach far superior to the parent Fernwood, open to all the daughter Fernwoods at a fee one-quarter of what poor old Fernwood Manor has to charge, Fernwood Waters, under Addison Huntingdon, has given to the younger and gayer Fernwoods a smarter, cheaper, better, more exclusive bathing beach. Armed with this assurance, I am in a position to tell you that the other Fernwoods have officially released their demand to share our poor old beach, before the annual village meeting. In fact, all that we hidebound manorites need feel," she ended blithely, unheeding Addison's furious face and the efforts he was making to jump up (efforts Bet thwarted), "is that we may not be able to control our desire to ask for a little fun among these delightful cabanas also. But I assure Mr. Huntingdon that we won't, unless we are invited. Thanking him again, I will now turn the meeting over to our mayor, Mr. Gregg, who will introduce the next speaker."

FAILS COTTAGE FIRE

FORT ERIE, Ont., April 3 (CP)—Lionel Griffin, special policeman, yesterday frustrated an apparent deliberate attempt to fire the summer home of Gerald Scanlan, Buffalo policeman, at Erie Beach. He found a mattress still smouldering on the second floor together with still warm embers of charred newspapers. There have been an unprecedented number of fires in Fort Erie Beach section in recent months.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, April 4

Great excitement, activity and stirring events, in both business and private life, mark this day and make it memorable, according to the direction of important planets. There may be abrupt change, the aftermath of sudden news probably coming from a distance. This may cause a hurried transit to strange scenes, associations and interests, and cause a particularly happy and auspicious reaction on the personal environment and affiliations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may confidently anticipate a very happy change in affairs during the coming year. There are signs of very sudden good news from a distance, which may precipitate an abrupt upheaval in the surroundings, with fresh opportunities, new contracts and pleasant associations. All these elements of happiness and good fortune may be sought with assurance and faith.

A child born on this day may achieve prosperity and happiness.

Switzerland has placed a ban on the establishment of new shoe factories.

Fort Erie To Allow Unpasteurized Milk

FORT ERIE, Ont., April 2. (CP) Declaring it is done in Welland, Port Colborne and other Niagara district towns, Councillor William Duncan has succeeded in getting through council his long expected amendment to the milk and cream bylaw here. It will allow farmers on payment of one dollar a vehicle license fee annually, providing they previously obtain orders, to deliver unpasteurized milk and cream in Fort Erie.

Hitherto the pasteurization bylaw has barred them even if they obtained a license. The amendment, however, is passed subject to approval by the Provincial Board of Health. Mayor Harry Hall declares one objection might be possibility of contaminating bacilli.

ALDERVILLE

A very interesting tournament of crokinole between Alderville and Roseneath was held in the Council Chamber at Alderville on Friday evening.

The highest individual score of any game played in a local tournament was secured by Nelson Harvie and Howard Lapp when they defeated the Alderville leaders Ernie Crowe and Tom Marsden by a score of 235 in four hands.

Highest scorers for Alderville were E. Crowe and T. Marsden who won 9 games out of 12 and for Roseneath were H. Lapp and N. Harvie who won 8 games out of 10. The players were for Alderville, Ernie Crow and Tom Marsden, D. Simpson and W. Marsden, A. Hager and L. Simpson; for Roseneath, H. Lapp and N. Harvie, A. Brown and N. Sherwin, S. Nichol and N. Brisbin, subs, E. Radley and J. Pacey.

The score for the evening was in favor of Alderville with 22 points and Roseneath 14.

Mission Band Concert Mark Street Church

The annual spring concert of the Emma Smith Mission Band of Mark Street United Church was a recent enjoyable event, largely attended by an interested group of parents and friends.

The program was interesting and varied and included several accordion selections by Master Ross Cribbis of Park Street Baptist church.

The program was as folowls: Opening chorus, recitation, "Grandpa's Spectacles," by Crystal Hendry; song, "My First Music Lesson," by Fern Agnew; dialogue, "Bearing the News"; chorus, "Home on the Range," by the Little Boys; recitation, "My Dead Doll," by Beryl Rae; chorus, "On the Good Ship Lollipop"; reading, "Selling Eggs," by Muriel Woodcock, duet, by Barbara and Ethelwyn Daniel; dialogue, "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe"; recitation, "Dolly's Bath," by Dorothy McNeely; dialogue, "Uncle Hiram's Cold"; Doll's Song, by eight girls; recitation, "Good Night," by Paul Welsh; closing chorus, "We Who Have Heard of the Saviour."

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. C. Telford, who played accompaniments, was presented with a lovely bouquet of daffodils by little Ruth Daniel.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

BORN with a paralysed arm and an inferiority complex, Kaiser Wilhelm II. was brought up in an atmosphere of militarism and imperialism; he has been described as a man who seemed to be 'mentally warped" on the subject of Germany and the sword and the widening of the German empire.

Personally, he was said to have been spiteful and ill-tempered. He many times vented his wrath against King Edward VII. and the British royal household. The kaiser ascended the throne in 1888; King George in 1910.

British kings seldom left their country prior to the reign of George V. But King George had visited India and in 1913, in May, on the occasion of the marriage of Princess Victoria Louise, the kaiser's daughter, the King and Queen made an official visit to Berlin to attend the wedding.

Beneath that, however, the visit was made in an attempt to ease the growing animosity existing between the two houses. (Wilhelm was a first cousin of King George).

Today's picture shows the King and the Kaiser reviewing troops at Potsdam; who would think that a few short months later they would be hurling human projectiles at each other's throats—one with blood in his eye, the other with tears!

Though the kaiser eventually led Germany to disaster, he must be credited with having in the space of a few years, built Germany into a first rank military, naval, economic and political power. He had supreme power in his own country and was, before the war, perhaps Europe's most influential man. A man of keen intelligence, his early training had made of him a man apart—a man who would brook no obstacle in achieving his ambitions.

To-morrow: The Great War starts.

ELIMINATE CRIMINALS

BOSTON, April 3 (AP)—Wholesale destruction of habitual criminals and hopeless victims of insanity is advocated by Dr. Walter Beck, Visiting Professor of Social, and Clinical Psychology at Boston's University's School of Religious and Social Work.

The death of those who have proved to be socially unfit, he said, would do more toward eliminating crime than anything else.

Trees In Forest Scheme Ruined By Rabbits, Rats

LINDSAY, April 3.—At the council meeting Monday night, Chairman J. L. Baker of the parks and grounds committee, startled the council members when he stated that practically all the trees, some 10,000, planted under the supervision of the forestry department, had been ruined during the winter by rabbits and rats. Those not destroyed by rabbits had been cut down for Christmas trees. After much discussion, the chairman of parks was instructed to order trees to take the place of those destroyed.

MURRAY TRIAL IN JUNE?

LONDON, Ont., April 3 (CP) — There is a possibility "Piccolo Pete" Murray may be tried at the general sessions of the peace opening here June 4 before a county judge and jury for the kidnapping and armed robbery of John S. Labatt. Crown Attorney Norman Newton admitted if the defence demands trial at that court, it will probably be held then. He believed the Crown will be ready to proceed. Decision rests with the Attorney General.

FLANDIN UPHELD

PARIS, April 3 (AP)—The French chamber of deputies yesterday gave the government a vote of 410 to 194 as an expression of its confidence in Premier Flandin's plans for security against rearming Germany, and for keeping French francs on their present gold value.

TWO-HEADED CALF

ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 3. — (CP) — A 16-year-old pure-bred Holstein cow on the farm of Fred Carr, near here, gave birth to a two-headed calf. The freak died just before birth, the attending veterinary reported. One of the heads was perfectly formed; the other, on a separate neck, was twisted around and pressed against the calf's side.

STRONGER U.S. AIR FORCE

WASHINGTON, April 3 (A.P.)— Declaring he wants the United States air force to be the "strongest in the world," Chairman McSwain (D., S.C.), of the House of Representatives Military Committee today called aviation officials to a hearing to-morrow on all legislation touching the Army Air Corps thus far submitted to the House.

YUGOSLAVS SAID ON VERGE MILITARY DICTATORSHIP

VIENNA, April 3 (A.P.).—Yugoslavia is on the verge of a military dictatorship to-day, according to persistent reports received here.

Although the campaign for the parliamentary elections May 5 is being fought bitterly, some observers believe the voting never will take place.

Numerous despatches say a group of Cabinet members may seize control of the Government in a lightning stroke before citizens have an opportunity to go to the polls. In many quarters the impression prevails General Tera Zivkovich, Minister of War, who has enjoyed experience as a dictator, will emerge as the strong man of the future.

Y.P.S. CONDUCTS CHURCH SERVICE

B. B. Dawson and Phyllis Kidd Give Fine Addresses at Millbrook.

CADETS HOLD DANCE.

MILLBROOK, April 3. (Examiner Correspondence).—A special service was held in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday at 7 p.m., when the Young People's Society took charge. The members, approximately forty strong, formed the choir, and Dorothy McDowell presided at the piano.

Jean Burnham led in prayer, and Phyllis Kidd gave the talk on the life of Christ, the desertion in the garden by His disciples, forming the main body of the Bible story. The president, B. B. Dawson, took up the theme of "Recreation" defining in outline the professional athlete, the high salaried players, with practically no advantage from the game except excitement, and possibly controversy, for those who participate only by attending as fans, and applaud or blame as the case may be.

Next the independent players who carry on for the exercise and the fun of the game, were placed in contrast with directed athletics, to the advantage of the latter. In conclusion the idea of the Holy Spirit in 're-creation' making individuals as "new men in Christ Jesus" formed a fitting climax.

Closing the service, lights were turned off and a soft ruby shade cast on the large white cross at the rear of the platform, while Orville Wainman sang, "The Old Rugged Cross" and the minister pronounced the benediction.

Cadet Dance

The local Armouries was the scene of a pleasant social occasion on Friday evening when the second in the recent series of dances, under the auspices of the Millbrook Cadet Corps which is affiliated with the Third Prince of Wales' Dragoons, took place. Several carloads from out of town points, including a number of the Normal School students from Peterborough, were among those present.

Music was supplied by the Serenaders' orchestra and Orville Wainman sang several times during the evening. The money raised by these dances is to be used in defraying the expense of sending the local rifle team to Ottawa in the summer to compete at the D.C.R.A. matches. Local members have given a good account of themselves at this competition in previous seasons, and about sixty dollars is the sum required to enter the team.

Miss Etta Needler has returned home, her nieces, Misses Alice and Helen Needler, accompanying her from Toronto on Saturday.

The many friends of Mrs. (Dr.) E. L. Burnham will regret to learn that she had the misfortune to fall in her own room while preparing for retiring on Sunday evening, suffering a fractured hip in consequence. The injury is very painful, and is aggravated by the fact that the patient, who is in charge of Dr. H. A. Turner, is in her ninety-first year. Miss Bell, Reg.N., of Peterborough, is the nurse in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Needham, and Miss Helen Campbell motored from Toronto and visited Mr. and Mrs. I. E. and Miss May Needham, on Sunday.

Miss Ann Adams is holding one of her famous cooking schools in the Town Hall, Cobourg, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, with six of her graduate helpers from Toronto as assistants. Miss Needham, of Millbrook, is one of the latter, and a number of local residents are planning to attend the school.

Miss Vanita Ingram left for Toronto on Monday morning, having secured a business position in that city.

Miss Ethel Rowland has gone to Lindsay where she has taken a position.

Mr. Nelles Rowland, of Toronto, was home for the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rowland, Cedar Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, and son, Jack, of Toronto, were weekend guests of their daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) J. W. Wright and Dr. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whyte, who have been living just over Allen hill, are moving into Mrs. Sara Hawthorn's house, King street east, shortly.

Ottawa Fliers On Goodwill Flight

LEFT to RIGHT, Pilot Yvan Le Moine, Pilot Jack Charleson, both of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Club of New York, E. W. Appleby, and vice-president of the Canadina Club, E. A. Scott, who greeted the two Canadian airmen, who arrived at Floyd Bennett airport after a flight from the British West Indies. The two fliers are making a good-will flight.

Havelock

R. A. Miller spent Sunday with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hubbel and family spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. A. White, at Weston.

Mrs. T. W. Quinn, accompanied by twin daughters, Jean and Joan, and Miss Marjorie Quinn, spent Suhday with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bryans.

T. W. Quinn and daughters, Dorothy and Muriel, spent the week end with Toronto relatives, Mr. Quinn attending the meeting of Canada Packers' salesmen in the Queen City.

Mrs. Earl Williams and children, Ernest and Marion, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Williams and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Haig were in Toronto Saturday. Mr. Haig attended the Leafs-Bruins game at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Four Belmont Township youths pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly on Ottawa street in the early hours of Sunday morning, in police court here at 3 p.m. Tuesday. Magistrate Langley meted out $10 and costs or ten days in the county gaol with hard labor. One by one they paid the shot, $14 each with costs. When the fourth came up and was broke and placed in the cells, some good samaritans came to his rescue and paid for his ten days' freedom. Village Constable C. F. Roberts laid the charges.

Fair sized crowds turned out to hear Dr. John S. McCullough speak in the Town Hall last week. War on cancer was the topic of the address in the evening, while a general health talk was given the pupils of the local schools Thursday afternoon.

While local citizens are rejoicing over the wonderful spring weather we have been enjoying and local golf enthusiasts report greens in excellent condition, Ernie Aboud and his father, A. Aboud local business men, report six foot snow-banks on the Ottawa to Montreal highway on Sunday afternoon. They were proceeding to Knowlton, Que., and were forced to take the train from Montreal on account of the impassable snow-bound roads.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Rogers returned home with a delightful suntan from St. Petersburgh, Fla., and other southern cities, Tuesday morning, and were seen shivering on George Street in our seasonable weather.

April 6th is the date set for a public meeting to organize and plan for a public celebration May 6th in commemoration of Their Majesties' Silver Jubilee. All bodies are requested to take part.

The East Peterborough County Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association will hold their first meeting in the village on Wednesday afternoon, April 10th, in the council chambers, when it is expected prominent educationists will be on hand to discuss school problems. The Provincial Secretary is expected to be present.

$1.50 a gallon for first grade maple syrup was the price quoted this week, and thought to be an all-time low in Havelock district.

Quaint French Law Rules Murder Trial

SAINT PETER PORT, Guernsey Island, April 2 (A.P.)—The first witness for the Crown was called today in one of the strangest murder trials of modern times in which a woman's life is in the hands of a jury chosen in popular election by the residents of this little Channel Island.

The quaint customs of medieval French law regulated the trial of Gertrude Elizabeth Delamare, 27-year-old housekeeper, charged with murdering Alfred Brouard, 76, a farmer, by cutting his throat. She also is accused of forging his name to a will in her favor.

After the opening ceremonies yesterday, the defendant and the court made a six-mile trip to the white-washed farmhouse where Brouard lived with his housekeeper. There, according to the ancient French judicial procedure, an attempt was made to re-enact the death scene in the presence of the accused.

Michigan Heading To Republican Fold

DETROIT, April 2 (A.P.).—Michigan was counted definitely back in the Republican fold to-day.

Returns which neared completion to-day, showed the entire Republican slate for State offices leading by impressive majorities.

The Republicans obtained firm control of the important state administrative board; retained a six to two membership in the Supreme Court; assumed control of the Department of Public Instruction and ousted a Democratic regent of the University of Michigan.

The Republicans lost a seat in the State House of Representatives, where a bare Republican majority of 51 to 49 has been maintained. Since one Republican member of the House has been ill throughout this session, the election of Melvin L. Tomlin, Port Huron, gives the Democrats a technical voting strength of 50 to 49 for the Republicans.

DO YOU EVER OVER-INDULGE?

Over-eating and drinking usually means a bad night and an unpleasant morning after. But not for those who know the 'cheer-up' value of Eno's "Fruit Salt". As far back as the 18th century, when eating and drinking were favourite indoor sports, Eno saved the old-timers many a sleepless night, many a bad morning after.

A dash of Eno in a glass of water, morning and night, goes a long way in offsetting the effects of over-indulgence. Eno sweetens the stomach, sharpens the appetite, keeps the intestines free from poisonous waste, and makes you feel good all over. Eno forms no habit. It is pleasant to take and acts gently, normally, effectively.

Toronto 'Hat' Workers Quit—Discussions Fail

TORONTO.—Between 500 and 600 members of the Millinery Workers International Union quit their jobs to-day after negotiations carried on with employers for three weeks had failed. About 25 shops were idle. Union demands are for unionization of all shops; five-day, 40-hour week; limitation of all overtime; minimum wage for all crafts. At present there is a 44-hour week. The matter has been placed in the ranks of a strike committee.

Seamen Mingle Happily While Homelands Growl

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad. — While France and Germany growl at each other on land, the fellowship of the sea links their fighting men on the other side of the Atlantic. Cruisers of both nations, paying visits to Port of Spain, accorded each other friendly salutes yesterday. The French Jeanne D'Arc, lying at anchor, crashed out a 19-gun salve as the German Deutschland steamed up harbor and the Deutschland replied. Ashore, the crews mingled harmoniously on the city streets and in the clubs.

LIFE INSURANCE OMEA OFFICIALS DISCUSS ACTION

Bondholders of Four Companies Propose Compromise of 2p.c. Interest Cut.

BRITISH PRESS COMMENTS

See Cancellation of Contracts Blow to Canadian Bonds Abroad.

(By Canadian Press.)

Emergency meetings were being held in Toronto to-day by the Ontario Municipal Electric Association, municipal consumers of Hydro, and the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association, representative of firms holding large blocks of bonds in the 4 Quebec power companies whose Ontario contracts have been declared invalid by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn.

As these two organizations conferred in efforts to protect their interests under the threat of cancellation of the contracts by the Ontario Government, the proposed legislation of the Provincial Assembly was being subjected to discussion in financial and political centres of Canada, the United States, and Great Britain.

Commentators in the London Times and Daily Telegraph saw a danger to the credit of Canada in the Bill, and the latter newspaper said the Dominion Government should act quickly to prevent discredit being thrown upon Canadian securities as a whole.

During a Legislative debate in Toronto, Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck, who a month ago precipitated the situation by declaring the contracts were illegal, said the Government had tried to conciliate the power companies, but had been unsuccessful.

ABLE TO BALANCE BUDGET.

CHARLOTTETOWN, April 4.—(CP). The roar of Victoria Park guns to-day signalized the end of the fourth and last session of Prince Edward Island's 42nd General Assembly and sent the members homeward after a month of oratory shot through with rumblings of pre-election warfare.

All the colorful pageantry of other years attended the ceremony as Lieut.-Governor Debbis entered the historic provincial building accompanied by his suite and prorogued the assembly.

Premier W. J. P. MacMillan, who headed a force of 16 Conservatives against an opposition of 12 in a House with two vacant seats, must go to the country before another assembly opens.

Highlights of the session included the announcement by the Pre-

"Cinderella"

In 1927 Lena Wilson was living in the backwoods of Quebec, and James A. (Bud) Stillman, Jr., was playing somewhat of the part of a dude visitor from New York way. Then society was jolted a bit out of its blue book serenity when it heard that Bud had intended to, and did, marry Miss Wilson. Unlike the romance of his own mother and father, it has been a tremendous success. Mrs. Bud Stillman is a mother now for the second time, Bud is working as an interne at the Presbyterian hospital.

Assured By Czechs They Agree With Britain on Her Security Policies.

BACKING LEAGUE.

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, April 4. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, received an assurance to-day from Dr. Eduard Benes, Czech foreign minister, Czechoslovakia remains in perfect accord with Great Britain concerning the safeguarding of general peace and attachment to the policy of the League of Nations.

The British diplomat, who already had conferred on the European situation with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Berlin, with Joseph Stalin in Moscow and with Marshal Pilsudski in Warsaw, talked only briefly with Dr. Benes, the organizer of the Little Entente, on his arrival here.

Shortly later he left by airplane for London following the issuance of a communique.

The British diplomat reported as extensively as possible on his visits to other governments' leaders, then heard Dr. Benes' explanation of the Balkan and Little Entente viewpoints.

German Rearmament

Their leading subject, it was believed, was Germany's rearmament with the League policy advanced as the best present means for security.

Deputation to Protest Relief Cuts and Ask Greater Shelter Allowance.

TORONTO, April 4. (CP).—Led by an escort of Toronto mounted police and motorcycle officers, several hundred unemployed descended on Queen's Park to-day.

Carrying banners which bore such slogans as "We want work and not relief," "Why is Roebuck centralising suburban police?" they marched up the south entrance of Queen's Park crescent to the mound at the north of the park.

At this point, scene of last year's May Day celebration and the August hunger march, they gathered and heard speeches from leaders.

TORONTO, April 4. (C.P.).—Protesting recent cuts in relief and seeking greater shelter allowance, 500 unemployed men began marches on Queen's Park to-day from Long Branch, Mimico, New Toronto, and York Township. They plan to demonstrate before the Ontario Legislative Buildings and hope to receive an answer to their requests from Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare.

The Government has erected a fence to mark the place where the marchers must stop. There they will choose 10 of their number as spokesmen to be received by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck, and Mr. Croll.

Police on Guard.

Mr. Roebuck said police would be on guard at the fence when the "hunger marchers" arrived.

Threats of Toronto district unemployed to create a disturbance during the Legislature session led to the Government making extensive preparations, Premier Hepburn said.

Only one door of the large Whitney block office building was open. West door of the main building was closed and the front and east entrances were guarded.

Workmen were busy all morning covering the flower beds with tree branches. Parking of cars on roadways near the buildings was prohibited.

Unemployed leaders had "demanded" a hearing on the floor of the Legislative chamber, the Premier said, but he refused to create any such precedent. He said confidential reports reaching the Government indicated as a result of this refusal the unemployed planned disturbances.

New Homes In York Tax Exempt 5 Years

TORONTO, April 4 (CP)—Leopold Macaulay (Cons., York South) with Liberal support, blocked a move of Minister of Welfare David A. Croll in the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature to-day to hold over York Township legislation asking authority to exempt new dwelling houses from taxation for a five-year period.

The Minister said it should be held over because the Government was considering general legislation to cover the matter.

W. J. Gardhouse (Lib., York West), declared, "This is one time I am with Mr. Macaulay."

"Let it go through," said Mr. Macaulay, "until you bring down the general legislation. You have a lot to do this Fall session and you may never reach it."

Hon. Mr. Croll assented, and the section was passed on that provision would be superseded by the general legislation whenever it is passed.

GERMAN ANGER FLARES AFRESH

Nation Stirred By Reports Lithuania Plans Coup to Absorb Memel.

SEE RUSSIAN BACKING.

BERLIN, April 4.—(CP)—German anti-Lithuanian sentiment, already at high pitch from the sentencing of 91 Nazis by a Lithuanian military tribunal, was stirred again today by reports from abroad the Baltic country is planning a coup to absorb Memel.

Newspapers flaunted sensational headlines quoted London reports to the effect: "Lithuania planning complete annexation of Memel."

(Memel, formerly a part of Germany, was given a semi-autonomous status by the Memel statute and placed upon Lituanian sovereignty.)

"Memel is the touchstone in European politics today," a foreign office spokesman said. "The signatory powers are faced with the question of whether they are ready to do justice to Germany even if it should run counter to their own national interests of the moment."

Informed circles asserted the opinion is held by millions of Germans Russia is backing Lithuania in her Memel policy, while others also believe Italy and France are implicated.

Passports Barred

KAUNAS, Lithuania, April 4.—(CP-Havas)—Since last Saturday German authorities have refused to grant passport visas for transit or sojourn of Lithuanians planning to visit the Reich, it was learned today. Reasons for the move could not be immediately ascertained.

The Weather

TORONTO, April 4 (C.P.) — Synopsis.—Pressure continues high over the far Northwestern portion of the continent, and has increased over the St. Lawrence Valley, but continues low off the Labrador coast. A moderate depression is moving eastward across Colorado, and pressure is decreasing over the Western and Northwestern States. The weather has been rather cold over the Dominion, with scattered snowflurries in nearly all provinces.

Lower Lake Region: Moderate north to north-east winds; fair and rather cool. Friday—Moderate east to south-east winds; partly cloudy and becoming a little milder; probably followed by some light snow or rain in west portion towards night.

Georgian Bay: Light to moderate winds; partly cloudy and cool. Friday—Moderate east and south-east winds; partly cloudy and becoming a little milder.

Northern Ontario: Fair to-day. Friday—East to south-east winds; partly cloudy and becoming somewhat milder.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley: Moderate north-east to east winds; fair and rather cold to-day and Friday.

Hepburn said today, but at the same time he stated the government would not depart from its announced policy.

Following the premier's introduction of a bill Monday to terminate the contracts which he said were "illegal and unenforceable," bondholders met here yesterday and drew up compromise suggestions.

Reduced Interest

They offered acceptance of a reduced rate of interest on the bonds affected by impending termination of the contracts and passing on to the Hydro commission of the saving. The plan called for reduction of the interest rate on the outstanding bonds of the companies from the

SHERIFF, RIOTER SLAIN IN MELEE

Five Others Wounded as Crowd Resents Action Over Eviction Case.

IN NEW MEXICO.

GALLUP, N.M., April 4.—(AP)—Sheriff M. R. Carmichael, and an unemployed coal miner were shot to death and five persons, including one woman, were wounded today in a street riot precipitated by a shouting crowd of more than 300.

Disorder flamed when the crowd rushed sheriff's deputies removing prisoners from a hearing in a justice of the peace court growing out of an eviction case.

The jobless man slain was identified as Ignacio Velarde 37.

Deputy Sheriff B. W. Roberts said either Verde or another unemployed miner, Solomon L. Equibel, 37, shot Sheriff Carmichael through the head and the deputy then opened fire and shot both Velarede and Esquibel.

Two other sheriff's deputies, Edison L. (Bobcat) Wilson and Roy Bogges, were wounded in the fighting.

The rioting crowd gathered as a hearing proceeded in the court of Justice B. W. Bickel for three men on charges of breaking and entering a house from which one of the trio had been evicted.

The hearing was a preliminary one and as the officers and prisoners left the building on one of Gallup's main streets by a rear door the crowd ran around and charged.

Dust Storm Results Seen In Snowfall

Yesterday's brief snowfall here brought a reminder of the dust storms which are plaguing the West to local people. Muddy residues were left by the melting flakes of snow on windshields, automobile bodies and, much to the distress of housewives, clothesline arrays of washing.

Although the nuisance was not as noticeable yesterday as on occasions last month, the phenomenon was noted in several sections of the city. Weather experts explain that the dust is lifted to the high levels of the atmosphere in the West and is carried East by the prevailing westerly winds thousands of feet above the earth. Rain or snow washes the dust from the air and brings it to earth.

At several times during recent weeks, the sun has been noticeably reddened in appearance here due to the dust in the upper air.

Belleville Raid Nets 13 Slot Machines As Crown Terms Them Public Menace

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 4 (CP)—Armed with search warrants, police of this city swooped down on owners of slot machines, seized 13 of the machines and after loading them on a truck, carted them to the police station, where they were placed under lock and key.

The systematic raid followed complaints of businessmen to B. C. Donnan, K.C., County Crown Attorney. Crown Attorney Donnan termed the machines "a public menace, used by men and schoolboys who are spending too much for them to afford."

Summonses will be issued for operators of the machines charging "that they did unlawfully keep and maintain a gaming house."

Beauharnois Notifies C. G. E. They May Be Forced to Suspend Contracts.

BUILDING GENERATORS

Two of Five Generators Contracted For Already Been Delivered.

MONTREAL, April 4.—(CP)—Suspension of contracts for hydro-electric machinery valued at more than $2,000,000 was looming today as a result of the proposed cancellation of the Ontario Hydro commission's contracts with a number of Quebec utility companies.

Notify Companies

Officials of the Beauharnois Power Company announced today they had sent a letter to the Canadian Westinghouse Company at Hamilton and to the General Electric Company at Peterborough, Ont., notifying them in the event of the Ontario government cancelling their contract it would be necessary for them to request these firms to suspend work on all 25-cycle equipment manufactured for the Beauharnois Company. Officials said the equipment could not be used for any other purpose.

The Westinghouse Company is building the transformer for three more of the 50,000 horse power units that are provided for in the Hydro Commission contract while the General Electric Company is constructing the generators at their Peterborough plant.

These units have provided continuous work for many Ontario workmen, officials of the Beauharnois company said and as Ontario is the only purchaser of 25-cycle power, work may have to be suspended.

REILLY OUSTED FROM DEFENSE

Hauptmann Trial Counsel Protests—Just About to Ask New Hearing.

FRESH EVIDENCE.

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP).—Edward J. Reilly to-day received notice of his dismissal as chief of the defence counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann and said the action came just when we were going to make application for a new trial based on new evidence."

Reilly, who headed the unsuccessful defence of the trial of the man charged with the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh baby, said the new evidence would be the testimony of several persons willing to say they had seen a strange automobile loitering in the vicinity of the Lindbergh estate near Hopewell, N.J., for four days before the kidnapping of the infant on March 1, 1932.

Four men, Reilly said, were in the car, and Hauptmann was not one of them. The attorney said the license number of the machine was taken and showed the automobile had been stolen.

Further evidence, Reilly said, would be based on the testimony of Amandus Hochmuth, state's witness who testified during the trial of Hauptmann at Flemington, N.J., he had seen the defendant in the vicinity of the Lindbergh estate the morning of March 1, 1932.

LAST MINUTE NEWS FLASHES

Budget Is Carried With A Majority Of Twenty-Five

VICTORY GOES TO GOVERNMENT ON 3-FOLD VOTE

Conservatives and Liberals Combine to Down Social Credit Amendment.

LOST BY 165-12.

Gov't Turns Back Liberal Move Calling For Immediate Election 104-73.

OTTAWA, April 4.—(CP)—With second of the major milestones of the parliamentary session, the vote on the budget passed, the House of Commons today settled down to routine business and awaited introduction of further reform measures to come from the government.

Yesterday the government triumphed in a three-fold vote as the House approved the Rhodes budget and rejected a Liberal amendment calling for an immediate general election and a Farmer-Labor amendment calling for adoption of new monetary policies. Ranks of the third party were divided but Conservatives and Liberals voted in solid blocks on all three divisions.

It was the lone woman member, Miss Agnes MacPhail who led a section of the Farmer-Labor members into supporting the Liberal amendment. She said the election should come soon, the sooner the better and protested a long Easter adjournment.

Progressives Defeated

Conservatives and Liberals combined to snow under, 165-12, the social credit amendment moved by the Progressives. It was the first of the three votes.

Then the government beat back the Liberal amendment, calling for an immediate election. The vote was 104-73 with five U.F.A. members and one Progressive voting with the government (Spencer, Gardiner, Speakman, Lucas, Irvine, Carmichael) and six U.F.A.-Labor-Progressive

SWISS ATTACK NAZI ACTIVITIES

Program of Measures Being Prepared to Stamp Out German Organization.

ONE HOSTAGE HELD.

BERNE, Switzerland, April 4 (A.P.).—Incensed over the alleged abduction of an anti-Nazi journalist on her soil and his forcible removal to Germany, Switzerland took steps to-day to stamp out all Nazi activities within her boundaries.

A program of measures to suppress the Swiss version of Germany's dominant party is being drafted by Motta Baumann, Chief of the Department of Justice. It will be submitted to the Federal Parliament for approval at its June session.

The Federal Council, Swiss executive body, meanwhile insisted it would accept no compromise in its demand for satisfaction from the Reich for the kidnapping of the journalist, Berthold Jakob.

The Council decided it would carry its case before the Arbitration Tribunal created by the Germano-Swiss Arbitration Treaty of 1921 if diplomatic negotiations fail to effect Jakob's return and elicit satisfactory assurances from the Reich against a repetition of the incident.

Hans Weserman, Nazi newspaperman, who was said to have confessed playing a part in the abduction, was ordered held as a hostage for the anti-Nazi's release.

WOMAN IS SHOT BY HER HUSBAND

Spouse Claims He Was Being Tortured to Show Cache of Hidden Wealth.

BODY MASS OF WOUNDS.

KANSAS CITY, April 4 (A.P.).—Mrs. Nellie A. Hurd lay near death here last night as police investigated the weird story of her husband, Herbert, 77-year-old railway crossing watchman, that he shot her as she tortured him in an effort to locate "hidden wealth" he never possessed.

While doctors performed an operation to remove four bullets he admitted firing into her body, Hurd dramatically tore off his clothing in jail to disclose many stab wounds burns, bruises and marks which detectives said were made by wire.

All these, said Hurd, were inflicted by his wife as he lay sick "because spirits told her I had a hidden fortune I was giving to the woman next door."

Hurd repudiated a "confession" of infidelity found in the home after Mrs. Hurd was shot yesterday, charging it was obtained "while she was standing with a gun at my head."

LIVESTOCK PRODUCE AND CHEESE QUOTES

ONTARIO GRAINS

F.o.b. shipping point: Wheat, 85c to 87c; oats, 32c to 34c; corn, 56c to 58c; buckwheat, 43c to 45c; malting barley, 62 to 65c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

In a sudden burst of strength, the corn market ran upward 2⅛ cents maximum yesterday, and stimulated gains in the value of all other cereals.

Suggestions that a marketing squeeze might develop as a result of difficulties relative to fulfillment of May delivery, corn contracts led to aggressive speculative buying. Only about 1,000,000 bushels of the contract grades of corn are on hand at present in Chicago, and the open interest here amounts to nearly 57,000,000 bushels, more than half of which is in the May delivery.

With settlement timt for May contracts fast approaching, the corn market yesterday closed buoyant, 1⅞c to 2⅛c above Tuesday's finish, May 83⅛c to 83⅝c, wheat ⅝c to ¾c up, May 95⅛ to 95¼c; oats, ⅝c to ¾c advanced, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 12 cents.

Wheat prices dipped temporarily because of a forecast of wet weather in the wheat belt, but rallied later with corn on account of strength in foreign markets. Southern Hemisphere supplies of wheat were authoritatively estimated as totalling but 155,000,000 bushels, against 280,000,000 at this time last year.

Provisions rallied owing to corn market upturns.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter prices were weaker on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market yesterday, while eggs were somewhat easier, and other lines held unchanged. No. 1 regraded butter brought 22¾ to 23 cents a pound for carlots or less, with fresh butter just arriving at a cent a pound less. Small lots to retailers brought 24 cents a pound for solids and 26 cents from prints. Receipts totalled 437 boxes.

The egg market remained easier, graded shipments in carlots at less bringing 18 cents a dozen for "A" large, 15 to 15½ cents for "A" medium, and 15 cents for "A" pullets. B and C arrivals were 1,394 cases.

Cheese continued at 11¾ to 11¾ cents a pound for No. 1 Ontario fall make and a cent higher for summer lines. There were no receipts.

Quebec No. 2 white potatoes in 80-pound bags brought 45 to 55 cents, with Quebec Mountains at 55 to 60 cents and New Brunswick Cobblers the same. New Brunswick Mountains sold for 50 to 55 cents, and Prince Edward Island Mountains at 65 to 70 cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 4. — The upward trend of wheat prices was accelerated on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, as enthusiastic traders, encouraged by the steady advance of Liverpool futures, purchased heavily.

Values closed with net gains of 1¼ to 1⅝ cents, May at 86⅛ and July 86¼ cents. The May future touched a new high mark for the current bull movement, 87c, before slipping a half-cent in last-minute profit-taking.

Contributing to the support offered by bullish operators were sales for export of 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, for shipment from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Trading was active through out the session.

Liverpool closed ¾d to 1⅛d higher. Chicago also was strong, closing ⅝c advanced, as crop conditions in the United States South-west remained unfavorable. Buenos Aires, too, was higher, 1¼c up at noon.

While cash grains continued featureless, coarse grains moved sharply higher in sympathy with wheat.

McNally will hold similar practices in the General Division during April.

A resume of accidents occurring in the province during the past month was given by M. McCoy. C. H. Buskard presented the monthly statement of the Benevolent Relief funds and W. R. Reynolds told of routine work of the Publicity Committee. Occasion was taken by the chairman to present J. Callery with a medal and certificate, the award of the Ontario Safety League for a period of safe driving.

AUSTRIA JOINS NATIONS IN RACE TO BIGGER ARMY

Chancellor Announces 30,000 Men Allowed Her By Treaty, Are Too Few.

INTERNAL FRICTION NEAR?

VIENNA, April 4. (AP).—Austria to-day joined nations planning stronger armaments.

A Succinct Communique, issued after Chancellor Kurt Schusshnigg met with his cabinet, announced the dismembered remnant of the old Austro-Hungarian dual Monarchy would no longer be content with the tiny army of 30,000 men granted her under the Treaty of St. Germain.

"The cabinet expressed the unanimous conception that the granting to Austria of full equality was a self evident supposition," the brief statement said. "The necessary procedure to increase the armed forces has been started," it added.

No indication was given of whether Austria planned to follow the lead of Germany in restoring conscription nor did the communique set forth the size of the army to which Austria feels herself entitled.

Simultaneously, there were abundant indications of a re-awakening of the old-time military spirit. The regular army's crack honor regiment, a descent of the historic palace guard, immediately went on

Campbellford Unit In Riel Rebellion

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Recalling the Northwest Rebellion of fifty years ago, it is interesting to note that the town of Campbellford was well represented and volunteers under command of Capt. R. H. Bonnycastle and Lieut. John Govan lost no time in getting to the scene of action. The following now commissioned officers and men comprised the company: George Dickson, Thomas Pope, Frank Shea, E. Frederick, Chas. Reynolds, George Nadoo, M. McKee, E. Mitchell, Geo. Odell, Thomas Rannie, Charles Potter, James Jacobs, Abram Fraser Freeman Peeling, James Hill, Fred Nancarrow, Barney Frederick, W. Mills, Robert Begg. G. Rannie and Walter Fraser.

During the first week in April, just half a century ago, a despatch from Battleford was received here and stated that the western town had been burned and pillaged and that 'Big Bear' was with Riel and had gathered an army of 800 warriors. The leader himself was reported at that time to have 2,000 men under arms. Lieut. John Govan still resides in Campbellford, but at the present time is seriously ill.

EDEN IN PRAHA TO TALK PEACE

Expected to Make Comprehensive Review of Little Entente, Balkan Situations.

LAST CALL ON TOUR.

(By A. D. Stefferud. Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, April 4—Capt. Anthony Eden arrived here to-day for the last visit of his swing around Europe in search of devices to stabilize peace.

From this little country, born in the post-war settlement and surrounded by five nations, it was expected he would receive a comprehensive review of the Little Entent and Balkan situations. On his arrival he was driven to the British Legation, where he breakfasted before going into conference with Dr. Benes.

The conversations were expected to consume two hours before lunch. Eden's departure for London by special plane was set for 1 p.m.

A Foreign Office spokesman said during the conference the Czech statesmen "will mostly listen, but very interestedly," because Eden's travels touch so many interests of Czechoslovakia and the Little Entente. The spokesman said the Eastern Security Pact and Danubian proposals were being considered by the Czechoslovakian government.

Watching Neighbors

Its attitude, he said, will be that of a smaller power waiting to see what her larger neighbors intend to do.

"We are always ready to collaborate with others, but we shall wait and see what they do," the spokesman said.

Dr. Benes recently conferred with Nicholas Titulescu, Rumanian Foreign Minister and President of the Little Entente. Accordingly, the Czechoslovakian Foreign Minister was expected to represent both the Balkan and Little Entente viewpoints in to-day's conversations.

Eden came here from Warsaw, where he engaged in discussions with Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, Polish Dictator. The British emissary was said to have come away with the assurance of Polish statesmen, Poland is eager to co-operate with the powers in any way possible in the interests of European peace.

ROEBUCK LABOR BILL UNDER FIRE BY OPPOSITION

Nesbitt Charges Penalties For Breaking Agreements Are Insufficient.

BOND PROBE WIDENED.

Price Demands Investigation Go Back Three Months—Hepburn Agrees.

TORONTO, April 4 (C.P.) — Opposition forces in the Ontario Legislature to-day prepared for their initial attack on the Government's presentation of the province's financial statement. Col. W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto-Parkdale) was scheduled as the first speaker attacking the budget brought down Tuesday by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn.

The Opposition opened its attack yesterday on the Labor Legislation Bill of Hon. A. W. Roebuck, Attorney-General and Minister of Labor, when it came up for second reading. Russell Nesbitt (Cons., Toronto-Braeondale) declared the measure was "simply ridiculous." He said penalties for breaking agreements between employers and employees were insufficient and charged Mr. Roebuck with not incorporating in the measure his earlier predictions of its content.

Price on Bond "Leak"

Col. Price, repeating charges of a "leak" in connection with the Government's determination to terminate Quebec power contracts, declared bonds of one company, the Gatineau Power Company, whose contract is to be terminated, were sold "short" on the New York Curb several days before Mr. Roebuck delivered the address in which he held the contracts were "illegal, unenforceable and void ab initio."

The former Attorney-General demanded the investigation by Securities Commissioner J. M. Godfrey into selling of power bonds go back three months, and Premier Hepburn agreed to the extension. The investigation was ordered by the Premier Tuesday following a demand by Col. Price.

Nicholas Asmussen (Lib., Waterloo North) introduced an amend-

MONTREAL, April 4 (CP)—British economic "recovery" is, to a large extent, a press-created myth for overseas consumption, in the opinion of John Cripps, son of the British Labor leader, Sir Stafford Cripps. Contrary to reports in the North American press that a nastounding economic recovery was in progress in Great Britain, the actual improvement was slight, temporary, he said, and confined almost entirely to a limited industrial area about London and the South of England.

WOMEN'S AIR CORPS URGED BY MODERN JOAN OF ARC

WASHINGTON, April 4 (CP)—A modern Joan of Arc who would rather drop bombs from an airplane than lead sword-swinging soldiers clad in armor wants Chairman McSwain of the United States House Military Affairs Committee to sponsor an Air Reserve Corps for young women.

Signing her name Joan Sighs of Chicago the young woman in a letter to the representatives said she wants it to be known she and other young women like her are not going to "sit back in the next war."

"We want to defend our country and help ourselves as much as the men do," she wrote.

Railway transportation in Spain is expected to greatly increase this year.

MR + MRS GOOF It's hard on a poor lunatic

You can't get a good healthy cup out of stale coffee

DON'T expect either real coffee flavor or healthful stimulation when you drink coffee that is stale.

When coffee is stale, it contains rancid oil. It loses its flavor. And is a constant source of physical and mental irritation. It wears down your resistance, makes you really upset.

Thousands of housewives are unknowingly buying stale coffee. But there is one brand of coffee you can tell is fresh. Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee has the date of delivery to your grocer clearly marked on every tin. We watch this date and make deliveries so frequently that no tin stays on his shelf more than 10 days.

Ask your grocer for Dated Coffee tomorrow. In pound and half-pound tins.

Amended Milk Act Forbids Rebates For Customers

PENALTIES RUN FROM $50-$500 FOR BREACHES

Board Given Full Authority to Regulate, Arbitrate, Settle Disputes in Industry.

APPEALS TO JUDGE.

TORONTO, April 4.—Legislation to amend the Milk Control Act introduced in the Ontario Legislature by Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, prohibits milk distributors from giving rebates to customers, and also gives the right to milk producers and distributors who have had their licenses revoked to appeal to a Judge of the Supreme Court.

The bill also provides for consumer representation in the ratifying of agreements between producer and distributor. Mr. Marshall declared that consumer representation would be asked in the individual localities in the person of the Mayor or an Alderman to sit on arbitrations affecting agreements.

Wide Powers.

The board is given full authority to regulate, arbitrate and settle disputes in the industry, to prohibit price-cutting, and the bill also prohibits distributors from forcing a producer to invest money in their dairies.

Penalties for breach of the act were to be increased, with a minimum fine of $50 for first offense and $100 minimum and $500 maximum for second or subsequent offenses.

"I presume," declared the Hon. George S. Henry, Leader of the Opposition, "that this is the long-promised teeth to the act."

"Most of the teeth were left out of the former act, but were in the regulations," replied the Minister.

"They didn't chew very well, and we are putting them in the act itself, where they will bite better and fairer."

LAKEFIELD, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. Frank Hughes, aged 75 years who, with her husband have been inmates of the Lakefield House of Refuge for the past twelve years died last week after a long illness and was interred in the Lakefield cemetery with Rev. W. R. Archer officiating. She is survived by her husband and by one sister living in Redding, Cal. During her long residence at the county home Mrs. Hughes had made a circle of acquaintances who will regret her demise. Visitors who make regular visits to the House of Refuge were well acquainted with both Mr. and Mrs. Hughes.

MRS. JAMES EZRA STEER.

BETHANY, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence) — The funeral of the late Mrs. James Ezra Steer was held on Tuesday with interment at Fallis' cemetery following her sudden passing. The late Mrs. Steer was the second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burns and was born in Cavan 58 years ago on the 4th Line. She had lived all her married life at her home on the 7th Line of Manvers. Survivors are her husband and four children, Norman of Clarksburg, Lawrence at home, Mrs. Bert Monk of Bethany and Kathleen at home; also three brothers, Ormie Burns of London, Joseph of Otonabee and Walter of Peterborough and one sister, Mrs. Ed Gardiner of Garden Hill, a sister, Mrs. A. Ward of Peterborough predeceased her six years ago.

Pall-bearers were the three brothers, two brother-in-laws, John Marshall of Lindsay, Robert Scott of Toronto and Bert Monk of Bethany.

JAMES PATTERSON.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — James Patterson, a former resident of this town, died suddenly in Ottawa on Monday, April 1. He was the son of Mrs. Patterson and the late Robert Patterson, and was born in Campbellford 50 years ago. For many years he was connected with the Weston Biscuit Company, and resided in Toronto, being transferred to Ottawa about three years ago.

Besides his widow and one daughter, he is survived by his mother, three sisters, and one brother, and was a nephew of Mr. John and Mr. William Hall of Campbellford.

MRS. WILLIAM ROWE.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Attended by a large number of friends and relatives, the funeral of Mrs. William Rowe, whose death occurred in Toronto on Monday at the age of 83, took place on Wednesday afternoon. Services were conducted by the Rev. F. G. MacTavish at Zion Church, Petherick's Corners. Mrs. Rowe, whose maiden name was Elizabeth West, was a former resident of Seymour Township, and some 20 years ago left this district to reside with her son Fred in Toronto, who, besides one stepson, Albert Rowe of Campbellford, is the only survivor of the family.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. John Sanders, Albred Barnum, Thomas Rowe, Ernest Petherick, John Rowe, and Thomas Petherick. The remains were laid to rest in Zion Cemetery.

LIFE INSURANCE OMEA OFFICIALS

ment proposes to cancel, today prepared to seek a compromise between the provincial government and the companies concerned.

Meeting here yesterday, the representative group of bondholders, formerly known as the power securities protective committee, decided to offer to accept a reduction of the interest rate on outstanding bonds of the companies from the present average of 5.32 per cent to 3.32 per cent.

The two per cent cut, it was stated, amounting annually to about $3,600,000, would be used to reduce the yearly payments by Hydro for power it undertook to buy from the companies under the contracts Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn proposes to cancel.

These annual payments by the Hydro will total approximately $14,000,000 by 1937, so the reduction in interest suggested by the committee, if accepted, would permit a reduction in the contract payments of roughly 25 per cent.

Over a period of 32 years, the average maturity time of the bonds involved, the saving would amount to more than $115,000,000.

The committee's proposal, which will be submitted immediately to both the government and the Quebec power companies, calls for the Hydro to continue to accept the power contracted for but at a reduced cost made possible if the bondholders as a whole should agree to accept the lower interest yield.

In addition, the committee asks that the government reciprocate by guaranteeing the bonds of the power companies.

Quotations Uneasy.

Bonds of the four companies — Gatineau, Beauharnois, Ottawa Valley and MacLaren—Quebec, were reported irregular in Toronto, Montreal and New York yesterday.

Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec stated that he intended to confer shortly with Premier Hepburn regarding matters of mutual interest to the two provinces, including the power contract bills. No definite date has been set for the conference.

Attorney-General Roebuck explained to the Ontario Legislature the Government had not repudiated the contracts. "We have said the contracts are invalid, and an invalid contract is not binding," he said. "Repudiation presumes such a contract is good and we refuse to carry it out."

Threat To Credit?

LONDON, April 4 (C.P. Cable).—A possible threat to Canada's credit was seen by financial commentators of London newspapers to-day, in the bill introduced in the Ontario Legislature to invalidate contracts of the province's Hydro-Electric Power Commission with four Quebec power companies.

The city editor of the Times said it was unfortunate years should have been allowed to pass before the contracts were even challenged. "It seems strange the bill which cancels the contracts authorizes the Hydro-Electric Commission to buy power from private companies," he added.

The Times' commentator said the Ontario Government's policy had made a bad impression in the city (London's financial district), for it was felt if contracts authorized by one Ontario government were to be cancelled by another, the basis of credit would be destroyed.

Blow To Canadian Bonds.

"The proposal is so astounding it is difficult to believe that it will become statutory," said the city editor of the Daily Telegraph. "But if it does, a blow will be delivered against the standing of Canadian Provincial bonds in this country. The Dominion Government cannot take steps too quickly to prevent discredit being thrown upon Canadian securities as a whole."

The Morning Post commentator said it was "almost unthinkable" the right to appeal would be refused. It was "extraordinary" the Ontario Premier should have declined so far to give "anything like an adequate explanation."

ROEBUCK LABOR BILL UNDER FIRE

ment to the Municipal Act to restore property qualifications as a requirement before a person may be elected to council.

Bills introduced by Minister of Health J. A. Faulkner provided municipalities would be liable to the extent of $15 for burial of indigent war veterans, empowered the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to make regulations for mental hospitals and provided a fine of $25 on any persons aiding an inmate to escape.

"There is hardly an employer who would not pay higher wages and give shorter hours if it were possible to do so but always in the background there was the skeleton of the fellow who was not there," said Mr. Roebuck explaining his bill which provided legal force to wage and working agreements between employer and employees.

Pirates Spoil Situation

"If we allow a few of the chiselers and the pirates to dominate the situation in spite of the good employers we will never achieve a decent thing in our social and industrial life," said the minister.

"In my humble opinion and the opinion of any member of this house who has read the bill, the wolves of industry need have no fear" Mr. Nesbitt said.

Instead of passing the measure he suggested the government reform existing laws, enlarge the Labor department and appoint a man to investigate sweat-shop conditions and make a public expose of them.

Penalties in the bill were too low, only one-fifth of the Minimum Wage Act, Mr. Nesbitt continued, referring to the maximum penalty of $100 for breaking agreements proposed in Mr. Roebuck's bill.

Mr. Nesbitt levelled further criticism at the provision enabling a group of employees to organize and improve conditions because certain employees working for low wages might form an organization and possibly outnumber trade unions. The bill would also have the effect of bringing back professional agitators to industry, he contended.

While he approved a minimum wage provision, based on the cost of living, Mr. Nesbitt warned against a fair wage clause because that would leave the government open for revision and require a large organization to put it into effect.

Buchan Writes Book For King's Jubilee

LONDON, April 4.—(C. P. Cable)—A New book by John Buchan, "The King's Grace," specially written for his majesty's silver jubilee, was published today. Canada's next governor-general presents in the book a brilliant study of the meaning of the crown.

The power of the throne lies in what it is, says Mr. Buchan, but the authority of the king lies both in what he is and what he has done.

"With the queen and his family to aid him, he has made Britain not only a nation but a household which covers the whole Empire," the distinguished author writes.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

VICTORY GOES TO GOVERNMENT

sive members with the Liberals, (Coote, Mitchell, MacInnis, Woodsworth, Heaps and Miss MacPhail.)

Then came the main motion, the actual ratification of the budget, which passed 99-74. Eleven Progressives lined up with the Liberals but A. M. Carmichael (Prog. Kindersley) swung along with the government.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister finance, launched his 1935 budget more than a week ago and since then a one-sided oratorical battle has been waged. Although it was a short budget debate, it had one unusual feature. Of the 30 speakers, 21 were Conservatives, six were Progressives and three Liberals.

9 Tory Speakers.

Liberals retired to the sidelines after the first day or two, although usually Opposition speakers hammer away at a Government in a constant stream in the Budget debate. The Conservatives blocked their own Budget yesterday by putting up nine speakers.

Consideration of the Budget proposals in committee form probably will not begin until next week.

Robert Gardiner, veteran Leader of the United Farmers of Alberta, entered a plea for speedy action to reclaim the drought-stricken areas of the Prairie Provinces, complaining Government pronouncement on the question so far have been vague and indefinite. He laid responsibility for the drought area of Alberta squarely at the door of the Federal Government. When the area was opened for settlement, he said, it was the Federal Government which controlled the lands and invited settlers. It had done so against advice of its own officials who predicted periodical droughts.

Seed for Farmers.

Mr. Gardiner urged distribution of grass seed to farmers in the area, assistance in planting of shelter belts, construction of storage dams, and encouragement of strip farming. The area was one of the most productive in Canada in normal years and in the interest of the whole country reclamation works should be undertaken.

A move to provide pensons for blind persons over the age of 40 apart from the Old-age Pension Act was launched in the House yesterday by Dr. I. D. Cotnam (Cons., Renfrew North). A committee at Dr. Cotnam's instigation had reported in favor of extending the Old-age Pensions Act to the blind, but the Renfrew doctor moved to send the report back with instructions to study a pension scheme which would stand by itself. His reason was the fact that the Old-age Pensions Act does not operate in Quebec or New Brunswick, and blind of those provinces would be excluded. The question will be debated later.

Rumors Against Bennett?

Ever since Mr Bennett came into office the Liberals have fostered designing, sinister rumors against him, George Scotton (Cons., North Huron) said. It was designed to prejudice the Prime Minister personally.

It was true Mr. Bennett was a wealthy man but it was true also that wealthy men had implemented most of the great reforms of history.

For one thing, Mr. Bennett "does not have to look over his shoulder at any club."

Agnes MacPhail (Prog., Southeast Grey) took issue with Mr. Spotton who said Ontario farmers when they came to Ottawa two or three years ago did not see Premier R. B. Bennett because their agenda had not been prepared to that end.

Miss MacPhail claimed the Prime Minister was asked to address the meeting of farmers or send one of his ministers. None went "and I cannot understand yet why such a political blunder was made."

"I think we should have an immediate election" Miss MacPhail said, swinging to another subject. "I do not see why this House should adjourn for five weeks over Easter."

The House Miss MacPhail said, had progressed in the Prime Ministers' absence and it could continue. In her opinion, the people wanted an early election, not delayed until the Fall.

Miss Macphail believed the Liberals would win the election. "My greatest concern at the moment is what the Liberals will do after the election. It will be a serious thing for Canada if they do not know their mind any better after the election than they do now."

Youth's Day Coming

In days to come Canada will benefit more from youth than old age, in the opinion of Miss Macphail.

A defence of youth against charges of frivolousness and lack of discipline was made by the former country school teacher.

On Tuesday, Dr. F. H. Pickel, Conservative member for Brome-Missisquoi, a man of 60 with a family of two, said the rebellious and frivolous spirit of modern youth was cause of many of the nation's ills.

Miss Macphail, who is 45, claimed, never had young people been more earnest, more serious or more ready to assume responsibilities. The youth of this generation had little to thank their elders for. First, they had been sent to fight a war by old people who stayed home and died in bed, too slowly. Then they had been left to suffer the brunt of the depression. Left without jobs and without hope while "aged stuffed shirts," enjoyed all the high offices and most of the wealth of the country, she charged.

guard duty before the Ballhautz-Platz, the government offices.

Spring Parade Revived

Announcement also was made the army's annual Spring parade of pre-war days would be revived at Vienna's Ringstrasse next Sunday. Some quarters interpreted the military display as a move to discourage anyone with the notion of opposing the rearmament program.

The Cabinet appeared to be less concerned over the world reaction to its sudden move than it was over the attitude of the jealous private armies which owe allegiance to individuals as well as to the Fatherland.

Among the most pressing questions were:

What will the Fascist Heimwehr do?

Will it consent to be eclipsed by a new national army?

Will it conclude, as some of its leaders have already asserted, that the rearmament move is a scheme to elbow its organization out of the picture?

Observers noted the Cabinet issued its pronouncement while Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg, Vice-Chancellor and Heimwehr Leader, was out of the city. The Government's move was regarded as drawing even more clearly the issue between Chancellor Schuschnigg's Catholic Storm Troops and the Heimwehr.

The Heimwehr (Home Guard), proud of its services in suppressing Socialists and resisting Nazis, is still working industriously for the creation of a 100 per cent. Facist state.

BRITISH FILM PIONEER RIDGWELL DIES, POVERTY

LONDON, April 4 (C.P.-Havas).—The man who put the British film industry on its feet in face of heavy competition from the United States is dead here in comparative poverty.

George Ridgwell, who died suddenly on Tuesday, helped build the present industry which spends $20,000,000 annually and employs 20,000 persons, yet found a job for himself with great difficulty.

Ridgwell began agitation 12 years ago that led to the 1927 Film Act, compelling a quota of British films at every performance. But, in the magnificent British studios he helped create, he managed to get only small jobs, and those with difficulty.

ST. JOHN'S Y.P.S.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence)—St. John's Young People's Society met in the school hall on Monday night. The program was a consecration service and opened with a quintette singing "When I Survey," followed by prayer by Evelyn Stotts, and a short story by the president. The hymn, "Love Divine," was sung and the Scripture reading given by Herbert Stillman. Rev. Harold B. Neal then gave a brief address. "Lead On, O King Eternal" was sung. Following this was the consecration. The evening was brought to a close with the singing of "Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult," and prayer and Benediction by Mr. Neal.

Amended Milk Act Forbids Rebates For Customers

PENALTIES RUN FROM $50-$500 FOR BREACHES

Board Given Full Authority to Regulate, Arbitrate, Settle Disputes in Industry.

APPEALS TO JUDGE.

TORONTO, April 4.—Legislation to amend the Milk Control Act introduced in the Ontario Legislature by Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, prohibits milk distributors from giving rebates to customers, and also gives the right to milk producers and distributors who have had their licenses revoked to appeal to a Judge of the Supreme Court.

The bill also provides for consumer representation in the ratifying of agreements between producer and distributor. Mr. Marshall declared that consumer representation would be asked in the individual localities in the person of the Mayor or an Alderman to sit on arbitrations affecting agreements.

Wide Powers.

The board is given full authority to regulate, arbitrate and settle disputes in the industry, to prohibit price-cutting, and the bill also prohibits distributors from forcing a producer to invest money in their dairies.

Penalties for breach of the act were to be increased, with a minimum fine of $50 for first offense and $100 minimum and $500 maximum for second or subsequent offenses.

"I presume," declared the Hon. George S. Henry, Leader of the Opposition, "that this is the long-promised teeth to the act."

"Most of the teeth were left out of the former act, but were in the regulations," replied the Minister. "They didn't chew very well, and we are putting them in the act itself, where they will bite better and fairer."

Weddings

LIPSET—HART

BETHANY, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence)—A very quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hart at two o'clock when their younger daughter Margaret was united in marriage to Harry Lipset of St. Williams of Norfolk County, Ontario. Rev. R. A. Paton of Bethany officiated.

The young couple were attended by Miss Robertson of Lindsay and Ed Hart, only brother of the bride. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Rich (nee Margaret Werry) of Port Stanley. Those present for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Rich of Port Stanley, Ilena and Laura Shea of Fleetwood, Mr. Lipset and Miss Lipset of Norfolk County and Ruth Grandy of Lindsay. The bridal couple left on a motor trip through the U.S. and on their return will reside on the groom's farm at St. Williams.

Obituary

MRS. FRANK HUGHES

LAKEFIELD, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. Frank Hughes, aged 75 years who, with her husband have been inmates of the Lakefield House of Refuge for the past twelve years died last week after a long illness and was interred in the Lakefield cemetery with Rev. W. R. Archer officiating. She is survived by her husband and by one sister living in Redding, Cal. During her long residence at the county home Mrs. Hughes had made a circle of acquaintances who will regret her demise. Visitors who make regular visits to the House of Refuge were well acquainted with both Mr. and Mrs. Hughes.

MRS. JAMES EZRA STEER.

BETHANY, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence) — The funeral of the late Mrs. James Ezra Steer was held on Tuesday with interment at Fallis' cemetery following her sudden passing. The late Mrs. Steer was the second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burns and was born in Cavan 58 years ago on the 4th Line. She had lived all her married life at her home on the 7th Line of Manvers. Survivors are her husband and four children, Norman of Clarksburg, Lawrence at home, Mrs. Bert Monk of Bethany and Kathleen at home; also three brothers, Ormie Burns of London, Joseph of Otonabee and Walter of Peterborough and one sister, Mrs. Ed Gardiner of Garden Hill, a sister, Mrs. A. Ward of Peterborough predeceased her six years ago.

Pall-bearers were the three brothers, two brother-in-laws, John Marshall of Lindsay, Robert Scott of Toronto and Bert Monk of Bethany.

JAMES PATTERSON.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — James Patterson, a former resident of this town, died suddenly in Ottawa on Monday, April 1. He was the son of Mrs. Patterson and the late Robert Patterson, and was born in Campbellford 50 years ago. For many years he was connected with the Weston Biscuit Company, and resided in Toronto, being transferred to Ottawa about three years ago.

Besides his widow and one daughter, he is survived by his mother, three sisters, and one brother, and was a nephew of Mr. John and Mr. William Hall of Campbellford.

MRS. WILLIAM ROWE.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Attended by a large number of friends and relatives, the funeral of Mrs. William Rowe, whose death occurred in Toronto on Monday at the age of 83, took place on Wednesday afternoon. Services were conducted by the Rev. F. G. MacTavish at Zion Church, Petherick's Corners. Mrs. Rowe, whose maiden name was Elizabeth West, was a former resident of Seymour Township, and some 20 years ago left this district to reside with her son Fred in Toronto, who ,besides one stepson, Albert Rowe of Campbellford, is the only survivor of the family.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. John Sanders, Alfred Barnum, Thomas Rowe, Ernest Petherick, John Rowe, and Thomas Petherick. The remains were laid to rest in Zion Cemetery.

LIFE INSURANCE OMEA OFFICIALS

ment proposes to cancel, today prepared to seek a compromise between the provincial government and the companies concerned.

Meeting here yesterday, the representative group of bondholders, formerly known as the power securities protective committee, decided to offer to accept a reduction of the interest rate on outstanding bonds of the companies from the present average of 5.32 per cent to 3.32 per cent.

The two per cent cut, it was stated, amounting annually to about $3,600,000, would be used to reduce the yearly payments by Hydro for power it undertook to buy from the companies under the contracts Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn proposes to cancel.

These annual payments by the Hydro will total approximately $14,000,000 by 1937, so the reduction in interest suggested by the committee, if accepted, would permit a reduction in the contract payments of roughly 25 per cent.

Over a period of 32 years, the average maturity time of the bonds involved, the saving would amount to more than $115,000,000.

The committee5s proposal, which will be submitted immediately to both the government and the Quebec power companies, calls for the Hydro to continue to accept the power contracted for but at a reduced cost made possible if the bondholders as a whole should agree to accept the lower interest yield.

In addition, the committee asks that the government reciprocate by guaranteeing the bonds of the power companies.

Quotations Uneasy.

Bonds of the four companies — Gatineau, Beauharnois, Ottawa Valley and MacLaren—Quebec, were reported irregular in Toronto, Montreal and New York yesterday.

Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec stated that he intended to confer shortly with Premier Hepburn regarding matters of mutual interest to the two provinces, including the power contract bills. No definite date has been set for the conference.

Attorney-General Roebuck explained to the Ontario Legislature the Government had not repudiated the contracts. "We have said the contracts are invalid, and an invalid contract is not binding," he said. "Repudiation presumes such a contract is good and we refuse to carry it out."

Threat To Credit?

LONDON, April 4 (C.P. Cable).—A possible threat to Canada's credit was seen by financial commentators of London newspapers to-day, in the bill introduced in the Ontario Legislature to invalidate contracts of the province's Hydro-Electric Power Commission with four Quebec power companies.

The city editor of the Times said it was unfortunate years should have been allowed to pass before the contracts were even challenged. "It seems strange the bill which cancels the contracts authorizes the Hydro-Electric Commission to buy power from private companies," he added.

The Times' commentator said the Ontario Government's policy had made a bad impression in the city (London's financial district), for it was felt if contracts authorized by one Ontario government were to be cancelled by another, the basis of credit would be destroyed.

Blow To Canadian Bonds.

"The proposal is so astounding it is difficult to believe that it will become statutory," said the city editor of the Daily Telegraph. "But if it does, a blow will be delivered against the standing of Canadian Provincial bonds in this country. The Dominion Government cannot take steps too quickly to prevent discredit being thrown upon Canadian securities as a whole."

The Morning Post commentator said it was "almost unthinkable" the right to appeal would be refused. It was "extraordinary" the Ontario Premier should have declined so far to give "anything like an adequate explanation."

ROEBUCK LABOR BILL UNDER FIRE

ment to the Municipal Act to restore property qualifications as a requirement before a person may be elected to council.

Bills introduced by Minister of Health J. A. Faulkner provided municipalities would be liable to the extent of $15 for burial of indigent war veterans, empowered the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to make regulations for mental hospitals and provided a fine of $25 on any persons aiding an inmate to escape.

"There is hardly an employer who would not pay higher wages and give shorter hours if it were possible to do so but always in the background there was the skeleton of the fellow who was not there," said Mr. Roebuck explaining his bill which provided legal force to wage and working agreements between employer and employees.

Pirates Spoil Situation

"If we allow a few of the chiselers and the pirates to dominate the situation in spite of the good employers we will never achieve a decent thing in our social and industrial life," said the minister. "In my humble opinion and the opinion of any member of this house who has read the bill, the wolves of industry need have no fear" Mr. Nesbitt said.

Instead of passing the measure he suggested the government reform existing laws, enlarge the Labor department and appoint a man to investigate sweat-shop conditions and make a public expose of them.

Penalties in the bill were too low, only one-fifth of the Minimum Wage Act, Mr. Nesbitt continued, referring to the maximum penalty of $100 for breaking agreements proposed in Mr. Roebuck's bill.

Mr. Nesbitt levelled further criticism at the provision enabling a group of employees to organize and improve conditions because certain employees working for low wages might form an organization and possibly outnumber trade unions. The bill would also have the effect of bringing back professional agitators to industry, he contended.

While he approved a minimum wage provision, based on the cost of living, Mr. Nesbitt warned against a fair wage clause because that would leave the government open for revision and require a large organization to put it into effect.

Buchan Writes Book For King's Jubilee

LONDON, April 4.—(C. P. Cable)—A New book by John Buchan, "The King's Grace," specially written for his majesty's silver jubilee, was published today. Canada's next governor-general presents in the book a brilliant study of the meaning of the crown.

The power of the throne lies in what it is, says Mr. Buchan, but the authority of the king lies both in what he is and what he has done.

"With the queen and his family to aid him, he has made Britain not only a nation but a household which covers the whole Empire," the distinguished author writes.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

VICTORY GOES TO GOVERNMENT

sive members with the Liberals, (Coote, Mitchell, MacInnis, Woodsworth, Heaps and Miss MacPhail.)

Then came the main motion, the actual ratification of the budget, which passed 99-74. Eleven Progressives lined up with the Liberals but A. M. Carmichael (Prog. Kindersley) swung along with the government.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance, launched his 1935 budget more than a week ago and since then a one-sided oratorical battle has been waged. Although it was a short budget debate, it had one unusual feature. Of the 30 speakers, 21 were Conservatives, six were Progressives and three Liberals.

9 Tory Speakers.

Liberals retired to the sidelines after the first day or two, although usually Opposition speakers hammer away at a Government in a constant stream in the Budget debate . The Conservatives blocked their own Budget yesterday by putting up nine speakers.

Consideration of the Budget proposals in committee form probably will not begin until next week.

Robert Gardiner, veteran Leader of the United Farmers of Alberta, entered a plea for speedy action to reclaim the drought-stricken areas of the Prairie Provinces, complaining Government pronouncement on the question so far have been vague and indefinite. He laid responsibility for the drought area of Alberta squarely at the door of the Federal Government. When the area was opened for settlement, he said, it was the Federal Government which controlled the lands and invited settlers. It had done so against advice of its own officials who predicted periodical droughts.

Seed for Farmers.

Mr. Gardiner urged distribution of grass seed to farmers in the area, assistance in planting of shelter belts, construction of storage dams, and encouragement of strip farming. The area was one of the most productive in Canada in normal years and in the interest of the whole country reclamation works should be undertaken.

A move to provide pensons for blind persons over the age of 40 apart from the Old-age Pension Act was launched in the House yesterday by Dr. I. D. Cotnam (Cons., Renfrew North). A committee at Dr. Cotnam's instigation had reported in favor of extending the Old-age Pensions Act to the blind, but the Renfrew doctor moved to send the report back with instructions to study a pension scheme which would stand by itself. His reason was the fact that the Old-age Pensions Act does not operate in Quebec or New Brunswick, and blind of those provinces would be excluded. The question will be debated later.

Rumors Against Bennett?

Ever since Mr Bennett came into office the Liberals have fostered designing, sinister rumors against him, George Spotton (Cons., North Huron) said. It was designed to prejudice the Prime Minister personally.

It was true Mr. Bennett was a wealthy man but it was true also that wealthy men had implemented most of the great reforms of history.

For one thing, Mr. Bennett "does not have to look over his shoulder at any club."

Agnes MacPhail (Prog., Southeast Grey) took issue with Mr. Spotton who said Ontario farmers when they came to Ottawa two or three years ago did not see Premier R. B. Bennett because their agenda had not been prepared to that end.

Miss MacPhail claimed the Prime Minister was asked to address the meeting of farmers or send one of his ministers. None went "and I cannot understand yet why such a political blunder was made."

"I think we should have an immediate election" Miss MacPhail said, swinging to another subject. "I do not see why this House should adjourn for five weeks over Easter."

The House Miss MacPhail said, had progressed in the Prime Ministers' absence and it could continue. In her opinion, the people wanted an early election, not delayed until the Fall.

Miss Macphail believed the Liberals would win the election. "My greatest concern at the moment is what the Liberals will do after the election. It will be a serious thing for Canada if they do not know their mind any better after the election than they do now."

Youth's Day Coming

In days to come Canada will benefit more from youth than old age, in the opinion of Miss Macphail.

A defence of youth against charges of frivolousness and lack of discipline was made by the former country school teacher.

On Tuesday, Dr. F. H. Pickel, Conservative member for Brome-Missisquoi, a man of 69 with a family of two, said the rebellious and frivolous spirit of modern youth was cause of many of the nation's ills.

Miss Macphail, who is 45, claimed, never had young people been more earnest, more serious or more ready to assume responsibilities. The youth of this generation had little to thank their elders for. First, they had been sent to fight a war by old people who stayed home and died in bed, too slowly. Then they had been left to suffer the brunt of the depression. Left without jobs and without hope while "aged stuffed shirts," enjoyed all the high offices and most of the wealth of the country, she charged.

Spring Parade Revived

Announcement also was made the army's annual Spring parade of pre-war days would be revived at Vienna's Ringstrasse next Sunday. Some quarters interpreted the military display as a move to discourage anyone with the notion of opposing the rearmament program.

The Cabinet appeared to be less concerned over the world reaction to its sudden move than it was over the attitude of the jealous private armies which owe allegiance to individuals as well as to the Fatherland.

Among the most pressing questions were:

What will the Fascist Heimwehr do?

Will it consent to be eclipsed by a new national army?

Will it conclude, as some of its leaders have already asserted, that the rearmament move is a scheme to elbow its organization out of the picture?

Observers noted the Cabinet issued its pronouncement while Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg, Vice-Chancellor and Heimwehr Leader, was out of the city. The Government's move was regarded as drawing even more clearly the issue between Chancellor Schuschnigg's Catholic Storm Troops and the Heimwehr.

The Heimwehr (Home Guard), proud of its services in suppressing Socialists and resisting Nazis, is still working industriously for the creation of a 100 per cent. Facist state.

BRITISH FILM PIONEER RIDGWELL DIES, POVERTY

LONDON, April 4 (C.P.-Havas).—The man who put the British film industry on its feet in face of heavy competition from the United States is dead here in comparative poverty.

George Ridgwell, who died suddenly on Tuesday, helped build the present industry ,which spends $20,000,000 annually and employs 20,000 persons, yet found a job for himself with great difficulty.

Ridgewell began agitation 12 years ago that led to the 1927 Film Act, compelling a quota of British films at every performance. But, in the magnificent British studios he helped create, he managed to get only small jobs, and those with difficulty.

Pleasing Programs Campbellford Meets

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence).—The regular meeting of the Mizpah Mission Circle was held on Tuesday evening, April 2, at the home of Mrs. W. F. Scott, Sebastopol street, with Mrs. P. A. Morgan in charge. Miss Alma Simpson read the Scripture. Mrs. Scott then took charge of the program which was as follows: Solo, Mrs. A. G. Watson; the third chapter of the Study Book was given by Mrs. M. Petherick; piano solo by Miss Audrey Menzies, and a reading by Miss Nellie Hoover.

ST. JOHN'S Y.P.S.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence)—St. John's Young People's Society met in the school hall on Monday night. The program was a consecration service and opened with a quintette singing "When I Survey," followed by prayer by Evelyn Stotts, and a short story by the president. The hymn, "Love Divine," was sung and the Scripture reading given by Herbert Stillman. Rev. Haroid B. Neal then gave a brief address. "Lead On, O King Eternal" was sung. Following this was the consecration. The evening was brought to a close with the singing of "Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult," and prayer and Benediction by Mr. Neal.

SUNDAY SPOT ADVERTISING.

There will be little objection to the decision of the Canadian Radio Commission to ban Sunday "spot" advertising.

The edict will not, of course, eliminate programs sponsored by business firms who confine their advertising to several brief announcements, but it will do away with those periods of straight publicity stuff which some stations have been putting on the air on Sunays, and of which many radio enthusiasts have been complaining.

In complimenting the Radio Commission on this decision, an opportunity is given of commending the commission upon the steady improvement in the programs it has been sponsoring, and upon the amount of Canadian talent in all parts of the Dominion that has been given a chance to demonstrate its worth.

We sometimes feel that Canadian listeners-in do not play fair with the commission, inasmuch as many of the C.R.C. programs are apparently overlooked by set-owners.

How many Canadians, for instance, listen to "Atlantic Nocturne," that refreshing fifteen-minute broadcast from Halifax on Sunday nights that comes as a restful interlude after an evening of coffee company amateurs, duck-selling comedians and jelly-promoting masters of ceremonies?

Just a fine organ, delightfully played, and a few lines of poetry from an announcer with a musical voice and splendid diction, but in its own field a gem of successful broadcasting and a welcome change from the usual type of program.

Such offerings should make friends for the Radio Commission and earn support for what it is attempting to achieve.

NOT ENOUGH MAGICIANS.

Nothing more has been heard of Mr. Coote's proposal in the Federal House that all Canadians over sixty years of age should be pensioned at $50 a month, and even if used as an election plank, it is not likely that the suggestion would be taken seriously.

It is estimated that there are some 800,000 Canadians in the category mentioned by Mr. Coote, and at $50 a month his scheme would cost the country $40,000,000, or the neat sum of $480,000,000 a year, which it must be admitted, is quite a lot of money.

Where it would come from has not been made clear, and in that respect the Coote plan is like a great many other half-baked schemes that depend for their success upon the ability of the Government to extract money out of the thin air.

As up to the present at least, we have never succeeded in putting into power anything but an administration composed of ordinary run-of-the-mine politicians, and as there seems little likelihood of enough magicians being elected to form a Government, the prospects of establishing a regime at Ottawa that would be able to obtain revenue from any other place than the pockets of the taxpayers would appear to be decidedly remote.

Pensions at $50 a month for everybody over 60 may have a certain amount of glamor for some of those who might benefit under the scheme, but the utter impossibility of financing such a plan will condemn it at sight in the opinion of the vast majority of the taxpayers.

MORE FILM CLASSICS.

Peterborough movie patrons for some time have been enjoying a series of most excellent films based on literary masterpieces, with Dickens' "David Copperfield" topping the list as a production of extraordinary merit.

It is therefore most pleasing to learn from the annual report of Will H. Hays, czar of the movie world, that two-fifths of last year's pictures were adaptations from classics of fictions, and that this trend is being continued during the present year.

Among the films in preparation are two Shakesperian pictures, "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Hamlet"; another Dickens' production, "Tale of Two Cities"; Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth"; that Chinese classic, Dante's "Inferno"; Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," and the fanciful "Wizard of Oz," in which Montgomery and Stone made their stage fame.

Others to be produced later are a color version of Thackeray's "Vanity Fair," to be filmed under the name of "Becky Sharp"; "The Three Musketeers," by Dumas; Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe"; Lytton's "The Last Days of Pompeii"; "Mutiny on the Bounty," one of the most gripping sea stories in history; "The Crime of Sylvester Bonnaid," and "Anna Karenina." Added to these adaptations there will be dramatizations of the lives of such famous persons as Joan of Arc, Florence Nightingale and General Ulysses S. Grant.

Mr. Hays reports with evident satisfaction that forces of betterment "have made themselves manifest in a stream of exceptionally high artistic, ethical and social import."

"It is," he declares, "a notable and tangible reflection of higher standards of public taste generally."

However that may be, the feast of good films recently provided has sharpened the appetites of theatregoers for more fare of the same excellence, so that Mr. Hays' announcement of coming classics will be received joyfully.

A MUCH NEEDED RULE.

The Hamilton Welfare Board has decided to lay down a rule that will earn the hearty gratitude of landlords in the Ambitious City, and at the same time will make it easier for decent families who are on relief to secure shelter.

The board is notifying all relief tenants that the cost of any repairs that are made necessary by their carelessness or neglect will be deducted from the amount of relief they receive.

Due to the irresponsible element among relief tenants which feels under no obligation to take proper care of the property in which shelter has been provided, such a rule is imperatively needed.

There are certain relief recipients who can only be described as "wrecker" tenants, persons who because they are paying nothing themselves and are presumed to have no source of income are apparently of the opinion that they can tear a house to pieces and do all the damage they like without any comeback on the part of the landlord, or anybody else for that matter.

This is the class that will be hit by the Hamilton ruling, and it is only right, in view of their callousness and lack of consideration, that they should be hit.

They have been making it difficult for other relief families to secure houses, because owners of property who have an experience or two with the wreckers have been very reluctant to accept relief rent tenants.

It is to be imagined that the knowledge that they will have to pay through their relief allowances for any damage they do will have a very salutary effect upon the offenders.

PROMISING CANDIDATES.

(Maclean's Magazine)

"At the coming election, if any candidate in my riding says 'I promise not to give you one darned thing until what you have now is paid for,' I'll vote for him with enthusiasm."

We heard a man say that the other day. It ought to be set to music and distributed throughout the country as a voter's war chant.

Canada has been crucified by election campaign promises.

We are a nation of auctioneers, knocking things down to the highest political bidder.

When the bills are received, we can't pay them. So we borrow.

Civilization, to us, is the condition in which one generation pays the last generation's debts by issuing promissory notes for the next generation to pay.

Contemplate the picture of duplicate ridings—Dominion and provincial. Particularly in those cases wherein the party in power in the province is opposite to the party in power at Ottawa.

The Federal Government, with an eye on the vote in that vicinity, proceeds to build a post-office or a dock. Not to be outdone, the Provincial Government hastens to build a road.

Not because there is real need for such things. Merely in order that it cannot be said that the Conservatives have spent more money in the riding than the Liberals or vice versa.

In short, it is bribery. Bribery with an odd twist. Because the person bribed, being a taxpayer, pays the amount of the bribe himself.

Bribery is a good word because it carries its own lesson. It is derived from an old French word, brimberie, meaning beggary.

And political bribery ends in public beggary.

When, in the forthcoming campaign, you hear any candidate announce, "If elected I promise to do my utmost to get you—," remember that it is your money he is going to use.

TORONTO'S ONE HUNDRED.

Up in Toronto the other night one hundred gentlemen got into dinner jackets, motored down to the Royal York, sat down to a banquet. The banquet over, and cigars and coffee passed around, they decided to save Canada. They would give her a national government.

Poor Canada! So many are deciding she needs saving, and so many volunteering for the job, one more salvaging crew can't make much difference. The only fearsome thing we see in this Toronto movement is that it plans to start its drive by "moulding public opinion." We know what that means. It not only means more banquets and more banquet orators, against which there should be a law, but it means more pamphlets. And more charts.

Pamphlets and charts are driving us crazy. Every day the postman brings them—pamphlets for the gold standard; pamphlets against the gold standard; pamphlets for and against silver; pamphlets telling what is wrong with us fore and aft and in the middle. They have been raining upon us now for a year, so that our desk is piled high with them, leaving us no place to write anything, and ruining what little filing system we had, so that we can never find anything.

Somebody has said there are more books about money than about religion. There must be thousands more. Certainly if we had only read half as many books about religion as we've been compelled to read about money, or if one tract or prayer-book came to us for every ten pamphlets and charts telling us why we are nearly always broke, or about to be, we might begin to live right. Yet it's more pamphlets we're threatened with.

No wonder we're getting cynical. One of those chaps up in Toronto said that "bankruptcy stares us in the face." Well, we've been reading the budget criticisms of Opposition financial critics for some 25 years now, and we can't recall a single year when bankruptcy wasn't staring. Some years it was making worse grimaces at us than usual, but it never stopped staring in any year. We were always asked to go goose-flesh.

So, and apart from the prospect of more pamphlets and charts, those Toronto gentlemen don't worry us much. Frankly, we don't think they know what they are talking about. We would be willing to bet dollars to doughnuts, that not one in the whole hundred of them has read last year's Public Accounts, or could tell offhand what is the debt of the Canadian National Railways, or how the debt is made up. Most of them are merely repeating what they've read somewhere, or what somebody has told them, without bothering or knowing how to check it up. Every time we step on a train to Montreal or Toronto we meet people like that. Pullman smokers are full of them.

The effect on politics? Toronto's One Hundred will affect politics about as much as a spoonful of water would have affected the Saskatchewan drought in the middle of last July. It won't be as much as a circumstance.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Power bonds have undoubtedly lost a lot of their popularity since Monday afternoon—and the end is not yet in sight.

It might be interesting for Queen's Park to learn that the galleries of the United States Senate were cleared the other day because visitors therein were noisy.

General Ross has been nominated as Government candidate in Kingston, and no matter what happens elsewhere in the federal election, we have an idea that the doughty general will be a formidable standard-bearer.

These are great days for the Kellys. "Pep" of that ilk won the N.H.L. championship for Toronto the other night, and now another Kelly has been elected mayor of Chicago by a record majority.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People Column must be received at The Examiner Office by 5 p.m. on the day before insertion. All letters must be signed by the writer, although a pen-name may be used when inserting non-controversial subject matter. Letters over 400 words will be cut down at discretion of the editor.

OUR CIRCULATING MEDIUM

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—It takes very little actual cash to run a business even in the most prosperous times because it keeps circulating, that is it's coming in as fast as it goes out. If some little financial clique gets hold of the cash, however, then up goes the price of cash and down goes the price of produce. If the people who have cash even in small amounts get afraid then they won't let it out except on government loans and business becomes a corpse. If instead of cash (gold) we had other things that we could hand out and that would be accepted (barter) it wouldn't so very much matter in a small way. But we have built up a system so dependent on money that when it fails to circulate no matter what the demand is, business goes dead. Then the grand ballyhoo begins for public ownership and the big and little money-holders make big bargains with the government for which we stupid people have to pay. And so it goes all because we are tied up to one circulating medium.

A BOOST FOR U.W.F.

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I read Mr. Phoenix's timely and helpful talk to the members of the U.W.F. in their hall on Simcoe street on Sunday, March 24th, permit me, Sir, to say that Mr. Phoenix is a credit to that organization under the capable guidance of George Reynolds, its chairman. Had the same spirit that pervades this organization been instilled into the former organizations the unemployed in Peterborough would never have reached the low level which was theirs some time ago. With hard common sense as their watchword the U.W.F. is now reaching a higher plane than has been attained by any other similar organization in this city. They have passed through scorching fire and stood the test, their zeal for helping downfallen and suffering humanity is well known and is exemplified by Mr. Phoenix in his latest address showing when man's inhumanity to man is still inherent in many of our actions.

The writer of this letter is not a member of the above organization but is sympathetic to the cause which they uphold insofar as it pertains 'to love your neighbor as yourself,' which is the golden rule. Though at times it seems to lie swallowed up by a madding crowd it succeeds here and there in reaching the surface in a simplicity which still cherishes a hope for a selfish and insane world. "Full many a gem of purest ray serene. The dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear" is a truism attributable to the U.W.F. in Peterborough.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for this space in your valuable paper.

Yours sincerely,

Admirer of heroic deeds.

BLIND RIVER, ONTARIO

Blind River is the English translation of the Ojibway Indian name, "Penewobikong", which means "hole in the rock."

The Indians had named the place thus before the lumberman invaded the district sixty years ago. Due to the fact that thick underbrush almost totally covered the mouth of the Blind river, they erroneously supposed the river came out of a hole in the rock.

The white man was so intrigued with the ingenuous method of reasoning that he refused to change the name.

A Thought for Today

"And the disciples were astonished at his words. But Jesus answereth again, and saith unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches to enter into the kingdom of God!" St. Mark 10:24.

A Thought

DON'T QUIT

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all uphill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest!—if you must—but never quit.

Life is queeer, with its twists and turns,
As very one of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won if he'd stuck it out.
Stick to your task, though the pace seems slow,
You may succeed with another blow.
Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and faltering man.
Often the struggler has given up
When he might have captured the victor's cup.
And he learned, too, when the night slipped down,
How close he was to the golden crown.
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit—
It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

THE TENSION OF MARRIAGE

Take a needle, rub it between your fingers so it becomes rather oily, and lay it on a piece of paper.

Float the paper on the surface of the water in a tumbler. Depress the paper so that it sinks. Do this very gently and observe that the needle, of steel and so much heavier than the same volume of water, floats easily on the surface.

How amazing? No, not amazing at all. Not miraculous. Not any "defiance of the laws of nature." The needle floats because of Surface Tension; and that tension, even of so delicate a stuff as water, is tough enough to support a needle....But break that tension with a feather and the needle will sink!

Not long ago I read a magazine article in which the author, a learned man, a psychoanalyst, spoke of the surface tension of marriage as if it were as delicate and as easily destroyed as the tension of water....He gave me many examples of unhappy marriages, of little disturbances that destroyed the peace of men and women....He wrote convincingly and I agreed as I read his words.

But afterwards I found myself thinking: This man is not writing of normal marriages, of normal human beings. These men and women he is describing are sick, spiritually crippled, neurasthenic, neurotic. The women are like the princess in the fairy story who slept on seventeen mattresses but couldn't sleep if a pebble was under the lowest. The men are nervous wrecks, vain, excitable and fussy.

Normal human beings are tougher than that. They are more intelligent. Their nerves aren't so sensitive. Their memory for slights is not so retentive. Their bumps of forgiveness are not depressions. They have more common sense....It is true that some marriages are wrecked by serious divergences of habit and character, but if it were true that every marriage can be destroyed by a tiny difference between a man and woman, by a minor impatience, or even by one big roaring quarrel, no marriages would endure and all marriages would be infinitely pathetic.

I wish the experts who write about marriage would write more about the ones that last and not so much about the ones that bust. We human beings are tougher than we get credit for being.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

AN OFFER TO NEWFOUNDLAND

On this date (April 4) in 1895, forty years ago, there began at Ottawa a conference between representatives of the Dominion government and of the colony of Newfoundland with a view to seeing if the ancient colony could not be persuaded to at last join Canada. Newfoundland had of course, been represented at the first confederation conference at Quebec in 1864 but did not consider the terms favorable enough. In June, 1869, the Council and Assembly of Newfoundland set forth terms upon which the colony would join the Dominion, and delegates were sent to Ottawa, but after some talk it was found impossible to reach an agreement and, in the words of an historian of the time, "nothing resulted except a trip up the Ottawa River to Chats Falls. "In 1892 a conference was held at Halifax but though Sir John Thompson made a generous offer Newfoundland would have none of it. Things went along then until 1895, when the conference met, talked for a few days, had a nice time at the Rideau Club and wound up with a banquet given by the Government of Canada and the citizens of Ottawa, but even that hospitality was not sufficient to "catch the Newfoundland fish." Since then the old colony has risen to be a Dominion, reverted to colonial status but continues to be a sister to Canada. Marriage having been so often rejected it is not likely that Canada will propose again. The next one to pop the question must be Newfoundland.

Popular Astronomy

THE FESTIVAL OF EASTER.

The festival of Easter is the only great Christian festival dependent upon the monthly motion of the Moon. Easter marks the anniversary of the resurrection of Christ. The apparent yearly motion of the Sun affects also the date of Easter. Its date is governed by the vernal equinox.

The ancient Hebrews celebrated three great festivals. All their dates were determined by the months. The new Moon was closely observed and the beginning and ending of the month were eagerly watched by the people. The first festival was the Feast of the Passover. It was a spring festival. The Passover Feast corresponded to the Christian Easter celebration.

The second great Hebrew festival was the Feast of Pentecost. Whitsuntide is another term for the same festival. The third great festival was the Feast of Tabernacles. This was an autumn festival. It was held at the time of the "Harvest Moon."

The dates of all other movable feasts are determined by Easter. The Council of Nice decreed that Easter Day be observed always on the Sunday following the first full Moon ,on or following next after the 21st of March. The 21st of March is the exact date of the Vernal equinox. The earliest possible Easter date is March the 22nd, if a full Moon falls on March the 21st, and that date is a Saturday. This has occurred. It will not occur again before A.D. 2285. The latest possible date is April 25th, if a full Moon falls on March the 20th, and the next on April the 18th, and the day is Sunday. This has occurred. But it will not occur again before A.D. 1943. Easter in 1913 fell on March the 23rd. This was near the extreme. It will not occur on the same month date again before A.D. 2008. In the calendar, the Sunday immediately following the first full Moon, on or after the Vernal equinox, is known to the Christian world as Paschal Sunday. Thus modern astronomy is associated intimately with the Christian religion. The Hebrews set the example. Astronomy is the sublimest of all the sciences, and is also associated with that which is the sublimest in the life of every human being. Napoleon could give honest expression to his convictions, when he said that there were two things that confirmed the existence of God, "The heavens above and the moral law within."

ZORBIT TO MANUFACTURE FOR CANADIAN CONSUMERS

Just recently a new company, Zorbit Products of Canada Limited, was organized in Toronto for the purpose of extending the market for Zorbit, a remedy for the treatment of rheumatism, arthritis, etc., through the principle of absorption. For a number of years Zorbit has had a limited sale, but as soon as the company completes its financing, wider distribution through drug stores will be secured.

It is understood that several other proprietary items will also be manufactured by the company and sold throughout the Dominion.

MINES STRONG ON GOOD BUYING

Improvement in New York Tone and Activity in Nickel Cheers Traders.

GAINS PREDOMINATE.

TORONTO, April 4.—(C.P.)—The mining list perked up this afternoon on good buying in some of the medium-price and penny issues, the firming tendency following a sluggish and barely steady early session improvement in the New York tone and the strong buying of nickel on the industrial board cheered up the mining section and gains predominated at the close.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL ST.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP)—Improvement was the rule in today's stock market with selected Rails, Utilities and Industrials moving up fractionally to a point or so. Buying was cautious throughout, however, and there were a few soft spots in evidence.

Among the more active gainers were Santa Fe, Union Pacific, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of N. J. United Corp. preferred, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Case, International Business Machines, Du Pont, National Biscuit, Loew's and U. S. Smelting. A loss of 3 points was suffered by Hazel-Atlas Glass and Liggett & Myers 'B' and Dome yielded about a point each.

The closing tone was steady to firm. Transfers approximated 550,000 shares.

Chelsey Companies Refuse Union Offers

CHESLEY, Ont., April 4 (C.P.).—In a lengthy letters addressed today to the Town Council, Krug Brothers, Company, Limited and Chesley Chair Company, Limited, whose men have been on strike since March 27, declined to meet the demands presented by the union, which was recognition of the union and re-employment of all men discharged or laid-off since December 1.

The letter stated notwithstanding the fact the policy they had decided upon was not in accord with the Provincial welfare department, they could not concede these demands, but offer to re-engage a substantial number of men with the re-opening of the plant has been over-staffed for some time, and under the terms some of the men would have to go on partial relief.

TORONTO, April 4 (C.P.)—London, Chatham and Peterborough with gains of 10 cents and Chatham with a 10-cent decline were the only changes in the bacon hog prices today. Other reporting market points held unchanged at yesterday's levels. To-day's levels:

Barrie, $7.85; Chatham, $7.75; Stratford, $7.90; Kitchener, $7.90; Brantford, $8; Hull, $8.25; Peterborough, $7.85; London, $7.85.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, April 4 (C.P.). — Off truck hogs, the only kind on the division, sold 10 cents higher on the Toronto Live Stock Market this afternoon at $8.25 for the only price change on any division. All receipts were off trucks and supplies were sold out at steady levels. No lambs were received.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Live Stock Branch were:

Cattle 100, calves 20, hogs 150, sheep 10.

A few handyweight butchers brought $4.75 to $6.00 and a few lots of plain weighty steers brought $5.25 to $6.00. Butcher cows went at $2.75 to $4.25.

Sheep, all heavies, sold at $2.00 to $3.35.

Quotations:

Cattle, calf, sheep and lamb quotations were unchanged.

Hogs off car basis, selects $1.00 premium; bacons $8.00, butchers $1 discount; heavies $1.00 discount; heavies $1.00 discount; lights and feeders $1.00 discount; sows $5.00.

UNITED KINGDOM CATTLE.

OTTAWA, April 4. — (C.P.) — There were no Canadian cattle on United Kingdom markets this week, according to a cable received today by the Department of Agriculture. Low prices continue for fats while the demand was better for good Irish store cattle.

Choice heavy steers sold from 11 to 11½ cents per lb. dressed weight including offal; secondary quality heavies at 10½ cents and choice light weights from 12 to 13 cents.

JOB INSURANCE COSTS TO GRADUALLY DECREASE

OTTAWA, April 4 (C.P.).—Administrative costs of the employment and social insurance fund would decrease gradually as the plan continued to operate, but the percentage administrative costs of the revenue of the fund would be under 15 per cent. for the first few years, R. K. Finlayson, secretary to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, today told the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee.

It was difficult to give an accurate estimate of the percentage costs of the fund's revenue for administration, the Prime Minister's secretary said. He gave the committee administrative costs under the British unemployment insurance scheme.

"With an insured population in Canada of about one-seventh that in Great Britain, and spead over an area 43 times as large, it must be clear the widely fluctuating costs in England, when expressed as a percentage of income cannot be very helpful as a guide to what the costs will be in Canada."

Exchange Rates

Exchange rates at 3 p.m. E.S.T. today were:

STURGEON RIVER GOLD MINES

QUERY: What information can you give me regarding Sturgeon River Gold Mines? Do you consider there is a good chance of it making a profitable mine?

ANSWER: Sturgeon River Gold Mines was one of the pioneer finds in the Sturgeon River area of Ontario, which attracted a rush last summer. The property was staked by the Wood-Brown Syndicate, who optioned it to the Coniagas Mines for development in consideration of one third interest, or 1,000,000 shares in the present company. The deal made with Coniagas Mines provides for 25 cents per share being placed in the company's treasury and of the remaining 1,000,000 shares Coniagas and the Wood-Brown Syndicate have equal options.

Under the development of Coniagas, which started last summer, an exceedingly rich though narrow vein was traced on the surface for some 1,000 feet, of which about 920 feet exposed showed an average width of 9 inches and averaged about 3 ounces of gold per ton. Diamond drilling started early this year along the zone, while No. 18 diamond drill hole showed 50 ounces of gold over 1.4 feet at a depth of 180 feet. Other drilling to a depth of 500 feet showed the persistance of the narrow vein carrying high values. Shaft sinking is under way by handsteel and a steam mining plant is being installed with a program which calls for an aggressive development of the property at depth.

At the present state of development, the property cannot be considered as other than an interesting prospect but it has all the hazards of a prospect eliminated in so far as it is possible to do so with excellent management, ample funds and a favorable geological structure. Time only will tell the mine making potentialities of this narrow vein and my only comment is that, although it is exceedingly high grade, no profitable gold mine in Ontario has been made from such a narrow vein.

INSURANCE BILL UNDER REVIEW BY COMMITTEE

Coote Suggests Maximum Rate of 4 p.c. on Loans to Policy Holders.

BACKED BY STEVENS.

OTTAWA, April 4. (CP).—The House Banking and Commerce Committee to-day continued consideration of the insurance bill sponsored by G. G. Coote (U.F.A., MacLeod. The clause under review was one which would limit the rate of interest an insurance company might charge on loans to its policy holders who borrowed with their policies as security.

Mr. Coote wanted the maximum rate fixed at four per cent. At a previous meeting of the committee Hon. N. W. Rowell of Toronto, counsel for the insurance companies, said the companies were willing to agree to a rate of six per cent instead of the proposed four per cent.

Rowell's Amendment

Mr. Rowell on behalf of the companies to-day presented the following amendment:

"Whenever a loan is made by an insurance company carrying on life insurance business in Canada to a person then resident in Canada on a policy of insurance which is issued or effected on or after Jan. 1, 1936, upon the life of any person resident in Canada at the time the policy was issued or effected, No interest or other charges by such insurance company exceeding in the aggregate six per centum per annum of the amount of the loan compounded half-yearly, shall be chargeable, payable or recoverable in respect of the loan."

Objection the amendment would not lower rates on existing loans was raised by Mr. Coote. Neither would it apply to future automatic loans on existing policies.

The loans already out, Mr. Rowell insisted, were the result of contracts and the Canadian Parliament had no authority to change contracts. This also applied to policies already in existence.

More than $30,000,000 of insurance would have lapsed last year with one insurance company had the automatic loans not been provided, Mr. Rowell said.

An amendment submitted by G. D. Finlayson, superintendent of insurance, would make the six per cent. interest limitation apply on loans arranged in future on existing policies.

General Rate Now 6 P.C.

Mr. Rowell said he would not seriously object to Mr. Finlayson's amendment. Nearly all the companies charged only six per cent. on the arranged loans at present.

Mr. Coote objected to six per cent. These people, unable to pay their premiums, were charged as high as 10 per cent., namely, six per cent., interest and four per cent. extra charges. He thought this was unfair. These were the people who needed protection.

"I am in favor of Mr. Coote's proposal for a lower rate of interest," said Hon. H. H. Stevens. "I think Mr. Coote's suggestion of four per cent. is fair" said Mr. Stevens. "I do not mean four per cent should include all costs, but total interest rates should not be over five per cent., including everything."

these precautions unless the House was in session," Mr. Hepburn said.

The demonstrators were reported to have planned to force an entrance to the chamber and rope and chain themselves to pillars so they would not be ejected.

"If they had come in a reasonable way and asked for a conference they would have received it," said Mr. Hepburn. "In fact we will still receive a delegation of 10 if they come in."

"If they had any justification for their complaints it would be different," he continued. "But the province has gone as far as it can in providing relief. I don't believe there is any malnutrition in this province."

Bond Market Firms Speculative Buying

TORONTO, April 4 (C.P.). — A little speculative buying, inspired by the feeling that the companies concerned might be able to reach a compromise agreement with the Ontario Government, caused a mild firming of prices for the Quebec power bonds on the Toronto market to-day.

The Gatineau issues gained a little more than a point and the Beauharnois bonds were accorded fractionally higher bids. The high grade market was decidedly slow, with no improvement reported in either the Provincials or Dominions.

BELL REGAINS PART OF LOSSES

Gains Predominate Also in Steels and Foods in Toronto Industrials.

GENERAL LIST EVEN.

TORONTO, April 4 (C.P.). — International Nickel staged a demonstration on the up side to-day without attracting much of a following on the industrial department of the Toronto Exchange. Bell Telephone continued its recovery, getting back 2½ points more of its recent loss and gains predominated also in the steels and foods, but over the board losses about balanced the gains. The aggregate turnover was small.

C.P.R. and Ford A improved small fractions while Nickel closed up ½ point and Brazilian took a small loss. Distillery and oil stocks were about steady.

Reports of prospective business for the railway equipment companies hoisted the prices on the Canadian Car issues and also National Steel Car. Page-Hersey recorded some improvement.

Quebec Power issues closed with fractional gains and the construction group, particularly Canada Cement Preferred and Dominion Tar were lower.

EDEN WINDS UP HIS PEACE TOUR

"The aim of your journey touches the vital interests of Czechoslovakia," Dr. Benes told his visitor. "My country, through its geographical position, its history, policy, and aspirations, has a truce peace mission in Central Europe. You know that we always are ready to contribute our part to the cause of world peace."

Halts at Cologne

COLOGNE, Germany, April 4 (AP)—Anthony Eden, who has made an exhaustive tour of European capitals in search of a peace formula, was "indisposed" when he arrived here to-day after a rough trip from Czechoslovakia.

It was said the British Lord Privy Seal would remain overnight instead of flying on to Croydon, where he had been scheduled to arrive at 6.30 p.m.

If Hon. Mr. Hepburn is RIGHT the Courts will uphold him. So why deny an appeal?

The Prime Minister of Ontario proposes, by an Act of the Ontario Legislature, to cancel certain contracts entered into by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission with four Power Companies. These contracts were entered into in good faith by both parties. They were passed upon by able lawyers representing the Government of Ontario, the Hydro Electric Power Commission and the power companies.

The Prime Minister now says these contracts are illegal and unenforceable. Very well. He is entitled to his opinion. But why does he refuse to test the accuracy of his opinion in the Courts?

The power companies' bonds are directly held by nearly 75,000 people in Ontario and indirectly by hundreds of thousands of people in Ontario and throughout Canada, through the medium of ownership of Life Insurance Policies, Savings Banks Deposits, Trust Company Certificates, and so on.

The average person may not know that an individual or corporation cannot sue the Government unless the Government gives them permission to do so. This permission is called a "FIAT".

Surely, if the legal advisers of Ontario's Prime Minister are right, then they need not fear that the Government itself will not be upheld by the Courts. But if they are afraid to issue a "FIAT", or permission to sue, the question is "ARE THEY RIGHT?"

We have respect for the Prime Minister and for the Attorney General. But they should not be a law unto themselves. We cannot believe that in repudiating power contracts they are carrying out the wishes of citizens.

We say nothing in this announcement concerning the disastrous effect that the proposed legislation has already had upon the credit and good name of Ontario which, until a few weeks ago, was regarded as unassailable.

57th Regiment Sent Company to West 50 Years Ago

GREAT RUSH TO COLORS AS CALL CAME FOR MEN TO PUT DOWN REBELLION

Part Played by Midland Battalion in Riel Rebellion is Described.

COL. WILLIAMS DIED.

Several Feet of Snow Remained on Streets When

Fifty years ago this week Peterborough bustled and bristled with military enterprise, and thrilled to the excitement of its glamour and anxiety as the 57th Regiment's company of volunteers mustered and departed for Kingston to join the Midland battalion for active service in quelling the rebellion led by Louis Riel in the Northwest Territories.

Spring was late and laggard in that year, 1885, and on Wednesday, April 1, several feet of snow remained on the streets; but it was a clear sunny morning when the Peterborough detachment marched from the old drill shed in Central Park behind the 57th regimental band to the Grand Trunk station.

The local battery fired a salute of ten guns as the bandsmen put their hearts into the stirring old marching tune, "The British Grenadiers." Crowds followed the young recruits to the station where Mayor George A. Cox, on behalf of the community, bade them farewell and God-speed, after congratulating them and their officers on their prompt response to the call for duty.

Incidentally Mayor Cox supplied the men with woollen underwear, socks, mufflers and some other needs as a personal gift to the members of the company. The band played "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and the train moved slowly up Bethune street over the old Grand Junction line for Kingston.

Official Orders.

Colonel J. Z. Rogers, commanding officer of the 57th Regiment, received by telegram Saturday night, March 28, instructions to recruit a local company of captain, lieutenant, forty-two men and a bugler. As the regiment was then composed of six companies, three from the city and one each at Keene, Norwood and Hastings, Colonel Rogers called for seven volunteers from each company.

The official notice was posted in front of the telegraph office late that night. Captain R. E. Birdsall, who was in charge of the Keene company, received a telegram Sunday morning while he was at church in Norwood, authorizing him to recruit seven men from his company. He immediately set out for Keene, and arrived there in the evening just as the Presbyterian congregation was coming out of church. Seven men were quickly signed up, and on Monday night Captain Birdsall arrived in Peterborough with his quota. The Norwood and Hastings men reached the drill shed headquarters at the same time and were given a rousing reception.

In a recent recollection of that occasion, Colonel Birdsall said he has never forgotten the cheers that greeted the county companies as they marched up George street. Peterborough was then just a town of 8,100 people, but the whole community was keenly interested in the regiment and the adventure of its company in the far west. The alarm of armed strife was a new sensation as it struck home, and few of the citizens missed the crowded events of the first days of that week a half century ago.

Personnel of the Company

Although the late Captain William Langford was mentioned for the command of the company, his physician's advice prevented him from going. Captain Birdsall was also named in the first rush of organization, and also Captain Howard of Hastings, but finally Captain Thomas Burke of Norwood was appointed in command with Lieutenant Fred Brennan of Norwood accompanying him.

The personnel of the company was as follows:

From Keene—William Wedlock, now residing on Aylmer street; W. C. Ross, James McFee, George K. Marr, Marshall Weir (who died a few days ago at Keene), Duncan Macarlane and Angus Phillips.

Ashburnham—T. F. Graham, A. F. Tytler, J. T. Cochrane, A. B. Rogers, W. Tanner, W. Crowe and J. Beach.

Norwood—M. Seeny, H. Hogan, Hugh Hill, S. Hendren, Chas. Wood, Jesse J. Cummings.

Hastings—M. Brackenridge, Jas. Thompson, Jas. Anderson, M. H. Riggs, M. Sedgewick and John Lynch.

Peterborough—J. A. Hannah, R. G. Kelly, T. Billings, W. Reynolds, W. Crowter, Chas. Desgood, C. Parks, S. R. Rush, W. B. Browne, E. Daly, R. Downer, M. Mathison, Wm. Cook, G. Crowter, Jacob Roberts and Wm. McDowell.

Units of Battalion

The battalion was composed of two companies from the 46th regiment of Port Hope and Millbrook; one from the 57th; and one from each of the following regiments: 45th of Bowmanville; 40th of Campbellford under Captain Bonnycastle and Lieut. Givens; 15th of Belleville; 4th of Frontenac and 49th of Hastings county.

The commanding officer was Colonel Arthur Trefusis Heneage Williams of port Hope, Member of Parliament for East Durham, and from all accounts of the time a splendid officer and gentleman. He was born in 1837 and lived at the fine estate of Penryn Park, Port Hope.

With the 46th companies were Major Dingwall, Captain Winslow and Lieutenants Smart and Preston. The Midland company enrolled approximattely 400 officers and men, and in the days that were ahead of them fate assigned a dangerous undertaking to two of its companies at Batoche where they were the first to charge the Riel stronghold with the Queen's Own of Toronto beside them.

Rushed to the West

Orders for the Peterborough company to be prepared for departure on Monday were countermanded, and the time was advanced to Wednesday, April 1st. The last day of March, Tuesday, was spent in final preparatiton and drills. So many of 57th men volunteered for service, that it became for the medical officer simply a problem of selecting the fittest.

Organization of the Midland battalion was completed at Kingston, where Walter F. Stewart of Peterborough joined the battalion as staff sergeant. As the choice of his commanding officer he went into action at Batoche alongside Colonel Williams.

The battalion left Kingston on April 6 for Renfrew, arrived at Winnipeg at 3 a.m. on April 15th and was immediately sent on to Swift Current. They had pitched their tents on the campus of Manitoba College, but an hour later were ordered to strike them and moved at once toward the front.

C.P.R. Not Completed

The Canadian Pacific Railway was not completed to Winnipeg that year until May 20 when some of the later units from the eastern provinces were the first to make the trip from Montreal entirely by rail.

On April 9 the Midlanders reached Port Monroe. They marched twenty-five miles to MacKellar Harbor in 7½ hours through snow and sleet. In the north shore country part of the trip was made in sleighs over a rough single track road. East bound horses had to turn out into snow up to their necks. Other reaches of the journey were over the newly made roadbed for the railway; and one route march was across an arm of Lake Superior in a storm. From Red Rock they travelled twenty-four miles on open flat cars in zero weather; then marched twelve miles in four hours; and on the last link into Winnipeg enjoyed the comparative comfort of colonist coaches.

The battalion expected a few days' rest in Winnipeg where they arrived at 3 o'clock in the morning, but they were ordered to push forward to Swift Current, reaching that place late in the afternoon. It was believed that they would follow Colonel Otter's column guarding its rear in the march to relieve Battleford, but instead the Midland battalion was broken up. Two of the companies were sent down the Saskatchewan River 28 miles to guard stores at what was called the Elbow. 'G' Company, the Peterborough men, and "H" Company were left at Swift Current, and others went on to Clarke's Crossing.

Letters home from the West told of Spring's arrival in the prairie country with wild flowers and wild ducks and geese. Private William Wedlock bagged five ducks one day, providing a grateful change of viands for some of his companions.

Batoche, May 11, 1885

"H" Company from Belleville, and the Peterborough men, were then under the command of Colone Deacon. News despatches of the time indicate that the Bowmanville and Belleville companies joined Colonel Fred Middleton's moving northward down the river toward the district around Batoche where Riel was reported to be located. A preliminary brush with the half-breeds and Indians occurred on May 9, and two days later Middleton's force attacked and routed the rebels in an engagement that broke their resistance and directly led to Riel's capture.

On May 14th he was surrounded by scouts near Fishers Crossing, four miles north of Batache as he was making for the river.

With Peterborough Men.

Meanwhile the Peterborough men were still at Swift Current. On May 2 they were sent to Maple Creek, a community that had become alarmed by rumors that the rebels were likely to threaten in that direction. The companies returned to the river within a week, and were ordered to take charge of barges transporting supplies down the river for Middleton's column. The current of the Saskatchewan was the only motive power for the flotilla, and a whole chapter might be written about that trip. Barges grounded on shoals and sandbars. The men had to take to the water in some places to push them off, and occasionally the supplies had to be removed to shore. One incident is related that Sergt. Hendren was seized with cramps, and was rescued from drowning by Lieut. Brennan.

The barges reached the Landing on May 8, covering 33 miles in nine hours. On the 11th they started for Clarke's Crossing, which they reached after an arduous and dangerous trip on May 20. The river was exposed to stray groups of the rebels, and Private Mark in a letter home pointed out that the enemy missed a chance to capture large quantities of supplies in neglecting the flotilla, if they were indeed aware of their passage.

On June 5 the Peterborough company proceeded toward Battleford with eighty teams, but the end of the trouble with the rebels was in sight. Many of them surrendered. The Indians became disaffected.

Death of Colonel Williams.

One of the tragedies of the Midland Battalion, some of whose men were wounded at Batoche, was the sudden death of Colonel Williams at Battleford on July 4. Typhoid fever swiftly developed brain fever, and he died after a few days' illness. The Indian chief "Big Bear" was captured at Fort Carlton, and by that time arrangements were under way for the return of the volunteers to their Eastern homes.

The Midlanders were united again. They left Battleford on July 6, Prince Albert on July 8, reached Port Arthur on the 17th and Owen Sound on the 19th. The rest of the homeward journey was quickly completed by railway, and the battalion arrived at Port Hope, the home of their dead commanding officer, on Sunday, July 19, at midnight. They pitched their tents at the Agricultural Park, took part in the military funeral of Col. Williams on the 21st, and came home to Peterborough that evening to a great welcome by the citizens. The company had travelled 7,500 miles, and although destiny had taken them only to within hearing of the shelling at Batoche, the men were ready for whatever duty befell them. They had a fine record of discipline and service.

The only Peterborough man killed in action was Captain Edward T. Brown, who fell at Batoche. He had been a member of the 57th Regiment, and had enlisted with Boulton's Scouts. The drinking fountain in Central Park was erected to his memory.

William Cook of the Peterborough Company reached home on June 17, preceded by Marshall Weir and Private Anderson of Hastings, who were invalided.

The ill-starred Louis Riel, son of a half-breed mother, was hanged that year in Regina. Various accounts of his life and character suggest a psychopathologic condition to explain the devious course he followed in stirring up the half-breeds and Indians against the Canadian Government.

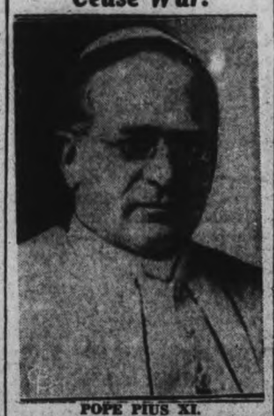
A Cause of the Revolt.

The Riel Rebellion seems to have been an outburst that might have been avoided. By the year 1885 the West was rapidly attracting new settlers from the East, pushing back the frontier, absorbing lands first in Manitoba and then in what is now Saskatchewan, and forcing the untitled half-breeds and Indians to retreat before the agricultural invasion. They had no legal possession to the lands they occupied, and resentment deepened into rancour and revolt as the country gradually passed out of their hands. This was one of the grievances Riel fanned into an uprising for which he was largely responsible. Later the Government recognized the claims of the Indians and granted them reserves.

East Discovers the West.

The Rebellion of 1885 served one useful purpose in its effect of disclosing to Eastern Canada the vastness and natural wealth of the North-West Territories at the exact time of the completion of the C. P.R. The thousands of volunteers saw for themselves the Prairie empire beyond the Great Lakes, with the towns that were springing up on both sides of the Saskatchewan River, and brought back to Ontario and the Maritimes information and impressions that would have undoubtedly been delayed for many years.

"Cease War!"



POPE PIUS XI.

In a special pronouncement from the Vatican, His Holiness Pope Pius XI. declared that "war would be so enormous a crime, so foolish a manifestation of fury we believe it absolutely impossible." The pontiff further emphasized that if there are any who would seek to cause a war he could do nothing else than pray to God 'to destroy those people who desire war."

"SPRING FEVER"

The need of a spring medicine seems to be universal. This is due to the fact that during the winter months the blood becomes clogged up with impurities owing to the amount of heavy food eaten to supply bodily warmth, and to the lack of sufficient exercise.

Is it any wonder then, when the warm days of spring approach, that the sluggish blood protests and causes that tired, listless, all-gone, don't-care-to-work feeling which is so prevalent at this time of year?

32 FRENCH PACIFISTS ARE JAILED FOR REFUSING TO ENTER SERVICE

Theological Students Doomed to Year's Confinement in Dungeons.

PROTESTANT CLERGY.

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
(Central Press Canadian Correspondent).

PARIS, April 4. — Thirty-two young Protestant pastors and theological students in France, who were called to the colors either as reservists or recruits, have refused all forms of military service and have been locked up in the military prison of the Cherche-Midi in Paris and various military fails in the provinces. They will remain in prison for a year. At the expiration of this term they will be asked once more to join their regiments; if they refuse again they will automatically be subject to another sentence of two years.

One of the young men, Pastor Rene Jostin, told the court-martial which tried him: "I cannot take up arms, or assist in any way in preparation for war. I must obey God more than men in this matter, and God's word is formal and incontestible on this subject. I go to prison gladly, if you condemn me. For I know that God will be with me. You may shut out the light, if you see fit, for I have an inner light which will illumine me. You can even kill me, for you have the power, but you cannot make me kill, nor make me help you in the killing of others. You may ruin my health, you may take my goods, but you cannot crush my spirit. My spirit is out of your reach, out of the reach of the swiftest bullet and the greatest cannon"...

Blame Dutch Theologian.

The anti-militarist action of the young theologians, who are for the greater part fundamentalists, and who cannot be suspected of being tainted with so-called red or radical sentiments, has greatly perturbed the government, because it is felt that these young men, who are leaders of — or prospective leaders of—Huguenots, act and talk that way, it is more than likely that many of their parishioners will adopt a similar attitude of "non possumus" in regard to military service.

The French government puts the blame for the anti-militarist ferment in Protestant circles in France on Professor Dr. G. J. Heering of the University of Leyden in Holland, who has formulated the Christian approach to the military question in a book: "The Fall of Christianity," which has been translated into French under the title: "Dieu ou Caesar" (God or Caesar), and which has had an enormous circulation in France and has made a particularly deep impression on the Protestant theological students. The book's repercussions in the land of its origin are not so noticeable, because Holland theological students, Protestants, Jews, and Catholics alike are ipso facto exempt from military service. In France, on the other hand, an acceptance of the teachings of Dr. Heering places the students before no other alternative but to refuse. For Professor Heering himself accepts no compromise such as service in non-combatant units.

Fine Pacifist Press

The immediate result of the anti-militarist stand of the Christian conscientious objectors in France has been the launching of a determined campaign by the government against the pacifist leagues and the Christian societies of war-resisters. Their publications are being prosecuted to the full extent for the slightest infraction of the law against "incitement to military disobedience." Even a description of the horrors of a battlefield is liable to be followed by a trial and a heavy fine, so that two pacifist papers have already been fined out of existence in the last two or three months. The French theatre, too, where a good deal of lampooning and satire directed against prominent persons and old institutions has always been the rule, must henceforth cease to criticize the army or make fun of generals, military institutions and military measures. The journals of the right, such as "Le Temps," and "Le Journal des Debats," which are owned by the great munition trusts, heartily applaud the government's restrictive measures in this direction.

Confined to Dungeons

The reference to being deprived of the lights of day, which M. le Pasteur Jostin made in his speech of defence before the court-martial, was not an idle word, I have been able to convince myself. The Prison Militaire du Cherche-Midi, where he and his companions are incarcerated on the Boulevard Raspail is just around the corner from where I live in Paris. It is an old, almost medieval, dungeon with extremely small windows in the cells. These cell-windows have lately been equipped with metal curtains which fall open from the top, thus permitting but a narrow strip of light to fall into the individual cells of the war-resisters. By hoisting themselves up by the bars, the prisoners had a chance to take a look at the street-life across the highways, and could probably just see the top of the passing motor buses. This small consolation has been denied them now. They are treated as the worst enemies of the state, for common murderers and white slave traffickers over at the Sante Prison have far more light and air.

Close Touch With Holland

The influence of Professor Heering in French Protestant circles derives from the fact that there is a close union between the Reformed Church of Holland and the French Protestant bodies. It was Holland, which provided a refuge for the two million Huguenots who left France upon the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, which had accorded freedom of worship to the French people. There are to this day a number of French churches in Holland, the so-called Eglises Wallones.

In Holland, too, the anti-war movement in the churches is gaining ground. Several prominent pastors united in an organization known as "Kerke en Vrede" (Church and Peace), publish tracts and periodicals outright calling upon Christians to refuse service in the interests of what they call the modern Mammon. In Holland is also the headquarters of the War Resisters' International Bureau, directed by two former Protestant pastors, Dr. Barthelemy de Ligt and Dr. A. R. de Jong. The War Resisters' International is the nucleus of the Christian Social-Anarchist movement in Europe.

Douglas For Alberta

MAJOR C. H. DOUGLAS

Famed for his social credit plan, Major C. H. Douglas has been engaged by the Alberta legislature for a period of two years at $9,000 to advise the government on the matters of finance. It is expected that the Douglas plan of social credit will be tried out in the province. Major Douglas' creed is to 'finance consumption and let production take care of itself." Part of the plan is said to be the payment to all citizens over 25 years of age a sum of $25 a month, regardless of their occupation.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

"In Flanders Fields"

WAR came! The nations of Europe tore wolfishly at each other each for the spoils that victory would bring.

In June, 1914, there was the Sarajevo incident, when Archduke Franz Ferdinand was assassinated. This led to the Austrian declaration of war on Serbia on July 28; on August first, Germany and Russia declared war on each other; on the third, Germany declared war on France and proceeded to march through Belgium; on the fourth, with scarcely a voice dissenting, Great Britain declared war on Germany.

All that could possibly be done to avert the war was done by King George. He was in constant communication with Nicholas of Russia and Wilhelm of Germany, both of whom were of the same family as the King. But every effort he made failed.

Immediately on declaration of war, the King and Queen "cleared the decks" for action. Though the King was commander-in-chief and admiral-in-chief of the British forces, he never interfered with his ministers and military naval leaders. He kept always in close touch with affairs and not long after the war started, he visited France to see for himself how matters were progressing. Both the King and Queen gave up every luxury and lived with the utmost simplicity during the war years. He offered everything in his power to help in the work; no man worked harder, without actually being in the front line trenches, during those four hectic years.

He made several journeys to the trenches in France and Belgium; he allowed the Prince of Wales to take an even more active part in the warfare. Our picture today shows the King wearing a "tin hat," inspecting conditions in which his armies fought and died. No one wanted war less than King George; but no one was more willing and eager to fight and work than this same monarch.

Tomorrow: The King and Marshal Foch.

HIGHER PRICE FOR FLAX.

SARNIA, Ont., April 3 (C.P.). — Increase in the price of Canadian flax was forecast to-day by Howard Fraleigh of Forest, chief flax purchasing agent for the Allies during the Great War.

Canadian flax is now finding a market in Northern Ireland where it is quoted at 18 to 20 cents a pound when ready for spinning. A few years ago it was as low as 7 cents a pound. Irish Free State is going into flax production on a large scale, Mr. Fraleigh said, and may have some effect upon the industry in Canada.

N.Y. JOURNALISTS LIST HAUPTMANN TRIAL BEST NEWS

Dionne Quintuplets Place Second in Review of Year's Stories.

LINER FIRE THIRD.

Roosevelt, Hitler, Long, Mussolini Lead Male News Figures.

NEW YORK, April 4. (CP).—The birth and daily care of the Dionne quintuplets vied with the New Jersey trial of Bruno Hauptmann for the kidnap-murder of Baby Lindbergh as the leading news-story of the past year, in a poll of journalism students at New York university.

After a neck-and-neck race, the lengthy trial which brought the death sentence to the New York carpenter, was given 91 votes and first place. The multi-offsprings of Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne drew 87 votes, while the Morro Castle ship fire, which cost 130 lives, was given 83 votes.

In the balloting on the year's greatest news figures President and Mrs. Roosevelt were given first place at the top of the male and female lists. Mrs. Dione was ranked seventh behind Amelia Earhart, Barbara Midvani and others, but ahead of Greta Garbo, Princess Marina and the writing mistress of repetition, Gertrude Stein. Eleventh were the Dionne quintuplets themselves.

Dr. Roy A. Dafoe, who ushered the famous little Dionnes into the world, and who still guards their health, was placed eighth in the list of men who made news. The students figured these names were better copy than the little northern doctor:

President Roosevelt, Hitler, Senator Huey Long, Mussolini, Col. Charles Lindbergh, General Hugh Johnson, Father Charles Coughlin. Behind Dr. Dafoe came Babe Ruth and Stalin.

HAVELOCK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE DECIDES TO RETAIN LIBRARIAN

Members Receive Legislative Grant of $3—Lantern Slides Listed.

PLAY FEATURES PROGRAM.

HAVELOCK, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence).—The chief business of the Women's Institute in session at the council chamber here, Monday afternoon, April 1, was the rescinding of the motion dispensing with the services of a librarian and reinstating Mrs. Jones as librarian at the old salary.

Correspondence read included a letter of acknowledgement of a donation for $10.50 to the Crippled Children's Foundation sent to Mrs. A. M. Plumtre, chairman of the committee. A letter from Mrs. Clydesdale, of Westwood, thanked the branch on behalf of Westwood for a number of books sent for use in the library there.

Figures pertaining to the cost of war in men and money were quoted in an interesting paper forwarded to the branch by Miss Viola Powell; this is recommended to be read in the branches by members of the World Peace Movement League.

A letter from the Department of Agriculture Publicity Extension Branch recommended a publication entitled "Beautifying the Home Grounds of Canada." This will be forwarded to any one sending twenty-five cents for a single copy, or twenty cents for quantities of twenty-five or more, The Canadian Horticultural Council, 114 Victoria, Ottawa.

Lantern Slides.

Another letter advised of the lantern slide service, recommended for farmers' clubs, agricultural and horticultural societies, schools, churches, and other responsible organizations. These slides are listed under the headings: Planting and Care of the Farm Home Grounds; Planting and Care of Town and City Home Grounds; Trees, Shrubs and Vines in Home Beautification; Homes in Canada from Coast to Coast; Production and Distribution of Improved Varieties of Cereals on Dominion Experimental Farms; Important Points to be Considered in the Selection of Dairy Cattle and Draft Horses; Results of Field Crop Experiments at the Central Experimental Farm, Guelph. These slides may be had on application by any of the organizations mentioned, the only expense being the payment of shipping charges one way. An explanatory note is attached to each slide and can be read as each slide is shown. Applications for the lantern slides are to be addressed to The Director of Publicity and Extension Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ontario.

The legislative grant of three dollars was forwarded in a letter from Miss McDermand, Superintendent of Women's Institutes. Where a branch does not apply for this grant, the money is directed into a fund to provide for the publication of Home and Country, which is published four times a year and copies of which are forwarded to each branch.

The Program.

After arrangements were made for the cafeteria for the junior institute at-home, for which the senior branch has been asked to cater, a most entertaining program was presented, under the convenorship of Mrs. James Wilde. A playette entitled "Going Somewhere," featuring a railway coach and a couple of fussy travellers and their fellow passangers, was very much enjoyed. A dialogue entitled "Mary Entertains the Leader of the Missionary Society," by Mrs. Wilde and Mrs. Price, a pianoforte selection by Miss Margaret Davidson, of Toronto, a visitor with her aunt, Mrs. Mathison and a period of community singing, brought the afternoon to a close.

The ladies then repaired to the dining room where a dainty lunch was served. Hostesses were Mesdames Jones, Buchanan, Hoffman, McMullen, Wrightley, Bush, and Hubel.

INDIA'S MOSQUES TO MARK JUBILEE

Services in All Bombay Places of Worship With Big Celebrations.

BOMBAY, April 4 (C.P.) — The celebrations in Bombay of the King's Silver Jubilee are to last nearly two weeks, during which time all public buildings will be floodlit or otherwise illuminated. There will be combined military and naval displays on the lines of Navy Week in England. Other attractions will include firework displays, Scout parades, sports meetings, the distribution of alms to the poor and sweets to the children.

A thanksgiving service will be held at St. Thomas' Cathedral, at which the Governor of Bombay, Lord Brabourne, will be present. Similar services are to be held by Roman Catholics in their cathedral, by Hindus, Mohammedans, Parsees and other communities in their respective places of worship.

Bonarlaw

The Adult Bible Class of St. Mark's Sunday School held their annual business meeting in the Sunday School rooms of the church on Thursday evening of last week, Mrs. Isaac Brown presiding. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Isaac Brown; vice-president, Mrs. Thos. H. Prest; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Barlow; teacher, Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne; assistant teachers, Mrs. Jason Baker and Mrs. A. B. McComb; visiting committee, Mrs. W. J. Barlow, Mrs. G. S. Eastwood, Mrs. J. F. Baker and Mrs. Jason Baker. After the business session was concluded a dainty lunch was served and during the hour of social intercourse which followed Rev. Canon Swayne put on a biblical contest and Miss Iva Brown a poet contest.

The house owned by Mr. Thomas Caldwell of Trenton is now occupied by Mr. Frederick Phillips and family.

Mr. Jack Eastwood met with a painful accident at the school house one day last week, when the axe which hung near the door fell from its position by the jar of the door going shut and fell on his forehead making quite a gash. First aid was rendered by the teacher, Miss Leola Pollock and he was able to continue his studies.

There was a fine attendance at the lantern slide lecture in the school rooms at St. Mark's Church on Monday of this week. The pictures were on "Beautiful Japan."

T. L. CHURCH URGES PUBLICATION NAMES OF NEWSPAPER OWNERS

Introduces Bill in Federal House Providing For Twice Yearly Listing.

COMPLETE INFORMATION.

OTTAWA, April 4 (CP)—Text of a bill presented yesterday before the House of Commons by Thomas L. Church (Cons., Toronto East) seeking to compel publication of the names and addresses of owners, editors and publishers and stockholders of newspapers follows:

His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:

The Post Office Act, Chapter 161 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, is amended by inserting the following section immediately after Section 23 thereof."

(1) The editor, publisher, business manager or owner, of every newspaper, magazine, periodical, or other publication, shall file with the Postmaster General and the Postmaster of the Post Office designated by the regulations, not later than the first day of April and the first day of October of each year on blanks furnished by the Post Office Department, a sworn statement setting forth the names and post office addresses of the editor and managing editor, publisher, business managers and owners, and, in addition, the stockholders, if the publication be owned by a corporation.

Names of Known Bondholders.

And also the names of known bondholders, mortgagees or other security holders; and such additional information concerning the interest, direct or indirect, of any person in such publication or its stock, bonds or other securities as the Postmaster-General shall by regulation require, such information to disclose the ownership of such publication; and also, in the case of daily newspapers, there shall be included in such statement the average of the number of copies of each issue of such publication sold or distributed to paid subscribers during the preceding six months; provided, that it shall not be necessary to include in such statement the names of persons owning less than one per centum of the total amount of stock, bonds, mortgages or other securities. A copy of such sworn statement shall be published in the second issue of such newspaper, magazine or other publication printed next after the filing of such statement. Any such publication shall be denied the privileges of the mail if it shall fail to comply with the provisions of this sub-section within 10 days after notice by registered letter of such failure.

"Advertisement."

(2) All editorial or other reading matter published in any such newspaper, magazine, or periodical for the publication of which money or other valuable consideration is paid, accepted, or promised shall be plainly marked 'advertisement.' Any editor or publisher printing editorial or other reading matter for which compensation is paid, accepted or promised without so marking the same shall, upon summary conviction, be liable to a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $500.

(3) The statement required by this section shall be made in duplicate in the form prescribed by the Postmaster General and both copies shall be delivered to the Postmaster designated by the regulations. The Postmaster shall forward one copy to the Postmaster General and retain the other in the files of the Post Office. The Postmaster shall furnish the publishers with copies of the said form at least ten days prior to the first day of April and the first day of October each year.

(4) The Postmaster General may make such regulations as are required to carry out the provisions of this act.

WORK AT C. G. E. IS THREATENED

C. A. Salmonsen, manager of the Canadian General Electric here, declined to comment on the possibility of cancellation of the huge contract. "We have had no official notification of any such move here, therefore we are not in a position to comment. Any information in the matter would have to be secured through our head office in Toronto."

Mr. Salmonsen revealed however that two of the five giant generators for which Beauharnois contracted have already been delivered. He said he understood that one was in operation. The work on the other three is well advanced here. The company would normally be prepared to deliver the remaining three toward the end of 1936 or early in 1937 according to the contract, he intimated.

Mr. Salmonsen declined to estimate the number of men who are at work on the generators in the plant but it is known the contract has given work to a large number. Men in the machine shop and the wire, insulation and draughting departments and a number of other associated departments are working directly and indirectly in the order. It is understood that the generator construction work has been an important factor in the gradual increase in the company's payroll from a low of around 700 men in 1932 to the present level, over 1,300.

The contract was awarded during the summer of 1933 and production was begun in September of that year. The first was delivered according to schedule in 1934 and the second followed later in the year. The machines were to be duplicates of four generators from the Peterborough plant already in use at Beauharnois, measuring approximately 40 feet across and standing more than 25 feet high.

21st Battalion Club To Attend All Saints'

Special services commemorating the Battle of Vimy Ridge, in which the 21st Battalion suffered heavy casualties in April, 1917, are to be held at All Saints' Anglican Church on Sunday evening next.

Following the usual annual custom, and upon the invitation of the Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, rector of All Saints', members of the 21st Battalion Club resident in Peterborough and district, and also the members of Branch 52 Canadian Legion, will attend divine service in the evening.

While there is no parade planned this year, the members of the two ex-service organizations under whose auspices the commemoration service from outside the district, the church at 6.45 o'clock, and a cordial invitation is also extended to every other ex-serviceman to participate.

Among those who have signified their intention of attending the service fro moutside the district, are Lieut.-Colonel Henry Edward Pense, D.S.O., M.C., Officer Commanding the 21st Battalion upon demobilization; and Major W. E. Kidd, M.C., the padre (now chaplain at Kingston Penitentiary), who is to preach at the service.

Two British, two French, and two German steel helmets are to be used at the service in taking up the collection, it is understood, in lieu of the customary offertory plates.

CONVICT DODGE LAID TO BARROW

Texas Inmates Said to Copy Desperado's Mutilation Plan—Chop Off Feet.

TO GET OUT OF WORK.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 4.—(A.P.)—The late desperado, Clyde Barrow, was blamed to-day for introducing the self-mutilation idea at the Retrieve Prison Farm where several convicts have chopped off their feet.

The Barrow influence at the Angelton, Tex., institutions was disclosed by Lee Simmons, general manager of the State prison system, after Gov. James V. Allred ordered an investigation into reports prisoners had mutilated themselves because of the brutality of the guards.

"We found six convicts who had chopped of their feet with axes or mutilated themselves in other ways," Simmons said.

"The convicts have been doing that ever since Clyde Barrow chopped off his toes, while he was in prison, to get out of work. It is a form of rebellion by the convicts."

Barrow, a killer and bank robber, and Bonnie Parker, his cigar-smoking woman companion, were slain by officers last summer in Louisiana.

HEPBURN READY TO MEET GROUP

present average of 5.32 per cent to an average of 3.32 per cent. They estimated this would reduce the annual financial obligations of the companies by a total of $3,600,000.

"We have no intention of departing from the policy outlined in the bill," said the premier commenting on suggestions of the bondholders.

Difficult Procedure

"Its pretty hard to sue a province," the premier said, when informed of the suggestion of I. E. Weldon, secretary of the bondholders group that the provincial government might be sued outside the province, in Quebec for example.

"What assets have we in Quebec?" he asked.

Mr. Hepburn said all Ontario needed to do respecting the contracts was refuse to pay for them but in order to clarify the position the bill was introduced to declare the province's intention.

Opposition to Interest Cut

TORONTO, April 4 (C.P.)—There will be "substantial opposition" to the suggestion of reduction of interest on bonds of Quebec power companies concerned in the Ontario Government's projected contract cancellation, I. E. Weldon, K.C., secretary of the executive of Power Securities Protective Committee, said to-day.

At a meeting of the committee yesterday a reduction of interest from 5.32 to 3.32 per cent was suggested. It was indicated the reduction would effect an annual saving to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission of $3,600,000 on $180,000,000 of bonds outstanding. Savings over a period of 32 years, the life of the contracts, were placed at $115,000,000.

The committee met again to-day reportedly to plan for appointments with the power companies and with Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario or some other Cabient member. It was reported also the committee gave consideration to calling a mass meeting of bondholders.

Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, Brazil, recently had a series of strikes in protest against the projected "security law."

Cameron Bay Has Most Optimistic Future

Instead of ships of the sea, the harbor of Cameron Bay is crowded with ships of the air. Scene at top shows a number of them at the booming mining town in the North West Territories. Below, a scene of the town taken from Great Bear Lake.

Crook in Jail?

LONDON, Ont., April 4 (C.P.)—Although jail officials are reluctant to believe the worst, there remains a grave suspicion some dishonest person is in Middlesex County Jail. Someone has stolen the big key to the front door of the County Buildings, adjoining the Courthouse.

It has been the custom for years to leave the key, a weighty old-fashioned affair about eight inches long, in the lock on the inside of the door during the day. When the janitor locks up at night, the key is taken to the boiler room, where it hangs until next morning.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

NEW YORK. — No change was noted to-day in the condition of Warren D. Robbins, United States Minister to Canada, who is in hospital here suffering from pneumonia. Physicians predict the crisis attendant to the disease will be reached to-morrow.

mier that the smallest province in Canada would be able to balance its budget—apart from sinking fund payments—with assistance provided by an increase in the Federal subsidy.

Another important announcement came from Attorney-General H. F. McPhee, who declared that while the subsidy increase recommended by the White Commission was a step in the right direction, the commissions' finding would not be accepted as a final settlement.

RAISED THREE CHILDREN SAYS EVANGELINE BOOTH

LONDON, April 4 (A.P.). — A Daily Mail despatch from Sydney, Australia, said to-day Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army, revealed she raised three children as her own and described them as "the secret love of my life."

She indignantly denied reports which appeared in an overseas newspaper, the despatch said, attributing to her a statement she longed for children of her own, had been in love several times, and that something always prevented her marriage.

She then told how she raised three children, "whom I loved as my own."

"One, poor boy," she said, "is dead; another is a brilliant Salvationist; the third is an invalid. I never have loved anything or anybody so much as salvation, my work."

Jinxed

STANWIX, N.Y., April 4. — (CP)—Misfortune is stalking the household of Alvin Hoehn. On February 4, his home burned. On March 17 his son, Robert, 13, was hit by an automobile. March 30, Mrs. Hoehn came down with scarlet fever contracted from one of four other Hoehn children suffering with that ailment. April Fool's Day Hoehn smashed a finger in an industrial accident.

Advocates Revision C.N. Capital Structure

OTTAWA, April 4 (C.P.).—Capital structure of the Canadian National Railways system was discussed to-day by the House Railway Committee when A. A. Matthews, auditor, presented a statement relative to the report on this matter. Before this, however, Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the Board of Trustees, told Wilfred Hanbury (Lib., Vancouver Burrard) he held the same opinion as last year, there should be a revision of the capital structure of the C.N.R.

Mr. Matthews dealt with what he called misconceptions in the public mind regarding the financial operations of the system.

Corporate advances to the system had been considered as direct assets of the Dominion in the early days. Capital advances for corporate purposes have been treated as loans, while capital advances for the C.N.R. were treated as expenditures. Treatment of cash deficits had also given rise to misunderstandings, he said.

BUCHAN WRITES "KING'S GRACE"

Latest Work of Canada's New Governor-General is Tribute to His Majesty.

REAL PEOPLE'S MONARCH.

LONDON, April 4 (CP-Havas). — The contribution of John Buchan, new Governor-General of Canada, to the literature of the Jubilee Year, "The King's Grace," was published to-day.

The book is a striking tribute to King George V. his personality and his work for the nation and the empire throughout the 25 years of his reign.

"His quick sympathy and kindliness have warmed the country and done something to warm a chilly world. When nerves have been breaking, his steadfastness has restored them, and when strife was fermenting he has spoken healing words," writes Buchan.

"The power of the throne lies in what it is, but the authority of the King lies both in what he is and what he has done. With Queen Mary and his family to aid him, he has made Great Britain not only a nation but a household.

"The King is to-day far more a people's king than when an Edward or a Henry returned in triumph from French wars.

"Since Tudor times the phrase has been the King's Majesty. To-day, an older form of words is more fitting—the King's Grace. The King is of no class, being above classes. He is as much akin to the worker in the mine and to the laborer in the field as he is to the highest nobility."

PRINCE ONCE ENDED ARGUMENT BY SINGING RED-FLAG TO BANJO

Biography, "The King's First Ambassador," Gives Many Unconventional Glimpses of Future Ruler.

INCIDENTS IN CANADA.

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, April 4 (C.P. Cable).—That the Prince of Wales once sang the Communistic "Red Flag" to his own banjo accompaniment was revealed by Basil Maine, in his biography, "The King's First Ambassador," published to-day.

A political argument was ended by the Prince, to the surprise of everybody, striking up the air of the revolutionary song on his banjo, writes Maine.

The author tells of another occasion when the Prince was to lay the corner-stone of the new Parliament Buildings in Ottawa years ago. A labor procession arranged for the same day threatened to get out of hand, but the Prince took a leading part in the procession and won the marchers over.

Honors Wounded Soldier.

On this same tour of Canada another unconventional glimpse of His Royal Highness was provided when 40,000 persons saw him sprint after a wounded soldier's hat and capture it, putting it back on the man's head himself.

"As for professional diplomacy," Maine writes, "the Prince never had any ambition to master that art. Since his coming of age he has shown a free and flexible mind that has impatiently cast off the shackles of diplomatic observances. The range of his interests has saved him from becoming the bore that, alas, the man or woman of goodwill so often is. That and his capacity for hard work has given him at the age of 40 the look of a man eight or ten years younger."

WALKING PARSON RESIGNS.

LONDON.—(C.P.)—Still fit except for failing eyesight, Canon Cooper, 85, vicar of Filey, known as "the walking parson," is resigning his charge after 55 years. He has walked through every country in Europe except Russia.

Obituary

WILLIAM McGEE.

JANETVILLE, April 4.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The death occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Hanna, at Meaford, Ont., on Monday, April 1st, of William McGee, who had lived the greater part of his life near Janetville, going latterly to Meaford to be cared for by his daughter.

The late Mr. McGee had reached the ripe age of ninety years, enjoying comparatively good health until old age crept upon him. His eyesight had failed him for the past ten years, however.

During his active years he was a successful farmer. His son, John McGee, is carrying on on the old homestead. The remains of the late Mr. McGee were brought from Meaford to the home of his son at Janetville on Tuesday evening.

On Wednesday afternoon funeral services were conducted at the family homestead with a largre crowd in attendance. Rev. Wolfraim, pastor the United church at Janeville, with which the McGee family have been connected for years past, was in charge of the service.

Following this service, the funeral cortege journeyed to Omemee for interment in the family plot in the United church cemetery.

URGE COLLEGES BE GIVEN SEAT

Kingston Professor Suggests Practise in England Be Followed.

LEAVE PARTIES OPEN.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 4 (C.P.).—While the attitude around Queen's University is against professors mixing in politics, Dr. L. J. Austin, professor of surgery in the Kingston Institute, believes each college should be allotted seats in the Provincial Legislatures.

"There is a question as to how far a university should allow its teachers to take part in politics, remarked Dr. Austin in an address at the 10th annual dinner of the Queen's Alumni here last night. "The attitude around Queen's has been that it is better they should keep out altogether. There may be wisdom in that because you will remember the trouble they got into in Toronto when they signed a round robin."

"Still," he continued, "you want your best men and your best brains in your legislative bodies. Why not give each university one seat in your Legislature, the same as they do in England? They could work out among themselves the parties and policies to which they wished to adhere."

Referring to the trouble at Queen's last fall over an international fraternity, the speaker said there would be no more of this as the students who had joined are now carrying on as a club.

PIONEERS OF HASTINGS COUNTY SUBJECT OF SPRINGBROOK TALK

Mrs. Arthur H. Reid Describes Hardships Endured by Early Settlers.

INSTITUTE MEETING

BONARLAW, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence) — The regular meeting of the Springbrook Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. (Rev.) H. W. Foley, Springbrook on Wednesday afternoon of last week, with an unusually large attendance of over fifty including several visitors.

It being Grandmothers' Day, the roll call was, "Memories of a Grandmother," to which there was a splendid response.

A letter was read by the secretary from the Marmora W.I. inviting the Springbrook branch to their April meeting, but unfortunately, owing to other community activities, it was impossible to accept.

A number of the grandmothers present donned clothing of former generations and marched into the room where the other members were assembled, took up positions near the piano, and sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold," Mrs. Sidney Mason acting as pianist.

The program was taken over by the convenor, Mrs. M. Fitzgerald. The following program, supervised by Mrs. A. Haslet, Mrs. J. S. McKeown and Mrs. J. Eastwood was given:—

The motto, "Make new friends, yet keep the old," was ably given by Mrs. Fred Fenn.

A splendid paper, "Pioneers of Hastings County" was given by Mrs. Arthur H. Reid. She mentioned some of the hardships endured by the early settlers such as hewing timbers, building shacks, clearing the land, drying fruits, making candles and weaving material for clothing. No girl was considered to be ready for marriage until she could take the wool from the sheep, weave it into flannel and make a shirt for her husband. School teachers in those days received a salary of $10 per month for ladies and $12 for men, and boarded from house to house. In a home where there was one child they would stay one week, if two children two weeks, and so on.

Arthur Burkitt gave a reading, "Occurrences of the good old days" which showed the actions of the young folks to be different from those of to-day.

Mrs. Will Stiles gave a reading, "Calebs Courtship" which proved that it was unwise to take a friend along when you went courting.

A contest was put on by Mrs. G. S. Eastwood. Each member had been requested to bring their earliest photograph which were arranged around the room, leaving the members to guess the names.

A contest was also staged by Mrs. J. S. McKeown, "A Violet Romance."

At the close of the meeting a dainty lunch was served and a social half hour enjoyed by all.

THOSE BAER BOOTIES

NEW YORK (CP) — Fastidious Max Baer went south the other day but not until he had tied New York's luggage manufacturers and dispensers in knots. He wanted a shoe trunk. Max's shoes are size 13E. Eventually they made on especially for him — and the extraordinary shoes—at a cost of $150. Now Max thinks he'll have another made for spares.

Into Seclusion

BARBARA HUTTON

Apparently having lots of money, is not the only requisite to happiness and here is seen Miss Barbara Hutton (Woolworth heiress) at Reno, Nevada, where she seeks a divorce from her husband, polo-playing Prince Alexis Mdivani. Miss Hutton's lawyers have decreed that she shall henceforth go into seclusion to be seen or spoken to by no one except after careful scrutiny. Miss Hutton declares she will drop the title of princess.

Bethany

Beatrice Darroch of Toronto spent the week-end the guest of Muriel Patterson and called on other former friends.

Mae McGill of Brunswick was the guest of her friend, Mrs. G. Foster for a few days last week.

Mrs. Crockett of Toronto was a week-end guest of Mrs. Carscadden and Miss E. Preston.

Mr. and Miss Davis are spending some time with friends at Manvers Station and assisting with the maple syrup.

Preston Carscadden spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. I. Carscadden of Main street.

Jean Thorndyke of Toronto spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. A. Thorndyke of Glengarry Ave.

Mrs. R. Palmer, Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Jr., Mrs. Carscadden and Mae McGill were in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mrs. B. McGrath of Toronto was a week-end guest at her mother's home, Mrs. Johnston Morton.

Mrs. Karl Monk was soloist at the evening service of St. Paul's Anglican Church on Sunday.

Mr. M. Stiffcoff moved his family and household effects to an apartment in the home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. L. Kennedy, Glengarry road.

CHEESE FACTORIES SUPPORT NEW PLAN

Seven Factories Have Signed Up—Represent 50 Per Cent. of Total.

Unanimous approval and ready co-operation with the organization plan of the Peterborough County Cheese Factory Patrons' Association has been given by cheese factories in the district since organization efforts were begun several weeks ago, Agricultural Representative A. D. Runions revealed to-day. Meetings have been held at seven factories and each factory has signed for membership in the association.

The seven factories signed up are Oakdale, Killarney, Daisey Dee, Warsaw, Warminster, Young's Point and Selwyn. Wallace Anderson, president of the association; W. J. Moore, cheese factory instructor for the district, and Mr. Runions attended each meeting, explaining the need for organization and the aims of the association.

The decision to seek the co-operation of Peterborough district factories was reached at the annual meeting of the Peterborough County Cheese Factory Patrons' Association. Working with the Provincial association, legislative remedies for the cheese situation are to be sought and efforts are to be made to launch a marketing scheme.

Although there are 17 factories in the district covered by the Peterborough Association, only 14 are operating this year. Thus the 7 factories now signed up represent 50 per cent. of the local industry.

Peterborough's Possibilities

By HOMER MOORE

ARTICLE 17

Now that it is known we haven't much time in which to develop our great natural resources, before there is another far-reaching event we will all be interested in—we should try to ascertain who are the best qualified in our county to direct the development of each and every kind of natural resources. In this way, development of the whole area, could be speeded up. While it is true that mining engineers have knowledge of all branches of mining—it is also true that there are specialists who are very expert on some one mineral. Just as a general medical practitioner differs from a specialist on one disease—so a general mining engineer or timber dealer differs from a specialist handling only one line.

In the County of Peterborough is a famous mining engineer. He told me he specialised on "lead" and "zinc" when he was engaged in his profession of mining engineer, for some of the largest concerns in the world. To-day he works and lives in our county but not as a mining engineer.

He still has in his head his specialistic knowledge and would likely welcome the chance to use it for the good of our county even as his father did, in another branch of mining in the county, before him. He may or may not have read this series of articles. While I know him real well, he did not know I intended to write anything for The Examiner.

There are other engineers now in the county active in locating ore of various kinds. These gentlemen are mentally well-equipped for the work they are doing. But there are so many different minerals in the county that they can't handle them all—hence the suggestion to have specialists mining engineers to handle each class of deposit. Those expert on gold — handle gold ore. Those expert on iron—handle iron, and right on through the list. In this way development would be speeded up while our present financial machinery can be used. The same applies to timber. There are men who specialize in this resource. I know some of them. Some are expert on rock-elm, others handle some other kind. Some have great timber berths—as much as forty thousand acres under their control, within shipping distance of the city of Peterborough.

There have been some important discoveries in our county in the past and more will be made in the near future as specialized knowledge, as applied to our natural resources, becomes active. The greatest discovery of all, will be found to have been the "discovery of the power of thought," as the force to start the development on its way. Charles F. Haanel, in his booklet descriptive of "The Master Key" says:

"Thought is that process by which static mind is converted into dynamic mind. Thought is not originated in the brain, but on the contrary, the brain is a receiving station where thoughts of any kind may be received, and the kind of thoughts which we receive depends on how our receiving station is tuned, just as in the case with a wireless telegraphy station."

"It is then apparent that we may receive any kind of thoughts we desire, and if we remember thought is creative, and brings about conditions in correspondence with the thought entertained"— we get an idea how to have our resources developed soon. The way to do it, acting on above scientific principle, is to "think" we want it done!

If we "think" a desire to have it done, and keep that thought long enough, there will be a powerful array of thoughts directed towards the objective, and as thoughts are creative and bring about conditions according to the nature of the thoughts we have—it will soon develop into action. If all thoughts in this county were against such a development—if we think in an adverse way about our county or our people, the result is some manner of hurting them. If we are thinking favorably, the result is certain to be thoughts and acts towards advancement. The series of articles in this column were the result of a sincere desire to help the citizens think rightly and thus help develop the natural resources of Peterborough and adjacent territory, which would if done reflect itself in a larger city of Peterborough.

The ancient kings were very observing! A king of those bygone days had a tablecloth woven from what is called a vegetable mineral. He invited his friends to a banquet and then to impress them with his power, he said he could even put the tablecloth in the fire and if he said so, it wouldn't burn! He put it in the fire-place and took it out unharmed. They didn't know how it was done but the king knew it was asbestos.

What a wonderful resource that is—an incombustible mineral. Why was it formed thus? To protect humanity from fire? A house made of asbestos certainly could not burn down. Already it is utilized in some places in form of asbestos shingles, asbestos gloves, asbestos clothes for firemen and there are other uses which will be found, as inventors think. This remarkable natural resource is in Peterborough County. "The fibre is too short for commercial purposes" said one authority to whom a sample was submitted. But the sample was from an outcrop—perhaps longer fibres are at depth, who knows until we find out? The geological formation is the kind asbestos is found in.

Here in Peterborough County we have furs, wool—material for clothing. We have timber and marble for houses. We have asbestos to keep houses from burning down. We have herbs in forest and field to help cure our ills. We have fuel to warm us in winter and use of sunshine to vitalize us. All these and many more are waiting for "constructive imagination" to be applied for our continuous advancement.

Some critically inclined people may have wondered, before this, "why doesn't the writer secure these minerals himself, instead of publishing the secrets of the rocks, so somebody else can secure them?"

The answer is this: In the past twenty years, it took intense study of rare books, ability to know what can be expected as a result of finding any combination of minerals or materials, in other words learning how to find any kind not observable or mentioned in government reports, considerable travel and near the termination of that special study—the greatest discovery of all was in securing the "time indictators" for world events figured from astronomy. This latter, when secured showed there was not sufficient "time" for one individual to develop them all—but since the whole area had become like an open book to him, he felt it his duty to tell Peterborough collectively and hope many hands and heads would do much work in the short time left. If it i gone after, in the right way, much progress can be accomplished before end of 1936. After that time WHAT??

RUSH POINT

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Barton are moving from the "Pacey place" on the Rush Point-Havelock road to reside near Campbellford.

Roads in this district are the best they've ever been for this time of the year so far as any of the older residents can recollect.

Mr. Arnie Menzies is going to occupy the farm known as the old "Cochrane" place owned now by Mrs. Bert Wannamaker and from which Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston are moving in a few days.

A large garter snake was seen by Mr. Don Petherick in the woods here on March 26th.

Mr. "Bud" Inkster of Trent River, the new lineman for the rural telephone here, has done some good work in this locality, locating and correcting trouble, keeping the line in good working order.

Our milk house, pails, strainers and such,
Are kept spotlessly clean with "Old Dutch",
Has no equal indoors,
Scouring pans, cleaning floors.
To good farmers "Old Dutch" means so much.
Written by Mrs. Norman Wood, Whitby, Ont.

And that's more truth than poetry. Old Dutch actually goes farther and lasts longer, saves work and money, polishes as it cleans, and cleans quicker without scratching.

There's a very definite reason why Old Dutch does this—because one of its important and valuable ingredients is seismotite, a scratchless cleaning and polishing material. You can use Old Dutch with complete safety on any surface water will not harm; floors, woodwork, linoleum, windows. It polishes as it cleans porcelain, enamel, tile. Buy a tin of Old Dutch and try it—today!

BRITISH PRESS HITS AT FUTURE WAR PROMISES

Express Prophesies Gov't Will Be Broken in Hour if Troops Leave England.

DRAMA UNFOLDS FAST.

(By George Hamb'eton, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, April 4 (CP Cable).—The tense European drama continus to unfold in swiftly moving scenes.

Austria's demand for conscription; Hitler's admission to Sir John Simon the Reich has already obtained air parity with Britain; reports Mussolini has a peace plan for the Stresa meeting a week hence, all ran their course in the British press to-day even as Anthony Eden, roving peace emissary, concluded his far-reaching European tour and headed for home.

In bold type The Daily Express says: "Let the Government know now: If a man or a gun is ordered out from these shores to Germany the government will be broken in that hour."

"The danger just now," said The Times, "is that something may be established in the image of collective security which would inevitably degenerate into a system of hostile blocs and an uneasy balance of power.

Ready to Talk Reduction

"It is a matter of common knowledge now Hitler arrived some time ago at a figure which, in his view, German armed strength ought to reach in relation to the present strength of his neighbors; but the Berlin conversations seem to have made it clear he is also willing, having disclosed his figure, to discuss with them a proportionate all-round reduction.

"It is certain in any case that he is still ready to renounce the construction of any persons of which other countries are ready to deprive themselves. There seems at least to be an opportunity therefore for every country to renounce the construction of, for instance, the largest tanks, or monster guns with a range of more than a score of miles. . . .

"Hitler moreover agrees to international inspection of armaments. Hitler is ready to negotiate an air pact for Western Europe, and the negotiation of an air pact for Eastern Europe may possibly be a proposal worthy of consideration."

IMPERIAL OIL MEN MEET.

Sales representatives and agents of the Imperial Oil Company for Central Ontario assembled yesterday in the Duffus Building for an interesting convention. The splendid manner in which the company treats its employees, paying fair wages and providing superannuation for veteran employees, was stressed. It was stated that if all companies in Canada were as fair to their employees as the Imperial Oil there would be no need for the Government's action in connection with fair wage investigations and unemployment insurance. Steadily increased sales for this district were reported.

Magistrate's Court

A local man pleaded guilty to-day before Magistrate Langley to five charges of theft by conversion from the London Life Insurance Company. The money were sums collected as premiums as agent for the company, and totalled approximately $120.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., counsel for accused, stated that the cause of his client's wrongdoing was due to his inability to manage his accounts. He had never been involved in any court charges previously, he said, and in using the money to maintain his family he was anticipating commissions which business made it impossible for him to secure.

It was said that restitution in part will be made to the insurance company. He was remanded in custody until to-morrow for sentence.

Rufus Newbatt, of Bancroft, pleaded guilty to charges of reckless driving and operating a motor car without a permit. Chief Newhall said that Newbatt drove his car into a collision with another car at the corner of Charlotte and Reid Streets yesterday.

"There were no brakes on his car and it was impossible for him to stop," the Chief said. "He drove right past a stop sign. After the accident a wrecker bought his car for ten dollars."

Newbatt was remanded until to-morrow for sentence.

Obituary

J. PERCY WATSON

J. Percy Watson, a former resident of Peterborough, passed away recently in St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, B.C., after several weeks' illness. A well-known printer at Victoria, Mr. Watson learned his trade at The Peterborough Examiner. He was a popular sportsman and Rotarian at Victoria and was identified with many phases of the city's progress.

Mr. Watson was born at Invernay, Ontario, 52 years ago. After completing his schooling he came to Peterborough and joined The Examiner staff. In 1905 he moved to the Pacific Coast. He is survived by his wife and one daughter and one son. Interment was in the family plot of the Ross Bay cemetery.

JEREMIAH WORBOY.

The death of Jeremiah Worboy, widely known resident of the city, took place to-day at his home, 507 Aylmer street. Born in England and a resident of this city for the past 45 years, Mr. Worboy was in his 80th year. He had been ill for the past six months.

For 25 years he had been in the employ of the Robert Hicks Company. He was a faithful member of St. John's Anglican Church and a member of the Sons of England Lodge.

His wife predeceased him 29 years ago. Surving are seven daughters, Mrs. H. Mann, Mrs. J. Hetherington, Mrs. James Brownlee, Mrs. John Legros, all of this city, Mrs. Annie Cowkey and Mrs. Mathilda Miller, both of Detroit, and Mrs. Frank Korry, of Oshawa; also two sons, George, of Sherbrooke street, city, and William, of Toronto. A third son, Fred, made the supreme sacrifice with the C.E.F. in France in 1916.

The funeral service will be conducted in St. John's Church at 2 p.m. Saturday by Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave. Interment will be in the family plot at Little Lake cemetery.

WOOLER.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan and Mrs. Gunter, of York Road, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rowe.

Mrs. James Birchard, Alfred Birchard and Mrs. Arthur Tamblyn of Cambray spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terrill.

Frank Rogers, of Toronto, spent the week-end in town.

MAMORA CLUB VISITS STIRLING

Scouts of Latter Town Put on Enjoyable Mixed Program.

LUNCH FOLLOWS.

MARMORA, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence). — Members of St. Paul's Men's Club were guests of St. John's Men's Club, Stirling, in the latter's rooms on Wednesday evening. Greetings were exchanged through Earl Morrow, president of the Stirling club and W. J. Cottrell, president of the Marmora club.

Following a short business session, an excellent program was given by Scouts of the First Stirling Troop, under Scoutmaster T. Ward.

The program was as follows: Selection, "I Love You Truly," orchestra; talk, Scoutmaster T. Ward; talk, F. T. Hulin; guitar solo, J. McCann; skit, by two Scouts; violin solo, Reg. Mathison; first aid demonstration, by two Scouts; selection, orchestra; fire-making by bow and arrow; piano solo, Gerald Sprentall; exhibition of tumbling; selection, orchestra; instrumental, Ray Williams.

After the serving of an excellent lunch, a vote of thanks to the Stirling club was extended by Past Presidents W. R. Reynolds and C. H. Buskard of the visiting club, and Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell also spoke in appreciation. The Rev. A. S. McConnell, in the course of the meeting, tendered his welcome to the visitors.

THE BEST 3-BID

Back in 1926 for a while I played and taught an opening 3-bid which showed so strong a trump suit and so powerful a hand that partner could support without considering his length in trumps. If partner held an ace he bid its suit. If he held more than one ace he showed them in sequence, commencing with the one of lowest rank. If partner held no ace he responded with 3-no trumps, allowing the original 3-bidder to bid game (or as high as he wished), or to show a second long suit, to enable partner to choose between the two long suits. It was a wonderful method of discovering how high bidding could go with safety. It had just one flaw, but that was a serious one. The opening bidder held such a hand, with game assured, only once in about 53,000 times. As a result, bidders would utilize the call on lighter holdings, and often go down. I soon abandoned the call, and for several years I never made use of it. In 1932 P. H. Sims revived the call, but it still had the old objection of holding such a hand only once in a blue moon.

Lately I have been playing a more popular opening 3-bid, with various top liners. We all prefer the new bid to the older and safer call. What difference does it make if once in a while a hand goes down a trick, or even two.

Everyone pre-empts with a game bid, on a hand worth two tricks short of game, trusting partner for the two missing tricks, provided the hand is worthless at other calls and lacks defensive strength against opposing makes. The new opening 3-bid has to be at least as strong as the pre-emptive opening bid, and it asks no trump strength of partner, but it does have great defensive power and seeks a slam, provided partner holds a few high missing honors. The hand shown below I ran across within the week. It well illustrates the subject

South made an opening bid of 3-spades, demanding feature showing, unless partner held none of the three missing aces. Bidding continued: North, 4-clubs, showing that no club trick could be lost; South, 4-diamonds, to show that ace; North, 4-hearts, meaning that not more than a single heart trick could be lost by the declaring side; North, 6-diamonds, to show the Q, partner having shown both ace and K; South, 6-spades; North, 7-spades, as he held the missing ace of trumps. Of course, the hand is a spread for the grand slam, but the bidding is interesting.

Household Hints

Menu Hint

Broiled Bananas, Canadian Bacon
Vegetable Salad
Pineapple Refrigerator Cake Coffee

Here is a simple little menu which would serve as a surprise for the family or may be used for a guest meal of any kind. It would be good for Sunday night supper, by the way.

Today's Recipes

Broiled Bananas, Canadian Bacon —Remove skin from bananas, and cut in halves both lengthwise and crosswise. Dip into melted butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dredge with bread crumbs. Grease a broiler grid well. Place bananas on it and brown under a rather low fire. The bacon may be pan fried separately or cooked on the broiler with the bananas, if there is room. Arrange two strips of banana on each plate and place several slices of Canadian bacon at the sides or ends.

Pineapple Refrigerator Cake—One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, two egg yolks, one tablespoon cream, one cup drained, crushed pineapple, one-eighth cup pineapple juice, two egg whites, twenty-five graham crackers. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming the while. Continue creaming until of whipped cream consistency. Beat egg yolks, add cream and beat until light. Set over hot, not boiling, water, and cook, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Take care the mixture does not cook too much and become curdled. Blend with sugar and butter creamed together. Cool, add pineapple and juice and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Line a shallow loaf pan with heavy waxed paper and put in a layer of graham cracker crumbs. Add one-third of the pineapple mixture, cover with a second layer of crumbs. Make two more layers and cover the top with crumbs. Cover with waxed paper and chill over night before serving. When serving, slice, top with a dash of whipped cream and sprinkle with shredded toasted almonds.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

We spoke the other day of the mistake that patients frequently make in regarding a fall of blood pressure as necessarily a sign of improvement or a rise of blood pressure as necessarily a sign that the condition is getting worse. It is a mistake to regard blood pressure as a fixed thing. The blood pressure varies in many different ways; in fact, is constantly fluctuating and a chart of a person's blood pressure hour by hour through the day, every day in the year, would look like the chart of the range of an active stock on the stock market.

The most notable variation in blood pressure is that in the course of life, from infancy to old age. The general trend of blood pressure is to go up as age advances. In children of the age of 2, blood pressure is usually 75 to 90. In a mature individual of 20, it is usually about 120. From then on, it is liable to increase gradually, about 10 points for every decade of life, until it reaches 150 to 160 at about the age of 60, when it is likely to decline.

Variations of pressure during the day show, in a healthy persons, that the systolic pressure in the morning is about 100, rises to about 120 at 9 o'clock, falls a little during the forenoon, rises again in the early afternoon, and if a quiet evening is spent, it falls slowly to about 100, remaining that way through the night.

Posture Has Influence

Posture has some influence on blood pressure and is lower in the recumbent position.

Unaccustomed rest has long been known to be a reducer of blood pressure. Thus laboring men with pressures between 160 and 200, on entrance to the hospital showed a considerable fall after a few days in bed.

Meals influence blood pressure to some extent. After a meal, independent of the time of day, there is a constant fall of pressure.

If one were to take 1,000 people and take their blood pressure every day at the same time, throughout the year, and make a graph of the average of these pressures, it would be found that it was highest about the first of January, became appreciably lower—10 to 15 points—by June, stayed that way through the summer, and then gradually rose through the fall again to the high point in January. The lesson of this, according to an eminent physician of my acquaintance, is always to start treating your high blood pressure patients on the first of January and to dismiss them on the first of August.

We see from all these things that it is entirely an erroneous idea to regard blood pressure as a fixed thing. It is far more changeable than the temperature of the body or than the pulse rate.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Reader: "I am 43 and have been married 20 years. My wife has often remarked that she has never heard me snore, but lately she has had to awaken me several times during the night. I would be grateful if you would tell me what has caused this and what I can do to correct it."

Answer: This department wishes it could give a helpful and instructive answer to all questions, but life being what it is, that is not always possible. So far as I have any wisdom on your complaint, you snore so much because you are 43, and there is nothing you can do about it except not go to sleep.

RUSH POINT FAMILY HONORED AT PARTY

Farewell Social Held for Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Toms and Family.

RUSH POINT, April 4 (Examiner Correspondence). — A large number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Toms and family gathered at their home on Friday evening, March 29th, to do honor to the family and enjoy a farewell social evening with them before their departure to their new home near Warsaw. The evening was spent in playing games, cards and music.

During the evening, Messrs. Murnie Barton and Gordon Newton presented the popular family with a beautiful china cabinet on behalf of friends and neighbors, and Miss Mae Seeney read the address.

Though the family was taken completely by surprise, Mr. Toms was able, in a few nicely chosen words, to thank the friends on behalf of himself and family for their lovely token of friendship and many good wishes.

After partaking of a splendid luncheon, the guests departed, wishing the family all kinds of good luck in the new community to which they move on Tuesday, April 2nd.

Members of the Business Girls' and Teachers' Bowling League, and several of their ex-members and friends, numbering about sixty people, gathered in the Assembly Room of the Young Men's Christian Association last evening for their annual banquet and presentation of prizes. This League, which was commenced in 1923 by the former Business Girls' Club of the city and the Teachers' Guild, has played ever since at the bowling alleys of the Young Men's Christian Association. Last evening's banquet brought to a close a season in which twelve teams with four players on each team, have competed in games divided into two series. A fancy of the players is to name each team after the King, Queen or Knave of each suit in a pack of playing cards, and large playing cards formed the decorations of the horseshoe-shaped tables last night, along with smaller cards for each place, and vases of daffodils and tulips. Special guests of the evening were Mr. G. H. Roper of the Y.M.C.A. staff, and Mr. Allan Brown, who has charge of the bowling alleys, with their wives, also Miss Trucie Pearson, whose charming voice delighted her listeners in "Down by the Forest," and its encore, "The Hoot Owl," and her accompanist, Miss Elizabeth Webber. Miss Alice Johnson, convenor of last year's committee, was in the chair, and the members of the committee: Miss Clara Doughty, Miss Eva Elliott and Miss Nellie Boorman, were in charge of arrangements for the evening. Little favors for each guest were donated by Lowe and Outram, in the form of chocolate bars and sample tins of cocoa. Brief speeches, congratulating the ladies on the success of this season's games, were made by Mr. Roper and Mr. Brown, and the gratitude of the players to both and to the retiring executive, was expressed by Miss Jessie Deyell in a few well-chosen words. The executive members for the next season were appointed, as follows: Miss Audrey Milburn, Miss Viola Martin, Miss Margaret Eastwood and Miss Margaret Johnston. Miss Alice Johnson then read the list of prizes, which were presented to the winners, ranging from pretty pieces of china and glass and bridge sets, to consolation awards in the form of candy sticks and tiny novelties. The major prizes were presented as follows: First Series: King of Diamonds team, with 22 wins out of 30 games: Miss M. Johnston, captain, the Misses Mary Eason, Agnes Horsfield, Eunice Barns; (2nd) King of Clubs' team (21 wins): Miss Audrey Milburn, captain; the Misses Marjorie Stenton, Jean Gillespie, Mrs. D. Hunter: High single prize, Mrs. (Lillian) Clysdale (305); High Three, Miss Viola Martin (642); Average, Miss Ethel Rae (1733). In the Second Series, the leaders were members of the Queen of Clubs' team, with 20 wins: Miss M. Wilson, captain, the Misses B. Pickering, Q. Hope, M. Moore: (2nd), Queen of Diamonds' team, with 20 wins: Miss Stella Bennett, captain, the Misses Gladys Coon, A. Lawrence, P. Lawrence; High Single, Miss M. Jackson (275); High Three, Miss Elsie Taylor (633); Average, Miss P. Lawrence (1727). The high team scores were as follows: First Series, King of Hearts' team (766), the Misses Leta Brownscombe, Loretta Booth, Phyllis Coleman, Emma Lou Chenhall; Second Series, King of Spades' team (782): the Misses Viola Martin, M. Richardson, Clara Doughty, Nellie Boorman. Low scorers were members of the Jack of Spades' team: the Misses F. Bonnycastle, E. Taylor, G. Pakenham, E. Distin, and the King of Hearts' team: the Misses J. Saunders, M. Sedgewick, O. Sanderson, A. Hunter. Average prizes went to the following: the Misses A. Johnson, M. Nelson, B. Pickering, C. Doughty, M. Moore, N. Boorman, M. Eaton, S. Bennett, P. Coleman, M. Stenton, M. Willson, G. Coon, A. Davidson, A. Hunter, A. Lawrence, L. Hunter, M. Johnson E. Thompson, J. Saunders, E. Elliott, M. Sedgewick, L. Booth, E. Deyell, G. Coulter, L. Johnston, F. Bonnycastle, L. Brownscombe, A. Horsfield, A. Milburn, J. Deyell, E. Distin, E. Kirns, E. Barnes, H. Thompson, O. Dulmage, J. Gillespie, M. Richardson, M. Eastwood, O. Sanderson, E. L. Chenhall, G. Pakenham, Q. Hope and A. Jamieson. The majority of the above-mentioned players were present at the banquet last evening, with very few exceptions, also the Misses D. Deannard, D. Skitch and several members of other years' teams, including Mrs. W. Hepburn, Mrs. (Alma) Ranger, the Misses Maud Lancaster, Clemena Long, Adele Milburn, Leila Burgess and Letitia Elliott.

I.O.D.E. REPORTS CONTINUED GROWTH

Provincial Chapter is Holding Annual Meeting in Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Ont., April 4. (CP). The annual meeting of Provincial Chapter of Ontario I.O.D.E. began its deliberations here to-day with representatives of chapters throughout the province present. Mrs. M. B. Morden welcomed the visitors and Mrs. William Morrison, president, delivered her address.

The I.O.D.E. had given a substantial amount to the Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund, she announced. She urged all work in the interests of peace.

"All must work together. There must be no dissension or self seeking among I.O.D.E. members," Mrs. Morrison asserted.

The report of the honorary provincial secretary was presented by Mrs. F. Fred Walker of Hamilton.

"The order throughout the province has found a keen satisfaction in the knowledge that our organization is growing, not only in the formation of new chapters, but in influence to others. It is the prayer of all that Canada will be able to make a lasting contribution to economic stabilization and world peace" she said.

Mrs. H. S. Griffin presented the immigration report and dwelt upon the need in Ontario of more British immigrants. Mrs. V. Ernst, organizing secretary, reported 17 new chapters were formed in the last year in Ontario which now had a total of 293 chapters.

Expenditure of $17,000 on educational work, the addition of four new bursaries were reported by the provincial convenor on education, Mrs. J. D. Detwiler, London.

Mrs. L. L. Lang submitted the endowment fund report which was read by Miss Ethel Raymond, Brantford.

W.A. Of St. Andrew's Hears Rev. Paterson

A talk on his trip to England and Scotland during the past summer, given by the Rev. J. D. Paterson, was the feature of the April meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's United Church, held on Tuesday afternoon in the Ladies' Parlor, with the president, Mrs. R. M. Waddell, in the chair.

After the devotional services, led by the Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, the Rev. Mr. Paterson outlined his trip, touching on European conditions, emphasizing England's centre for peace, and telling of wonderful developments in the use of electricity, made in the Old Land.

F. E. Kerr also gave an instructive talk on the Separate School question and Mrs. L. M. Brooks sang a delightful solo.

At six o'clock, the members of the association served supper to the men of the congregation.

CANONIZE SIR THOMAS MORE.

VATICAN CITY, April 4 (C.P.-Havas). — A public consistory for the canonization of the Blessed Sir Thomas More and Cardinal John Fisher was held to-day with His Holiness presiding. The ceremonies were attended by the Pontifical Court, members of the Vatican Diplomatic Corps, the Pope's family and the Roman nobility.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Spring is here with all its promise of verdant beauty. It is a period of quickening of all animate things. Every one reacts to it perhaps with a lassitude which needs strengthening to gain more efficiency, just as soil in gardens needs invigorating to have plants and flowers flourish best. Or it may be the season that makes us restless, as if we had an excess of energy which could brook restraint no longer. The first way is apt to be the effect on those of more mature years than is the latter. Children, for instance, find it irksome to stay indoors when the open air calls to them in their vigorous vitality. They have energy in abundance.

* * * * * *

It requires patience on the part of mothers in managing their children when the weather is scarcely fit for the little folk to be out as much as they wish. The energy is up and must have some vents. Romping indoors is hard to forbid and it is hard to endure. Adults and youngsters need to go on the fifty-fifty basis. It is not a bad idea to suggest this to the children who are old enough to understand it. Mother can say, "I'll let you run about the rooms (or about the room in which they are playing) for fifteen minutes, until the hands of the clock point to such and such a number, if you will promise to let me have it quieter for the next fifteen minutes while you see how tall a tower you can build with your blocks in that time." Most children will respond to some such an appeal. The time of intervals may be twenty or thirty minutes, but they should be definite. Or when the children are very little and very restless, mother may have to stop her work and entertain the wee folk for awhile.

* * * * * *

Then there are times when children want to discard wraps in their belief that the weather is too warm for coats to be needed. So when the little folk are out, a weather eye has to be kept on them to see that in their exuberance of vitality they are not a bit reckless. Also Mother should go out occasionally and see for herself whether the wraps are not, after all, somewhat burdensome. It is bad for the little ones to get overheated.

* * * * * *

When aduts feel restive yet minus the accustomed energy, relaxation may be all that is needed, especially if it can be taken in some sunny spot out of doors. It is a season when tonics for systems are taken, sometimes wisely, sometimes unwisely. A person should be sure she is taking the right tonic, one she has used before or have the advice of her physician.

Home and School Association News

REPORTS OF MEETINGS

The Examiner requests that all Press secretaries of the local associations be a little more prompt in sending in the reports of their meetings.—(Editor).

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

The regular meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held in the Kindergarten Room on Monday evening.

The meeting opened with The Lord's Prayer. A reading by Margaret Flett and piano solos by Joan Brown were much enjoyed by those present.

The Rev. G. K. Tyler was the guest speaker of the evening, and gave a very interesting talk, taking as his subject the life of Frances Willard, the organizer of the W.C.T.U.

He dwelt a great deal on her home life as a young girl and the Christian atmosphere in which she was brought up. At the age of 19 Frances Willard went to a University near Chicago. At university she was branded as an infidel. She called herself an honest enquirer.

While at the university she became associated with many fine friends who understood and sympathised with her.

She had a very severe illness and on recovery, while attending service at a Methodist Church, she definitely acknowledged conversion.

She became a school teacher, but discovered she possessed the gift of public speaking and giving up her academic career, she became a reformer and philanthropist.

In 1905 the United States Congress set aside a day of dedication to Frances Willard.

Reports from convenors were heard.

Miss White gave a very excellent reading on the liquor problem.

After a short discussion re the delegates to the convention to be held during East Week in Toronto at the Royal York, the meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

When that dainty and petite cinema star, Alice White, first arrived in the Hollywood sector, she possessed what was then considered a typical "It" figure. Round-limbed and softly curved, her figure was regarded as one of the loveliest in the entire movie mecca, and it fully deserved every bit of the admiration that was bestowed upon it.

When the craze for slenderness hit Hollywood, however, Alice, like many of the other stars, began to worry about her weight. Fashion demanded exaggerated slenderness. And so Alice starved herself into the bony outline that was then the fashion. She lost not only pounds, but a good deal of her pep as well, and although she has now regained her former perfect proportions, she knows that that starvation act is one thing she'll never do again.

Rapidity Is Foolish

There are many women who, like Alice, desire to lose weight in a very speedy manner. But let me tell you that any girl who embarks upon a reducing routine of questionable merit just because it guarantees speedy results is a very foolish individual. For great damage can be done by a poorly-planned reducing routine. A too speedy reducing routine may not only prove injurious to your health, but may impair the loveliness of your face as well. When the face is padded with fatty tissue, it looks round and youthful. But when these fatty layers are broken up too quickly, the skin, which was stretched to accommodate the fat, doesn't have time to shrink properly. As a consequence, the face becomes gaunt, haggard and wrinkled in appearance.

However, one of the worst dangers of too speedy reduction is the likelihood of Ptosois developing. Ptosis, in case you don't know it, is a sinking down of the stomach and intestines. It is the abdominal fat that supports these organs. And when this fat is dissolved too rapidly, the support is removed, and the stomach and intestines sink down in the resultant cavity, leaving the abdominal walls in a loose and flabby condition. Permanent harm to the health can be done if this condition is permitted to develop. No woman, therefore, ever should start on a reducing course without first making sure that it is a safe and reliable one. For only then will she lose weight satisfactorily, and at the same time retain her youthfulness, health and vitality.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Astringents

Jean: I would suggest that you use a mild astringent on your skin at intervals during the day. This will remove the excess oil, and eliminate the shininess of which you complain. You should weigh about 120 pounds.

Develop Bust

K. R. A.: My method of developing the breasts and making them firm is too long to print here. However, the process is fully outlined in my booklet on "The New Figure". This booklet also contains my meth of reducing the hips.

Waving Fluid

Luisa: Boil one tablespoon of quince seeds in a quart of water, and strain through cheesecloth. Add a few drops of alcohol to preserve the mixture. If you think the fluid too thick, dilute it with water.

EDITOR'S NOTE: To obtain Miss Glad's pamphlets on 'The New Figure' and 'Beauty Culture' write, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling.

EARLY FOR TOOTHBRUSHES

CALLANDER, Ont.—There will be no toothbrushes used in the mouths of the Dionne quintuplets for some time yet, although already three of the mites have teeth, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, their medical guardian, said to-day. The mouths of all five of the ten-months-six-days'-old babies are in a healthy condition, and Annette, Yvonne and Marie get no more attention than their toothless sisters.

Women Going In For Pockets This Spring

Left to right, checked seersucker, striped waffle pique frock, peasant cotton, printed pique and plaid cotton challis frock.

MILADY NOW HAS AS MANY POCKETS AS ANY MAN, BUT, OH, THEY RE EVER TO MUCH MORE ATTRACTIVE, DON'T YOU THINK?

Courtesy Good Housekeeping

GLANCE OVER any showing of dresses for the spring and summer months, and what most strikes your eye? Isn't it the pockets?

Women are going in for pockets in almost the same numbers as their male friends and husbands, but there's a difference. Women's pockets are useful, to be sure, but they also are ornamental.

The first snappy little dress at the left of the sketch has four pockets, two above and two below. It is a neat and trim tailored affiar, made of checked seersucker, and has a turnover collar, wooden buttons and bucklet and one pleat in front and another in the back.

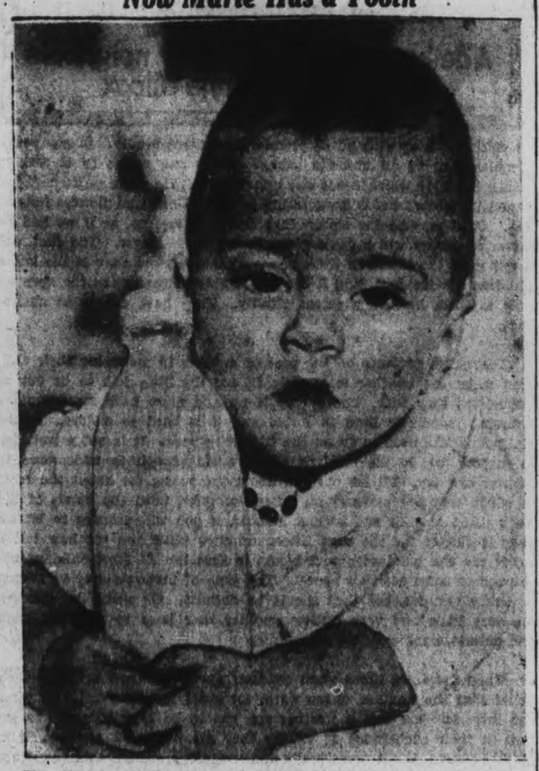
Something new and fresh is the striped waffle pique frock, second, with bright metal buttons, one pocket only, braided cord belt with fringe, box pleat in front. The stripes are in many colors on white.

The central figure wears a peasant cotton crash sports outfit. It may be white or one of the charming blues or dusty pinks. The blouse has one pocket and cork buttons.

The cowboy neckline has made quite a hit with the young moderns, possibly because of the cowboy melodies we hear over our radios. It is used here in a buttoned-on kerchief of dark linen on a dress of printed pique in brown with white and green print. The belt is linen like the kerchief.

The last little model, right, is a plaid cotton challis in two-piece jacket style. It has short sleeves with pleats, four buttons, wide leather belt, patch pockets and box pleat in front. The skirt is on a band.

Now Marie Has a Tooth



Stop the press! News sensation! Marie Dionne has a tooth! Thus the smallest of the famous quintuplet sisters of Callander, Ontario, joins her sisters in growing up. Here is a new study of the pretty Marie with her bottle. (Photos copyright by Central Press Canadian.)

Kansas Dust Storm "Snows" In Machinery

American government agricultural agencies in a soil-anchoring campaign after dust storms brought millions of dollars damage to crops. Above, one of the results of the storm at Wilburton, Kas.—a tractor almost "snowed in" the dust which was piled in high drifts about the farm.

Ocean's "White Elephant" Withdraws From Atlantic Service

Withdrawal of the giant passenger liner Leviathan from trans-Atlantic service and construction of a smaller and more popular cabin vessel to take her place has been arranged by an agreement between the United States Line, owners of the ship, and the American government. The 21-year-old floating palace, reconditioned and fitted as an oil-burner in 192? at a cost of $8,000,000 has become the "white elephant" of the shipping service. With a capacity of 2,646 passengers, she had only 690 first-class bookings eastbound in 1934 and in five ocean trips lost more than $500,000. Built in 1914 at Hambourg and christened Vaterland, the giant liner is over 906 feet long, with a tonnage of 48,942 tons.

Where European Peace Conference Will Be Held

New photo (top) of Stresa, picturesque Italian small town where Sir John Simon (top), British Foreign Minister, Benita Mussolini (left), Italian Premier, and Pierre Laval (centre), French Foreign Minister, will meet on April 11 for conversations upon which the peace of Europe may depend. In the background is the historic Bella Island,, fronting the town on Lake Maggiore.

Britain Speeds War Machinery

British "White Paper" which set off current European fireworks had the effect of stimulating parliament to provide for increases in appropriations for new equipment for army and navy. More of the armament illustrated above is to be provided as fast as it can be manufactured. Pictured are latest types of observation aeroplanes returning to H.M.S. Eagle, a double-barrelled anti-aircraft gun on the Eagle, and outfits which protect entire bodies of infantrymen from gas and flame attacks.

Among Canadians To Be Presented At Court

Among the many Canadians to be presented to their majesties at the court of St. James this month are Miss Eleanor Vale of Toronto (LEFT), Mrs. A. D. McRae, wife of Senator McRae and Mrs. R. P. Baker, daughter of Senator and Mrs. McRae, both of Vancouver.

ADOLF HITLER — SIR JOHN SIMON — CAPTAIN EDEN

History in the making is depicted in this Central Press radiophoto taken in the chancellery of the Third Reich in Berlin as Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler conversed with Sir John Simon British foreign secretary (centre), and Captain Anthony Eden, lord privy seal of Great Britain (right).

Residents of the Camden Town section of London rubbed their eyes when they came upon a Victoria crossing a few mornings ago and saw the curb neatly railed off by stanchions and chains. This is the latest traffic innovation of Mr. Hore-Belisha, of Belisha-Beacon feme, whose job is to reduce the pedestrian death rate. The idea of these rails is to keep the pedestrians from leaving the sidewalk in the centre of the block, making them cross at crossings only. Though a fine factor for the man who walks, it proves irksome to the motorist who will have difficulties in parking his car.

English Children Feel Benefits Of Slum Clearance

Yesterday a layout illustrating what was being done in England to clear away the slums, showed a modern apartment house built to replace crowded, stuffy, and unclean areas. To-day, photos of the re-housing work wherein new houses replace ramshackle tenements, are illustrated. In the picture at top a street in the slums of London is shown; the children are forced to play in narrow streets where traffic is heavy and where sunlight permeates only for the briefest periods. Contrast this with the picture below, where a new street has risen from the dust of the old. Flowers, gardens, plenty of room and sunlight and air give children a chance to live normally. Such homes as these are being built at the rate of thousands per year in English cities. Through Government subsidy they are available to even the lowest wage-earner. A drive is being made for a similar scheme for Canadian cities, and the Federal administration is reported favoring a plan of subsidizing a similar re-housing and slum clearance plan.

ETHIOPIAN ARMY 100,000 STRONG

Troops Are Fully Equipped With Modern Rifles, Plentiful Supply of Stores.

OWN OFFICERS IN CHARGE.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, April 4 (A.P.).—A modernly equipped Ethiopian army of 100,000 men is moving to the Eritrean and Italian Somaliland borders, authoritative soufces said to-day.

Concurrent with this disclosure of the size of the army Emperor Haile Selassie has mustered, the Government reasserted its contention the military movements are merely 'precautionary.'

The latest types of rifles have been placed in the hands of the warriors in contrast with the sabres which Ethiopian tribesmen carried with them in their former battles with Italy.

Although some European officers are serving as advisors in aviation and other branches of the army, the Ethiopians, recalling with pride their successes against Italian troops 40 years ago, have entrusted the direction of their military operations to their own leaders. The army is said to have a plentiful supply of machine guns, ammunition and other stores

Torturing Husband Costs Woman Life

KANSAS CITY, April 4.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Nellie A. Hurd, 64, died early to-day from four bullet wounds inflicted by her 77 year old husband, Herbert, who said he had been tortured by his wife in an effort to make him disclose the hiding place of hidden wealth.

Mrs. Hurd died at General Hospital after an operation had been performed to remove the bullets. In another ward lay her husband, a railroad crossing watchman, crazed by knife and flame wounds, which he said had been inflicted by his wife "because spirits told her I had a hidden fortune I was giving to the woman next door."

Miss Nellia Hurd, adopted daughter of the Hurds, denied her stepfather had been tortured and insisted he signed of his free will a "confession" of infidelity with a neighbor woman and of his giving her $15,000.

NAMES EVA BOOTH TO TOP NOTABLES

Lady Snowden Gives Honor to Army Leader With Theatre Director Next.

LONDON, April 4 (C.P.)—In Lady Snowden's opinion where any list of 10 noted women who do "teamwork" is concerned, one name stands out specially.

"That name is Evangeline Booth, now General of the Salvation Army. I think she should head any list of notable women," she said.

"Miss Lilyan Bayliss also has notable achievements to her credit in 1934. Sadler's Wells and the Old Vic (the two theatres she directs) have gone on from strength to strength. But more than that, Miss Bayliss has succeeded in persuading officialdom that Shakespeare is definitely educative, and so should be free of the entertainment tax. That is a great victory."

PUBLIC HEALTH REPORT STUDIED

Senate to Take Action on Motion For Its Adopttion To-day.

FARM LOAN BILL.

OTTAWA, April 4 (C.P.). — The Senate to-day will take action on the motion for adoption of the report of its Public Health and Inspection of Foods Committee. The report approves the coming interprovincial conference of Health ministers and recommends Government consideration of continuing Federal grants to associations carrying on educational work in the field of social health and prevention of disease, and renewal of grants to Mental Hygiene Council and the Canadian Hygiene Council.

Expectations are the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee will proceed to-day with consideration of the Employment and Insurance Bill. If sufficiently recovered from his indisposition, Vice-President J. E. McPherson of the Bell Telephone Company will be heard.

The Canadian Farm Loan Board Bill, increasing the fund from $70,000,000 to $90,000,000 is due to be advanced further by the committee. One of the major questions to be discussed to-morrow is an amendment of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen for greater safeguard of board loans from the Dominion Treasury against Provincial legislation giving priority to other obligations on mortgaged farm lands.

VICTORY FOR CHINESE REDS

HONG KONG, April 3.—(AP)—Communists in Kweichow province who broke through provincial troops today captured the city of Chihshui, swept south and occupied Tungtze and Tsunyi and approached within 40 miles of Kweiyang, capital of the province. It was understood no missionaries were endangered.

BLOCKING PROGRESS OF THE CHURCHES

Wilderness Christians Are Blocking Progress Evangelist Declares.

"Our churches are filled with wilderness Christians" declared Rev. H. L. Stephens, evangelist, to a large congregation in the Park Street Baptist Church last night.

"Speaking from the text "Let us go up at once and possess it, for we are well able to overcome it" Numbers 13: 30, he said, "The children of Israel were on the border of the land of Canaan. When they came out of Egypt and crossed the Red Sea, if they had only known, they could have crossed directly over to Canaan in 13 days. They came to Kadesh after one year and eight months. God was patient with them and cared for them day by day. He gave orders to Moses to send forth 12 men to spy out the land of Canaan and bring back a report as to its real condition, whether the land was good or bad, fat or lean and whether the people that were in it were strong or weak, many or few. They were forty days in making their investigation. In the meantime there was great anticipation on the part of the three million of people that waited for their report. They remembered the promise made to Abraham that if he would leave his country and kin, that He would bring him into a land flowing with milk and honey. At last that day had almost come. Their next move however, depended on the report of these 12 spies. They held the future destiny in their hands, and many a servant of God holds the future blessing and destiny in his hands of his congregation.

"It states the spies returned from searching of the land after forty days. They came to Moses and Aaron and said: 'We came unto a land whither thou sentest us and surely it floweth with milk and honey and this is the fruit of it.' Now if they had just believed God they could have entered into this marvelous country at once, but we find ten of these spies bringing up an evil report because of certain tribes and giants in the land. The people became so intimidated that they wept all that night and said: 'Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt'.

"Two of the spies said they could go in and possess it. There were two reports brought back. A report of a majority and a minority. Ten men said they could not possess it; two said they could.

"I want to say friends that I would far rather be in the minority and be right than be in the majority and be wrong. It takes consecration and courage to stand sometimes almost alone for the things of God. Public sentiment dares to rule but many times it is wrong. It was wrong this time and the result was that this great company of people turned back into the wilderness and wandered day after day for forty years.

"Jesus Christ in His death on the cross not only provided salvation from all of the guilt of sin but also provided a deliverance from the very power of sin. Thousands have been the recipients of salvation from the guilt of sin but how few are willing to allow the Holy Spirit to take full control of them, delivering them from the world, the flesh and Satan, and filling them with His gracious power and fullness.

"Thousands never hear this truth proclaimed and the result is our churches are filled with members who are nothing more or less than wilderness Christians, overcome with discontent, worldliness, unbelief, compromise and failure.

"Nothing short of a mighty sweeping revival will ever change things and bring us into the promised land of the fullness of God. Sentiment to-day is all the other way. The person and work of the Holy Spirit must hardly be mentioned.

"Gods mighty man Caleb dared to cry out: 'Let us go up at once and possess it for we are well able to overcome it.' He didn't speak to a couple of the tribes. His appeal was to all. It is God's will to-day for every professing Christian to be out and out for God and empowered by Him. But how many are? Just a few here and there, while the majority go on in failure and compromise."

John B. Rogers Lands 40-Pound Amber Jack

When John B. Rogers of Havelock returned from his winter haven in Florida the other day, he had proof that Ontario is not the only place where tourists catch game fish. A 40-pound amber jack, which he caught during a fishing trip in the Gulf of Mexico on March 19, constituted the proof.

Mr. Rogers' handsome catch was the prize-winner of the month in the St. Petersbrug Chamber of Commerce big fish contest. To take the wind out of the sails of local bass and musky anglers, he is having the fish mounted and will exhibited it at his summer camp at Belmont Lake.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE BRINGING RESULTS

Ten Applicattions Await Consideration at Next Regular Meeting of Legion.

The first meeting of the newly-elected executive of the local branch of the Canadian Legion was held last evening with Major Max Sloan, president, in the chair. It was reported that the drive for new members is continuing with marked results, ten applications for membership awaiting consideration at the next regular meeting of the branch.

In future, it was decided, that notices of meetings will be sent the individual members by mail and notices in the paper will be discontinued. Major Sloan, Lieut.-Col. G. W. Hall, Fire Chief Gimblett and Major H. K. Clifton were appointed the Legion's representatives to the civic meeting called by Mayor Denne for to-morrow evening to make plans for the celebration of the King and Queen's jubilee.

President Sloan was authorized to appoint and head a committee which will study the bylaws of the local branch and bring in recommendations of any changes to be made.

Major Clifton was appointed parade marshall for the year, replacing Captain James Abraham, who has been marshall for many years but who is confined to his home by illness. The members of the Legion and all war veterans of the city will parade to Mark Street Church on Sunday, April 28, and this Sunday the 21st Battalion Club will parade to All Saints' Church where Major W. E. Kidd, former padre of the Battalion, will deliver the sermon to them.

Committee chairmen were appointed last night as follows: House and Property, Chief George Gimblett; Finance and Relief, Lieut.-Col. G. W. Hall; Applications, Robert Haddow; Recreation, James Dunslow; Sick, Harry Colt; Pensions, Captain James Abraham; Entertainment, Robert Hendry.

The complete executive of the branch is: President, Major Max Sloan; Vice-presidents, Chief George Gimblett, Lieut.-Col. G. W. Hall; Executive committee, Major R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, Major H. K. Clifton, Captain James Abraham, Captain G. R. Melton, Captain H. R. Scott, Lieut. R. S. Haddow and Messrs. Arnold Everett, James Dunslow, Frank Millard and Robert Hendry.

30 KILLED IN STORM

ANCONA, Italy, April 3 (AP)—The Italian Government, completing a survey, announced to-day 30 persons were killed, 150 fishing boats disabled, and 600 fishermen rendered without means of livelihood by the storm which swept the Adriatic March 29 and 30. The property damage was estimated at about $70,000.

Mrs. Mary Not For Maxie

No Marriage Bells to Ring for Baer — Heavyweight Champ Broke.

HOUNDED BY LAWYERS

"HUMAN enough to love the lovely ladies but that is as far as it can go", says Heavyweight-Champion Maxie Baer in denying the rumors that he intends to marry Mary Kirk Brown. Baer gives as his reasons lack of funds and besides, his contract won't let him. Reports had been in circulation that the heavy champ and the charming divorcee, Mrs. Brown, were the principals in a romantic airplane elopement from the Pacific coast and were on their way to New York, where they were to be married.

Baer, who has been in Chicago since Sunday with his manager Ancil Hoffman made emphatic denial of any such plans, either immediate or in the near future. He said: "I wouldn't marry anyone now because I am flat broke. All the money I can possibly make has to go to my ma and pa. I'm too deep in the hole and couldn't afford it. Also I'm tied up by my lawyers who are hounding me for money and by my pugilistic contracts. The world's heavyweight champion, to be a favorite, must have some attraction for the general public such as my motion pictures have shown. They have given me much undeserved popularity."

BAER SAID that under the terms of his pugilistic contract he cannot marry for five years under penalty of all his earnings going to his manager. Referring again to the rumors of his intended elopment with Mrs. Brown, who besides being in the pictures is prominent socially, Baer said, "She is a lovely girl and I like her, but the question of marriage is something in which I am not interested."

The champion and his entourage plan to leave Chicago Friday for New York. Baer is scheduled to broadcast from there Saturday and Monday on a program which will star Al Jolson. He is unable to explain how the elopement rumors arose, but he had an idea, saying: "Some one probably thought I was going to New York to see Mary because it was reported she would be there at that time. That was just an error."

PILOT FRANK FRISCH FINES 'DIZZY' DEAN

Cardinal Boss Uses Whip on Four Players for Breaking Training Rules.

DOTHAN, Ala., April 4 (A.P.). — "Dizzy" Dean had something new to talk about last night—a $100 fine handed down by Manager Frankie Frisch—but the oratorical pitching ace of St. Louis Cardinals was strangely silent.

Frisch cracked a training rules whip over the backs of his lagging world champions yesterday, and the lash stung two players with fines. Two others were sent home. "Dizzy," well known for his inability to take fines graciously, was stung the hardest.

Dean, Charley Gelbert, an infielder, and Outfielder 'Red' Worthington, missed the club train at Dublin, Ga., Tuesday night. By making a fast automobile trip the erring trio caught up with the baseball party at Macon, Ga., yesterday, just in time to be greeted by Frisch in his managerial wrath.

"Dizzy" was fined $100, Gelbert $50 and Worthington was sent home to St. Louis for the remainder of the spring training, now in its last week. In addition the Fordham flash sent Charlie Wilson, an infielder, home to St. Louis for breaking training for the second time.

Golfer Turns Pro.

MISS JOYCE WETHERED

Foremost among British women golfers and one of the world's best Miss Joyce Wethered (above), has accepted an offer to tour United States this summer playing a series of exhibition matches. The plans call for a substantial payment for her appearances which would automatically class her as a professional. Her status has been reported under a cloud for some time, however, in view of her position as manager of a sporting goods store in London.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX J. MORRISON

NUMBER 576

During the last few days I've run across several players whom I played with three or four years ago. At that time most of them were playing in the low 80's. Naturally they wanted to get down into the 70's. I told them that if they didn't improve their swings they'd get worse instead of better.

Most of them laughed at me. Today none of them can break 90 and some of them turn in scores over 100. Others have quit the game.

This happens every time a player places scoring before the improvement of his swing. He can't see himself as others see him or he'd realize that his good scores come on the days when he is swinging more correctly.

The real fun comes through knowing what you're doing. Then you can duplicate or very closely approximate your good performances.

Exercise Boy Ruled Off All Florida Race Tracks

MIAMI, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—An exercise boy at Tropical Racecourse, charged with using an electric buzzer on a horse, has been ruled off all Florida tracks indefinitely, Walter H. Donovan, Secretary of the State Racing Commission, said yesterday.

The horse, Chartres, won the fifth race March 26 after showing unusual speed.

Martin Harvey, the Commissioner said, was charged with having participated with Alvin Snider in the use of the buzzer. Snider was indefinitely ruled off the tracks of Florida several days ago on charges similar to those against Harvey.

After a two-hour struggle a shark 27½ feet long and weighing five tons was caught recently in a fisherman's net in Hout Bay, South Africa.

MONTREAL CLUB SECURES BERTH SENIOR SERIES

4-1 Victory Gives Royals Right to Enter Eastern Canada Finals.

NEVILLE SCORES THREE.

FORUM, Montreal, April 4 (CP). —Montreal Royals, Quebec amateur hockey champions, emerged as a real threat for Allan Cup honors when they flashed a 4-to-1 victory here last night over Toronto All-Stars, Ontario titlists, before about 9,500 fans at the Forum. The win gave Royals the margin in two-out-of-three-game Eastern Canadian semi-final series. They won the first game here last Friday, 9 to 2, and lost at Toronto on Monday, 5 to 2.

The Quebec champions will move on to Halifax, where they will meet Wolverines on Saturday in the first of a two-out-of-three series for the right to enter the Allan Cup final against Fort Arthur.

Brilliant play by Dave Neville, veteran right-winger, gave Royals the victory in one of the hardest-fought amateur games seen here this year. Neville slammed in two of his team's four goals, and was credited with another when a Toronto defence man accidentally cleared the rubber into his own goal. Lanky Hugh Farquharson, centre, scored the other.

Toronto's lone counter was tallied by George Grivel early in the third period.

SUDBURY IN QUEST OF MEMORIAL CUP

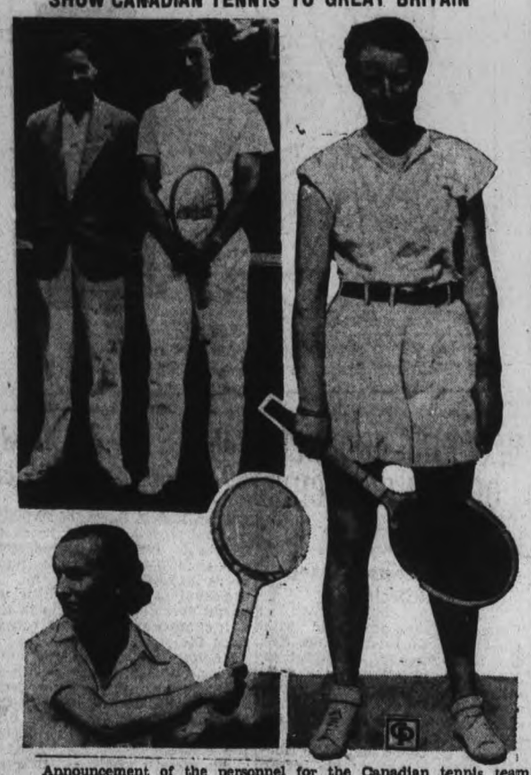
Eastern Titleholders Leave Winnipeg to Engage Western Champions.

OTTAWA, April 4 (C.P.).—Sudbury Cub Wolves, who went through the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup playdowns without the loss of a game, left here last night for Winnipeg, where they open Canada's junior hockey classic Monday night against either Winnipeg Monarchs or Saskatoon Wesleys. If the Cubs are successful against the Westerners it will be their second Memorial Cup in three years.

The Cubs present a fast-skating band of forwards, good on the attack and defence, a rearguard featured by Chuck Shannon, one of the best juniors of recent years, and a cool goalkeeper who has proven his worth under fire.

Sudbury, representatives of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, blasted through their opposition in the Eastern playdowns with decisive margins. They defeated Oshawa Majors, Ontario champions, 5-3 in a sudden-death game, went on to 9-4 and 11-7 victories over Verdun Maple Leafs and completed the eastern march with 3-0 and 7-4 triumphs over Ottawa Rideaus.

SHOW CANADIAN TENNIS TO GREAT BRITAIN



Announcement of the personnel for the Canadian tennis team, which will play in England and Scotland this summer, was recently made by P. D. Lyons, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association. Members of the squad will be Laird Watt and Bobby Murray (TOP LEFT) and Miss Carolyn Deacon (TOP RIGHT), and Miss Eleanor Young (LOWER LEFT). Murray and Watt, both ranking stars among Canada's younger players, are from Montreal, and Miss Deacon and Miss Young from Vancouver. The team will sail on May 31, arriving June 10, thus allowing them to become acclimatized before the Wimbledon tournament June 24 to July 6. They will compete in other English and Scottish tournaments and will meet a team representing Scotland. They will return to Canada, arriving Aug. 14.

BOONE IS READY TO WEED OUT LEAFS

Several Players to be Sent to Wilmington When Reds Reinforce Team.

TAMPA, Fla., April 4 (C.P.).—All is quiet on the Southern front, with the Leafs firmly entrenched at Tampa Park, eagerly awaiting reinforcements from the Reds. Ike Boone, commander-in-chief of the Canadian forces, refuses to get excited over Larry McPhail's delay in forwarding the players he has guaranteed to give the Toronto club, but he is worried, and it is altogether likely that General Manager Art Leman will again prod the Cincinnati chief to-day.

With Manager McCurdy of Wilmington here and ready to take many of the players who have been practicing with the Leafs, the Toronto club cannot fool around much longer. McPhail's procrastination is somewhat inexplicable. He has had almost seven weeks now in which to size up his talent and surely to goodness he should know by this time which players he intends to retain or farm out.

Referees Named

MONTREAL, April 3—(CP)—Referees Bill Stewart and Bill Bell will be in charge of the Stanley Cup game at Toronto tonight, President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League announced tonight. The goal umpires will be J. McLean and F. Pike, both of Detroit.

The second game of the series between Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Maroons will be played on Saturday night, with the same minor officials, but the referees may or may not be changed, Calder making no announcement on that point.

Calder will see all games of the series.

BOTH TEAMS AT FULL STRENGTH FOR FIRST GAME

Leafs Appear to Have Edge Over Rivals in Stanley Cup Final Series.

TORONTO CLUB CONFIDENT.

By ELMER DULMAGE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, April 4. (CP).—The best hockey team in the world—that is, the best day-in-day-out machine over a 48-game stretch—enters the classic Stanley Cup stage here to-night as just one of two challengers for the prize won a year ago by Chicago Black Hawks.

Since the Fall of 1933 when Toronto Maple Leafs shot ahead of the pack in the Canadian section of the National Hockey League and overpowered one and all until the fatal playoff stage, the Leafs have been accorded the honor of "greatest team" reference. They don't pay off on the reference, however.

After flattening all foes in the 1933-34 season the Leafs succumbed to Detroit Red Wings in the league finals while the Black Hawks won the Stanley Cup. Everybody had neglected to refer to the Hawks as even a great team, let alone use any such term as "greatest."

Now the Leafs have done it all over again, leading the Canadian section from start to finish. They have gone a step further and won the N.H.L. title by defeating Boston Bruins decisively in a best-of-five series. Montreal Maroons hoist the remaining barriers to-night.

Maroons, a big, fast and experienced team with Thomas P. Gorman directing, rated to-day as virtually as strong as the Leafs in a five-game series. The so-called greatest team in hockey had a slight edge in the general support that seemed evenly divided between the Leafs and Maroons. That was all.

Throughout the season—but not now—the Leafs maintained a record much superior to that of the Montrealers, Maroons finished second to Toronto in the section and opened their playoff campaign by taking the Stanley Cup from Chicago. Then they defeated New York Rangers. They won two of these games and tied the other two.

They came into town last night to face odds of only 5 to 6 against their chances of upsetting the Leafs. Manager Gorman hoped Maroons would get an even break in the two games here to-night and Saturday. The next two will be played in Montreal and if a fifth is necessary the teams will move back here.

15,000 First Game Crowd

A crowd of from 14,200 to 15,000 will watch the first game. There hasn't been a seat to Maple Leaf Gardens available since early yesterday. They were still selling standing-room to-day.

Hooley Smith, Maroon centre, is the only major casualty on either team and the big leader of Montreal's power line will play despite a broken thumb as he did against Chicago and Rangers. Jimmy Ward and Baldy Northcott will team with Hooley, who learned his hockey in Toronto.

Kid Line Heats

It is likely that this experienced trio will be assigned to guard Charlie Conacher, Harvey Jackson and Joe Primeau, leaving the other front divisions to fight it out. Or the canny Gorman may decide to switch his forward lines at random. Probable lineups:

Montreal—Connell, goal; Wentworth and Evans, defence; Smith, centre; Ward and Northcott, wings; subs L. Conacher, Shields, Blinco, Robinson, Trottier, Marker, Cain, Gracie, Miller.

Toronto—Hainsworth, goal; Day and Hollett, defence; Thoms, centre; Pinnigan and Kilrea wings; subs: Clancy, Horner, C. Conacher, Jackson, Primeau, Boll, Metz, Kelly, Cotton.

Officials: Bill Stewart and Billy Bell.

Who May be Who in 1935

Chicago Cubs Hope for Pitching Aid From Ex-Card Billy Lee.

A tall person from Plaquemine, La., who pitched some great ball games for the Cubs in 1934, his freshman year, will take his place among Manager Charley Grimm's Big Four starting pitchers this season.

He is William C. Lee, 26-year-old giant, who showed an amazing ability to beat the Giants and other hard-hitting teams in the National League las year, but who couldn't win a game from Cincinnati.

Lee finished up the season eleventh among pitchers in his league in point of allowing earned runs, ranking right next to Warneke of his own club. Grimm plans to use Warneke, Larry French, Tex Carleton and Lee as his first line flingers. Lee won 13 games and lost 14, but his average runs allowed per game was a shade better than Paul Deans of the Cardinals.

Leaves College For Trial

The long Louisianan will observe his 26th birthday, October 21. He started attracting attention as a picher when in high school in his home town, Plaquemine. He entered Louisiana State in 1928, but reported at he spring training camp of the Cardinals in 1930. For seasoning he was sent to St. Joseph of the Western League, and from there to Greensboro in the Piedmont.

In the following season Branch Rickey sent Lee to Scottdale of the Middle Atlantic League where he won 22 games and lost seven. He was transferred to Columbus in the American Association.

Helps to Win Flag

The Cubs bought him out of the Cardinal chain, which means they paid a nice price for the big fellow, after he had won 21 games and lost nine for the A.A. champions in 1933.

Lee has the pitching judgment and finish of a veteran. He is deadly serious about his work, upon which he keeps his attention without any indulgence in frills. He is married, likes Mrs. Lee's cooking and his favorite diversions are hunting and fishing.

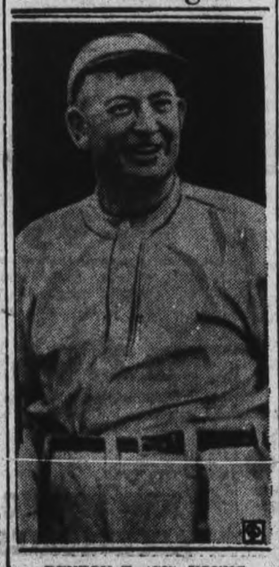
To Pitch Again



DENTON T. (CY) YOUNG

One of baseball's immortal pitchers, Denton Tecumseh (Cy) Young, has sold his farm near New Philadelphia, O., and will go into training soon at Augusta, Ga., to pitch for a team of old timers which will go on tour during the summer. Cy is shown as he appeared during the recent exhibition game. He is 68 years old.

Tiger Hockey Team To Play In England

HAMILTON, April 4.—Hamilton's senior hockey team, winners of the straight schedule in the O.H.A. "A" series, will leave for England on Sunday next to play a series of eight games at Wembley Stadium, London and, perhaps, several other games on the Continent.

The proposal to have Tigers visit England was made some time ago, the Wembley Club authorities endeavoring to arrange that trip, but it was not until today that the proposal was confirmed. Eleven men will make the trip.

All eight games in the original schedule will be played at Wembley, but the club is contemplating also games in Paris, and, perhaps other centres, thus making the extent of the trip indefinite.

Fred Radke, husky defenseman will be one of the Tiger regulars unable to make the trip, but it is expected that the other members of the squad will be ready to sail this week-end.

EAGLE EYE OF LESTER PATRICK TO SCAN THE ALLAN CUP TALENT

Silver Thatched Mentor Hopes to Find Defenseman For His Ranger Rearguard in Halifax Series — Five Due For Tryouts Next Season.

By GEORGE MAGUIRE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 4.—(C.P.)—Carefree as a schoolboy, Lester Patrick rode toward Halifax to-day to enjoy the Allan Cup final.

The head of New York Rangers hopes to get a line on several amateurs performing in the Canadian championship series who are reported "hot" for big time company.

The glaring hole in the Ranger rearguard must be filled before next season rolls around, Lester admitted, and he has hopes the player to do it will be found at Halifax.

Joe Cooper, husky defenceman, who played for the Brooklyn Hamilton-Crescents this season, will be given a try-out with the Rangers next year as will Neil and Mac Colville, forwards, and Bert Gardiner, goalkeeper for Edmonton and Alex Shibicky, forward of Winnipeg.

Sponsor Farm Club.

With the hope of having a farm club in the International circuit next season Patrick plans negotiating with some dozen or so other Canadian amateurs. These will report to the training school at Winnipeg next fall. Those who don't make the major league team will likely find a farm club berth.

Fred "Bun" Cook and Brother Bill of Rangers made their exit from New York just in time for Bun to miss a suit filed in court by Peggy Rich, actress, charging injuries she suffered when Bun's stick struck her during a game at the Garden "greatly impaired her earning power."

Bun Skips Out.

As Bunny has already crossed the border and picked up his bond, guaranteeing his return to Canada within six months, local hockey circles feel there is little the court or Miss Rich can do about the case in the near future.

IMPROVE ZONE SYSTEM FOR ONTARIO SOFTBALL

GUELPH, April 4.—Success of the zoning system, which was introduced into Ontario softball by the O.A.S.A. three years ago, has prompted provincial softball officials to extend the plan in an executive way this year. With the scheme so far confined principally to play-offs, Verne McIlwraith, secretary of the provincial body, announced yesterday plans to enlarge on the idea at the annual meeting of the O.A.S.A. to be held in Peterborough Good Friday.

It is proposed to introduce legislation to give each section of the province representation on the Ontario executive committee. The plans call for each zone district to hold a general meeting prior to the annual meeting of the O.A.S.A. to name representatives. Several other important amendments are expected before Friday of this week, the closing date.

FORMER CHAMP SECOND CHOICE

Lawson Little, Tommy Armour, Jules Huot and Andy Kay Others in Competition.

On Famed Augusta Course.

(By Kenneth Gregory)

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—A little Italian, Gene Sarazen, bronzed from a blazing sun, drew the attention of the betting fraternity to-day as the mighty guns of golf were cocked for the second annual $5,000 Augusta National Tournament. They call it Bobby Jones' tournament, for it is the outgrowth of an ideal cherished by the retired world's champion, but as the field moved into action in the 72-hole campaign, it was Sarazen who claimed the spotlight. Quoted odds on Gene were 6 to 1, with Jones second choice at 8 to 1.

The field seems a bit too fast for the great Bobby, who has been missing from the active ranks for five years and has lost the steadiness so essential to competition.

Kay in Competition

In the starting group were W. Lawson Little, Jr., amateur champion of United States and Great Britain; Tommy Armour, Canadian open titleholder; Jules Huot of Quebec, and Andy Kay of Toronto.

Sarazen and Armour play the first 18-hole round together to-day while Jones plays with Smith.

The opening round will be followed by 18-hole tours on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Culbertsons Leading 9,460 At 70 Rubbers

NEW YORK, April 4.—(A.P.)—The Sims-Culbertson bridge match reaches the half-way mark to-day with Ely and Josephine on the long end of the score by 9,460 points.

This was their margin over Mr. and Mrs. P. Hal Sims at the end of 70 rubbers in the 150-rubber match that is supposed to decide the superiority of one or the other of their system of bidding.

Honors in yesterday's play went to Hal and Dorothy Sims, who made a net gain of 1,880 points and at one time had reduced their opponents' lead nearly 4,000.

The rubber score stands 39 to 31 in favor of the Culbertsons, with a total point score of 61,290 to 51,790.

Gar Wood Is To Try For Record Saturday

MIAMI, Fla., April 4. (AP). Gar Wood, slated at the showing of Miss America X made in trial runs, was ready to try for a new speed record on Saturday, weather permitting.

Wood, who holds the present world record of 124.86 miles an hour, declined to say whether he thought he had travelled that fast when he "threw the throttle right down in the old corner," in a test run on Biscayne Bay Tuesday. He did say, however, that the boat had surpassed the salt water record of 111.71 miles an hour made several years ago by Miss America IX.

Since he set the present world standard in Detroit in 1933, Wood has stepped up the horsepower of the Miss America X by 600.

WIDENER ENTRY HEADS CHOICES

OMAHA RANKS SECOND.

(By Orlo Robertson)

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—The three-year-olds of the turf, seeking the right to rule their division, are rounding into condition for the first of the important tests — the $40,000 Kenucky Derby at Churchill Downs, May 4.

Standing at the top of the list, are J. E. Widener's Chance Sun, the future book favorite at 4 to 1, and leading money winning two-year-old of 1934, and William Woodward's Omaha, son of Gallant Fox, which won the 1930 running of the Derby.

Amasses $83,985

Chance Sun whipped most of the top notch juveniles in the $100,000 Belmont Futurity and defeated a good brand in the Grand Union Stakes at Saratoga to amass $83,985 in earnings.

"The colt has beaten many of the good ones entered in the Derby and right now looks great," said Trainer Pete Coyne.

"I wouldn't say I have another Gallant Fox," said Trainer "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, "for they only come once in a lifetime, but I believe I have a mighty fine horse in Omaha. He is not as good a front runner as the Fox, but I would say he can come from behind better."

Barbers' Bill Is Left To Small Committee

TORONTO, April 4—(CP)—When the private bills committee of the Ontario legislature met today Hon. David A. Croll, minister of welfare and municipal affairs, suggested a special sub-committee be appointed to hear arguments respecting the Barbers and Hairdressers' bill to come up next week.

The committee will include: Aurelien Belanger (Lib. Prescott), chairman; Russell Nesbitt (Cons. Toronto-Bracondale); W. L. Bouck (Lib. Niagara Falls); W. J. Gardhouse (Lib. West York); T. A. Murphy, (Cons. Toronto-Beaches).

"He is putting me chairman because he knows I am not interested in hairdressing personally," said Mr. Belanger, who is almost bald.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C. J. F.)

The Hockey Club met last night in the Chamber of Commerce—yet no meeting was held! This paradox was caused by a postponement for three weeks which carried by a margin of three votes. There were 25 present—a fine turnout for the annual meeting—and 21 voted. Something of a dispute arose, one faction feeling that the election of officers should be proceeded with right away and the other faction holding out for a postponement of three weeks. It was put to a vote, 12 favoring the postponement and nine voting against it. So the annual meeting of the Hockey Club will be at 7.30 in the Chamber of Commerce April 24th.

• • • • • • •

President Charlie Curtis was in the chair and opened the question of the election of officers. Frank Buckland asked to have this matter held up till after the C.A.H.A. meeting in Halifax next week, pointing out that the question of mercantile hockey would likely come up there and might have a bearing on the local situation. Ott Cranfield agreed and said it was possible that some local firm might be interested in running a team here next year provided the C.A.H.A. sanctioned mercantile hockey. Some of the others felt the same way.

• • • • • • •

Eddie Wright thought there was no point in holding up the election of officers longer, and Pete King spoke up and said the Hockey Club had no need of mercantile backing. He claimed the club had done very well by itself in the past and was going ahead now building up for next year, so why wait for the mercantile question to be settled?? Ernie Wolff agreed on this point. And so the argument shuttled about with different angles brought up. Finally, Ott Cranfield moved that the meeting be postponed three weeks and it was seconded by Tommy Miller. Cec Wolff then moved an amendment calling for the immediate election of officers and it was seconded by Pete King. The original motion carried by three votes.

• • • • • • •

So there you are, folks—you pay your money and you take your choice. There is something to be said for both sides but now that the dispute has been settled by vote—even though a narrow margin—it's up to those interested to forget it and come out April 24th and put in a good executive. If some local firm wants to put in a team here and the Hockey Club is willing to surrender its franchise, all okay. If the mercantile question doesn't enter into it at all, then let the next meeting put in a bunch of conscientious men as officers, men who have experience in handling sports. Personally, we think the present executive is okay.

• • • • • • •

And we disagree with Charlie Curtis when he says some new blood is needed. He said last night he would not stand for re-election as prexy, that he was satisfied that a few changes were wanted. Who wants them? Not his fellow executive members surely—and hardly the players, who can't have any kicks coming. If anyone does want a change in the presidency then we'll come right out and say that person isn't thinking of the good of the game here. You want an experienced and honest official at the head and that description fits Charlie Curtis. We think it fits the other officers, too. However, next meeting will no doubt clear everything up all right.

His going marks the second player of the champion ball club to depart, Lefty Bishop, capable youthful twirler, going to Picton late in the winter." Amateur Electrician Draws Double Fine

HAMILTON, Ont., April 4.—(CP)—"If this man had set a trap to kill somebody he could not have done a better job," George Howse, electrical inspector, stated in magistrate's court today when describing electrical wiring installed in a Markland street home by John Jamieson, a plumber.

Jamieson, who pleaded guilty to not having an electricians' license, and to installing electrical wiring without a license, was fined $10 or 14 days on the first charge, and $15 or 18 days on the second count.

Inspector Howse explained the wiring was run throughout joists and beams for a distance of about 20 feet without protecting nobs or tubes. At the end of the wire a brass-shell socket had been attached to the wall two feet above a laundry tub. A person with wet hands, or one who happened to be standing on damp flooring, would suffer severe consequences if they happened to touch the socket, Inspector Howse explained.

Valera Urges Vote On United Ireland

DUBLIN, April 4.—(C.P. Cable.)—A demand for a plebiscite to show Ireland did not wish to be partitioned was before the people of the Free State to-day.

President Eamon De Valera voiced the demand in a forceful speech yesterday in the Dail, which subsequently gave third reading to the Government's Citizenship Bill, giving status distinct from British citizenship to residents of the Free State.

A plebiscite, if Britain would consent to hold one, would prove a majority of the Irish people wanted a United Ireland, said De Valera.

"History records the Anglo-Irish Treaty of 1921 was accepted under duress and threat of war and for no other reason," he said. "Partition of Ireland was imposed by Great Britain against the will of the majority of the Irish people, and on no just principle."

GERMAN JEW REFUGEES ARE DONATED $785,000

JERUSALEM, April 4 (CP-Palcor Agency).—Jews throughout the world have given £197,000—about $785,000—up to March 31 for the settlement of German Jewish refugees in Palestine, it was reported to-day by Dr. George Landauer, secretary of the Central Bureau for the settlement of German Jews. He said an additional £100,000—about $400,000—was expected for this work during the balance of 1935.

The figures for the immigration of refugees into Palestine show that during the years 1933-34, a total of 29,000 German Jews entered the country.

CARDS MAY BEAT FRISCH'S CHAMPS

By Central Press Canadian.

Although the St. Louis Cards have won five pennants in the last nine years, and all around are about as good a bet as any to again take the National League flag, there is one thing that may beat them—the Cards. Until last September, the Cards—Deans and all—were far from a great ball club. At times they were terrible when they just didn't click, and the collapse of the Giants undoubtedly aided them a great deal in squeezing into the world series. Man for man they are good, but Manager Frankie Frisch finds his biggest task in keeping harmony among his pupils. Jay H. Dean, the pitcher, is a big advantage of any club, but Jay H. Dean, the clubhouse broadcaster, is an element that must be controlled. Though Dizzy says he and Paul will win more games this year than last, there is always the danger they may not. Without the Deans, the Card hurling staff Hallahan, Walker, Haines, Vince, etc., is second division stuff. Aside from the emotional set-up there are screws that need tightening. Frisch, at 37, cannot hope to maintain the torrid pace of his youth. Burgess Whitehead, a Columbus farmhand as yet untried, is his replacement. Terry Moore also from Columbus, is a centre field rookie—until he proves otherwise.

Lest this picture be too gloomy, there are stars. Jim Collins at first and Pepper Martin, third, can both hit and field and have plenty of zip. Leo Durocher, the smooth working shortstop, can't hit but he is a 100 per cent. fielder. Medwick and Rothrock in the outfield are two good gardeners and always dangerous at the plate, while Bill Delancey, the good-looking backstop, has proven his merit both with the big glove and swinging the bat. Virgil Davis, fair catcher, great hitter, stands by ready to relieve him, Charley Gelbert, trying desperately to recover his shattered career—shattered by a gunshot wound in the ankle—is still a question mark. All in all the club should be a strong contender but there are symptoms that call for plenty of treatment.

This team has completed a successful season. In a Prep-School League with Trinity College School, Port Hope, and Pickering College, Newmarket, they went through their schedule without the loss of a game. In their two games with Upper Canada College, they were also successful, defeating U.C.C. by large scores. St. Andrew's College also fell, 3-0, in a game played in Toronto. Ridley College St. Catharines, proved themselves too strong, and defeated L.P.S. in a game played at St. Catharines.

Little Sister

CHAPTER 52

So that was it!

Mrs. Johnston-Hedges had played Addison along to save the Manor beach for the manor. She didn't care if the whole thing went to total smash. She had fooled the other Fernwoods, she and her corps of trained lieutenants, into thinking they'd have something better. Heaven knew what she had promised them if they gave her their word (on paper, of course, if you knew Florence Hedges) to lay off the Manor beach!....Or perhaps she was the person who had advanced enough money to carry the place this far. A mortgagor is in a good financial position sometimes.

Addison was on his feet again; he was trying wildly, hysterically, to say something, and again he was being suppressed, this time by Aunt Minnie, who couldn't bear scenes.

The mayor rose, and began to talk. He had a good carrying voice which put Addison's completely out of the running.

"We never thought," he began, "when a young man from the city very quietly married one of our Fernwood girls this spring, and settled down to live with her in Fernwood Manor, that he was bringing with him an industrial blessing. Some of you may remember, some years ago, in an interview with Hargess Huntingdon, the automobile manufacturer, his impassioned brief for the forgotten white-collar class; that the normal human being of the future should live in a house of six to eight rooms, with as much comfort as possible, together with recreational facilities close enough so that any group of human beings wishing it should have comfort, work, and play. In the depression just passed most of us had to forget such Utopian schemes as this; but Mr. Huntingdon and his son have not forgotten. Some of us have wondered how young Addison Huntingdon, with little visible means, living simply among us, could hopefully carry on this building operation which has given life-saving employment to the workmen in our vicinity. We know now. He was the brilliant and capable son of a brilliant and capable father. Within a month or so the Fernwood Waters development will be complete. Bus lines will run from it to the new branch of Mr. Hargess Huntingdon's motor works, which are to be far enough from our suburb so that smoke and noise shall not affect, socially or financially, our fair Fernwoods. This development will be, it is understood, rented or sold at the lowest possible cost price to the white-collar group of the new factory, although I understand that there is already keen competition on the part of others than these for houses and plots in this charming spot—and small wonder, with its bathing beach, community house, and all its other conveniences. I understand that another acreage, somewhat nearer the factory, is to be developed on the same lines for the workmen of the plant. We thank the Huntingdon's father and son, for their forward-looking public spirit, their generosity, and their magnificent forwarding of the new day."

Leila's eyes went down the table to the last quiet comer; the man who had dropped into the last empty chair. A small, conspicuously erect man of fifty or so, very much what Addison would be then, if he became a personage and the world thought well of him.

"It is now my pleasure and privilege," the mayor said, "to introduce to you the gentleman responsible not only for Mr. Addison Huntingdont, but for—in a greater measure than his modesty has heretofore allowed us to know—this new enterprise, Fernwood Waters."

He sat down, gesturing toward Hargess Huntingdon.

What he said when he rose Leila never knew. He spoke almost as awkwardly and shyly as his son did. Leila was too busy watching the others. For once in her magnificent life, Mrs. Johnston-Hedges was surprised. She was murmuring angrily to Orton, who was beside her, and through Mrs. Huntingdon's voice Leila could catch an occasional word.

"....Should have told us....ridiculous secrecy...." The mayor's wife, beside her, was trying to calm her most soulful expression, she quieted by the time the elder Huntingdon's speech was through.

"And now," said the mayor, "may we hear from our fellow citizen as well as our benefactor, the younger Mr. Huntingdon?"

Addison sprang to his feet, panting and protesting.

"I—I never meant to do anything of the sort," he began. "I—it was the furthest idea from my mind." He was going further when his angry face suddenly changed to a dazed one. His father had come from where he had been sitting, and dropped into a chair with somebody's assiduous hands pushed close beside Addison. Addison, conscious of his father's presence, stammered, and sat helplessly down while the audience applauded.

Before he could rise and begin again Bet intervened. In all her madonna-like blue draperies, with he rmost soulful expression, she gave him a quick wifely perk which kept him where he was, and rose in his stead and began to talk in a voice that carried all over without aid of the microphone.

"My husband's modesty, and his pleasure at meeting his father after a separation of some months," she began, "prevents him from continuing. I hope I may be allowed to substitute for him, as an old Fernwood Manorite, one who has consecrated both goods and goodwill to this enterprise from the beginning, and been, I hope I may say without immodesty, its co-planner from its inception! "My husband and I, like my father-in-law," she went on calmly, "feel that though too much can never be done for the proletariat, the class to which we ourselves belong, that which is the brains of the machine has been in danger of being forgotten." (She was repeating almost word for word an article in last month's magazine, but that was nothing new.) "We are remembering them. We have made a place here, on easy terms, for the white-collar classes. We are, as you have heard, throwing open to all the Fernwoods our new-made casino and bathing beach, our cabanas, our pool, at the same fee that one may pay at a public beach. But this is not a public beach; it is for the Fernwoods only. We only ask old-fashioned, right-minded American behavior, a return to the standards of the pilgrims, of our fathers who knew that right and wrong were different things, and were not afraid to lay down hard and fast rules for them. Post-war wildness and lack of standards are past. Under these rules our Fernwood Waters will flourish. You are welcome. We thank you."

Just a Reminder of a springtime custom

There is a great host of people,
From coast to coast of this great country,
Who join in saying
"I always use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the spring."
At this season more than any other
The blood is thin and watery
And the nerves seem to be on the ragged edge.
You find yourself nervous and tired and irritable.
Appetite is fickle and digestion fails,
Because the nerve force required for digestion
Is wasted in cares and worries.
This is just a reminder
Of what this nerve food has done for you in the past,
And of what it will do for you to-day.
By making the blood rich and red
It instils new energy and pep into the system,
And lifts you out of the valley
Of fatigue and weakness and low spirits.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 5

It is probable, judging by the predominant planetary configurations, that emphasis may be placed on private rather than keen absorption in business affairs on this day. There are testimonies of great activity in affectional, social, domestic and artistic interests, in which there may develop an angle of the mysterious, intriguing or perhaps the spiritual, unique or inspirational.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very happy and eventful year in their personal rather than business life, although in this connection there may be secret agreements, connivance or intrigue. This subtlety also complexions affairs of the heart and home, with social and artistic aspirations leading into singular experiences or mysterious associations.

A child born on this day may have a happy, prosperous and intriguing life, with tendencies and talents of a peculiar order. They are affectionate, gracious and popular.

QUEBEC TO SELECT IT'S NEW FARMERS

Man and Wife Must Know Their Jobs to Qualify Under Scheme.

MONTREAL, April 3. — (CP). — Discussing the provincial colonization plans of Hon. Irenee Vautrin, calling for the expenditure of $10,000,000, the Gazette says:

"Farming entails hard work, but when pursued intelligently by healthy and industrious men and women it generally gives sure returns. The Department of Agriculture is taking no chances with aspirants for the Vautrin farms. Each one is being thoroughly examined as to his or her qualifications for an agricultural life. Doctors are giving physical examination to all the families, while other examiners are questioning the men and women as to their knowledge of both land and domestic science.

"Can the wife sew, knit, bake bread, spin and weave? Can the man plough or erect his own dwelling? These are some of the questions, and they are important ones. The prospective settler is also asked in what part of the colonization territory he would like to cast his lot. If possible, his wishes will be met. The majority are expected to go to Temiskaming, where more than 300 lots of 100 acres each are ready for the occupants, and to Abitibi, where 1,200 are ready. There are several other districts, so the choice is a wide one. With such preparation, and with careful selection of the settlers, few mistakes should be made, and by next winter the new farmers ought to be pretty well established."

WEAK WOMEN

ARE you tired, nervous, run-down? No pep? No ambition? Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It quiets quivering nerves—improves the appetite—makes life seem worth living again.

Mrs. James Martin of 227½ Main Street E., Hamilton, Ontario, says—"Your Vegetable Compound built me up wonderfully. I have gained pep, my nerves are better and I have a good appetite. I feel much stronger."

DROWNS IN RIVER

BLIND RIVER, Ont. — Edward Mahoney, 60, was drowned through ice to-day, 6½ miles off Mississaugi Island, when the car driven by R. E. Lendrum went through. Lendrem and three others escaped. The party had set out to search for logs left on the ice when the team driven by J. McDonald went through last Monday.

NO FASCISTS WANTED.

KINGSVILLE, Ont., April 3 (C.P.). — Mayor C. L. Hillis has announced he will use his powers of Chief Magistrate if necessary to stop an address by Frank Straubinger of Toronto, president of the Ontario German organizations, which was scheduled for here.

"There won't be any Fascist meetings or any other Red meetings in Kingsville while I am Mayor," declared Dr. Hillis. "I'll keep them out of town if I have to swear in half the men as special constables to do it."

WOMAN JUDGE SENDS 3 TO DEATH.

MOSCOW, April 3 (A.P.).—Death sentences written in the firm hand of a woman, Judge Vera Kirieva, were carried out to-day against three robbers—bringing to a total of 27 those to pay with their lives here and at Leningrad since an anti-crime drive started a fortnight ago.

Gold Strike in Edmonton

By CENTRAL PRESS CANADIAN

EDMONTON, Alta., April 4.—Not the hope of a "big gold strike" keeps this man working in the icy water of the North Saskatchewan river within the city limits. Along with a companion, he works only for the tiny bits of yellow metal they glean daily to keep them equipped with a good "grub stake."

Undaunted by more than two feet of ice and an equal amount of snow that has covered the river during the winter months, two gold seekers, Jack Thistle and Elvy Mickleson, have operated their homemade "grizzly" without a break except for a few days during the bitter cold spell which gripped Edmonton and district during February.

Thistle was formerly a section foreman for the Canadian National Railways between Edmonton and Jasper. He worked for the railway for 12 years, then three years ago he was laid off. So instead of going on relief he went to work searching the river gravel for the gold dust and he has been at it ever since.

Mickleson, the partner, came to Edmonton in September, 1934, from his home at Swift Current, Saskatchewan. With a flair for mechanics, Mickleson designed and constructed an elaborate "grizzly" equipped with a massive scoop shovel made out of an old stove pipe which reaches down below the ice surface and grabs sections of the river gravel.

The "grizzly" has an intricate system of control wires and hoist cables which adds to the speed of operation. It has been placed on skids and can be moved at the wish of the owners to new locations. Later, when the spring arrives, the partners plan to equip the machine with a motor to improve its efficiency and also to pump water from the river which is now ladled by hand.

The gold seekers are now working not far from the parliament buildings, seat of Albert's government and with, Toby, their faithful fox terrier, may be seen hard at work almost any day of the week.

Just a couple of enterprising Canadians who refused to be made idle by present economic conditions. As Thistle told one onlooker, "We may be down, but we're not out."

'MYSTERY' FIRE DESTROYS BARN

Louis Henry, Three Miles From Blackstock, Suffers Heavy Property Loss.

THIRD 'UNKNOWN' BLAZE.

BLACKSTOCK, April 4.—Marking the third of a series of mysterious fires in Cartwright Township within six weeks, the large barn belonging to Lewis Henry, three miles southwest of Blackstock, was totally destroyed by fire at 5.30 Wednesday morning. Nineteen small hogs, one lamb, and a number of fowl were lost, together with several implements and a load of grain. The remainder of the animals were removed by Mr. and Mrs. Henry, who were milking when they noticed the fire. They intended moving this week to another farm. The building was partially covered by insurance.

On February 25 around 10 p.m., a fire of unknown origin destroyed the barns of Stanford Van Camp which he had just purchased from Leslie Mountjoy. Mr. Van Camp had that day moved practically all his implements and grain into the barn. A few cattle were also in the building and could not be saved when Mr. Mountjoy awakened to see the buildings on fire. He had held a successful sale only a few days before.

On February 26, around the same hour, seventeen cattle, one horse, and thirty hogs, grain and implements were destroyed in the second disastrous fire. Some of the stock in this fire also belonged to Mr. Van Camp, the remainder to Cecil Hyde, to whom the large barn belonged. Both buildings were near Blackstock, and were partially covered by insurance. Provincial Constables W. E. Smith of Bowmanville and Bill Carey of Cobourg are investigating the losses.

SARAZEN SETS FAST PACE.

AUGUSTA NATIONAL GOLF CLUB, Augusta, Ga., April 4 (CP).—Gene Sarazen, former open king and prime tournament favorite, helped set a fast pace for the field to-day by carding a 34, two under par, for the outgoing nine holes of the first round in the $5,500 Augusta national invitation event.

NORLAND COUPLE 68 YEARS MARRIED

Aged Couple Take Active Interest in Affairs of Their Community.

LINDSAY, April 4. (Special to The Examiner).—Celebrating their sixty-eighth wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bowhey of Norland were to-day receiving the felicitations and congratulations of their numerous friends. It was on April 4th, 1877, that Mary Scott was united in marriage to Samuel Bowhey at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, in Mariposa, township by the Rev. Mr. Clark.

Both are hale and hearty and take an active interest in the affairs of their community. Mrs. Bowhey is 76 years old and Mr. Bowhey 83 years of age. Mrs. Bowhey does all her own housework and spends her spare time making lovely hooked rugs. Despite his advanced age Mr. Bowhey, who is still very active, attends to his own duties. He is very fond of flowers and spends the greater part of his time in his garden which is pride of his community.

They have three children, Mrs. William Dallyn, of Gilbert Plains, Man., Mrs. F. Martin of Port Arthur and James Bowhey of Norland who were all present at a celebration arranged in honor of the occasion to-day. Besides these there are thirteen grandchildren and fourteen great grandchildren.

MISSION CIRCLE MURRAY STREET HAD GOOD YEAR

Mrs. Bert Jackson is Re-elected President of Society.

ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. Bert Jackson was re-elected president of the Women's Mission Circle of Murray Street Church at the annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon and was presented with a life membership by Mrs. C. Westbrooke and Miss P. Barnard on behalf of groups two and three.

Mrs. G. Johnson gave the scriptural reading and was followed by prayer by Miss Jackson. Mrs. W. G. Shiner reporting for the treasury showed a balance of $94.43 for Foreign Missions and $59.42 for Home Missions, mite box $18.95.

A letter of appreciation was read from Mr. and Mrs. R. Merrill and family for flowers sent from the Circle. Announcement was made from the Young Women's Circle that Miss Esplen was giving her lecture on the Passion Play on Friday evening, April 12.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year as presented by the chairman of the nominating committee, Miss Rose, with Miss E. J. Aldridge in the chair: President, Mrs. Bert Jackson ;first vice, Mrs. P. S. White; secretary, Mrs. F. Irons; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Shiner with Mrs. F. M. Somerville as assistant; envelope secretary, Mrs. G. E. Johnson; Indian Fund collector, Mrs. E. E. Brumwell; Bible Women, Mrs. P. S. White; mite boxes, Miss M. Nicholls; Link and visitor agent, Mrs. A. H. Campbell; pianist, Miss E. J. Aldridge; convenor of telephone committee, Mrs. T. Irwin; group leaders, Miss Barnard and Mrs. Rome, Miss Bryant and Mrs. G. Raymore Scott, Mrs. A. H. Campbell and Mrs. W. G. Shiner, Mrs. T. Irwin.

The program committee consists of Miss Bryant, Miss Aldridge, Mrs. Moulton, Mrs. T. Irwin, Mrs. W. R. Breyfogle, Miss Stratton, Miss P. Barnard, the president and secretary. Missionary Gleanings, Mrs. C. Westbrooke.

Work Received

The secretary reported an average attendance of thirty at the meetings during the past year, which consisted of a pleasing lecture with slides on India in May and also in May the Circle served supper to a Mother and Daughter banquet under the auspices of the Willing Teens when about two hundred mothers and daughters were present. In June a picnic followed the meeting and the White Cross boxes were packed.

Members of the Circle were saddened by the passing of Mrs. W. D. Scott in August. She was president of the Circle for about twelve years and always a most interesting and helpful member. A tribute to her life and work was written by Mrs. F. M. Somerville and sent to the family.

A rally supper was held in October when the Rev. Franklin Bannister gave a talk on a general outlook of world missions. The reading course was adopted by the Circle in November and Mrs. P. S. White elected secretary. Dr. H. H. Bingham, of Toronto gave his illustrated lecture on Glimpses of Germany to a splendid audience.

Several comfort boxes were sent to the West early in December and several calendars were sent to India from the different groups. In March Mrs. Haddow, home on furlough from Bolivia gave a delightful talk on her personal work there.

Subscriptions have been raised during the year by means of mite box collections, holiday coin bags, two thankofferings and deficit collections in addition to the regular pink envelopes. The Circle supports three Bible Women, one through the generosity of Mrs. J. H. Moulton, one by Mrs. W. Garbutt and daughters and one from the Circle as a whole.

$564.85 Raised

A total of $564.85 was raised during the year for Home and Foreign Missions including the following: Indian Fund, $10.50; Jubilee Fund, $21.50; Deficit fund, $21.50; Mission Homes, $2.30.

Mrs. Campbell reported 63 subscribers to the Link and Visitor, being an increase of about $5 over last year. Group One reported two quilts made for the Grenfell Mission, one for the group and one quilted for the Willing Teens. They also prepared several articles for the comfort boxes and sent a share of the Calendars to India. Groups two and three report money raised for two life memberships and $5 towards deficit fund. This being raised mostly by talent money. One life membership was given Mrs. B. Quinn and one to Mrs. B. Jackson. Group four reported three quilts made and given locally where needed,and one to Grand Ligne. A life membership was given to Mrs. T. Gillespie and articles made for the white cross boxes. Several quilts were made to obtain money. The Bible Women fund of $36 from the Circle was divided among the four groups each group giving $9.

Reports were also read from the other missionary organizations in the church, namely the Young Women's Mission Circle, the Willing Teens, and the Junior B.Y.P.U.

NEW YORK, April 3 (C.P.). — Someone should have told Saul Karp Dr. Jules L. Losea, optometrist, operates two shops.

Karp, who is 47, tried to sell Dr. Losea some eyeglasses and eyeglass frames in his Eldridge Street office last night. Dr. Losea said he recognized the articles as some of those stolen from the safe in his other office on March 27.

He held Karp while a friend called a policeman who arrested him on a burglary charge.

MOUNT JULIAN

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser and family who have been spending the winter in the southern States returned to their Burleigh Falls home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sholar and Mr. William Langford of Peterborough spent Sunday visiting friends here.

Mrs. Ephriam Bronson who has been in Peterborough for some weeks past returned home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilson of Apsley visited with the former's mother, Mrs. Sam Wilson on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Chamberlain and little daughter, Muriel returned to this vicinity last week.

Eight tables of euchre were played at the party last week, with the prizes going, firsts to Gilbert Northey and Joseph Northey, consolation Earl Shewen and Miss Violet McCauley. Mr. and Mrs. John Northey has invited the Euchre Club to meet at their home next Friday evening.

A flock of fourteen wild geese were seen passing over this district in an undecided course last Friday. The birds appeared to have lost their bearing and were flying very low.

Although it is quite common to see wild geese flying over this region in the autumn it is unusual to see them here at this time of year.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Does the Work.

Few Pile sufferers know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories so often may not give lasting relief and why quitting sometimes removes the pile tumor but leaves its exciting cause which may create a recurrence.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. For this an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, and aids in overcoming constipation.

So don't be bitter when others fail and before considering operation, try this internal remedy when Mr. Dermit & Jury and Smith's Drug Store invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with money back if not perfectly satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

BRITAIN PROTESTS POWER ACTION

Insurance Loan Limit Set at 5 Per Cent.

COMMONS GROUP DIVIDES 12-6 FOR LOWER RATE

New Figures to be Effective Next January 1 if Accepted By Parliament.

COMPANIES URGE 6 P.C.

Representative Points Out Over 900,000 in Canada Have Loans on Policies.

OTTAWA, April 5.—(C. P.)—The house committee on banking today decided loans in future against insurance policies should not bear an interest rate greater than five per cent. The existing rate is six per cent. The committee divided 12 to six as against a six per cent rate.

An amendment would be placed in the Insurance Act to this effect if the recommendation of the committee is accepted by parliament.

At present there is no maximum interest rates on such loans in the act but the prevailing rate is six per cent. The new rate would take effect next Jan. 1.

Desire 6 Percent

Today Hon. N. W. Rowell, representing life insurance companies, said his clients were not opposing a maximum interest rate of six per cent on loans advanced to policy holders on their policies.

He would not oppose the maximum rate being placed in the Insurance Act as well as the Interest Act. His fear was if it were placed in the Insurance Act, it might make the act ultra vires the Canadian parliament and the insurance companies were anxious this should not happen.

SCUFFLE LEADS MAN'S DEATH

Ottawan Dies After Shot in Head Attempting to Escape Constable.

CAUGHT ENTERING CAR.

OTTAWA, April 5 (C.P.). — Leo Daoust, 36, died in hospital here early to-day after shooting himself in the head while scuffling with a constable who was endeavoring to put him under arrest.

Leo Mason of Hull had parked his car on a downtown street, and on returning found Daoust endeavoring to start it. Daoust made his escape. Constable Lloyd Stevenson pursued Daoust to Mason's car. Catching up with the fugitive, the constable attempted to question him.

Daoust grappled with the constable and while scuffling managed to tear the constable's revolver c his belt. Three shots were fired the struggle. Daoust collapsed in e constable's arms, a bullet through hi. head. He was immediately taken to hospital, where he died two hours later. Constable Stevenson was not injured.

February Accident List Is New Record

TORONTO, April 5 (C.P.).—More accidents occurred in Ontario during February of this year than in any previous February on record according to figures released by the motor vehicles branch of the Ontario Department of Highways today.

The number of fatalities—34—also exceeded any previous February and was 14 more than for the same month last year. Collision between a train and a truck at Fort William in which 10 lives were lost swelled the fatality total.

ONE SLIP

BROOKLAND, Ark., April 5.—(C P)—J. W. Price, his name written in on the ballots, received pluralities for both mayor and city recorder. Then he realized he did not hold a poll tax receipt and was ineligible for either post. The city's personnel problem still is unsolved.

Singing Mouse

MANSFIELD, O., April 5.—(CP)—Mrs. Steve Keiser told today of a mouse that 'sings' like a canary, especially while the radio plays. Oldtimers say singing mice are not uncommon.

Mrs. Keiser said she discovered the mouse when she investigated sounds coming from a woodbox in her kitchen. She placed it in a cage where it now 'sings' daily.

BRADLEY HANGS FOR MURDERING FIVE RELATIVES

Campbell's Bay Man Pays Penalty For Slaughter in July, 1933.

TWO TRIALS.

CAMPBELL'S BAY, Que., April 5. (CP). — Michael Bradley was hanged here to-day for the murder of five of his relatives, at Demers Centre, Allumette Island, Que., in July, 1933. Bradley walked to the scaffold unassisted. The trap was sprung at 5.57 and at 6.04 Dr. Jerome Kelley pronounced him dead.

The execution was conducted under the supervision of Chief-Deputy J. Belanger of Montreal, who was assisted by Dominic Sloan, High Sheriff of Pontiac County.

Considerable excitement prevailed as this was the first hanging which has taken place in this village.

The body was claimed for relatives by Rev. D. J. Harrington, curate of Chapeau Catholic Church, of which Bradley had been a member, and was taken to Chapeau for burial.

The Victims

Bradley was convicted on a charge of having murdered five members of his family—Joseph Bradley, his father; Margaret Bradley, his mother; Johanna Bradley, a sister; Thomas Bradley, brother, and John Bradley, an uncle.

Bradley was arrested July 22, 1933, two days after the crime, and on July 29 was charged with murder. At his first trial held at Campbell's Bay, the jury disagreed, and at the request of the Provincial Attorney General a change of venue was granted. His second trial took place in Hull last Jan. 10, when he was convicted and sentenced by Mr. Justice Louis Cousineau to be hanged.

The Weather

TORONTO, April 5 (C.P.).—High pressure and rather cold weather prevails across Canada, with some light snow in southern districts of Saskatchewan, Alberta and Ontario. Pressure is low to the south-westward of the Great Lakes and over the Rocky Mountain states, and a deep low area is centred off the Labrador coast.

Lower Lake Region: Moderate to fresh north-east winds; cloudy and cool to-day and Saturday, with some snow or part rain.

Georgian Bay: Moderate to fresh north-east winds; cloudy and cool to-night and Saturday; some light snow or probably part rain.

Northern Ontario—Partly cloudy and cool to-night and Saturday; probably some light snow over South portion.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley—Northeast winds; partly cloudy and rather cold; probably some light snow or rain near Kingston to-night. Saturday—Northeast winds; mostly cloudy and cool with some light snow or rain chiefly along the St. Lawrence.

FRANCE MOVES 32,000 TROOPS GERMAN BORDER

British Cabinet Meets Monday to Review Eden's Peace Tour.

DUCE PLANS FOR STRESA.

London Reaffirms Belief Hitler's Peace Proposals "Not Good Enough."

(By the Canadian Press).

Military moves in France were the chief development in the European arms situation to-day as diplomatic measures temporarily halted pending the return to London of Anthony Eden, Britain's roving peace emissary.

The French moved 32,000 troops to advanced positions along the German frontier, increasing reinforcements of the border garrisons by 60,000 men since Premier Flandin announced the defence line would be actively occupied.

The British Cabinet will meet on Monday to review the results of the exploratory missions to Berlin, Moscow, Warsaw and Praha that have now been completed and figure out Britain's line of policy for the meeting with France and Italy next Thursday.

London reaffirmed the belief Adolf Hitler's peace proposals were not good enough. Further light on the Berlin talks showed Hitler proposed 10-year non-aggression pacts to be reached individually and later, perhaps, combined in a general agreement.

Premier Benito Mussolini retired to his country villa to prepare for the stresa meeting while the French Government worked on drafts for a general security agreement, a triple entente and a further alternative

REV. J. R. WEBB DIES SUDDENLY

Was Pastor For Sixteen Years of Murray Street Baptist Church.

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY.

KITCHENER, Ont., April 4 (CP) —Stricken with a heart attack shortly after five o'clock Thursday afternoon while making a pastoral call, Rev. John Riddel Webb, minister of King Street Baptist Church here, died in hospital early to-day. He celebrated his 67th birthday March 12 last.

Lengthy Ministry.

The unexpected demise of the well-known minister brings to a close a pastoral career in the Baptist denomination that was almost unique. He served first following his graduation at Annette Street Church, Toronto, when he was called to Montreal, the city of his birth, where he served for ten years. He then took charge of Murray Street Church in Peterborough. He was located in that city 16 years. On Nov 1, 1922, he took over the pulpit of King Street Baptist Church in this city.

Built Murray Street

He was a most active minister and under his pastorate in Peterborough, Murray Street Church enjoyed marked growth, and in June, 1911, the new church building was erected.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Herbert and Leon, in Toronto; one brother, Dr. George T. Webb, Newfaine, N.Y., and one sister, Mrs. T H. Hoose, Toronto.

Funeral services will be held Saturday. Interment will take place in Toronto.

First Greek Rebel Dies By Firing Squad

SALONIKA, Greece, April 5. (AP),—Major Volanis, convicted yesterday by a court martial of complicity in the recent Greek revolt, was executed by a firing squad to-day. The major was the first of the accused rebels to be condemned to death.

After sentence was pronounced yesterday, the former army officer appealed to President Zaimis for clemency. His appeal failing to produce any result, Major Volanis faced the firing squad courageously.

INCREASE OF $6 IN POWER COSTS FACED ONTARIO

Increase in Cost of Power Caused Greater Unemployment Hepburn Says.

FALLING BOND VALUE.

"Machinery Would Not Be Used Hence It Is An Economic Waste."

TORONTO, April 5 (C.P.).—If the Ontario Government had not declared Quebec power contracts unenforceable, it would have been necessary to increase power rates by $6 a horse power with a consequent increase in unemployment, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said to-day.

He was commenting on a Hamilton report that jobs of 750 men would be affected if the contracts were cancelled because the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company would be unable to use 25 cycle equipment being manufactured by the Canadian Westinghouse Company.

Officials of the Beauharnois Company at Montreal yesterday announced they sent a letter to the Canadian Westinghouse Company at Hamilton and the Canadian General Electric Company at Peterborough notifying them in the event of the Government cancelling the contracts it would be necessary to request suspension of work on 25 cycle equipment being manufactured for the company.

"I can't help it," said the Premier of the Hamilton report. "It is one of the ramifications."

He added unemployment would be greater if power costs were boosted.

"The machinery would not be used anyway if they took it down there," he continued. "It is an economic waste."

Informed of reports of falling bond value, the Premier charged propaganda by financial interests

Commons Adjourns Eve Easter to May 20

OTTAWA, April 4.—(C.P.)—Adjournment of the House of Commons from the eve of Easter until May 20 was agreed upon at a government caucus to-day and the House will be informed this afternoon.

Adjournment will be moved on either Wednesday or Thursday immediately preceding Good Friday and the proposed recess will give Prime Minister R. B. Bennet an opportunity of accepting the invitation of the British government to attend the Silver Jubilee celebrations in London May 6.

It is understood Mr. Bennett will leave next week for a brief sojourn in the south, possibly visiting Washington at Easter, and leave immediately after for London.

2 Fishermen Drown As Boat Overturns

CONNEAUT, O., April 5 (AP) — Two fishermen drowned in a Lake Erie tragedy, and a third was saved only after five hours of suffering in the chilly waters as he held to the side of their overturned boat.

Police said Francis Lenhard and Thomas Conrad, both of Conneaut, were the men who drowned yesterday. The rescued man is Fred Barringer, 31, also of Conneaut, virtually paralyzed as the result of exposure when he was picked up by the crew of the tug Marion.

CONDEMNED MAN SAVED BY RULING BRITISH LORDS

Britain's Highest Tribunal Quashes Murder Indictment First Time in History.

2 TRIALS, 2 APPEALS.

Young Farm Laborer Found Guilty Twice of Slaying 17-year-old Wife.

LONDON, April 5 (A.P.). — The House of Lords, highest tribunal in Great Britain, to-day, for the first time in history, quashed a murder indictment against a condemned man.

Reginald Woolmington, 21, a Dorset farm laborer, had twice before been found guilty of murdering his 17-year-old wife, Kathleen, with a sawed-off shotgun.

At the original trial in the Somerset Assizes, the jury disagreed. At the Bristol Assizes, Woolmington was sentenced to hang. He appealed but the Court of Appeal sustained the Bristol verdict.

T. J. O'Connor, K.C., his attorney, succeeded in having the Attorney-General grant a fiat on the ground that legal points of importance had been raised in the course of previous hearings, and the case was taken before the House of Lords yesterday.

O'Connor told the Peers he believed Justice Swift of Bristol had misdirected the jury.

The only other murder case ever heard by the House of Lords was 16 years ago.

GIRL BIGAMIST GETS 6 MONTHS

Neither of Two Husbands Appear in Court as Wife is Sentenced.

HELD IN WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 5 (C.P.).—Marjorie Georgina Gram Markham Formagin, who deserted her first husband because she "didn't love him any more," and remarried, was sentenced to six months' determinate and one year indeterminate in Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, in magistrate's court to-day.

Little more than a week ago the slim, titian-haired girl, who was born in Chatham 21 years ago, walked into Windsor police headquarters and confessed to bigamy. Her two husband, William Markham of Mitchell's Bay and Roy Waddell Formagin whom she met in a Detroit movie house, accompanied her. The girl, known also as Molly Brown, married Markham in June, 1932. Her second marriage that with Formagin, was performed in Walkerville in November of last year.

Magistrate D. M. Brodie had no comment to make on the case. Neither Markham nor Formagin, who seemed to have struck up a friendship at the preliminary hearing a week ago, were present in court to-day.

POTATO PRICES FOR ONTARIO ARE UNCHANGED

Eastern Canada Marketing Board Decides to Take No Action.

NO RETAIL FIGURES.

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP)—Wholesale prices for potatoes in Ontario to-day both home grown and the Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick product remained unchanged, following a two-day meeting of the Eastern Canada Potato Marketing Board.

Toronto dealers asked for a two-cent reduction in wholesale to retail price from 67 to 65 cents a bag for Ontario grown. The board decided to take no action toward a price change at this time.

The price to producers paid by the wholesaler in Ontario remained pegged at 55 cents a bag, plus two cents inspection and toll charges of two cents.

The minimum price for New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island potatoes in Toronto remains at 75 cents to the wholesaler, plus freight and inspections charges. The freight differential for Ottawa, Hamilton, and Windsor varies several cents from the Toronto price.

Sales Agents Set Prices

Prices are set by the provincial sales-agents appointed by the Eastern Canada Potato Marketing Board after negotiation between producers and dealers.

The retail price in Ontario is not now pegged, a spokesman for the board emphasized. Retailers voluntarily set a minimum to the consumer, he added. Toronto dealers asked that retailers be instructed to abolish the minimum price. However, the board took no action. It was a matter for the retailers themselves, it told the Toronto dealers.

Retailers in selling to the consumer are without price restrictions, except that the retail price must not be lower than the dealer to producer pagged price of 57 cents a bag for Ontario grown, it was explained.

The board also deferred action on Maritime members' request that the Police Going to Run In Boys With Catapults

The boy with the catapult is in our midst again, according to Chief Constable Newhall.

"I've issued instructions to the force to bring in any boys they see with catapults," said the Chief. "The city bylaw permits a fine of $50 in this connection."

Many complains have been received in recent days concerning the marksmanship of boys with catapults in the West End. Bird lovers report that the boys have used the catapluts to kill robins and other birds. One man was working in his garden when a pellet from a catapult struck him below the ear and nearly rendered him unconscious.

"Catapults are strictly out," the chief said grimly.

WILL POINT OUT CONCERN FELT IN OLD COUNTRY

Conservative M.P. Demands Necessity of Maintaining Sanctity of Contracts Be Stressed.

QUERY OTTAWA'S STAND.

"Purely Matter For Ontario to Decide Himself," Says Hepburn Informed of Despatch.

LONDON, April 5.—(C. P. Cable)—The British government will draw the attention of the Canadian government to the concern expressed here following the introduction of a bill in the Ontario legislature, purporting to invalidate contracts between the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission and four Quebec power companies.

The bill, which has already been labelled by London financial commentators as repudiation and a serious blow to Canadian credit as a whole, was discussed briefly in the House of Commons.

Sir Waldron Smithers, Conservative, Chislehurst, asked the government to make representations to the Dominion government about the "grave nature" of the Ontario legislation. He also demanded a representation concerning the necessity of maintaining the sanctity of contracts and wanted the government to ask the Ottawa government what steps it contemplated to protect British investors.

J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, replied: "I understand that a bill introduced by the premier of Ontario declares certain specified long term contracts between the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and a number of generating companies in Quebec, for the supply of large quantities of power to the commission to be and always have been illegal, void and unenforcable, chiefly on the

100 CARCASSES CALVES SEIZED

Three Men Arrested For Possessing For Sale Meat Less Than 3 Weeks Old.

IN NORTH DORCHESTER.

LONDON, Ont., April 5 (C.P.).—Provincial police have seized 100 carcasses of calves, said to be less than three weeks old when killed, discovered in a slaughter house on the farm of Norman Frost, 42-year-old North Dorchester farmer.

The Frost farm was visited on Thursday night by Provincial Constable Ben Milligan, accompanied by Constable John Clarke of Oxford County. Police state Frost and two other men Harry Jackson, 32, and Leo Jackson, 8, were engaged in dressing the carcasses when they arrived.

The three men appeared in county police court before Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw, charged unlawfully possessing, with intent to sell as food for man, meat of calves of less than three weeks old, contrary to the Public Health Act.

H. B. Neeley, acting on behalf of the accused, requested an adjournment of the trial until Wednesday, April 10, which was granted.

According to police, the 100 or more calves were found hanging in the slaughter house. Some of them had been skinned and the meat had been stripped from the skeletons of others, with the hides, bones, meat and offal piled in separate heaps. In all there would be approximately 1,500 pounds of veal in the lot, they said.

GODFREY WRITES N. YORK FOR SALE INFORMATION

TORONTO, April 5 (C.P.).— J. M. Godfrey, Ontario Securities Commissioner, reporting progress to-day in his investigation into the selling of bonds of Quebec power companies affected by the Ontario Government's intention to terminate contracts, said he had written New York for information of selling.

Mr. Godfrey said he had written the secretary of the Curb Exchange for information, should that not be available he would send one of his investigators to New York.

Monthly Dividend to End Joblessness Is New Alberta Party's Major Plank

By GEORGE FINLAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

CALGARY, April 5. (CP). — A platform on which the Alberta Social Credit League, under the leadership of its founder, William Aberhart will seek support of the province's electors at the polls in June, was formulated at the convention of southern district groups to-day.

Under the plans of social credit, every citizen would be paid a monthly basic dividend which would "banish the spectre of unemployment and aid rural and urban dwellers."

This major plank in the platform was adopted unanimously to-day without amendment. Higher dividends would be paid men who had reached the age of 50, releasing them from the labor field to provide work for the younger citizens of the province.

LONG COMPLAINT LIST.

House to be Adjourned if Necessary to Make Visits Says Hepburn.

TORONTO, April 5.—Premier Hepburn and two Cabinet Ministers promised a deputation of unemployed yesterday that they would visit personally the homes in which it was charged that women and children were going to die of starvation unless increases were made immediately in the relief food allowances.

While a mob of 2,000 or more milled around the buildings and listened to agitators the Premier with Attorney-General Roebuck and Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare, heard the long list of complaints and charges of the small deputation.

"Name me one person who has died of malnutrition because of insufficient relief," the Premier demanded.

"We will," the deputation replied. "You have no idea of the conditions under which we are living."

Three from Jobless Ranks.

"Then I'll go and see for myself," Mr. Hepburn remarked. "You can name three people to act as your representatives, and they will come with us and we will all go out to your homes and study conditions as they really are. That is, provided the Attorney-General and the Minister of Welfare are willing.

"I'm on," the Attorney-General replied. "As a matter of fact I feel just a little guilty in this matter."

HITLER READY 10 YEARS' PEACE

Willing to Join Series of Non-Aggression Pacts With Neighbors Say Officials.

JOIN NO WARS.

By KELVIN K. WHITELEATHER
Copyright 1935 by the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 5.—High official sources disclosed to-day Germany is prepared to pledge herself to refrain from war by subscribing to a series of non-aggression pacts with her European neighbors.

The Reich also was said to be willing to agree to accept her present boundaries for at least 10 years, thereby eliminating an immediate source of friction threatening peace.

Germany's offer to make these contributions to the stability of Europe, it was disclosed, was communicated to Sir John Simon in a typewritten memorandum at the time of the British foreign secretary's conversations with Reichsfuehrer Hitler 10 days ago.

Sir John was expected to place the Grman proposals before the three-power conference at Stresa next week.

Kept secret until to-day, the Nazi suggestions were disclosed as news arrived from France of the massing of French troops at the powerful forts facing the demilitarized Rhineland. In this area Germany maintains only a well-trained police force.

When he failed to arrive on Wednesday his brother visited his home and found him dead in his bedroom.

CRACK ILLINOIS EXPRESS LOOTED BY FOUR GUNMEN

Gang in Typical Jesse James Style Rob Passengers of $843.

ONE SALESMAN WOUNDED.

KANKAKEE, Ill., April 5 (A.P.).—Four swashbuckling, "two-gun," nattily dressed robbers who held up nearly 40 persons aboard the crack Gulf-Coast-bound Illinois Central train, the "Louisiane," were sought in wide-spread man-hunt to-day.

Their loot totalled only about $843, railroad reports said.

Taking virtual command of the train in a reign of terror, cowing those aboard for some 20 minutes as the train sped southward out of Chicago last night, the gunmen, each armed with two .45 calibre pistols, escaped after shooting and wounding one man, and commandeering the automobile of Edward Goetzler, 26, of Wheaton, Ill., whom they kidnapped.

The wounded man was George Keer, salesman from Chicago, shot in the leg when he resisted the gunmen in the apparent belief they were only "kidding." He was taken to a local hospital. His condition, however, was not regarded as serious.

One of the gunmen shot him when he lurched against a robber. The bullet penetrated his bill-fold, which contained $40.00. He was compelled to surrender the money, but the punctured wallet was returned.

Jesse James Tactics.

Firing wildly several times to put the fear of death into their victims, the gunmen carried out the raid with the precision of a typical Jesse James robbery of days gone by, terrorizing the brakeman and a porter, and systematically robbing the passengers in the buffet car and three coaches. The quartette was believed to have boarded the train in a Chicago suburb.

As the train slowed down for the stop at Kankakee the four men leaped off, and disappeared, later to be joined by a confederate. Two of them seized Goetzler near the hospital only a few minutes before Kerr, their wounded victim, was brought in for treatment.

After the three other gunmen joined them they forced Kerr to drive to a point near Wheaton, where they dumped him from his machine and fled in his car. Posses were thrown into the hunt almost immediately, but no trace of the desperadoes was found. Some investigators believe they are hiding in Chicago.

Passengers said that in each car they apparently used the same tactics, firing a shot into the ceiling and shouting they would "shoot the brains out" of any passengers who resisted them.

GHOST WRITER SUING CANTOR

Asks $250,000 For Writing Comedian's Wisecracks, as Partner.

NEW YORK, April 5.—(CP)—David Freedman, veteran 'ghost' wisecracker for Eddie Cantor, the comedian, says he is fed up with the phantom life. He is asking the court to make Cantor pay him $250,000 for breach of contract, and he is all through with hiding his light under someone else's bushel.

"I, for one, refuse to be a sucker any longer," he told the Daily News in discussing the suit filed Tuesday against his erstwhile pal and employer.

Freedman's specific complaint against Cantor is that he has failed to carry out the terms of their verbal agreement, which, according to his statement to the Daily News, was 10 per cent. of Cantor's contracts under the partnership, formed in 1927, when the author wrote the comedian's autobiography for him.

LIBERAL PLANS FOR BALANCING BUDGET ASKED

Price Demands Action Now Instead of Calling Fall Session.

SAYS DEFICIT TOO HIGH.

Croll Labels Relief Primarily a Federal Responsibility—Surveys Situation.

TORONTO, April 5 (C.P.).—Tail-end of an exciting week in the Ontario Legislature found members counting to-day on a brief, quiet session so they could return home for a week-end in preparation for night sessions next week.

Opening Opposition attack on the Budget Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn brought down on Tuesday announcing a deficit of $30,899,249.78 was levelled yesterday by Col. W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto-Parkdale). The former Attorney-General demanded the Government reveal its plans for balancing the Budget instead of calling a fall session.

Col. Price charged the large deficit reported was an effort to embarrass the Government's opponents and said the deficit should have been placed in the neighborhood of $2,500,000.

Attack on the other major event of the week, the Government Bill to terminate Quebec power contracts, was made by Col. Price and William Duckworth (Cons., Toronto-Dovercourt).

Relief Federal Task.

From Minister of Welfare David Croll the Legislature heard last night a survey of relief administration coupled with denunciation of municipal councils for recent unemployed demonstrations. He said relief was primarily a Federal responsibility, rather than municipal, and provinces should share in it.

Fourth speaker in the Budget debate was E. J. Anderson (Lib., Welland), who condemned the Henry administration for departing from a policy of public ownership.

Unemployed demonstrations occurred in municipalities where the Province paid the greatest percentage of relief costs, said Mr. Croll, referring to the Toronto suburban area, Niagara Falls, the Border Cities, and Fort Erie.

New Toronto, after the council raised the relief scale 14 per cent. before the municipal election last fall, asked the Government for assistance and that was given when

FIRST SILVER DOLLAR MINTED

New Canadian Coins Will Be Presented to His Majesy King George.

RHODES OFFICIATES.

OTTAWA, April 5 (C.P.).—Canada's first silver dollar was minted yesterday by Finance Minister Edgar N. Rhodes, and carefully preserved for transmission to King George whose 25 years of reign it commemorates.

In the presence of J. H. Campbell, master of the Royal Canadian Mint, and other officials and spectators, Mr. Rhodes lifted the lever on the huge stamping machine and thus was created the beautiful silver piece that is to be known as the "George dollar."

After several other pieces had been singly stamped to go as souvenirs to the archives and to the Finance Minister himself, the machine was turned on full speed, throwing out 35 or 40 coins per minute. The first issue will be 100,000 and by May 1, they will be in the hands of banks throughout the Dominion and parts of the United States for general issue to the public.

Goes To King George.

The first coin minted will be mounted in a purple leather case and presented to His Majesty, probably by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, at the Silver Jubilee ceremonies in London on May 6.

Distribution of the new dollar will be made by the Bank of Canada through its own agencies and those of Canadian chartered banks.

For many years Canada has had statutory authority to coin a silver dollar but until yesterday the 50 cent piece has been the heaviest silver unit of Canadian currency.

The new piece bears on the obverse side a modern likeness of His Majesty with his title and the year in Latin. On the reverse is a design of an Indian canoe passing an island with two fir trees, a voyager in the stern and a naked Indian in the bow. The words "Canada" are across the top rim and "dollar" at the bottom, with the year "1935" inset.

Suffering from six fractured ribs and other injuries received in an automobile accident, Rev. Samuel Stagg, known as the fighting preacher of Manila, P.I., insisted that he be carried on a stretcher to Rizal Stadium so he could root for athletes that he coached for the track and field meet.

Bad Business

ROBELINE, La., April 5.—(CP)—Two bandits who lost $4.50 trying to hold up the Bank of Robeline were being hunted to-day. Walking into the bank they asked George English to change a $5 bill, then pointed a pistol at him. English stepped back on a burglar alarm. It did not sound, but the holdup men fled with only 50 cents of their change.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCE AND CHEESE QUOTES

TORONTO CHEESE

TORONTO, April 5 (CP)—The Toronto Wholesale Cheese Market was steady to-day, with dealers buying large, colored, paraffined and government grades at 12c.

Wholesalers offered cheese to retailers at the following prices:

	Large.	Twins.	Triplets
New	13c	13¼c	13½c
Old	17c	17¼c	17½c
Medium	15c	15¼c	15½c

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK REVIEW

TORONTO, April 5 (C.P.).—Prices zoomed on the hog and cattle divisions of the Toronto livestock market this week, with gains ranging from 15 to 35 cents. Cattle were 15 to 25 higher, off car hogs jumped 25, and off truck hogs topped the rising levels with a gain of 35 cents. Calves were firm and lambs steady.

A heavy run of cattle, more than 1,500 heavier than the previous week, was sold out in brisk trading. About 65 per cent. of the run was made up of off truck deliveries. A light opening-day cattle run brought active movement with the resulting gains. Activity continued for the balance of the week. About 700 head were shipped to the United States and 300 to Montreal.

Choice weighty steers brought $6.75 to $7.25, with one lot at $7.50. Plain steers sold down to $5 cwt., with good and choice handyweight butchers at $5.50 to $6.25, and odd tops up to $6.50. A few of the plainer butchers went at $4 to $5 cwt. Cows were strong at $4 to $4.50 for choice, at $2.50 to $3 for plain, and at $1.50 to $1.75 for canners.

Bulls were also strong, with best butchers at $3.50 to $4, and bolognas at $3 to $3.25. Choice fed calves sold at $6.50 to $7, with a few tops at $7.50. Plain fed calves ranged from $5 to $6 cwt. The few light stockers offered sold steady at $3.50 to $4.85, and a few good feeders brought $5 cwt. Milkers and springers continued dull at $30 to $40 each for the majority.

A calf offering of nearly 2,000 head sold steady to firm at $7 to $7.50 for choice and up to $8 on a few koshers. Common to medium calves made the bulk of the supply, selling mostly at $5 to $6.50 cwt.

Prices on the hog division advanced 15 cents Monday and 10 cts. Tuesday on all grades. With only off trucks offered Thursday, the level rose another 10 cents on that grade. Bacons closed at $7.75 f.o.b., $8.15 off truck and $8.50 off car. English cables indicated a higher market in the Old Country for Canadian bacon.

Sheep and lamb receipts of 3,700 head included 3,000 western lambs. Prices were unchanged at $7 cwt., for good westerns, with a few second grades at $6 cwt. Good Ontario feed-lot lambs sold at $7 cwt with culls at $5 to $6. A few early spring lambs sold at $4 to $9 each. Sheep again were unchanged at $3.50 to $4 cwt. for good, light ewes, with culls mostly $1.50 to $2.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Prices held steady on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday, with trading on the quiet side. The butter market generally ranged from 22½c to 23¾c a pound for No. 1 regraded, in carlots or less, with fresh butter selling a cent a pound lower. Small lots to retailers brought 24c a pound for solids and prints 25c. Arrivals totalled 470 boxes.

On the egg market graded shipments in carlots or less were quoted at 18c to 18½c a dozen for A-large, 18½c for A-medium, 18c for A-pullets or "B" and 14½c for "C". Receipts were 1,873 boxes.

Only a single box of cheese was offered for sale, and prices remained unchanged. No. 1 Ontario bringing 11½c to 11¾c a pound for fall make, and 12½c to 12¾c for summer lines.

Quebec No. 2 white potatoes brought 45c to 55c per 80-pound bag, and No. 1 Mountains 55c to 60c. New Brunswick Cobblers sold for 55c to 60c. New Brunswick Mountains for 60c to 65c, and Prince Edward Island Mountains for 65c to 70c.

ONTARIO GRAINS

F.o.b. shipping point: Wheat, 85c to 87c; oats, 32c to 34c; corn, 56c to 58c; buckwheat, 43c to 45c; malting barley, 63c to 65c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Soaring almost 3 cents a bushel yesterday in a new upward flight, corn aroused buying fever throughout the entire list of grains.

Urgent speculative demand for corn accompanied evidence of persistent likelihood of difficulties in obtaining sufficient readily available corn to fulfill future delivery contracts, especially in May, a situation involving possibility of a big squeeze in prices. Reports were current that numerous domestic rural Macphail Leads Attack—Urges Scientific Handling of Law-breakers.

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP)—Reform of Canada's penal system is on the way the House of Commons realized to-day after a full day's debate on penitentiaries. Scientific handling of law-breakers rather than sentimental pleas for mild treatment were the dominant notes of the discussion yesterday as the only woman member, Miss Agnes Macphail led in demand for reform.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice asserted Canadian penitentiaries were now on as high or higher standard than any in the world, but outlined reforms contemplated in the near future. He also said many changes had been made in the past few years.

What Guthrie Favors

Mr. Guthrie's announcements included the following:

He will consider an investigation of penitentiaries by a royal commission;

He will appoint a commissioner to investigate charges a high penitentiary official made slighting statements about Miss Macphail;

A psychiatrist and a psychologist will be appointed at each penitentiary in the near future;

The Borstal system of segregating youthful convicts will be installed following study of the system by an official who will go to England.

He favors a central place for executions in each province, but doubts the desirability of substituting electrocution for hanging.

In her pleas for reform, Miss Macphail drew support from two Conservatives, one a noted criminal lawyer who has defended or prosecuted scores of murder cases, and the other a soldier-physician who has a large penitentiary in his constituency. The former was Charles W. Bell of Hamilton West, and the

Enter Summer Home Take All Contents

COBOURG, April 5.—Backing up a truck to the door of Roy Jex's summer cottage in Hastings, thieves practically cleaned out the cottage of its contents after forcing open a door of the building. It is believed that the robbery was affected at night as police have found nobody who saw anything unusual going on during the daytime. The stolen goods consist of an iron bed, chest of drawers, kitchen china and utensils, swing couch mattresses, phonograph and record cabinet and about 100 records. Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell, of Campbellford, is investigating.

Three fishermen, one aged 66, who had been frozen to death during a recent gale in Tokyo Bay, Japan, were found tightly lashed to their wrecked boat.

PLAN TO OCCUPY ARCTIC ISLES FOR TO INSURE CANADIAN CLAIMS

Transfer of Eskimos Will Also Settle Food, Employment Problem.

FEW IN EASTERN ARCTIC

By JAMES MONTAGNES.
Central Press Canadian Writer.

AKLAVIK, N.W.T., April 5. — More Eskimos this year will live closer to the North Pole, as the result of decreasing game and further north occupation of Canada's Arctic by government officials. The administration of the Northwest Territories has the past few years been experimenting with the northward movement of Eskimos in the eastern Arctic, and this summer more Eskimos will follow the trend, according to a high official in the government service.

The past few years families of Eskimos from southern Baffin Island, where game is becoming scarcer, have been taken aboard the annual supply ship with all their belongings and transported to police and trading posts on Devon and Ellesmere Islands. There these families have acclimatized themselves and found better hunting both for food and the fur trade. This year the experiment will take on a permanent nature, with more families being moved northward.

Only the younger and healthier natives are picked for the northward trek, and the proposition is carefully explained to them, so that they are free to take advantage of it or reject it. Work is given them at the police and fur posts farther north, which is an inducement, as the more southern posts have too large a community to give everyone work. At the northern posts there are many chores to be done, for the men guiding winter patrols and food hunting, for the women sewing and cooking. There are no posts in the northland without Eskimo helpers.

Formerly Eskimos used to be brought over from Greenland to work at the more northern posts in the eastern Arctic. But now that Eskimos are becomnig more numerous in the Hudson Straits area, it is no longer necesary to hire Greenland Eskimos, and there are few of them left now in Canada's eastern Arctic.

In addition to the placing of the Eskimos in new regoins where game is more abundant and work more regular, there is the angle of occupation of the country, now that aerial routes, mineral developments, and other reasons make possible the claims of other countries to part of Canada's Arctic, which now reaches to the North Pole. To forestall any such future claims, the Dominion is occupying the Arctic islands to within nearly 700 miles of the North Pole.

Millbrook Society Plan 'Hostess Tea'

MILLBROOK, April 5 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Ladies Association of St. Andrew's Church met at the home of Mrs. G. E. Burnham on Wednesday at 3 p.m., with the president, Mrs. F. J. Smith in the chair, and the attendance numbering over thirty.

The main item of business was concerned with arrangements for the "Hostess Tea" to be held in the Waverly Club on Wednesday, April 17, from four to six p.m., with invitations issued to at least one hundred guests.

Hostesses were appointed, each two to be responsible for four tables, supplying linen, silver, dishes, jellies and candy; those so acting included: Mrs. W. E. Ball and Mrs. H. A. Earle, Mrs. W. F. Fallis and Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. P. I. Bentley and Mrs. H. A. Fallis, Mrs. E. D. Fennell and Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. Arthur Fallis and Mrs. T. Douglas, Mrs. H. Bigelow and Mrs. Weston Fallis.

Announcement was also made that the Peterborough Presbytery will meet at Millbrook on May 2, and the association will provide hot dinner, and tea if any remain for that meal. The executive will be responsible for the arrangements, and service with such help as they ask for the occasion. About fifty ministers and laymen will be in attendance.

The program on Wednesday included a recitation, "A Little Boy's Lament," by Connie Stinson; a duet, "Brighten the Corner," by Eleanor Bigelow and Christina Reid; a reading, "The Passing of the Lake Shore Line," by Mrs. F. J. Smith, this being peculiarly appropriate in view of the fact that the local community is threatened with the closing of the railway running through this section. An Easter reading, "The Suit that Failed," and the benediction by the pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, completed the meeting. The hostess served candy during the social hour at the close.

Missionary Society Centreville Meets

CENTREVILLE, April 5 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. James Whittington was hostess to the Women's Society of Centreville Presbyterian Church at their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Robert Deyell presided. Rev. D. A. McKenzie offered prayer and the president read the scripture.

After considering some items of business the following interesting and instructive program was presented: Mrs. Fred Woods and Mrs. Karl Huggins sang a duet, which was much appreciated. A chapter from the study book describing missionary work in India was given by Mrs. Sherman Cooper. Mrs. D. N. Dodds read a sermon by Rev. John Hutton, D.D., which will be given as an Easter message in all the auxiliaries of the Presbytery.

The meeting closed with the Lord's prayer in unison. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour was spent.

Rev. D. A. McKenzie will occupy the pulpit at Centreville and Grace Church, Millbrook on Sunday, April 7th.

Miss Gwendolyn Hutchison spent the week-end with Mrs. Charles Larmer of Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Savigny ,and Mrs. John Savigny of Otonabee spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tate.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McAuley were visitors to Cobourg on Tuesday.

MRS. J. MILLBURN IS 93 YEARS OLD

Former Mary Ann Edmison Lived in This District All Her Life.

ENJOYS GOOD HEALTH

On Tuesday, April 2nd, Mrs. Joseph Milburn (nee Mary Ann Edmison), Chemong road celebrated her ninety-third birthday. Mr. Edmison (Mrs. Milburn's father), living in the north of England, hearing of the wealth of this Dominion decided to emigrate to Canada; he had his ticket bought when he was conscripted to fight at the Battle of Waterloo. After the war he was able to fulfill his desire. On coming to Canada he received crown land just north of the village of Peterborough. There were ten of a family, five boys and five girls, Mrs. Milburn being the sole survivor.

On February 26, 1867, Miss Edmison was married in Toronto to Joseph Milburn who died eleven years ago. Three sons and two daughters now survive this marriage. George a farmer on the Chemong road; Doctors Alfred and Harry of Vancouver and Misses Margaret and Eunice at home with their mother.

One brother of Mrs. Milburn was a Presbyterian minister in Rothsay for twenty-five years.

Mrs. Milburn says it is difficult for her to realize that she is ninety-three for possessing all her faculties as she does makes her feel much younger. When eighty-nine she became blind so had a successful operation on one eye for cataract and while she has no use of the other eye which was injured many years ago, the use of the one permits Mrs. Milburn to read. This she does a great deal of the time; several papers finding their way into her home. Among which she enjoys "The Examiner' 'and "New Outlook" the most.

Mrs. Milburn is keenly interested in current news items and much prefers to discuss world events of to-day than to talk of the past. She received her education in Peterborough when the present city had but one street; she studied by the light of the tallow candle, many of which she helped to make. While this was before the coming of factories to Peterborough, her father was able to get his wheat ground there rather than make the long tiresome trip to Port Hope. Her mother and older sisters did the weaving, spinning and making of the clothes at home, except "the Sunday best" which were purchased in the villages. Here Mrs. Milburn smiled and said, "And it took more for a dress in those days than it does to-day."

The family were members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Peterborough and the family were always to be found in the old square pews on Sunday. The day on which there were no games, picnics or frolics. The boys were not even permitted to whistle. Maple sugar was used for all sweetening purposes, the making of which was a very important industry in every home.

Mrs. Milburn is now a member of Bridgenorth United Church and is keenly interested in all its activities for as she says: "I'm much more interested in what is going on today than what happened or did not happen almost a century ago." Mrs. Milburn believes in the adage: "Early to bed and early to rise makes one healthy" for she retires each evening at eight and rises with the sun, "for really there is no use getting up too early."

BRIDGENORTH

The Women's Association of Fairview met at the home of Mrs. Fred Bell on Tuesday afternoon and the ladies of Selwyn at the home of the president, Mrs. Wilfred Nicholls on Thursday afternoon.

The ice in Chemong Lake is beginning to move, open water now being noticeable along the shore on both sides.

FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1935

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

It is to be hoped that there will be a large and representative attendance at the public meeting called for this evening for the purpose of planning a program for Peterborough's celebration of the silver jubilee of His Majesty the King on May 6.

That date has been declared a public holiday, and communities throughout the Dominion are expected to observe the occasion in a fitting but, at the request of His Majesty, in an inexpensive manner.

Even without lavish expenditure, however, it should be possible to stage an impressive, dignified and enthusiastic community celebration in which the militia units, the ex-service men, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, service clubs and other organizations could co-operate effectively.

Other Canadian cities already have their plans well under way for this historic occasion, and Peterborough must not fall behind the procession.

His Worship Mayor Denne has called to-night's meeting for the purpose of formulating plans, and in this most commendable effort he should have the loyal and hearty support of the citizens generally. Don't leave this important responsibility to others, but if at all possible be present to-night to do your share in making sure that Peterborough's observance of the King's jubilee is worthy of the occasion.

TO AMEND THE POLICE BILL.

Premier Hepburn has intimated that the Attorney-General's police control bill will be amended before it is passed.

It is to be hoped that this means that the legislation will be altered to make it clear that there is no intention of interfering with municipal autonomy, except in cases of grave emergency when co-ordinated effort by all the police forces of the province may be considered necessary.

As it was first drafted, the measure practically put the police departments of Ontario under the control of the Attorney-General, and, according to the original wording, the Government would have been empowered to do as it liked with police officers.

It is probably the intention now to revamp the legislation so as to confine the control and direction of municipal police by the province to such times as a major crime makes it desirable that all law enforcement agencies in Ontario should be put under one control.

No reasonable person will object to this centralization as an emergency measure, but the loose way in which the bill was drawn left it open to abuses of municipal autonomy, and that is something to which most people would be decidedly opposed.

In the ordinary course of events, there is no reason why the provincial Attorney-General should have anything to do with the management of Peterborough's police force, for example, yet the original bill would have made it possible for Queen's Park to say that no local police were to be used to protect property in the event of a riot originating from a strike, and judging by Mr. Roebuck's attitude toward such disturbances in Northern Ontario last year, that would probably be what he would say under such circumstances.

THE DEER BELONG TO EVERYBODY.

It is evident that the present session of the Legislature will see another violent battle over the question of using dogs in deer hunting; the hunters of the province are sharply divided over the issue, but there is reason to think that Hon. H. C. Nixon and his Deputy, D. J. Taylor, are in favor of lifting the ban on dogs.

The Examiner believes that it is time the general public took a hand in this argument, and in the interest of game conservation, asserted its rights.

Somehow or other these argumentative hunters are laboring under the obsession that the deer in Ontario are their property.

That is sheer nonsense; the deer and other wild life in the province belong to all the people, and not to a few hundred hunters whose only interest is the fleeting pleasure they get out of killing and the satisfaction to their vanity they obtain from a successful hunt.

We are rather inclined to think that if the matter was left to the public generally to decide most people would vote for no deer killing at all, either with or without dogs, and that they would endorse Jack Miner's remark that one live deer in the woods is worth a score of dead carcasses hung up in a hunter's camp.

Wild life in Ontario is rapidly disappearing, and if we do not embark upon a policy of strict conservation, it will soon be extinct as the wild pigeon, and with its departure much of the attraction that brings an army of tourists here every year will be gone.

The consensus of evidence from all over the continent is that the banning of dogs has materially increased the number of deer; that being the case and the rights of the general public to ownership of wild life being clear, it seems to The Examiner that the Legislature should ignore the warring hunters and settle this question in the interests of the great majority of citizens of the province.

INCONSISTENCY.

There are features in connection with this Quebec power purchase controversy that the average man has some difficulty in understanding.

Take the act introduced on Monday by Premier Hepburn for the purpose of declaring the contracts "illegal, void and unenforceable."

The preamble to that act sets forth as the principal reason for pronouncing these contracts invalid "that it never was the intention of the Legislature of Ontario that the said commission (the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission) should have the authority to impose financial and other obligations without consent upon the said municipal corporations, power-users and taxpayers of the province."

And yet the bill goes on to allow the Hydro Commission to do the very thing complained of, that is to pay for power for the Gatineau Company as it deems advisable, and with the approval of the Cabinet to enter into contracts therefor and to distribute the costs thereof among the municipalities as it sees fit.

Surely that is the acme of inconsistency, to condemn contracts on the ground that the consent of the Hydro municipalities had not been obtained and then to cancel the contracts also without the consent of the municipalities, and finally to go on taking power from one of the companies affected by the act, again without obtaining the approval of the Hydro municipal corporations.

No wonder the Stratford Beacon-Herald is constrained to protest that "this Hydro business grows too complicated."

"If one were to ask the question, 'Who owns Hydro?'" says the Stratford paper, "the reply would be given that it is the property of the participating municipalities of Ontario, and yet it is a fact that those participating municipalities have no voice in the management of the property which they are said to own.

"Theoretically it is managed for them by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, a body named by the Government of the day. But now when the contracts entered into with Quebec companies are up for discussion and cancellation, it is the Ontario Government and not the Hydro Commission which takes the situation directly in hand. The municipalities had nothing to do with making the contracts with Quebec companies; the municipalities never knew they were being made, and the municipalities have had nothing to do with the cancellation of the contracts. And yet we are told the municipalities are the actual owners of the Hydro business. Plain truth is the situation is rather ridiculous."

LOWER RATES ON BRITISH GOODS.

One feature of the Finance Minister's budget speech which is not apt to provoke much criticism, except from a few manufacturing interests which will continue to receive ample tariff protection, is that providing for greater ease in the entry of various British products into the Canadian market, and for the wiping out in its entirety of that special excise tax which has been resting upon imports from the United Kingdom.

It is no secret that there has been much dissatisfaction throughout business circles in the Old Country with the way in which Canada has interpreted the trade agreements reached at the time of the Ottawa conference. Business men in Great Britain have seen Canada's exports to their country largely expanded as a result of the operation of those agreements. But they have seen no corresponding increase in the quantity of British goods reaching the Canadian market. It is true that there has been an improvement in this country, but it has not begun to approximate that improvement which has been marked in the Canadian position in the United Kingdom. Moreover, while Canada has been selling more to the Old Country and buying only slightly more than she did before the agreements went into effect, she has been visibly increasing her purchases in foreign countries, especially in the United States, which have been by no means such good customers of the Dominion.

If the changes that have now gone into effect help to correct this tendency they will be much appreciated by British business interests as well as by Canadian importers who, anxious to patronize British merchants, have been complaining for years about the obstacles continuing to bestrew this avenue of trade. There is little doubt that Canada has been by no means so liberal in implementing the terms of the Empire trade pacts insofar as they relate to imports from the United Kingdom as the latter has been in facilitating the entry of Canadian products and the growing dissatisfaction with Canada's policy expressed by British industrial leaders may be easily understood. The point had probably been reached at which Canada was forced to do something more for the benefit of the British manufacturers if she wished to preserve her own market in that country, for the Britisher was beginning to view the situation with anything but approval and to demand some greater evidence of a will to reciprocate on the part of this Dominion.

A reduction in the tariff imposts resting upon importations from the United Kingdom will enable many Canadians to carry into effect their desire to lend greater patronage to the manufacturers of that country in return for British generosity in granting free admittance to many Canadian products. Canadians generally are anxious to buy British goods whenever they are obtainable at an equal price. The action of the Finance Minister in lowering the rates of duty and taxation on different classes of British products will prove of some assistance in this connection and thus carry forward the great cause of Empire trade. —Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Ottawa debate—if it could be called that—is finished, and there will be few sighs of regret over that fact.

Only twelve members of the House of Commons voted for the social credit amendment. The theories of Major Douglas have evidently made little impression at Ottawa.

Six of the third party group in the House of Commons helped the Government in voting down a Liberal amendment calling for an immediate election. That probably has some significance, but for the moment it escapes us.

Mr. Roebuck's industrial standards legislation is being attacked on the ground that it lacks teeth. On the other hand, of course, if the Attorney-General had made his measure more drastic he would have been accused of "cracking down" on industry.

Austria is joining the other powers in the race for a bigger army. The dove of peace is having a hard job these days trying to find a spot to light.

Evidently hunger marchers are not as popular in the vicinity of Queen's Park as they were last August. A few months in office usually brings about a changed attitude.

With a federal election and a fall session of the Legislature scheduled for this year, 1935 will not be entirely lacking in political activity.

LAYING OFF SETTLERS

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I see in your paper that the settlers' gangs were laid off in Peterborough district, to put in their crops.

The settlers were laid off the third week in March, and weren't given any reason.

It would be nice weather to plow and put in crops, with about two inches of snow on the ground, and the earth still frosen.

It wouldn't be quite so bad if the settlers that were laid off were farmers, but there are very few that have any more land than enough for a garden.

What are these people to live on; the promises the government is making?

The only settlers that can get work are the ones that have teams, and they are the only ones that are farmers.

The men from the cities and towns are the only men they will hire in the camps.

If the Liberals think they will get a few more votes by doing this, they are badly mistaken.

I would like to know their idea of a square deal?

Sincerely yours,
A READER.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns?

by FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PARIS, ONTARIO

Squire Holmes, an English gentleman, was the founder of Paris, for he purchased 100 acres in 1821 and colonized it. Eight years later, Hiram Capron, better known as "King Capron," purchased some land from Squire Holmes and subdivided it.

Lots in those days sold for $10 and King Capron gave free lots for the building of churches and schools. He named the new settlement "The Forks Of The Road", but the name later was changed to Paris, owing to proximity of rich beds of gypsum, better known as plaster of paris.

Paris was incorporated as a village in 1849 with a population of 1,000, and six years later was incorporated as a town.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Mastin.)

WHICH SIDE OF THE MENU?

Two kinds of human beings come into restaurants, take off their overcoats, hang up their hats, sit down and order their dinners.

One looks at the left hand side of the menu, the other concentrates on the right hand side. (We are assuming, you know, that there's money in the pocket and the man at the table can afford whatever is for sale.)

The first patron is thinking of his healthy hunger. He intends to enjoy this meal to the fullest. So he orders what he likes. Eating is one of the real pleasures of life and as long as he can enjoy his food he will do so.

If he wants a green salad fixed just so, he will have a green salad! If his mouth is watering for a thick steak—Waiter, bring a thick steak! If he craves another cup of coffee—Fill it up again, waiter!... Life is for men, not men for life. So tuck in the napkin and watch a man eat!

But the other fellow is not thinking about fun—he is thinking about cost... He'd like one sort of steak, but this other kind is 15 cents cheaper and just as nourishing. Thousand Island dressing is very fine, but it costs a bit more; so why not order French dressing? He'd like a dessert, but the trouble with most of us is that we eat too much, and a man should rise from the table still a little hungry.... No dessert to-night, waiter; bring the check!

So that's the way we are, good patrons of the hostelry of life!

Some of us eat hearty and do not ask the cost. Some of us count the cost and take the fine edge off appetite and enjoyment.

Some of us live to regret what we have done. Some of us live longer and regret what we HAVE-N'T done....Ask me which of us have the profoundest regrets and I shall not hesitate. I know the answer....Right of wrong, the man who orders from the left hand side of the menu gets the most out of his long repast and lives best. And the cautious accountant who looks more often upon the price side of life comes wistfully, half defiantly, to his long shadowed days. Somewhere along the way he has missed the savor of life. He has attended the feast, but has failed the joy of it.

Poor devil! Poor us, if we follow his poor example.

Scotland has a strong movement favoring self-government for the country.

A CRADLE OF ARCHBISHOPS

On this date (April 5) in 1892 the Roman Catholic see of Valleyfield was created by the Vatican. It has since always had eminent men as its prelates and has in fact proven to be a cradle of Archbishops. It was from Valleyfield that Bishop Emard was translated to be Archbishop of Ottawa and it was from Valleyfield that the Vatican removed Monsignor Rouleau any of the dioceses in Quebec, its 1925 and a cardinal in 1929.

Valleyfield diocese is perhaps the most equally divided as to races of any of the dioces in Quebec, its jurisdiction covering a large part of the Eastern Townships and while there is a French Canadian majority the relations of the Roman Catholics with the Protestants are most friendly and they work in all good causes. Of late years there has been an influx of foreign labor owing to the construction of the Beauharnois power development and many of these workers have stayed in the county, thus adding to the problems which have to be dealt with by the clergy. Roman Catholic and Protestant alike.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

ROGER BABSON.

To estimate any man as the greatest, in his line, in the world, calls for cautious statement. Frequently in newspaper and magazine, Roger Babson has been given high praise as the world's greatest business statistician. Had he not been a profound student of economics, he could not have as clear ideas about the conditions, under which people live and work. But it must be kept in mind that Roger Babson is not only a high-grade business man, he is an outstanding Christian. He sees all that the world means to man from the standpoint of religion. A few statements of his will set his viewpoint in perspective.

"The need of the hour is not more factories or materials, not more railroads or steamships, not more armies or navies, but rather more education based on the teaching of Jesus. The prosperity of our country depends on the motives and purposes of our people. These motives and purposes are directed only in the right course through religion. In spite of their imperfections, this is why I believe in our churches, and why I am an optimist on their future. "The logic of this statement cannot be broken, Babson is discriminating. Of some things we have enough. Of one thing we are in need. The forerunners of prosperity is religion. And the foundation of continuous prosperity is religion. The church has been drifting. Some preachers haven't the guts to stem the tide.

THE UNDERMINING OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

The British Empire stands at the cross-roads. The whole Empire is a battle field. The love of the material is battling for the mastery. No nation can serve two masters. We must make a definite choice to serve either God or Mammon. Materialism is undermining the civilization of the British Empire. Materialism has never failed to undermine, if not checked by genuine religion. The Christian religion is the one hope of the world. It is the only force known to man capable to check the disintegrating influence of materialism. Zealous effort to heighten the religious devotion of our people is the best possible investment.

It is, timely, to give warning. Unless all the people give ear to the warning that our Empire is at the cross-roads, and act accordingly, disaster will surely come. The writing is on every page of history. We must get back to the real fundamentals of Empire building. Egypt had a civilization. To the religious the people gave heed. Religion had a first place. Had the Egyptians been true to what they conceived to be right, Egypt had not fallen. Greece had religious ideals. If those conceptions had been kept alive Greece would not have fallen. And shall we speak of the Great Roman Empire. There was a time when Rome was religious. Religion is the most characteristic thing in man. Pagan Rome had a religion. Had the light Rome had been kept bright, "fallen" would not have been written of her.

ROGER BABSON AND RELIGION.

"Statistics of every nation indicate that true religion is the power necessary for the development of its resources, and for its successful continuation. The challenge goes out to every man to support his church, to take an active part in the religious life of his community, to live according to the simple principles upon which this, one of the greatest nations in the world is founded." This statement, while written primarily for American readers, carries a message for all peoples. Make religion first and prosperity second, then joy will fill the nations. This is an axiom. Put materialism first and religion second, then adversity will surely follow. And it will stay. How long will it take for the people to learn? One day the Christ stood among the people and gave warning. They did not give heed. Then the sky darkened. And the glory of Israel passed. We are living in a day characterized by a mad rush for material advantage. The other day a man visited this apartment house with a map. It was a map of mining prospects. A persistent effort was made to sell mining stock. There on the map the positions of prospective mines were marked. Map mines? One man at least felt like kicking the agent down the street. To my desk have come prospectus after prospectus alluringly printed. "Just write us, if interested."

Good Attendance Lakefield W.M.S.

LAKEFIELD, April 5.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The April meeting of the W.M.S. of Lakefield United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance present. The meeting was opened by the use of the special Easter program, with the president, Mrs. W. W. Leonard, conducting the meeting.

Mrs. Porter led the women in a helpful devotional period, using the suggestions of the Kingdom of God movement.

An allegorical reading on the angels' "asking" and "Thanks" was given by Mrs. Leonard with a very uplifting theme. Mrs. E. J. Millage gave a comprehensive resume of the 5th chapter of the Study Book. Mrs. W. J. Charlton gave a few very helpful thoughts on Christian stewardship, and after this the meeting closed with the singing of an Easter hymn.

Efficiency League.

The regular meeting of the Efficiency League of the United Church was held on Monday night, with an attendance of 25. The program was in charge of the red side, with Mr. Wallace Hendren the leader.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. P. H. Darling and the leader led in prayer. Musical selections included guitar numbers by Messrs. Morrison and Walker, and a solo, sweetly rendered by Miss Eva Hendren. Miss Elsie Kidd gave a short story, "A Handful of Clay," which had an especial appeal. The evening's chapter of the Study Book, "Transforming Friendship," which dealt with the personal nature of friendship, was taken capably by Mr. Urias Springer. The leader, Mr. Hendren, gave some original thoughts on April, which found a ready echo in the minds and hearts of his hearers.

The program closed with a contest and the benediction.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Lakefield Cemetery Board was held in the Town Hall on Monday night, with all but one of the trustees present.

A. E. Higgins was re-appointed caretaker. The regulations are to be thoroughly revised to meet the present requirements. The following officers were re-elected: President, D. H. Webster; vice-president, A. R. Fitzgerald; secretary-treasurer, G. H. Spence.

Power Bill Opposition Encourages New Buying

TORONTO, April 5.—(C.P.)—Opposition from various quarters to the proposed revision of the power contracts with the Quebec power committee has encouraged the buying of the power bonds by speculators and higher prices were obtainable in the Toronto market to-day. The whole list was up fractions to better than two points and the tone was firmer also in the high-grade department with trading, however, still on the slow side.

Gatineau 5's were holding to-day around 83 to 83½, an advance of about two points and the 6's were even stronger. About the same degree of improvement was noted in the Beauharnois and the Maclaren-Quebec issues.

KINGSTON HARBOR OPENS.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 5 (C.P.).—Navigation opened to-day when the steamer Wolfe Islander made a trip to Wolfe Island. The boat had to break through considerable ice to make the crossing. The harbor has been closed since Dec. 29.

A year ago the navigation season opened on the same day. The steamer Valleycamp has cleared for Rochester, light, and the Glenelg started late last night for Sodus.

Three hundred invitations to the World Congress of Physiologists to be held in Leningrad, Russia, in August, have been sent to American scientists.

BOND INTERESTS ORGANIZE PLANS

O.M.E.A. Passes Resolution Banning Gov't Contracts Without Their Executive's Consent.

BILL UP AGAIN MONDAY.

TORONTO, April 5.—(CP)—With second reading of the Power Commission Act, by means of which the government intends to cancel Quebec power company contracts, likely to take place in the Ontario legislature Monday, various interested groups today continued to promote measures to combat or cope with the situation.

I. E. Weldon, K.C., secretary of the executive of the Power Securities Protective Association, announced that arrangements were under way to obtain a large public hall here for a mass meeting to protest the bill. No date had been set for the meeting at the time of the announcement.

The Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association yesterday held its second emergency meeting in two days and, it was understood, had formulated a plan to meet the situation which threatens the large bond holdings of insurance companies in the four Quebec firms concerned. Until all insurance companies involved have been consulted and a unanimous agreement reached, no move could be made. But the work of organizing the companies in various parts of the dominion and in New York state was proceeding today.

In the face of these and other activities, power bond prices rallied yesterday, after several days of uninterrupted decline. Buying was of small-lot proportions.

O.M.E.A. Official Silent

A special meeting of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association was held here yesterday, and officials emerged at the close of the all-day session refusing to express any opinion on the proposed action of the government.

Resolutions had been passed, however. One asked that section three of the new power bill be amended so that no contracts could be entered into or development undertaken by the Ontario Hydro Commission without the consent of the executive of the O.M.E.A.

Another asked that the Hydro municipalities be represented on the commission. And a third suggested that Messrs Gaby, Magrath and Maguire reply publicly to the criticism recently voiced of the administration of the former Hydro Commission, especially with respect to contracts made since 1928.

In the legislature yesterday, opposition Leader George S. Henry asked Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn when the Power Bill would come up for a second reading. The premier replied that it had not been definitely decided, but that it would likely be in again Monday.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP).—Under leadership of the utilities, the stock market staged a brisk forward push to-day that added 1 to 2 or more points to the more active issues. All sections of the list participated in the recovery, attributed partly to better business news and the Congressional compromise on the administration's work relief bill.

Among the best gainers were United Corp., Consolidated Gas, North American, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, N.Y. Central, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Case, Sears Roebuck and U.S. Smelting. The closing tone was firm. Transfers approximated 1,200,000 shares.

FRANCE STARTS DRIVE

PARIS, April 5. (AP).—France acted to-day to stamp out an alleged intense anti-French propaganda campaign in Algeria. President Albert Lebrun signed a decree providing for terms of imprisonment of three months to two years and heavy fines for all persons, including foreigners, who provoke "by any means, disorders or manifestations against French authority."

UNITED KINGDOM BACON.

OTTAWA, April 5.—(C.P.)— The United Kingdom market for imported bacon was steady this week, according to a cable received by the Department of Agriculture. Canadian sold from 74 to 78 shillings, Danish 81 to 86, English 82 to 91, Irish 80 to 94, Swedish 76 to 83, Dutch 77 to 83, Baltic 74 to 80 shillings. Canadian hams were firm at 91 to 92 shillings.

MINING STOCKS

A daily column which answers the Queries on Mining Stocks that are of general interest to Examiner readers.

CANADIA MALARTIC GOLD MINES

Query.—I hold some shares in the Malartic Gold Mines, which I believe has been reorganized, and would be pleased to have you tell me to whom I should send the stock, and what progress is being made at the property.—L.B.N.

Answer.—As a holder of shares in Malartic Gold Mines you have a pleasant surprise in store, as the shares are convertible into those of the Canadian Malartic Gold Mines, incorporated in 1933 with a capitalization of 4,000,000 shares. If you would forward your shares by registered mail to the Royal Trust Company, Toronto or Montreal, you will receive one-half the number of shares in the present company.

There seems to be considerable mystery why the property closed down in 1926, in view of the splendid ore developed since the reorganization. A 125-ton mill unit to be operated by electric power, is under construction and is planned for completion next month. Early development had been conducted to the 325-foot level. The extension of the known ore-ones, as well as that developed by the present company, shows 198,000 tons, averaging .236 ounces of gold per ton. In addition, there is some 340,000 tons of ore of dicated, averaging about .186 ounces per ton in gold. While the grade of ore developed is inclined to be on the low side, there is evidence that costs will be correspondingly low, and that a fair profit will accrue from operations. It is impossible to appraise at the present juncture what the degree of profit will be, but with the relatively large tonnage of ore already proven, considerable success is evidence and there is a possibility that the milling rate will be stepped up to a much higher capacity.

The finances for the enterprise have been provided by the Lindsley interests of Toronto, and on December 31 last current assets totalled $46,834, while current liabilities were $34,566. Options are outstanding on further treasury shares at 50c each, which is sufficient to finance the property to production.

GOODFISH GOLD MINES

Query.—What can you tell me of the present status of Goodfish Gold Mines.—H.G.M.

Answer. — Goodfish Gold Mines suspended operations last December. It has been worked sporadically for the past twenty years without any conclusive results as to its importance. Refinancing will have to be undertaken before work could be resumed again.

BUOYANT TONE FOLLOWS HIGH LONDON PRICES

Rally on New York Board Also Adds to Increased Activity at Toronto.

GOLDS CLOSE STRONG.

TORONTO, April 5 (C.P.).—Base metal stocks swung into action on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange to-day, advancing on fairly heavy turnover while silvers were much firmer and the golds closed with a strong tone on only moderate volume. The more buoyant note was evidently the result of a gradual firming of metal quotations in London through the week and to-day's rally on the New York board.

Noranda moved ahead 1.15 to $36 followed by Sherritt Gordon which had an advance of 8 cents to 60. Base Metals Corporation, Falconbridge, Pend Oreille and Sudbury Basin were up narrowly. In the silvers higher prices ruled for Eldorado, Bear and Premier. Gains of 5 to 25 cents showed in senior golds. San Antonio advanced 15 cents, Buffalo-Ankerite recovered a loss of 15 cents and price changes among the other secondary gold issues represented gains.

HIGH SCALE SET TORONTO BOARD

International Nickel Advances 5-8 to 25 1-8 for Feature Issue.

BELL GAINS 2 POINTS.

TORONTO, April 5.—(C.P.) — The industrail section of the Toronto exchange turned definitely strong this afternoon and a general scaling up of price set in over the board. As in Thursday's market, International Nickel was the feature, rising ⅝ to 25⅛, with London buying the main factor, while an advancing Trend developed in the Steel, Oil, Utility and Food groups. Bell Telephone gained about 3 points, rising above 126.

Ford "A" returned to the 28 mark to show a half-point advance and Brazilian and C.P.R. registered gains of small fractions. The cement issues and building products were still off at the close, but Gypsum advanced nearly a point and gains of small fractions appeared for Dominion Tar, and Canada Dredge. Implement issues improved and in the foods the chain stores, Consolidated Bakeries, Canada Bread "A" and Fanny Farmer turned upward.

Peter Robinson Chapter Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., held on Wednesday evening in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., a donation was voted toward the fund for making Mrs. Oscar Main, the Provincial Treasurer, a life member of the Order. A donation of $3 was also voted toward the refreshment fund for the Warriors' Ball.

The Chapter will sponsor a lecture on Spode China to be given on Monday, evening next at the Y.M.C.A. hall.

It was decided to hold a rummage sale later in the month, with Mrs E. M. Turner and Mrs. C. E. Graham in charge.

At the close of the business session, refreshments were served by Mrs. Stanley and her group. Coffee was poured by Mrs. V. Selkirk and Mrs. C. S. Browne.

HOG PRICES

TORONTO, April 5.—(CP)—None of the reporting market points recorded changes in hog prices today over yesterday's levels. Today's levels:

Barrie, $7.85; Chatham $7.75; Stratford $7.90; Kitchener $7.90; Brantford, $8.00; Hull, $8.25; Peterborough $7.85; London $7.85.

TEACHERS TO BE DISMISSED.

PORT ERIE Ont., April 5 (C.P.).—Abolition of domestic science and manual training courses at Port Erie High School and reduction of the teaching staff from 40 to 46, discontinuance of a full time secretary for the High School, together with a cut in wages averaging eight per cent. are among economies to be put in effect by Port Erie Board of Education as a result of slashing 10 mills from Port Erie tax rate for 1935.

General View of the Camp and Buildings.

You were advised of the purchase of a complete mining plant for installation at your property in the last report issued and because the work carried on the interim to this date has been constructional in nature rather than mine development, it was decided to defer our No. 5 Report pending completion of the work.

It is now pleasing for me to advise that the work of building erection and plant installation has now been completed and that shaft sinking has begun under power and with a crew of 18 men.

An average of ten men have been employed during the past three months completing carpenters, mechanics, and teamsters. The following buildings have been erected to the sizes given:

	Sizes in Feet
Bunkhouse	20 x 40
Cookery	20 x 30
Stable—2 Stall	14 x 24
Powder Storage House	14 x 14
Compressor and Hoist House	16 x 32
Steel Sharpening and Blacksmith Shop	16 x 16
Small Buildings—
Fuse House	8 x 10
Power House	6 x 4
Carbide and Tool Shed	6 x 12
Also Shaft Head Frame.

For the purpose of conserving water for plant operation requirements a dam was constructed in the creek which divided the mine buildings from those of the camp.

To expedite the transportation into the property of this heavy tonnage of building material and plant equipment, it was necessary to hire teams in addition to that belonging to the company. It is estimated that the weight of this material, plant, etc., amounted to 80 tons. While there is now in process of haulage a further 20 tons consisting mainly of one carload of explosives, 85 drums of gasoline and lubricating oils and the necessary commissary supplies required for supplying the needs of the crew over the break-up period and during which time road transportation will not be possible.

The working crew now employed for shaft sinking is made up of eight shaft men, two deck men, two hoist men, one mechanic, one blacksmith, one surface labourer, one teamster, one cook and one shoreboy, and is under the subervision of our Resident Engineer, Mr. A. G. Horning.

Two eight-hour shifts per day are being run and two machines will be employed in the work. It is expected that the shaft will be completed to its required depth of 165 feet, including timbering, by May 15th.

A test run of the plant has been made since its installation with satisfactory results.

Now that mine development has been resumed, it is intended to maintain the issuance of subsequent progress reports on a monthly basis, so that the shareholders will be kept fully advised of the work accomplished month by month.

*We trust you will find the illustration of the various buildings and items of plant—comprised of both aerial and ground views of interest.

For the benefit of those of our new shareholders who may not have received our previously issued reports, etc., and because we are now beginning the really intensive development of our property, we follow with a brief review of the development work done to date.

The larger picture of the illustrations shown is an aerial photograph covering the section of the property that has been the main centre of surface exploration. The pit marked as "shaft site" was the point of original discovery by Mr. Birrell. After deepening this pit to a depth of 14 feet, cross trenching was done at intervals of 50 feet both to the east and west, this being followed by very deep trenching along the strike of the vein matter. Nine short diamond drill holes were also bored at 40-foot intervals in this zone as points shown on the plan included in our No. 3 Progress Report. The afore-mentioned work resulted in most favorable evidence being disclosed of the mine-making possibilities of the property. Gold in visible form was observed in the broken material in six out of seven cross trenches and also in the course of two diamond drill holes. While very satisfactory gold values were secured from the various channel and bulk samples taken as the work progressed, a very strong shear, or fault exists in the zone explored, the strike being east and west. The general geological structure of the ore is a well mineralized silicified rhyolite, but adjacent to the fault on its south side lies a quartz vein which, while narrow, gives gold values most consistently of from .5 to 1.05 ounce per ton. At its widest point of 3½ feet a bulk sample of 2,400 pounds forwarded to the Department of Mines for test purposes assayed .74 ounce per ton. The gold in this quartz is in association with its sulphide mineralization and has not been observed in free form.

Because of the common occurrence of free or visible gold in the main mass of rhyolite, channel sampling is not satisfactory for establishing an accurate estimate of its gold content. Channel samples have, however, yielded gold values ranging from .15 to .55 ounce per ton, while a bulk sample of 600 pounds from which 13 pieces which showed gold had been removed assayed .17 ounce per ton in gold. It is also important to note that in sinking the shaft to its present depth of 48 feet, free gold was observed in the broken materials taken from each round to a depth of 38 feet.

We should also mention that five feet of core from No. 4 drill hole assayed 1.06 ounce per ton gold, this being the lowest result secured from 17 assays run from this section of core.

The strength of these results and the fact that while the shear or fault has been intensively explored over a length of over 400 feet, it is still just as strongly in evidence at each end point of the surface trenchings—it followed, and was recommended by our consulting engineers, that underground developments of the property should be proceeded with. A complete mining plant was therefore purchased in December last and which, as afore stated, is now in operation.

The program of work now authorized is to continue the shaft to a depth of 165 feet and to do 800 feet of lateral work along the fault zone at the 150-foot horizon. This work will take about four months to complete, and I feel very confident will further strengthen our present theories regarding the potentialities of the property becoming one of Quebec's major producing gold mines.

Yours very truly,
D. J. HIRST,
President.

Dated April 3rd, 1935.

BOYS' PROGRAM IS APPROVED

Extensive Boys' Club Work Approved by Department of Agriculture.

ORGANIZE FOUR CLUBS

Approval of an extensive boys' club work program for Peterborough County this year has been received from the Department of Agriculture in Toronto, Agricultural Representative A. D. Runions said to-day. Four clubs including one new to this county, a boys' foal club, are being organized.

Letters are being sent out and the local Agricultural Department office is now ready to receive applications for membership in the 1935 Boys' Calf Club, the Boys' Swine Club, the Boys' Holstein Heifer Club and the new Foal Club. The first three clubs will be operated in conjunction with the Peterborough Exhibition and the Foal Club in conjunction with the Lakefield Fair. According to Department regulations, each club must associate itself with one of the regular fairs. The climax of the club activities come with the showing at the fair with which it is associated.

According to regulations adopted by the Department during the past year, the existence of each club extends only over one season. All county boys from 12 to 20 years of age, inclusive, are eligible for membership. Information regarding the clubs is to be secured at the local office of the Department of Agriculture or from former club members.

South Africa proposes to place a customs duty of 12 cents on gasoline to provide funds for an extensive road improvement program.

Obituary

MRS. LIBBIA WILSON

BRIDGENORTH, April 5 (Examiner Correspondence)—There passed away at Nicholls Hospital on Monday, April 1st Mrs. Libbia Wilson, sister of Mr. Sidey. Mrs. Wilson made her home with Mr. Sidey in the winter and a few weeks ago she had the misfortune to fall and break her hip. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon at Coldsprings.

JOHN STILES.

BONARLAW, April 5.—(Examiner Correspondence). — There passed away on Monday, April 1, at his home at Strathclaire, Manitoba John Stiles, son of the late Bartholomew Stiles and Margaret McKeown. Mr. Stiles was in his early seventies, and while a young man he went to the Northwest for his health, and there he married and raised a family of thirteen children, ten girls and three boys. He leaves, besides his widow and family, one brother, W. S. Stiles, and Miss Lizzie Stiles, of Bonarlaw. A brother, Bartholomew, predeceased him last year.

MRS. JOEY ROBINSON

TWEED, April 5. (Examiner Correspondence). — Rev. R. R. Nicholson, pastor of Tweed United Church, was called to Brockville on Wednesday of this week, owing to the death of his sister, Mrs. Joey Robinson, widow of the late Albert Robinson of Strathroy. He will accompany the remains to Strathroy where interment will take place. Surviving are one sister, Mrs. G. L. Wagar, Bowmanville; three brothers, R. W. Nicholson, Strathroy; Dr. J. H. Nicholson, Hart, Mich.; and Rev. R. R. Nicholson, Tweed.

The late Mrs. Robinson suffered a stroke a few days ago and passed away in Brockville Hospital. She had been making her home with her son-in-law, Mr. Manfred Donley, who along with his grand-daughter, Dorothy Donley, also survives. The late Mrs. Robinson was beloved by a wide circle of friends.

AGNES MAY BOSLEY

TWEED, April 5. (Examiner Correspondence).—Agnes May Bosley, a well-known resident of this district died in Tweed following a lengthy illness on Wednesday, April 3rd. Born at Northbrook in 1896, she spent her early life there and in 1913, she was married at Flinton, to Adolphus Bosley. The deceased was a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Arthur and Elwin and one brother, Edgar Bosley, Northbrook, and a sister, Frances Bosley of Actinolite.

The funeral was held to St. Edmund's Church, Stoco, on Friday morning, with Rev. Fr. Cullinane in charge of Requiem Mass, with burial at Stoco. The bearers were Peter Cassibo, Henry Cassibo, Charles Cassibo, John Provost, Louis Genore and Joseph Genore.

MRS. HONORA MOHER

(Examiner Correspondence)

DOURO, April 5.—Another link with the early days of Douro was severed when death called Mrs. Hanora Moher on Sunday, March 31, at the home of her son, Vincent Moher. The deceased lady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Shea, pioneers of Asphodel township, was in her eighty-seventh year.

Her early years were devoted to teaching, in which profession she endeared herself to her pupils, among whom were her cousins, the late Reverend Doctor Foley, editor of the "Catholic Record" and his sister the late Reverend Sister Agatha of the Grey Nuns' Community, Ottawa.

Mrs. Moher was married in 1872 to William Moher who predeceased her twenty-one years ago.

Some few years ago when Douro welcomed her scattered children home for a reunion, in the same school room where they first toiled over the rough roads of the three R's, men and women again became children to do honor to Mrs. Moher, their former teacher, who had helped to fit them for their successful careers and callings in life.

Left to mourn the loss of a loving mother are eight children: Reverend Sisters Josephine and St. Patrick of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Peterborough; Stephen of Edmonton; Mrs. Peter Greenan of Lindsay; Mrs. M. J. Leahy, Albert Vincent and Eleanor of Douro. One son, Francis, of Edmonton, predeceased her in 1930. Two brothers, Michael and Jerry O'Shea also survive her. The large number of spiritual offerings received, testify to the high esteem of her many friends.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Moher which was largely attended was held on Tuesday, April 2 at St. Joseph's Church, Douro. A solemn requiem mass was sung by Reverend Father Joseph Walsh, grandnephew of the deceased, assisted by Reverend Father J. Garvey, Lakefield, as deacon and Reverend Father E. Welsh, Douro, as sub-deacon. Two grandsons, Michael Leahy and Joseph Moher, served the funeral mass.

The sermon was preached by Reverend Father Garvey, who based his eulogy on the "Valiant Woman" as exemplified in the life of Mrs. Moher. She was essentially a home-maker and in her home religion played an ever-present and important role. Everyone recognized in her the charm, the self-effacement and the remarkable qualities of heart and mind so typical of the good Christian Mother.

The pall-bearers were: Michael J. Leahy, Peter Greenan, Philip Fitzpatrick, James Walsh, Augustus Whibbs and Patrick G. Towns.

Among the relatives from a distance who attended the funeral were Mrs. B. Moher, Miss Felicitas Moher, Messrs. Clem, Harry and Gerald Moher of Toronto and Messrs. Jerry and William O'Shea of Hastings.

WESTREN B. WILLIAMSON

MILLBROOK, April 5 (Examiner Correspondence) — The death of Westren Berleau Williamson, in his sixty-fourth year, took place at his late residence, Princess street, Millbrook, on Sunday, following several months of ill health.

Deceased was born at Lindsay, Ontario, and was a son of the late Mr. Gordon Williamson, and his wife, Jane McElwain, early settlers in Cavan; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Williamson, held the crown deed for the land on the Seventh Line of the township, on which the family homestead was established.

Thirty-four years ago, on April 3, 1901, the marriage of Westren Williamson and Mary Armstrong took place, and practically all of their married life was spent on the homestead from which they removed to come to Millbrook to reside one year ago last November.

Deceased was a highly-respected citizen and a good neighbor, and was all of his life connected with the former Methodist, and United Churches. The hospitality of their home, and its spacious lawns, was more than once extended for garden-parties sponsored by the church, and the enjoyment of these, and other somewhat similar gatherings, remains always a pleasant memory for those privileged to attend.

The immediate surviving relatives, besides the bereaved widow, include three sons:: Maurice, of Toronto, Austin, of Peterborough; and Clifford on the homestead; two daughters, Mrs. J. Smith, of Peterborough, and Gladys, at home; also one brother, William, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and one sister, Annie, of Toronto, both of whom were here for the funeral. Offa Williamson, of Bailieboro, and Alberta, of Port Dover, are a step-brother and sister.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place from the late residence of the deceased on Tuesday, at 2 p.m., and was conducted by his pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco. The pall-bearers were all friends of many years' standing, and included: Messrs. T. Douglas, Arthur Fallis, H. C. Argue, A. Coulter, C. Gardiner and Hilliard Lang; the floral tributes were many and beautiful; interment was at Gardiner's cemetery.

Among those from outside points attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. M. Williamson, Mr. T. Hyde and sons, Mr. Jakeman and Mr. Hume, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. George Williamson and family, of Sonya; Mr. Louis Williamson of Hampton; Mrs. T. McIvor, of Peterborough; A. Williamson, of Omemee; J. Gillespie, of Peterborough; Mrs. McCall, of Emily and several others.

The Belgian Congo plans to raise sufficient cotton to supply all its needs.

"THE CANADIAN CAR"

It took 33 years to achieve the New FORD V-8 . . . built for today and tomorrow!

SKILLED automotive engineers in the Ford laboratories applied themselves to the task of perfecting a V-type engine. Designers and other craftsmen worked closely with them . . . contributing to the balanced excellence of the 1935 Ford car . . . powered with the dependable, economical Ford V-8 engine.

The story of Ford V-8 performance is told on every highway, on every hill, and at every traffic light. Owners' figures on cost of operation and up-keep show that the Ford V-8 is the most dependable and economical Ford car ever built.

In the Ford V-8 for 1935 this history-making engine, which brought new performance standards to the low-price field, has been made still finer, still more durable, smoother running—by the addition of important refinements. These include crankcase ventilation, cast alloy steel crankshaft and floating copper-lead connecting-rod bearings.

V-8 comfort matches V-8 performance—as you can find out for yourself by calling in at your Ford dealer's. He has a New Ford V-8 demonstrator available for you to take a trial run in. Drive it. See what it will do. Then ride on the back seat and experience Ford front-seat comfort for back-seat passengers.

HAVE A DEMONSTRATION. Your nearest FORD dealer will be very glad to give you a drive-yourself demonstration in the New FORD V-8 for 1935. No obligation. Visit his premises or 'phone.

Divorce Labelled National Evil in Senate Address

HUGHES URGES MARRIAGE BAN UPON DIVORCEES

Believes Bill to Prevent Second Union Would Prevent 80-90 p.c. of Cases

PERJURY RAMPANT.

OTTAWTA, April 5 (CP)—Vigorously condemning divorce, Senator J. J. Hughes (Lib., Prince Edward Island) intimated yesterday in the Senate he might introduce a bill this session to prevent remarriage of divorcees. The Maritime Senator put forward an estimate of 80 or 90 per cent. of divorce eliminated if the right to remarry were not given to divorced persons.

"There are two, and only two," he declared, "flourishing institutions in the world to-day, viz., the armament factories and the divorce mills, and Canada is doing her share to maintain one of these institutions." Was it not time thought was given to this subject?" he asked. The senator's remarks drew no further discussion.

Evil Growing

Many thoughtful persons, the senator continued, regarded divorce as "the greatest national, social and moral evil that we have on this continent, and it is growing." There were those who felt the light frivolous regard in which marital relations were held by many to be the greatest evil that afflicted the race.

While there was much in the statement men could not be made moral by legislation, he said, at the same time men could be restrained from evil by legislation. Legislation could give respectability and other assistance to evil actions, "which is just what our divorce laws do." He might be told, the senator said, there were some circumstances in which it would be excessive cruelty to compel certain persons to live in wedlock with other persons, and in such cases the state should intervene to give relief. Perhaps this was true he said, but in such cases he questioned if the state should go further than allow separation from bed and board. In granting divorcees to allow the divorcees to remarry a "premium was being placed on divorce.

Figures Show Increase

For 30 odd years after Confedration, he continued, divorces for Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta ran from one to five per year. Then from the beginning of this century until 1920 they averaged about 20 per year for the same provinces. From 1920 until 1930, he proceeded, they grew from 100 to 247 for Quebec and Ontario only; while for 1930 for all of Canada the number was 692 and 928 for 1933.

He gave his opinion that in the great majority of cases there was collusion between the parties to the suit, and in all cases perjury was "appalling." The Maritime senator proceeded to read newspaper articles containing comments of a judge to support his statements.

BETHEL SOCIETY PRESENTED PLAY

Most Successful Play is Presented in the Orange Hall.

(Examiner Correspondence)

EAST EMILY, April 5. — The young people of Bethel United church put on a most successful play in the Bethel Orange Hall on Wednesday night, April 3rd under the direction of Mrs. Sayward Switzer and Mrs. Ira Switzer. Everyone took their parts exceptionally well. The name of the play was "Timmie Yonson's Yob". The scene the living room of the Kent's farm home. Characters—Timmits, from 'Mannasota' Ralph Hanbridge; Pal, the detective, Aulden Bailey; Frank, the clerk, Gerald Lowes; Mickey, the farm hand, Edmund Ruth; Mr. Kent, the father, Garnet Howden; Belle, the foster daughter, Thelma Bailey; Sylvia, the niece, Helen Andrew;; Peg, the cook, Marjorie Ruth; Kittie, the helper, Dorothy Darling; Mrs. Kent, the mother, Ila James; Miss Dorothy Rowland and Mr. Earl Hanbridge gave very pleasing instrumental solos between acts.

After the play the ladies served refreshments. The proceeds amounted to about $27.00.

Sudden Riches

PERMIT PRISONERS IN JAIL TO SMOKE

Efficient Fire Alarm System Was Installed in Jail Some Years Ago.

Although prisoners in the Lindsay gaol and a number of other county jails must await the installation of fire alarm systems and fireproofing renovations by their county councils before being extended the privilege of smoking, the privilege is already in effect in the Peterborough jail, Jail Governor T. D. Johnston revealed to-day. Prisoners have availed themselves of the liberty eagerly, he said.

The regulations of the order-in-council passed at Queen's Park this week to permit smoking required the existence of fire alarm systems in the jail buildings and the removal of all highly-inflammable materials such as straw ticks. The local jail has had an efficient fire alarm system within reach of the prisoners for some years already, Col. Johnston said. With regard to other safety requirements, the equipment in the cells and elsewhere in the building is sufficiently modern to be within the requirements, he opined.

Although the regulations make no distinction between men and women, only men are being allowed to smoke here, the official said.

According to the regulations, the cigarettes and tobacco is being procured through the jailer. Prisoners are not allowed to accept the supplies from friends. They or their friends must pay the jailer for the supplies. In cases of violation of the smoking restrictions, the privilege will be withdrawn immediately from the offending party, Col. Johnston said.

TRINITY CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT PLAY

"Apple Blossom Time," Three Act Comedy, Makes Big Hit.

PLENTY OF MIX-UPS.

Club Has Without a Doubt Some Most Talented Actors.

"Apple Blossom Time" is the pretty title of the three-act comedy which had its first presentation by Trinity Young People's Club, in the Reid street hall last evening, with a second production scheduled for to-night.

Last evening, a large audience greeted the youthful players and a great deal of enthusiasm was manifested over their very skilfull acting and the splendid manner in which the play was presented, with attention to every last little detail in staging, costuming and even dialect. The young people of Trinity Church who take part in these annual dramatic productions are without a doubt among the most-talented of the city's amateur players.

Before the play started, and between acts, the Watson-Atkinson orchestra played some bright selections, and Master Jimmy Sands delighted his listeners with his very sweet voice in several costumed Scotch songs: "The Wee House amang the Heather," and its two encores, "The Road to Inverary" and "It's Nice to get up in the Morning." This sweet-voiced little lad sings truly and carefully, without accompaniment, and he got a big hand from his pleased audience.

"Apple Blossom Time," in three short acts, is one of those engaging, light comedies that goes in for gay dialogue, youthful romance and fun and the complications which have so much to do with the success of this type of dramatic production. The month of May is the time of year in which the action takes place and the setting throughout is the home of Tad Forrest, at the cross-roads.

There is plenty of young love in the piece, as well as the middle-aged affection, which is, unfortunately, somewhat one-sided, of Cal Pickens, the village "constable," for the somewhat peppery-tongued Polly Biddle, caretaker of Tad's home. These two parts are in the expert hands of Neil Massey and Miss Jessie Tully, and do much to add to the fun of the production.

Plenty of Mixups

There are quite a few mixups also in the story, which involves an impersonation of another character, Donald Clark, by an unwilling visitor to the crossroads, in the person of Bob Matthews, the good-looking leading man of the show, whose part is taken very satisfactorily by Max Clarke.

Bob is bedevilled by the dainty little Betty Ann Stewart (Miss Addie Wright), a clever little actress who turns every speech to advantage, and who resents Bob's assumption of authority as her supposed guardian. Bob is aided and abetted by his go-getter friend, Charlie Lawrence, a role taken by Charlie Huffman with such sincerity and excellence that he seems to live, rather than act, the part. And, although you mightn't think it as the play progresses, Bob and Betty finally make a go of a romantic episode, although Loretta Harris (Miss Ann Davis), the village belle whose wiles are portrayed very acceptably by Miss Davis, tries her best to land the good-looking city chap.

Charlie Lawrence's heart interest in the play is another very pretty young neighbor, Nancy Prescott (Miss Marie Kearns), and their 'spooning' bit on the sofa is a jolly little episode of the second act.

A cold and haughty lady who has an unlikeable role, is the screaming sister-in-law of Tad, a Mrs. Forrest who is delineated splendidly by Miss Mabel Ferguson, while Miss Marjorie Kerr makes a brief, but extremely telling, appearance, as the village old maid, Annabel Spriggins. Miss Spriggins gives the luckless Bob some unpleasant moments, when she essays a sudden romance with him, engineered by the two mischievous girls.

The fun of the piece, however, is largely due to the three well-known actors in this club who are always a hit: Miss Edna Forster, Bill Fanjoy and Malcolm Latimer. They are at their best in their respective roles and put it over in great style. Miss Forster is Malvina Kurtz, whose ambition is to secure a beau, and she winds up by acquiring two, for Mickey Maguire (Malcolm Latimer), refuses to be left out of the plans for a honeymoon trip made by the fair Malvina and her other admirer, Spud McClosky (Bill Fanjoy).

Messrs. Fanjoy and Latimer are the more or less horny-handed Sons of Toil from Sunshine Alley who are in the transportation business (carting refuse to the dump), and do a 'Mutt and Jeff' act with all their well-known and much-liked abandon, much to the entertainment of their audience. Mr. Latimer acts somewhat in the role of a 'stooge,' as the tailer Mr. Fanjoy gains some pleasure from ordering him about. But Mr. Latimer sticks right to the finale, his earnest manner and well-meant efforts to gain the lady of his heart getting him plenty of laughs.

"Apple Blossom Time" will be repeated to-night in Reid street hall, and is a worthy successor to other-year entertainments of the same type presented by these talented and capable members of the Young People's Club of Trinity United Church.

Have You, The "Can't Afford It" Habit?

THE use of that phrase does not suggest the inability to buy so much as the desire to practice rigid economy . . . to save . . . to deny yourself needed and necessary commodities.

But Man, oh Man, and you, too, Madam, how better and more effectively can you practice economy and thrift than to buy when prices are at their lowest ebb in years? How more certainly can you insure economy than to replace worn or out-of-date furniture than when new is selling for one-third of what it sold for 15 years ago? Or to stock up on food products when they are 40% less than at any time since the war? Or clothing when $53 to-day will buy you what you paid $100 for in 1912?

What you really cannot afford to do is not buy because you cannot afford to miss to-day's low levels . . . prices that are an actual boon to reduced incomes . . . to the practice of sensible, far-sighted economy.

Is a Contract Approved by the Government of Ontario Nothing but "A Scrap of Paper"?

In 1914 the world was shocked by the assertion by Count von Bethmann-Hollweg, Chancellor of the German Empire, that Germany's undertaking to protect the neutrality of Belgium, was but "a scrap of paper".

In 1935 the public of Canada, Great Britain, and United States, is astounded by the declaration that certain power contracts, approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council of the Province of Ontario, are "illegal, void and unenforceable."

This declaration is directly contrary to the following extract from Section 53 of the Power Commission Act, Revised Statutes of Ontario (1927), cap. 57, which states:

"53. Where the Commission has heretofore entered or shall hereafter enter into an agreement for the supplying of electrical power or energy or for any other work or service to be done or supplied by or to the Commission, and such agreement has been or shall hereafter be submitted to and approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, such agreement shall thereupon be valid and binding upon the parties thereto and shall not be open to question upon any grounds whatsoever, anything in this Act or in any other Act to the contrary notwithstanding. 1927, c.17, s.54."

Do the people of Ontario Regard a Contract as a "Scrap of Paper"?

We suggest that you write, telephone or telegraph to your local member protesting vigorously against the policy of repudiation.

LIBERAL PLANS FOR BALANCING BUDGET ASKED

the municipality reduced the relief scale to make it conform with the Yorks, said Mr. Croll.

Immediately, however, the council asked for an increase, took sides with the unemployed and asked him to come there and meet 'the imported mobsters and agitators who had intimidated the council," Mr. Croll charged.

Fort Erie asked for an increase when the Government took over administration, and it was handed back. The Niagara Falls Council, he continued, "has been deliberately playing into the hands of an agitator whose sole purpose is to cause trouble."

A "Haywire" Policy

Mr. Croll attacked the former government's relief policy as 'haywire' but said the present administration with its 'planned' policy approached relief as a long-term problem. As a result of the former lack of policy, he said, the government on taking office found itself dealing in relief matters "with a hodge-podge of baffled municipalities, each one separately groping its way blindly, dizzily, without direction or set purpose."

Discussing the former relief administration he cited specific 'irregularities'—sending hats to Gogama in June, transfer by William Finlayson, former minister of lands and forests, of a wood-lot to Midland, and government subsidization to a veterans organization from which, he said, veteran did not derive the profits.

Col. Price accused the government of side-stepping the issue of imposing additional taxation at the present session in order to balance the budget because a federal election was forthcoming.

The former attorney-general said the budget recorded less revenue from the treasury department in succession duties, corporation taxes and liquor profits.

Charges Extravagance

He accused the government of extravagance in the five months, Oct. 31 to March 31 last and said if the fiscal year would be treated on the same basis the actual deficit would reach $18,000,000 instead of the $14,000,000 estimated in the budget.

Col. Price contended relief costs should not be included in the deficit and said if the relief figures and certain other payments were subtracted from the deficit the result would be $2,567,714.

Charges of an attempt to "discredit" the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway and the Government's action in terminating Quebec power contracts was "a deadly blow to the credit of our province" were also levelled by the former Attorney-General.

The Wire Fence

Leopold Macaulay (Cons., York South) called the Government's attention to the wire fence in front of the Legislative Buildings and police patrols in connection with the demonstration by unemployed. He declared the buildings were "barricaded like the palace of an eastern potentate."

Mr. Macaulay said the unemployed were present at the invitation of Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck who told hunger marchers last August to organize and force their demands on the Government. The Premier replied the extensive preparations had been made following reports of an attempt to disturb the Legislature while it was in session.

Mr. Duckworth declared the Government's action in moving to terminate the power contracts would cause insurance companies who hold bonds in the companies affected to raise premiums.

"In Welland we believe the principle of public ownership was abandoned by the former government," said Mr. Anderson. He pleaded for better facilities for world trade so farmers would have markets and said his only promise at election time was conditions would improve somewhat but to a greater extent when there was a change at Ottawa.

Solemnly Swears

MRS. ADGOA NORMANDIN

Mrs. Normandin, 1367 Lagauchetiere Street, Montreal, tells in a sworn statement how her constipation and indigestion were completely relieved by Fruit-a-tives. She explains that she is now entirely well and full of life and energy. So you can be certain of the truth of her statement, Mrs. Normandin made it under oath before a notary. She states.—"I was sleepy and dizzy after meals. I suffered badly from indigestion. Everything I ate formed a lump in the stomach and gas which caused heartburn. I found that by taking Fruit-a-tives my indigestion disappeared. I am lively and energetic all day now."

CANADIAN PENAL SYSTEM REFORM

other General A. E. Ross of Kingston.

Until criminals could be given individual treatment suited to their mental and physical conditions, the system could not be perfect, said Mr. Bell. The greatest punishment which could be inflicted on a man was loss of his liberty, and in fairness to the criminal the state should take whatever action was needed to make sure punishment should be as short and as infrequent as was consistent with public safety.

This meant a scientific study of each convict by competent mental experts and individual treatment designed to correct the man's defects.

Action to Get Action

"I have been described as a thorn in the flesh to the Government" said General Ross, "I will continue to be a thorn in the flesh to this or any other government until we get some action."

The youthful offender was the Kingston member's chief concern. He said he pleaded not for milder treatment but for more scientific treatment and suggested the mental quirks which led many youths into crime could be corrected by glandular treatments.

Payment of prisoners was working out well, said Mr. Guthrie, the system was started about the beginning of the year and was one of many changes affected since General D. M. Ormond was appointed superintendent of penitentiaries. Although General Ormond was criticised by several members his work was stoutly defended by Mr. Guthrie.

Capital punishment came in for brief discussion when Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, referred to the recent decapitation of a woman hanged at Montreal. He asked if the Government would not consider substituting the electric chair for the rope.

It was hard to say if the chair or some other method would be more humane than hanging, said Mr. Guthrie, as there were strong arguments on both sides. He was convinced executions should be carried out at a central point in each province and not, as now, in the community where the offence was committed.

When the discussion ended most of the penitentiary estimates were adopted with one item held over for to-day in case any member thinks of something more to say.

Probe Dawson Incident.

Although turning down, inferentially, an investigation into penitentiaries, Mr. Guthrie offered to name an Ontario Judge to probe the Hall-Dawson incident. Miss MacPhail, the central figure in the dispute, said she would welcome an investigation.

(The incident arose when A. G. Hall, an ex-convict from Toronto and Vancouver, signed an affidavit to the effect Inspector J. D. Dawson of the penitentiary at Ottawa, used abusive, profane language regarding Miss MacPhail. The affidavit quoted Dawson as saying: "Aggie made a God damned fool of herself in the House of Commons but when we are finished with her she will never be able to lift up her head in the House again." Dawson has denied using the words).

Miss MacPhail, the Mininster said, had been imposed on by Hall. He read his long criminal record in British Columbia, Chicago and Ontario. Hall, he said, once posed as a clergyman and organized a banquet in Toronto where Sir George Foster, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett were asked to speak. Less than 20 persons paid for their dinners and Hall went to jail.

Upholds System.

"Notwithstanding criticism in the press and in this House I am proud to say Canadian penitentiaries stand as high or higher than those of any other country," the Minister said. Under General Ormond's guidance administration and discipline had been improved and more exercise given the prisoners who were paid for their work and allowed tobacco.

A start had been made, Mr. Guthrie said in segregating prisoners who were adaptable to reform. In Kingston, the old woman's prison had been taken over and the men allowed to assemble after work to talk, smoke and play games.

The Minister suggested a deputation of members visit Kingston penitentiary, "go through from top to bottom and spend as much time as you like." He was confident a favorable report would be made.

Rap at Guthrie.

At one stage Miss MacPhail said she was sorry she could not entertain the same respect for Mr. Guthrie as for other men in public life. She accused him of allowing her to take up the case of an indefensible prisoner last year when she was ill and he had full knowledge of the case.

Mr. Guthrie said he wanted to warn Miss MacPhail against Hall, as he had a long record and was imposing on her. He read a long series of convictions against Hall.

The Minister agreed Miss MacPhail would have a legitimate complaint if Inspector Dawson had made the statements about her the convicts said he had made. It was not true, however.

Any civil servant or official who made any derogatory statement about a member of the House was taking his job in his hand, said Mr Guthrie. He would tolerate no such statements from any officials under his direction and would immediately dismiss even the highest official for such an offence.

Hall, the minister said, was an adept confidence man, but he did not confine himself to petty cheques.

Banquet Leads to Jail.

Hall, he continued, posing as Rev. A. E. G. Hall, a psychologist, planned a National Order of Canada early in 1930 at a grand banquet at a hotel. It was advertised for 2,000 guests, with Sir George Foster, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, and Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King as speakers. The hotel spent $1,400 on preparations. Less than 20 persons attended the banquet. The affair landed Hall in jail."

"Now, that is the man who has made the affidavit and the man who has made the charge against Dawson,' the minister exclaimed.

Miss MacPhail said she would welcome an investigation of the Hall-Dawson incident, but she believed a Royal Commission investigation should be held into prison administration generally.

"Notwithstanding criticism in the press and in this House,' said Mr. Guthriet, "I am proud to say Canadian penitentiaries stand as high or higher than those of any other country in the world. For that I claim no credit."

ROEBUCK, CROLL TO ACCOMPANY

and I would not mind a bit to make the rounds with the Prime Minister and Mr. Croll. I would be only too willing to knock around with these people and see life as it really is by visiting your homes."

The Minister of Welfare nodded his consent and Premier Hepburn then asked the deputation to accept that as a gesture that they were sincere in their willingness to meet any fair and just complaints that could be made by the unemployed.

Three-Hour Hearing

The deputation of ten, representing the thousands of unemployed from the Lakeshore area and York Township, who had marched to Queen's Park demanding a 50 per cent. increase in relief, were given nearly three hours to state their complaints to the premier and his two cabinet ministers.

The delegation itself consisted almost entirely of Communists who repeatedly attempted to draw comparison between the "five cents" which was given to them for each meal and the cost of the meals enjoyed by the Government officials themselves. They charged that, due to the small amounts of relief that were distributed to-day, many men, women and children had and would die of starvation unless their demands were granted.

"We will conduct the investigation immediately after the adjournment of the House," the premier replied in answer to a question regarding the date of the proposed investigation. "We expect the House of prorogue not later than the 18th of April and, if by chance we are still in session at that time, then I will adjourn Parliament sufficiently long enough to make this investigation."

The Prime Minister, responding to the repeated requests of Mrs. J. W. Shenton, promised the deputation that additional allowances would be made immediately to provide for necessary household needs which the sole woman member of the delegation had described to include such things as "tooth paste, tooth brushes, stove polish, furniture wax, toilet paper, matches and razor blades."

COUNCIL OF EMILY MEETS IN OMEMEE

Council Passes By-law Bringing Into Force Seed Grain Subsidy Act.

OMEMEE, April 5.—The Emily Municipal Council met in the Farmers' Club rooms, Omemee, on Tuesday. Members all present; the reeve in the chair.

Communications were read as follows: From Peck, Kerr and McElderry re taxes on the Wm. Harrison property. From the Department of Highways, acknowledging receipt of by-law appointing Lloyd Boate, Road Superintendent, and approving of the same. From the Canadian Automobile Association Limited, re claim of T. H. H. McQuade. From W. A. Anderson, relief officer of Otonabee, re relief to George Todd family. From the Department of Public Welfare, enclosing new regulations in regard to payment for medical services to those on relief. From R. I. Moore, Lindsay, in regard to the proposed sale of 8½ of Lot 23, Con. 6, Emily, for taxes. From the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, informing council that the act entitled An Act Respecting Subsidies for Seed Grain, passed at the 1934 session of the Legislature would be in effect in 1935. From Wm. Newman, M.L.A., enclosing letter from the Deputy Minister of Highways to himself, re visit of the engineer to Emily Township roads for purposes of inspection.

A number of letters from F. L. Weldon, County Clerk, and the Toronto General Hospital, re the maintainance of Abraham Mapes in the said hospital, and the replies of the Clerk to the same were read and filed.

A deputation from the northwest corner of the Township was present and urged that some improvement be made to the northern end of the Ops-Emily boundary, and a letter in support of the deputation was read from Elmer Evans.

School orders were received from S.S. Nos. 3, 7, and 12. Accounts were received from W. R. Robinson, and relief accounts from G. G. Alldred, Wilfred Howden, Miss L. Morrow and R. Bradley.

Mr. McGuire reported that he had interviewed Ops Council re the matter of the 1934 boundary account, and that they had agreed to withdraw their last boundary account, viz., $17.20, on condition that Emily withdraw their claim to the Government subsidy on the Ops-Emily boundary expenditure for 1934. T. H. H. McQuaude addressed the council re his claim for compensation for a broken sleigh.

The road accounts as presented by Lloyd Boate, road superintendent, were approved and ordered paid by the treasurer, and also the following miscellaneous accounts:

W. R. Robinson, sec.-treas. Mun. Tel. System, balance 1934 account, $26.36; Minister of Agriculture, two-third's of seed grain refund, $2.14; Frank Crough, sec.-treas., S.S. No. 7, teacher's salary, $60; J. M. Thurston, sec.-treas., S.S. No. 3, teacher's salary, $60; P. J. McGuire, sec.-treas., S.S. No. 12, teachers' salary, $100; G. G. Alldred, treas., Lindsay, relief for W. J. Curtin, $8.62; Miss L. Morrow, milk for Gillen family (Feb. and March), $3.77; Wilfred Howden, relief for Gillen family (March), $8.62; R. Bradley, relief for Todd, Wells and Lyntick (March), $40.84.

The wages for shovelling snow and breaking roads were fixed for 1935 at 10 cents an hour for men and 20 cents an hour for man and team.

By-law 652 was passed bringing into force the Seed Grain Subsidy Act for 1935. The clerk was furnished with a list of all persons having charge of the township snow fence and instructed to notify them that these fences must be taken down and put away carefully each year, and must not be used for any private purpose whatever. The clerk was instructed to ask the insurance company to investigate the claim of Mr. McQuade for compensation for a broken sleigh. The council adjourned to meet on Tuesday, May 7th next, at one o'clock.

SIMON ANNOUNCEMENT

LONDON.—Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, indicated to-day in the House of Commons he would most likely make a declaration Tuesday concerning the Tripartite Conference at Stresa next week. Sir John indicated also on Tuesday he might give the House a general survey of the recent political conversations on the Continent, conducted by himself and Anthony Eden.

VIGOR, VITALITY, STAMINA, THROUGH NEW NERVE FORCE

Your nerves control every function of your body and brain. When your nerves have weakened, your stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, cease functioning properly, robbing you of body strength and mental vigor. You lack "pep", your mind becomes sluggish, you are easily depressed.

Kola Astier, wonderful stimulant-tonic developed by Dr. P. Astier of Paris, contains ingredients that act directly on the nerve centers and promote new nerve force which speeds up the functions of every organ. Your heart action is strengthened, blood circulation increased, liver and kidneys activated, digestion improved. Mental sluggishness disappears. Vim, vigor, cheerfulness, soon return.

"Kola Astier restores lost strength," writes one doctor. Another doctor writes, "I have obtained most satisfactory results with Kola Astier in cases of physical and mental exhaustion, nervous exhaustion and general run-down conditions."

Get a bottle of Kola Astier from your druggist TO-DAY without risk. Your money back if that first bottle doesn't help you.

Kola Astier is harmless and not habit forming. More than 10,000,000 bottles have been used during the past few years, mostly as a result of doctors' recommendations.

The Markets

holders of corn had cancelled offerings, and were expecting higher prices.

Corn closed buoyant at nearly the top day's top level, 2¼c to 2½ above Wednesday's finish, May, 85⅝c to 85⅞c; wheat, ⅝c to 1½c up, May, 95⅞c to 96c; oats ⅜c to 2⅛c advanced, and provisions at 10c to 17c gain.

Notwithstanding operations in which wheat was sold and corn bought, wheat went higher with corn, though to a less extent. A reason was that Liverpool and Buenos Aires wheat markets yesterday were both at a new top point for the season. Unabated dry weather in important sections of domestic wheat territory was an additional stimulating factor, together with word of dust storms in Canada.

Provisions moved higher with cereals.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 5. — Wheat prices moved upward for the third successive day on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, good-sized export sales of Canad an wheat and a strong Liverpool market supplying the bull forces with fuel.

Values closed with net gains of 1¼ to 1⅝ cents. May at 87⅝ and July 87⅝ cents, the May future hitting another new high level on the current upward movement. In the past three days, advances of 2⅞c have been scored.

Other world markets also advanced substantially, Liverpool in the van with a gain of 1⅝d. Chicago was up 1½ cents and Buenos Aires 2 cents. The Argentine market has gained 3¾ cents since Tuesday's close.

Wheat prices also were hoisted substantially in the international market, but, despite the advance, 750,000 bushels of Canada wheat were sold abroad yesterday, bringing the total sales in two days to 1,500,000 bushels.

An improving demand for Canadian wheat was reported from the United Kingdom, with the price of Canadian varieties coming more into line with competitive wheats daily. West Australian wheat yesterday was only 10 cents under No. 2 Northern.

Rye led the upturn in coarse grains, with Chicago traders reportedly purchasing this commodity heavily. Rye advanced 2 cents, but other coarse grains gained only fractionally. Cash grains, despite the improved exports, continued dull.

HITLER READY

Minister in an ironic address invited Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, who is to visit Moscow later this month, to leave his train at Berlin instead of continuing to the Soviet capital "if the French want peace."

"Hitler's offer to recognize the Treaty of Versailles frontiers for at least 10 years," the official sources said, "does not mean we renounce frontier revision forever. We merely hope the principal changes can be made peaceably later."

In connection with the non-aggression proposals, it was said Hitler had informed Sir John the Reich would undertake pledges to refrain from interference in the internal affairs of other nations, agree to withhold assistance from any other aggressor nation and consult with the powers of Europe in the event trouble should arise.

These suggestions were advanced as a substitute for the eastern security pact originally sponsored by France and Russia.

SPLENDID REPORTS FOR BOWLING CLUB

Substantal Bank Balance at Campbellford—Grounds Improved.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5. (Examiner Correspondence). — The Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club held its annual meeting in the Public Library on Wednesday night. The secretary's report showed one of the most successful year in the history of the club and notwithstanding the many decided improvements both to the clubhouse and grounds, the bank book shows a substantial balance, partly due to the generosity of Wm. A. Fraser, who donated not only a number of silver cups but also grass roots for the greens.

Retiring President E. H. Greig was also complimented for his splendid work in connection with last season's tournaments. Officers elected for 1935 were as follows: President, Ross Douglas Vice-president, M. Mowat; Secretary, Glen Thompson; Treasurer, Neil Morrison.

The ladies of the club took a keen interest in the game during the past season and as a result of their efforts in connection with afternoon teas, did some splendid work in the way of interior decorating and making the club rooms cosy. They also have a nice little separate fund balance in the bank to start the season with. The retiring president, Mrs. Elie Brunelle, is succeeded by Mrs. R. N. Morrison. Vice-president, Mrs. E. H. Greig and the retiring secretary, Mrs. Walter Wiggins who has given faithful service for the past 4 years is succeeded by Mrs. Glen Thompson.

ONTARIO CREDIT IS MENACED BY PROPOSED POWER BREAKUP

Bill Again Draws Attention to Thoroughly Unsound Position of Canadian Finance

SECURITIES IN DEFAULT.

LONDON, April 5 (CP Cable)—The status of Canadian municipal bonds was linked to-day by the Financial News with a discussion of the legislation in Ontario designed to invalidate contracts by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission with four Quebec power companies.

Other London newspapers said the Ontario Government's proposed legislation a menace to that province of Ontario and the Dominion.

The Financial News said the Ontario bill, following the action of Mayor G. G. McGeer forcing to convert the interest on Vancouver City bonds, again draws attention to the thoroughly unsound position of Canadian provincial and municipal finance."

"Something like one-tenth of Canadian municipal securities in the Dominion are in default," it added. "Surely it is time the bondholders called in the federal government to assist in a thorough inquiry and to formulate plans by which this rocking structure can be made secure again."

The Financial Times said: "The Premier of Ontario is doing his state a great disservice by his morally untenable attitude towards the Hydro contracts. . . . No less than the good faith of Ontario is in issue. Ontario, not to put too fine a point upon it, is in a way to destroy its credit."

N.B. Session Closes, 94 Bills Are Passed

FREDERICTON, N.B., April 5.—(C.P.)—The final session of the present Legislative Assembly of New Brunswick was prorogued early this morning, following one of the most hectic days of its life. Before the House meets again a Provincial election will have taken place.

Hon. Dr. Murray Maclaren, Lieutenant-Governor, assented to 66 bills before prorogation. These were in addition to the 28 assented to previously during the session, a total of 94. Ninety-six had been introduced. Two fell by the wayside. Opening on February 14, the session lasted seven weeks and one day, during which 16 night sittings were held.

Foot Loose

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 5.—(CP)—The question closest to the heart of every college has become a court issue here — shall a stag dancer be guaranteed freedom of the feet?

Joe Sutton insists he is a man's man who wants to go to dances alone and choose his fair partners where he may. He filed suit against the dance committee of the University of Kansas because he was levied 10 cents as a stag at each of three dances. Saying his activity ticket specified free admission, he asks for his 30 cents backs, plus $5 for breach of promise.

Four Little Soldiers All In a Row

Il Duce of Italy has decreed that every boy in Italy must have a military education of some sort, starting from the age of four. So here are four four-year-olds in their spic and span uniforms of the newly-formed "Figli Della Lupa" (Sons of the Roman Wolf), the organization which will train them for two years. At the age of six the youngsters automatically enter the Balilla, or Young Fascist Group. Mussolini is taking no chances on a shortage of soldiers.

Up to Canadian Government

"The honorable member will appreciate the matter is entirely one for the Canadian government. I understand it is already receiving their careful attention. I will convey to them the anxiety which has been expressed by the honorable member."

Sir Waldron had said the value of the bonds of the companies concerned had recently fallen by $51,000,000 and Premier Mitchell Hepburn's action had "dealt a serious blow at Canadian trade as a whole." He replied to Mr. Thomas with a direct question as to whether he would ask the Canadian government if it could take steps in its own interests to disallow the Ontario government's proposal.

Mr. Thomas replied: "I have already said it is not for me to advise the Canadian government." He then quoted from a statement made on behalf of the Canadian government to the effect it was obviously too soon to make a statement in the matter.

Sir Waldron said the Prime Minister of Canada was reported to have said it was "bare faced robbery."

"If that it so," said Mr. Thomas, "I am not aware of it, and I should have thought that would be the best statement, and much more important than any statement I can make."

TORONTO, April 5 (C.P.) — Action regarding Quegec power purchase contracts was "purely a matter for Ontario to decide for herself," said Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn to-day, following a despatch from London the British Government would draw the attention of the Canadian Government to the concern expressed in Great Britain following introduction of the bill here to terminate the contracts.

The London despatch said financial commentators in London described the bill as a blow to Canadian credit, but Mr. Hepburn declared: "Ontario's credit is not at stake. We are simply declaring the contracts void and illegal."

Mr. Hepburn added bonds of the power companies affected by the government's announced intention of terminating the contracts were not guaranteed by the provincial government "directly or indirectly."

"Even if this act be disallowed, the power companies cannot make us pay," continued the premier. "The act was unnecessary in that respect. It was purely declaratory."

Sir Waldron Smithers had said Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was reported to have described Ontario's action as "barefaced robbery." Premier Hepburn declared Mr. Bennett said no such thing.

Careful Study Needed

OTTAWA, April 5.—(CP)—Ontario's Hydro-Electric legislation aimed against contracts with Quebec power producers creates a situation too serious to be commented upon without careful study, Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes said today. Some statement may come later.

Mr. Rhodes was shown a cable from London in which Dominions Secretary J. H. Thomas was quoted as promising a questioner in the British House of Commons to draw to the attention of the Canadian government the concern aroused in England over Ontario's Hydro legislation.

No Information Asked

NEW YORK, April 5.—(CP)—No letter has been received as yet by the secretary of New York Curb Exchange from J. M. Godfrey, Ontario Securities Commissioner, asking for information concerning short selling of Gatineau bonds on the curb, it was said at the offices of the market today.

No investigation into short selling had been instituted and none was contemplated, it was added.

A report from Toronto said Godfrey had written to the secretary of the Curb asking for information.

nada had loans on their policies, Mr. Rowell said. About 30 percent of the policy holders borrow on their policies.

Fears Rush for Loans

He protested against a lower interest rate than the commercial rate of six percent. The insurance company must make the loans when demanded. The loans cannot be recalled and therefore are not liquid, he said. If the rate charged by the insurance companies were less than the banks asked, there might be such a demand for loans on the companies as to put them in jeopardy.

In the United States there had been such a rush for loans on insurance policies early in the depression that moratoria had to be passed to protect the companies against this demand.

Provincial Chapter Honors Mrs. Main

HAMILTON, Ont., April 5 (C.P.).—Fitting reward for years of faithful and efficient service was conferred on a popular officer of the Independent Order, Daughters of the Empire at to-day's session of Provincial Chapter of Ontario, when Mrs. Oscar Main was presented with a life membership.

Mrs. William Morrison, president, was appointed with Mrs J. D. Detwiler, of London, as the Chapter's representatives to the National annual meeting. Mrs. Main was elected to the national credentials committee, and Miss Dwyer of St. Catharines to the resolutions committee.

Mrs. Main presented the financial statement this morning, and her proposed budget of nearly $3,800 was adopted.

A feature was the Empire study report presented by Mrs. J. D. Detwiler.

LINDSAY'S OLDEST LADY IS 95 YEARS OLD TO-DAY

LINDSAY, Ont., April 5 (CP) — Mrs. Matthew Wilson, Lindsay's oldest lady, to-day is celebrating her 95th birthday at the home of her son, W. E. Wilson. Mrs. Wilson is bright and active, rising early each morning to assist with the household duties and she takes a keen interest in world and civic affairs.

Mrs. Wilson, whose maiden name was Nancy Sedgwick, was born in Warsaw and resided in Peterborough for some years. Following her marriage, she and her husband took up farming, residing on the same farm for over 35 years. Mrs. Wilson is the mother of five sons and four daughters, seven of whom are still surviving.

The Chamber of Commerce statement, signed by P. S. Fisher, chairman of the executive, suggested the commission follow the lines of the May commission "which functioned so advantageously in Great Britain a few years ago."

WOODEN PISTOL BELIEVED REAL

U. S. Department of Justice Skeptical of Dillinger's Words as He Fled Jail.

CLEAR WOMAN SHERIFF.

FORT WAYNE, April 5.—(CP)—On the authority of the United States Department of Justice—

John Dillinger's taunt to his jailers, "Ha, ha, I did it with a wooden pistol," when he fled from the Crown Point, Ind., jail March 3, 1934, was a lie.

He had "outside" assistance, probably a woman who slipped him an automatic pistol—not a "comic opera" imitation.

There is no evidence to support criminal charges against Lillian Holley, woman sheriff who had custody of the Indiana desperado, or against any of the attaches of the "escapeproof" jail.

"Sheriff Holley was the innocent victim of circumstances," James R. Fleming, United States attorney for the Northern Indiana district, said today. "The evidence gathered in this long investigation shows Dillinger's escape may have been a genuine jail break."

price differential between their product and Ontario grown in the Toronto market be narrowed. This was currently a difference of 30 cents a bag, it was reported. The matter would be discussed further at the next meeting of the board.

Regulations for Truckers

The board gave consideration to the question of truckers operating in the Toronto market. "The board has no intention of allowing the trucker of potatoes to go unregulated," said L. F. Burrow, Ottawa, chairman.

"We have given this matter a great deal of attention. We are informed of the truckers' action in forming an association on the Toronto market. However, they must obey the law like all other dealers. No one can buy potatoes from a farmer for resale without a license from the Marketing Board, and sales below the fixed wholesale price are prohibited."

The board referred the request of Toronto dealers, that farmers be restricted to 10-bag sales to any one retailer on any one day to the Dominion Marketing Board. The Dominion Board alone had competence to deal with this, it was explained.

FRANCE MOVES 32,000 TROOPS

for security in the east a Franco-Russian - Czechoslovakian agreement.

It was expected the Bank of France would be called upon to help finance the military program, altered since Reichsfuehrer Hitler's conscription announcement last month.

The War Ministry communique said: "As was indicated by the President of the Council in the Chamber April 2 ,the Government recently has taken a certain number of measures destined to guard the frontier. These consist above all of active occupation of our fortifications in the north and east.

"For this purpose, several movements of troops of a limited nature have been carried out; a battalion of the Eights Regiment of Moroccan Sharpshooters garrisoned at Auch has just been sent provisionally to Upper Alsace and two battalions of the 30th Infantry Regiment garrisoned at Narbonne will be sent to Metz, where they will be installed beginning April 7."

The troops were put to work at once building barbed wire obstacles and digging trenches along undefended stretches between the new concrete blockhouses and forts.

At the same time several thousand reservists, now carrying out exercises in the vicinity, are being instructed with active army units in the duties they will be called upon to perform in wartime as "covering forces."

Experiments were carried out today with warning sirens to determine their efficiency in spreading an alarm. The sirens are similar to those used in Paris as a warning to the civil population of the approach of danger from the air.

Peace Mission Results

The results of the British mission can already be summed up, and in the main they are, Germany remains opposed to a fresh settlement of European security on the basis of the Anglo-French accord drawn up at London, Feb. 3. Stress may clarify the attitude of the old Triple Entente, but Germany remains a huge question mark.

In brief, the British talks at Berlin, Moscow, Warsaw and Praha resulted as follows:

1.—Berlin was generally negative. Adolf Hitler submitted written counter-proposals which included a 10-year old non-aggression pact. British Government circles consider Hitler's proposals are not good enough.

2.—Moscow favors a security scheme much as outlined in the Anglo-French accord, which called for Central and Eastern European pacts; an air Locarno; abrogation of the military clauses of the Versailles Treaty in return for Germany's return to the League of Nations, and agreement to an all-round arms limitation scheme.

Poland's Position

3.—Warsaw stands between the German and Russian viewpoints. The Poles favor the general principle of the Eastern pact with which it is most concerned, but objects to certain of its features, notably mutual assistance in case of hostilities. The Poles also have counter-proposals which have not yet been made known.

4.—Praha, like Moscow, favors the Anglo-French accord's proposal.

The net result is that Berlin remains opposed. The visit of Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, and the Lord Privy Seal, did little if anything to remove German objections.

Meat Picket Flare Brings Riot Squads

LOS ANGELES, April 5 (A.P.).—Police radio cars cruised through the Boyle Heights district to-day guarding against another flareup of trouble in a picketing campaign against butcher shops.

Riot squads dashed to the scene last night when 500 men and women joined in a disturbance which started when two housewives, Mrs. Edith Bernhard and Mrs. Anna Joseph, walked out of a shop.

Pickets, representing two organizations protesting against high meat costs, attempted to seize the women's bundles and trouble started. Mrs. Joseph's eye was blackened and Mrs. Bernhard was cut and bruised about the face.

The Housewives' League of Los Angeles and the United Conference against the high cost of living are the principal leaders in the anti-meat buying movement.

and declared, "When you build a thing up on stilts it will have to crash. They were built on stilts."

At the same time Mr. Hepburn declared bondholders could write letters to the newspapers and bombard him with telegrams protesting against the Government's action, but they were just wasting their time. "It's not going to change our attitude."

ONTARIO CREDIT IS MENACED BY PROPOSED POWER BREAKUP

Bill Again Draws Attention to Thoroughly Unsound Position of Canadian Finance.

SECURITIES IN DEFAULT.

LONDON, April 5 (CP Cable). — The status of Canadian municipal bonds was linked to-day by The Financial News with a discussion of the legislation in Ontario designed to invalidate contracts by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission with four Quebec power companies.

Other London newspapers termed the Ontario Government's proposed legislation a menace to the credit of Ontario and the Dominion.

The Financial News said: "The Ontario bill, following the attempts of Mayor G. G. McGeer forcibly to convert the interest on Vancouver City bonds, again draws attention to the thoroughly unsound position of Canadian provincial and municipal finance."

"Something like one-tenth of the municipal securities in the Dominion are in default," it added. "Surely it is time the bondholders called in the federal government to assist in a thorough inquiry and to formulate plans by which this rocking structure can be made secure again."

The Financial Times said: "The Premier of Ontario is doing his state a great disservice by his morally untenable attitude towards the Hydro contracts. . . . No less than the good faith of Ontario is in issue. Ontario, not to put too fine a point upon it, is in a way to destroy its credit."

N.B. Session Closes, 94 Bills Are Passed

FREDERICTON, N.B., April 5.—(C.P.)—The final session of the present Legislative Assembly of New Brunswick was prorogued early this morning, following one of the most hectic days of its life. Before the House meets again a Provincial election will have taken place.

Hon. Dr. Murray Maclaren, Lieutenant-Governor, assented to 66 bills before prorogation. These were in addition to the 28 assented to previously during the session, a total of 94. Ninety-six had been introduced. Two fell by the wayside. Opening on February 14, the session lasted seven weeks and one day, during which 16 night sittings were held.

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 5.—(CP)—The question closest to the heart of every college has become a court issue here — shall a stag dancer be guaranteed freedom of the feet?

Joe Sutton insists he is a man's man who wants to go to dances alone and choose his fair partners where he may. He filed suit against the dance committee of the University of Kansas because he was levied 10 cents as a stag at each of three dances. Saying his activity ticket specified free admission, he asks for his 30 cents backs, plus $5 for breach of promise.
